

0

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

1/2 mm

Figure 7. --Morristown ("classical") mesosiderite. Dense, tough breccia consisting of irregular masses to threads of nickel-iron, and grains or fragments of olivine, embedded in a matrix of calcium-rich achondrite (black). Prior (1918) considered that these represent the invasion of eucritic material by pallasitic material.