TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY, FORT WORTH, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1919

NO. 13

BEHOLD US AS WE ARE: SNAPPY, PEPPERY, CLASSY

CAHOONS LEAVE T. C. U.

Texas Christian University sustained the most irreparable loss of her history last Saturday when Professor and Mrs. Frederick M. Cahoon resigned their respective positions as instructors in the music department. It is impossible for the Skiff to give the full details of the disagreement which led to this action on the part of the two most beloved members of the music faculty of T. C. U. for to do so would place the author of this article in a precarious position. No article covering this disagreement in all of its phases could be other than antagonistic. Therefore the Skiff is compelled to disregard utterly the subject matter of the controversy which has deprived us of the services of two of the greatest artists that the school has ever known.

Long and faithfully have Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon served the University which they loved so well and their efforts have not gone unrewarded. There is not a student or alumnus of T. C. U. who does not love and honor Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon. As director of the Glee Club, one of the greatest advertising agencies of T. C. U., as the basketball and baseball coach and as a consummate artist with the violin, "Coach" Cahoon as he is affectionately called, stands out easily as the most versatile figure in the history of T. C. U. In the Glee Club and on the Athletic teams the men who work for him love and idolize "Coach" as few men are honored. As for Mrs. Cahoon, she stands without a peer in the state as a vocal artist.

The student body was stunned by the announcement of this unprecedented calamity and is heartsick over the affair. While the Skiff cannot give the facts of the case it recommends that all students make a thorough investigation of details before forming a hasty, unjust opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon on account of their leaving the school in mid-session. It is believed that student opinion is already overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon in their action.

The Skiff views their departure with the most profound regret. Texas Christian University can not soon fill their places. The Glee Club, left leaderless, has cancelled the Christmas trip and disbanded. The orchestra can not this year, at least, be more than a shadow of its former self.

Nothing more can be said. Words are not adequate to express the appreciation which the student body feels toward these artists and eminent backers of the greatest things which the University has stood for. Suffice it to say that the general opinion is that a grave injustice has been done both of them by the head of the fine arts department, and that they are justified in their action. Mingled with the deepest regret the student body tenders its very best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon for a happy and prosperous future.

Negro Soldier—"Captain, how have you got my name on your roster?"

Captain—"I have it as Johnson."

"Johnson? I thought that you must have had it as Samson—you had me carrying such big loads the other day."

SOPHS WIN INTERCLASS HONORS

The Sophs won the interclass football championship last Thursday when they sent the Juniors down to defeat by the score of 6 to 0. The Juniors were not fortunate enough to have a full eleven but with the consent of the Sophs they were permitted to play two Fish.

The kickoff was received by Day who returned the ball to the center of the field. On the third down the Juniors fumbled the ball and after it had rolled around aimlessly for a time the attention of Stovall was called to it and that worthy covered the ball. Reports are that for the remainder of the period the upperclassmen outplayed their opponents but the second year men spurred on to renewed vigor by Scotty's vigorous comments began to carry the ball up the field in the second half. Toward the last of the second half the Sophs carried out the same play which reftled so disastrously for the Fish and scored a touchdown. The attempt at goal failed.

In the last quarter it seemed again that the upperclassmen had the best of the battle when they started an aerial game. Several good passes were completed but the Soph defense stiffened in critical moments.

The game was replete with amusing features. Billingsley seemed to be very much vexed when tackled just prior to a good gain. Tony caught a punt and stood in bewilderment waiting for some one to tackle him. Day called time out and when asked the cause, calmly asserted that he needed a drink of water. This aroused a gale of merriment.

The outstanding stars for the Sophomores were Stovall and Turner, Billingsley and Day starred for the Juniors.

LAWS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

The Bar Association last Friday evening in the Art and Law rooms entertained the members of the Fort Worth Bar and the students from the T. C. U. Law school in the city. The Library was first looked after and was thought to be in a very fine condition and was only made possible through the untiring efforts of Dr. Cockrell and Representative Wallace Malone, and Senator Carlock. The bill introduced by these two worthy supporters of the T. C. U. Law Department, places our Law Department on an equal with State University, and the Lawyers wish to challenge any Law School or Law Department to a series of debates or any athletic programs.

Music was furnished by the T. C. U. Orchestra and this added to the evening that which could not have been added elsewhere. It also might be said that the larger part of the orchestra were members of the Bar Association.

After refreshments had been served by the Art Department, Dr. Cockrell introduced the first speaker of the evening, Representative Wallace Malone, as the man who made possible the present standing that our Law Department has. He said that he had never before had a hotter fight than the one that he had for our bill. He said that there was no reason that all the Texas lawyers should come from one school and have our Texas Laws influenced by one school and T. C. U. was the logical place for it.

Senator Carlock was next introduced by President Waits and given a very warm reception. He told about the fight that ensued in the Upper House after Malone had done his best. He told of the nearly losing the bill and then how, by using a little fair strategy he saved the bill. Judge Walker was the last speaker and told of the two main cases of the

T. C. U. TO OFFER B. O.

Another important forward step has been taken by T. C. U. A course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Oratory has been adopted. Professor Biggs presented a course which was adopted with only a few minor amendments. It is a strong course of four years' work which is in complete harmony with the high standard maintained by T. C. U.

On the completion of this course the applicant receives the Bachelor of Oratory degree. Most institutions that confer this degree do so on a three-year course, but in order to have one feel that he had conferred upon him a degree of the highest honor, this course of four years was adopted.

Professor Biggs will be glad to explain this course to anyone interested. By planning in advance a happy combination of this course and the regular literary work leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree or other courses can be made whereby the students may take two degrees. Those who may desire only the B. O. degree should arrange their course at once.

The adoption of the course was enthusiastically and unanimously voted by the cabinet and all feel that it will add materially to the present course offered by T. C. U.

Dr. Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of the Emerson College of Oratory of Boston, who recently honored T. C. U. by a visit, highly complimented the University for the forward move in adopting this course and offering this course. A similar degree is offered by the Emerson College and Dr. Southwick states that the conferring of this degree has produced a great demand for teachers, entertainers and lecturers.

WOMANLESS WEDDING SCORES BIG HIT

FISH ELECT CLASS PROF.

By Jack Gibson.

The Freshmen, although green and fresh, are not too green to look forward into the future and picture the obstacles that may beset their best efforts and endeavors to keep on the straight and narrow path. Not wanting to venture along the devious pathway of college life alone, they have felt the need of a stronger hand than their own to lead the way over the many pitfalls to the golden glow of success.

The class, after wandering for several months over gay paths and short cuts, has settled down as the term examinations begin to loom up. More than ever they felt the need of the guidance of a good shepherd. Therefore they gathered together, waited, watched and listened.

They did not wait long, for a light showed and they watched its beams reach out and fill hearts with gladness. This light shines from the face of a middle-aged man whose kindness and wisdom has been a great source of strength to the class.

This man was appealed to and he accepted the leadership of the class. The class, abiding by the advice of this leader, feels that to wander on the by-paths of college life will be almost an impossibility and it feels sure that it will find in Mr. McDairmid one of the most able leaders that has ever guided a group of young men and women through the four years of college life.

Everyone try to hear Prof. Paxton Dow in his lectures on women. He will give, "The Women's Hearts that I have Broken," "Women Before and after Meeting Me," and "Why Stolen Kisses are Better."

Few social events of the season have attracted as widespread interest as did the nuptials solemnized Thursday evening, December 11, when Miss Henrietta Dotty Dimples Fussell was given in marriage to Mr. Tony Abraham McGuire Pecora, the ceremony being performed in the auditorium of the main building in the presence of a large gathering of friends. The marital event was unique in that it was womanless, all female parts being played with more or less fidelity by young men.

Members of the immediate family and the country cousins were the first to enter the arena. "Smitty" Smith was a scream in the role of the heartbroken but happy mother. B. M. Brittain, six feet two, dressed in knee trousers, sailor blouse and sailor hat, to say nothing of his missing tooth and all-enveloping grin, kept the audience in an uproar as the bride's little brother. "Dynamite" Crunk was scarcely less ludicrously funny as the little sister, with yellow, bobbed hair, knee dress and—accoutrement. As the uncle from the country, Jack Gibson scored a home run, closely followed by "Jazz" Cunningham and Frank Cauble (also Jazz) as the delicately refined country maidens.

Jimmie Wood of Fort Worth, sang the nuptial solo, accompanied by "Miss" Emil Martin on the piano and "Miss" Merrill Turner on the violin. Mr. Wood possesses a remarkable elusive falsetto voice, and it was not until he responded to the hearty encore with a baritone solo that the audience realized just what had been taking place.

Following this number, the wedding procession entered slowly, to the enchanting strains of the wedding march played by "Misses" Martin and Turner. "Miss" Alberta Traywake was maid of honor. Little Misses Nebraska Fogelson and Voyle Turner were coy and pretty as the dainty little flower girls, serenely strewing the path of the happy couple with December's fairest blossoms. Little Miss Fatty Bond captivated the heart of every spectator when she entered, bearing the ring on a silk-covered and lace-fringed cushion. The plump little Miss, in her immaculate white frock, dainty socks and golden curls caused a ripple of admiring exclamations throughout the audience.

The groom, faultlessly attired in formal evening dress, marched bravely down the long aisle like a lamb to the slaughter, the only indication that he felt the strain of the occasion being that he leaned rather heavily on the arm of his best man, Cecil Bradford. The bride moving with the stately tread of the Amazon, yet with the grace characteristic of a Southern beauty, followed, supporting her aged father on one arm, and drawing a long train behind her. This group slowly made its way to the platform.

The Rev. Edwin Elliott, who, during the preliminaries, had stood stolidly still, staring stonily into space, like the proverbial wolf in the proverbial sheep's proverbial clothing, hastily excusing himself lest someone should lay the crime to his charge, began to read the impressive ceremony, beginning

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS.

The happiest season of the year has once more rolled around and it brings with it a new spirit of joy and gladness. Nineteen hundred and nineteen years ago the Savior of mankind came to the world with a message of love and fellowship which has never had a parallel. The influence of his life and teachings grows greater as the years roll by and more and more the great movements of the world are swayed by them. More and more the men and women who count in the world are falling into line under the banners of this great Leader. From a maze of dark and sinister intrigue world politics have emerged to a frank above board diplomacy in keeping with His principles. Men and women have been elevated to a higher plane of thought and of action.

"Christmas comes but once a year." How that little sentence brings back the memories of the friendly fireside and the joys of home. What a joy it brings to those who can still go to home and loved ones and feel the thrill of the welcoming kiss as of old. What a throb of pain it sends to the hearts of those who have only the sweet memories of loved ones and of the joyful Christmas of long ago. What precious memories it brings to all of us. What a spirit of love and of happiness and of all pervading peace the Yule tide carries with it. All the world rejoices in Christmas when men and women forget trivial differences and cares and troubles are laid aside.

But the spirit of Christmas is not that of the mercenary giving of gifts in anticipation of return remembrances. Lowell says:

"Not what we give, but what we share,
 For the gift without the giver is bare:
 Who gives himself with his alms feeds three,
 Himself, his hungry neighbor, and me."

This is the true spirit of Christmas—the Christlike spirit. One of the major duties of the Boy Scout is to "Do a good turn daily." Our attitude toward Christmas should be that of helpfulness. It should be our mission to bring happiness and good cheer to some one, to make some heart lighter, to lift the burden of care and worry from weary shoulders.

When you go home for the holidays try to smooth out the wrinkles of care from the face of that beloved father or mother who is making so many sacrifices for your welfare. Gladden their hearts with a touch of appreciation for what they have done for you. Remember that as Guest has said, "Swift must come the days of pain" when you will miss their kindly, loving faces and when Christmas will carry with it, as it does to some of us already, a world of pain and longing for the joys that are gone.

Above all radiate happiness and make those around you feel the hypnotic touch of your own feeling. "Scatter seeds of sunshine" is the message that we would bring you as the Christmas holidays begin, and see how much joy and gladness you will reap in return.

AN INTERCOLLEGIATE STRAW VOTE.

The Skiff is in receipt of the following telegram:

"We, the undersigned, have undertaken to promote a referendum of college sentiment of the country concerning the peace treaty. It is realized that many colleges have held straw ballots on this subject, but the statements of the question have in most instances differed and afforded no opportunity to obtain an accurate and comparative expression of the intercollegiate point of view. The plan is that on January 13, every college and university in the country will be asked to take a vote of its faculty on the one hand and its student body on the other, in which each member of the college community will be asked to declare himself Yes or no on: Proposition I. I favor the ratification of the league and treaty without amendments or reservations; Proposition II. I am opposed to the ratification of the league and the treaty in any form; Proposition III. I am in favor of the ratification of the treaty and the league, but only with the specific reservations as voted by the majority of the Senate; Proposition IV. I favor any compromise on the reservations which will make possible immediate ratification of the treaty and the league. The committee will forward detailed suggestions as to how the vote should be carried on. It is urged that between now and January 13th the utmost discussion of the situation should be stimulated in your institution if possible. Public debate and mass meetings of the students and faculty, at which different points of view will be presented, should be held. The undersigned undergraduate committee has submitted the exact form of ballot to Senators Lodge and Hitchcock in an effort to obtain their approval of its method of statement. Both senators have been invited to make a direct statement to the colleges and universities of the country summarizing their respective points of view. You will be fully advised as to their reply. It is planned that the vote shall be conducted under such safeguards as may be established in each institution to secure secrecy and completeness and that the results shall be made known locally at once and telegraphed to the headquarters of the committee, where the result for the whole country and for the individual colleges will be compiled and made public. You will appreciate the value of the vote in each academic community if it is as nearly complete as possible, and also the importance of having each college in the country represented on the complete compilation of the result. No propaganda whatever will be circulated by the committee and no point of view advocated by the undersigned, themselves holding differing views concerning the issue presented. The plan is solely to stimulate discussion in the academic communities and to obtain as accurate as possible expression of college sentiment. The feeling is that the educational results of this effort will be very great and that the indication of sentiment thus obtained will be enlightening to everybody concerned. The undersigned will do nothing more in the whole matter than issue suggestions as to how the vote shall be carried on, compile the returns as reported by each college, and give publicity to the result as declared. No further use will be made of the results of the vote. May we ask you to undertake responsibility for putting this plan into effect in your own institution? Full details follow by mail. Will you kindly bring this telegram to the attention of the president of your institution with the statement that in sending it out we have the approval of an advisory committee of which President Hadley of Yale is chairman and on which Presidents Butler of Columbia, Lowell of Harvard, and Hibben of Princeton are also serving? Kindly reply to C. E. Stouch, secretary intercollegiate treaty referendum. (Signed)

This matter is one of the greatest issues which is facing the American people today. The question has obviously two sides and this college plebiscite should be entirely worth while. When January 13th comes, let's fall in line and vote upon this vital issue.

KHEM CLUB ORGANIZED

The Khem Club came into existence in Texas Christian University on Tuesday evening, December 2, 1919. The club was organized by teachers and advanced students of the science department for the following purpose: Whereas, the science of Chemistry is very interesting, and Whereas, in the class room it is impossible to continue the discussion beyond a few facts, we have organized this club to pursue to our own satisfaction the discussion and study of this subject.

The charter members are Professors John Davis, Will V. Norris and Gayle Scott, and the students, Cecil Bradford, Albert Traweck, Sybil Black and Nan Carter.

The officers elected were: Will V. Norris, President; Clyde Scott, Vice President; Sybil Black, Secretary-Treasurer. The president appointed Cecil Bradford as sergeant-at-arms, Nan Carter as reporter, and Albert Traweck as chairman of the classification committee.

After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed, the most impressive feature being the delicious cakes and hot chocolate served by Mrs. Norris.

Miss Nell Andrews received a card from an old T. C. U. student, Blue Rattan, who is now located with the American Forces in China. "Blue" wrote from Peking to find out if we beat Baylor this year, and said he hoped to see us Beat Baylor in 1920. His address is: Blue Rattan, 1st Lieutenant, 15th Infantry, care American Troops, China Expedition, Tientsin, China.

Mrs. Glenn Hutton, formerly Bernice Holmes, writes that she and Glenn are now living in Breckenridge and that Glenn is pastor of a good church there.

MRS. JARVIS SPEAKS TO STUDENTS.

T. C. U. students were afforded another enjoyable exercise Wednesday morning when Mrs. Van Zandt Jarvis, pioneer Texas churchwoman and patron of T. C. U., spoke. Mrs. Jarvis counted in an entertaining manner some of the experiences of her childhood, her sparkling wit and animated speech being appreciated by the students in a demonstrative way. Mrs. Jarvis seized the opportunity to heartily endorse the interchurch movement recently launched, in behalf of which a meeting of prominent churchmen was held in Dallas, December 8. She emphasized the need of the Protestant Churches striking with a closed fist instead of attempting to accomplish their end by striking with fingers spread.

The visits of Mrs. Jarvis are always appreciated and the students received her appearance Wednesday with unusual alacrity and enthusiasm.

PROMINENT T. C. U. BOOSTER MAKES TALK.

The sensation of the Friday morning chapel exercise was a concise and entertaining speech by one of T. C. U.'s most ardent supporters, Dr. R. H. Gough of Fort Worth. Dr. Gough addressed the student body on the Advantages of Oratory. The speaker declared that oratory was one of the most important things of life, giving as an illustration the fact that the leading men of the ancient as well as the modern times were those who had won prominence by oratory. The young ladies were also exhorted to become familiar with this phase of public life.

As a whole the address was one of great help to the students of oratory. T. C. U. is always glad to welcome such true supporters as Dr. Gough.

NEWS FROM THE DRAMATIC SOCIETY.

The Dramatic Society had its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, December 9. A very interesting program was enjoyed. Christine Thurmond gave the "Season's Progress" in the dramatic world. "The Relation of the College to the Theater" was shown by Ruth Myers. Miss Sansom gave some valuable suggestions on "How to Produce Amateur Plays."

The Dramatic Society is planning to do some great things this year. All oratory students are invited to the meetings and are asked to give their support and enthusiasm to make the Dramatic Society count for even more than it now does in school affairs.

ADD-RANS ELECT OFFICERS

A meeting filled with pep and enthusiasm was held last Wednesday by the Add-Rans for the purpose of electing officers for the next term. This meeting was attended by many new members, who showed a wonderful spirit of progressiveness and support. The outlook for the Add-Rans for the coming year looks very bright indeed. The following are the officers elected: Forrest McCutcheon, president; W. J. Spreen, vice-president; Irby Caruth, secretary-treasurer. With the competent membership that is now enrolled the Add-Rans expect to do big things and just ask their boosters to watch their smoke.

A CREED BY WHICH TO LIVE

Fred W. Welt.

Ambition is life's great pathway that points to the stars, it is lighted by the rays of hope that spring from the heart of man, and paved with beads of sweat that fall from his brow.

Few of us are fortunate enough to reach the height for which we strive, but we gain all we get from the strain and sweat and the struggle is always worth while.

The happiness, peace and pleasure of success do not come from dwelling within that coveted structure. They are enjoyed in the process of building—in drafting the plans, laying the foundation, selecting the materials, measuring the many parts and dovetailing them together.

Life's greatest joy is in the anticipation of each day's accomplishment, and our trust contentment comes in the momentary satisfaction of the task well done.

Smile into the face of the world and a smile comes back. Render good service to others and good service is returned to you. Show a spirit of helpfulness and that spirit will surely send back aid to you of a like kind. Think good thoughts and the same good thoughts will be of you.

The world is a great mirror which truly reflects the thoughts acts and ambitions of every individual.

Let no one cloud his vision, poison his mind and dwarf his soul with the false imagination that the world is not giving him a square deal. The only way to avoid getting a square deal from the world is not to give to the world a square deal yourself.

You are, after all, the sculptor of your own existence. The goal you set is the model by which you work, and the present is the clay with which you are ever working, molding your tomorrow by your deeds of today.

You can't unmold the past. The future only is yours to anticipate. NOW is your time, and my time, to shape as we will.

Stadium Clothes

Come From a College Town

Their name was conceived in the Stadium of the University of Syracuse.

It is only natural therefore, that they should breathe the tastes of red-blooded American men.

Young men in every walk of life insist upon wearing STADIUM and Victory-Wilson Clothes.

with the beginning and missing every good stopping place.

Finally, the Rev. Mr. Elliott put the question to the groom, point blank.

"I'll say I will!" yelled that gentleman (and the bride blushed prettily).

The bride's answer to the eternal question was hardly so articulate, yet quite as emphatic, resembling the early morning clarion call of Monsieur Chanteclair. It was the groom's turn to blush (which he did). Here a new difficulty presented itself. The bride must be saluted, but all the efforts of the abbreviated groom to reach the vulnerable locus were unavailing. The Rev. Mr. Elliott relieved the situation temporarily by turning the groom's head and kissing the bride himself, once, twice, even thrice. But this could not suffice. The bride must be kissed, and by the groom. The best man's presence of mind, saved the situation from complications, that functionary lifting the groom off the floor, from which vantage point the bride was kissed to her own satisfaction and that of every spectator who had paid his quarter to see the thing worked out in every detail. The minister invoked the bovine blessing of the Waits, and the Lockhart and the Hall upon the couple, whereupon the wedding party passed out of the auditorium, while the musicians played, "Here Comes the Bride."

day that had been fought in his court. "One," he said, "was fought by an old student of the Law Department of T. C. U. and he won his case in the cleanest cut manner that I had ever seen for a young lawyer, and the mans name was Jesse Martin." Then he told how one of our own professors won a case in the same day, Prof. Rouer.

A thing that was noticed was the fact that the Young J. A.'s were donned out in their white shirts and Joe Bailey Collar and ties. This custom was originally carried out by the first Bar Association of T. C. U. and it is the custom to do this on every Thursday. The Law Department is growing and it is expected that a commission from the University of Texas and from the Supreme Courts will investigate these departments soon.

AN EXTRA GUEST FOR CHRISTMAS.

By Alice Manning Dickey. Holly in the window, turkey in the oven, presents weighting down the glittering tree, Christmas cheer in the air!

Can't you make room for one more guest in your Christmas heart—especially if it happens to be a little child whose eyes are big and lonesome, and whose little body looks as if it had been hungry for a good long time?

For just ten cents you can feed the hungry stomach of such a child on Christmas Day. For $3 you can care for it the whole of the Christmas month. And if you can dig down in your Christmas pocketbook and pull out $36.50 all in one lump, you can be godparent to a little boy or girl for a whole year, being put in touch with it through correspondence.

BUDGET DAY.

Family Budget Day, Friday, January 23.—To show the importance of using Pay-Your-Bills Day, Saturday, January 24.—To emphasize the moral obligation to pay debts.

Formal pledges to co-operation in furthering National Thrift Week thus far includes the voluntary offer of a large firm to give a share of its advertising space, and resolutions by three of the largest banking groups of the country, the American Bankers' Association, the Investment Bankers' Association and the American Institute of Banking. The latter as its recent convention in New Orleans adopted the following resolution:

"Intelligent and systematic practice of Thrift develops a higher type of individual and increases the economic strength of the nation; we therefore pledge ourselves to continue in co-operation with the several bureaus and departments of the government and also such other organizations or agencies as are engaged in promoting public and private thrift.
