Howdy, Freshmen!

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the City of Fort Worth is exceptionally fortunate in having three very outstanding institutions of higher learning; and, WHEREAS, students not only from many states of our own nation but from foreign countries attend these institutions; and, WHEREAS, it is highly important that all students coming to Fort Worth, whether their residence be far or near, be given a most cordial welcome; and, WHEREAS, Texas Christian University will again, as it has in the past, hold the annual Howdy Week, which is "America's Greatest Collegiate Welcome," the week of September 14 - 21, 1958; and, WHEREAS, this great collegiate welcome week, which is extended to all students without regard to any particular school, has become famous in many parts of the United States by reason of the abundant, wholesome, western spirit which is so prevalent in the welcome given to students; NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas A. McCann, Mayor of the City of Fort Worth, Texas, do hereby proclaim the week of September 14 - 21, 1958, as "COLLEGIATE WELCOME WEEK," and I do respectfully call upon all of our citizens, schools, civic organizations, businesses and groups of every nature to observe collegiate welcome week in some appropriate manner to the end that every student that comes to this City will receive the full measure of our welcome overflowing. IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have signed my name officially and caused the seal of the City to be affixed hereto this 5th day of September, 1958.

Thomas A. McCann
Mayor

PROCLAIMS 'WELCOME WEEK'—Mayor Thomas A. McCann welcomes the freshmen to Fort Worth and Texas Christian University in a Howdy Week proclamation of his own, shown here. By declaring Sept. 14-21 as Collegiate Welcome Week, the Mayor assures the new students of Western hospitality from Fort Worth citizens.

Don't Forget Mug Shot For Athletic Activity Card

All students taking nine hours or more this semester will once again be issued an athletic activity card with photograph.

This card should be kept on the student's person at all times. It can not be replaced, and it is your identification as a TCU student. The card entitles you to attend all TCU athletic events (held at home) free of charge. And it gives you a student rate of $1 for all out-of-town contests.

Have your picture made in Room 201 the day you register, before you leave the Science Building. Call at the business office in the Administration Building after two or three days for your card.

Bring your athletic card to the stadium office each week the team plays here to pick up your reserved seat ticket. Get it before Wednesday noon of each week.

Your athletic card must be presented at the gate the day of the game when you hand over your ticket.

Don't let anyone else use your athletic card. Last year, 55 were cancelled for this reason. Don't lose it or loan it.

Dr. Snyder Attends Danforth Seminar

Dr. Karl Snyder of the English department attended a Danforth Seminar this past summer.

The seminar, on literature and religion, was held at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Snyder was awarded a scholarship to the seminar, which was limited to 25 people throughout the United States and Canada.

70 Will Counsel Freshmen Today

Seventy upper classmen will hold informal counseling sessions this morning with freshmen as a new feature of this year's Howdy Week.

In Ed Landreth Auditorium, freshmen will be assigned to informal groups of approximately 30 new students each. Headed by a man and woman upper classman, the groups will meet in various classrooms over the campus.

Pertinent facts about student life will be discussed on the student level. Students will be encouraged to ask questions.

Bill Flournoy, Fort Worth junior, is in charge of the student counselors.

Gala Week Starts For New Arrivals

Howdy Week — "America's Greatest Collegiate Welcome" for this year's crop of 1,500 freshmen — hit high gear Sunday.

Horace Griffiths, Hico senior, is chairman-host for the week-long party that began with the sale of freshman beanies and transfer badges in Room 210 of the Student Center Sunday and will end with the Activities Carnival next Thursday.

About 392 coeds have been attending final rounds of parties in formal sorority Rush Week. Bids to the 10 groups were extended through Panhellenic Council Tuesday, as Howdy and Rush Weeks were partially combined for the first time.

The purple and white hats that freshmen purchased for $2.50 and the $2 transfer badges are tickets to all events for the freshmen and transfers. Upperclassmen are invited to all Howdy Week functions with a slight charge for some of the big doings.

After a chance to meet the University officials and student leaders and hear the TCU Horned Frog Band at 8:15 a.m. Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium, the freshmen were scheduled to spend the day being tested and the evening at the Howdy Week Mixer at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

Bunny Martin, billed as "The World's Champion Yoyoist," and the Jack Heywood Combo entertained.

The schedule for Tuesday called for a Flick Night showing of "Tammy and the Bachelor" and the Collegians and Ronny Moore playing for the 9 p.m. Street Dance on the Quadrangle.

"All the barbecue you can eat," and fun, including a pep rally and square dance, are advertised by the Howdy Week Committee for the picnic this evening in Forest Park. Freshmen will board trucks at the Student Center at 5 p.m.

Upperclassmen were to buy their $1 tickets and freshmen were to make reservations for the picnic by noon Tuesday.

Football players and their coaches will receive pre-game laurels at 6:30 p.m. at the pep rally in Ed Landreth.

In a more serious vein, freshmen will pledge loyalty to their new school in ceremonies on the Quadrangle following the pep session.

"Miss Texas," Mary Nell Hendricks of Arlington, will sing her Atlantic City contest number

The Skiff Finally Gets Its Home!

Do-it-yourself is the new motto for journalism students as composing-room operations get under way in the shop at Dan D. Rogers Hall.

The "skeleton" shop—there is no press there—has been established with contributions of money, equipment and technical assistance to the J. Willard Ridings Memorial Press Fund started nine years ago.

Beginning with this issue, The Skiff will be written and made up in the editorial room and shop by the students, Faculty Adviser E. H. Ferguson Jr. and Press Supervisor Maurice Selvin.

After the page forms are complete, they will be trucked to Cleburne, where the paper will be printed on the Cleburne Times-Review press.

Mr. Selvin, formerly with The Dallas Morning News, will direct composing-room operations and teach a course—Journalism and Advertising Typography 335. He has been a printer for 24 years.

Mr. Ferguson was instructor in journalism and adviser of student publications at the University of Houston, before assuming the teaching duties and Skiff sponsorship handled by Dr. Warren K. Agee until this fall.

Dr. Agee now is dean of the School of Journalism at the University of West Virginia.

Work on the campaign for a press in Ridings' honor started when the Journalism Exes' Association was formed at Homecoming in 1949.

At an exes' dinner three years later, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Prescott (she was the former Miss Helen Ruth Verheyden, B.A. '41) made the first pledge of $1,000 to the project.

Tragedy struck at the same banquet, however, when Mrs.

Lois Herz Reedy, B.A. '40, suffered a fatal heart attack.

In 1954, a committee of the exes started work on the business of soliciting pledges from their fellow members, the publishers of Texas and personal friends of Ridings.

The TCU administration gave their approval to the campaign, and an advisory committee of Texas editors and publishers was formed in 1955.

Later, a goal of $50,000 was set for equipment and a press room.

The largest, individual, money contribution to date has been an anonymous gift of $1,500 from a West Texas publisher who was a classmate of Ridings at the University of Missouri.

Sixty-eight of the 212 TCU graduates in journalism since 1927 have pledged over $5,000 to the fund, and about 40 publishers and friends of Ridings have promised $4,000 in cash.

In all, campaign contributions of money and equipment total about half of the $50,000 goal.

Activity in the shop became possible when Carter Publications donated two Linotype machines, and through gifts of equipment from many sources. In the nick of time, Fort Worth Linotyping Co. offered to cast on its machines all hand type, leads, slugs and borders necessary to the operation of the shop.

All-Church Press donated, among other things, the services of L. B. Petry, who has been overhauling the Linotype machines during the past several weeks. In addition, Mr. Petry worked many hours on his own time to finish the necessary work.

Use of a "skeleton" shop seemed plausible when William Rawland, publisher of the Cleburne Times-Review and member of the campaign advisory committee, offered the use of his press there.

For TCU Journalism

Ridings Paved Way

By GAIL ROGSTAD

The good that a man does lives after him in the case of J. Willard Ridings, founder of the TCU Department of Journalism in 1927, and chairman until his death in 1948.

Twenty-one years after founding of the department, composing room equipment for the J. Willard Ridings Memorial Press has been installed in new quarters at Dan D. Rogers Hall, enabling The Skiff to be produced at TCU.

Ridings was born July 6, 1894, in Meadville, Mo., and earned bachelor and master of journalism degrees from the University of Missouri while working as a Linotype operator.

He also served as editor of the weekly Linneus, Mo., Bulletin and as reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Kansas City Star before returning to the Missouri school for his graduate degree.

Thirty students attended eight journalism classes, seven of which he added to the curriculum when he came to TCU.

In his duties as information services director in addition to being a journalism professor, Ridings became the first "press agent" for an athletic team in the Southwest, setting a pattern since adopted by all schools in the area.

During the war, he served as business manager of athletics and traveled with the football team while Coaches L. R. (Dutch) Meyer and Hub McQuillan comprised the coaching staff.

He is said to have viewed every TCU football game for more than 15 years.

Ridings was one of two founders of the Southwestern Journalism Congress in 1928. He served two terms as president, two as vice-president, and was secretary.

Dr. William H. Watson Jr., chemistry professor, has been awarded a research grant supported by Texas Instruments, Inc., of Dallas.

Larry Lands, graduate student in chemistry, was awarded a fellowship by Texas Instruments to help in the research.

treasurer of the 3-state conference for journalism students for 17 years.

The American College Public Relations Association named him "the nation's No. 1 sports publicity man" in 1939, and elected him president of the group in 1941.

The Horned Frog edition that year was dedicated to him "in recognition of his success in gaining widespread recognition for TCU."

He was tri-founder of the American Society of Journalism School Administrators in 1944 and served as vice-president for the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Ridings wrote the committee organization report for the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association intern program on the day before his death.

He died on March 9, 1948, at his home at 2625 University Dr., of a cerebral hemorrhage.

'This Is TCU,' Exes' Magazine, To Make Debut

Plans have been completed for the new ex-students' magazine, "This Is TCU," to be published this fall, editor-in-chief Mrs. Bobbye Barratt announced this week.

The new 24-page magazine will be published four times each year by the Ex-students Association. The first issue will be out in October, with the others coming in December, March and May.

The October issue will solve the 42-year-old mystery of who put the cow in the president's office in 1916.

The staff of the new magazine will include Jim Lehman, Jim Brock, Hartwell Ramsey, Amos Melton, Dr. James Sowell and Dr. Lee Pierce.

The first issue will be sent free to those who have been receiving the ex-students' bulletin. However, the subsequent issues will be sent free only to active participants in the Ex-students Association. Others who wish to receive the magazine will pay a $2-a-year subscription fee.

the students in his journalism classes on a field trip to Mineral Wells to edit the Index that day. Clippings show that the students made the trip in compliance with what they felt would have been his wishes.

Ridings' wife, Mrs. Mae Sayers Ridings, an early president of the TCU Faculty Woman's Club, died in 1954.

His daughter, Mrs. Lowell Thrush, the former Miss Ruth Annis Ridings, received her B.A. degree with a major in English here in 1943. She now is an English and journalism teacher at McLean Junior High School here.

Paul O. Ridings, Fort Worth public relations counselor and graduate in journalism from TCU and the University of Missouri, succeeded his father as head of the department.

The younger Ridings, who had been editor of The Skiff in 1938, served as chairman from 1948-1950. He, in turn, was succeeded by Dr. Warren K. Agee, who left TCU at the end of last spring to become dean of the School of Journalism at the University of West Virginia. Dr. Max R. Haddick now is acting chairman of the TCU journalism department.

Army ROTC Expects 290; Simms to Lead Battle Group

About 290 cadets are expected to enroll in the Army ROTC's program this fall.

Broken down into classes, the enrollment shows 24 seniors, 40 juniors and 60 sophomores. This will necessitate a total of 165 freshmen if all of the juniors and seniors are to have positions of responsibility and leadership during drill. The organization this year tentatively is scheduled for a headquarters company and four rifle companies. The headquarters company will include a drill team and a band platoon.

The tentative company commanders are Robert Fleming, A Company; Gerald Shamburger, B Company; Ronnie Stevenson, C Company, and Bill Kithas, D Company. All will hold the rank of cadet captain.

C/Lt. Col. Leon Simms will be Battle Group commander. Members of his staff will include C/Maj. Kenneth Holder, executive officer; C/Capt. Sidney Pointer, personnel and athletics officer; C/Capt. Robert Burns, public information officer; and C/Capt. James Alsip, supply and extra-curricular officer.

Miss Dixie Berry, Fort Worth senior, will return for her second year as a cadet sponsor. She will be the Battle Group sponsor and will hold the rank of honorary cadet colonel. Miss Kay Culver, Fort Worth freshman, will serve as sponsor for D Company.

FIVE JUNIORS have tentatively been selected as first sergeants. They include Ray Leuty, HQ; Kenneth Pierce, A; Gerald Johnson, B; G. Curtis Jones, C, and James Goode, D.

In addition, three cadet officers will be assigned to each company later this month.

THE SENIORS attending the 1958 ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Hood compiled the same approximate average as last year's group. This summer, TCU had the highest average score among the 17 smaller ROTC units represented at camp. Also, TCU had a larger percentage of cadets (17 per cent) in the top score category of 90 to 100 than any other university represented.

Lange and Shamburger won distinct honors by ranking top cadets in their respective 45-man platoons. In addition, Shamburger was selected as a member of the Fourth Army ROTC Rifle Team which fired Sept. 5 at Camp Perry, Ohio. He also attended the Camp Perry Small Arms Firing School, which trains small arms instructors and top marksmen.

Lange fired a 236 out of a possible 250 and received a trophy for finishing second out of the 1,150 at camp. He also received a trophy as the second outstanding cadet in his company of 150.

JOHN GIORDONO commanded the summer camp Drum and Bugle Corps. He also organized and directed a 14-piece dance orchestra which played several engagements in Temple, Killeen and other towns near Fort Hood. The orchestra also played the final cadet dance held on July 26. He will hold the special rank of warrant officer and will direct the Army ROTC band this year.

INSTEAD of the seniors instructing the freshmen for the first four or five drill periods as in past years, this year the Battle Group will be organized during the second drill period on Oct. 2. This period will be conducted on the school of the soldier without arms (rifles) under the squad leaders. The sophomores will take a proficiency test during this time.

At the first drill period on Sept. 25, the freshmen assemble in Ed Landreth Auditorium for classes on military courtesy and the importance of drill. The juniors will take their proficiency test at this time under the supervision of the seniors and members of the Army ROTC faculty.

Seniors and juniors are being issued the new Army green winter uniforms for the first time this year. The new attire will include black ties and black belts.

THE FIRST ROTC social event will be held Sept. 25 in the Ballroom. The annual event is the Freshmen Mixer. All freshmen Army cadets and all freshmen women are invited to attend the free affair.

M/SGT. Clifford Livingston has joined the Army staff. A veteran of 16 years in the service, he will act as instructor of the freshmen cadets in individual weapons and marksmanship.

RICHARD SPELL, Fort Worth junior, has transferred to TCU from Arlington State College where he was captain of the outstanding Rebels' rifle team and a company commander. He tentatively has been designated as a platoon sergeant of Company C and will hold the rank of C/SFC.

CHANGES in the instructor assignments have been made for the 1958-59 school year. Capt. Edward Murphy, M/Sgt. R. C. McCune and Sgt. Livingston will handle the freshmen and junior cadets. Maj. Archer Lerch, M/Sgt. B. F. Myers and SFC Bradley will be in charge of the sophomores and seniors. Lt. Col. Eugene Watts is beginning his second year as professor of military science and tactics.

SEVEN August graduates received their commissions as second lieutenants following graduation on Aug. 22. They are Jerry Collins, Ruben Fechner, Larry Lands, Jimmy Lindsey, Kenneth Miller, Frank Perkins and Jack Williams. Collins, Fechner, Lands and Miller are Distinguished Military Graduates and are eligible to receive commissions as Regular Army officers.

Parents Day Set Nov. 15

Parents who wonder at the "whoop and holler" antics of students at football games will get a first hand look come Parents Day. The affair is scheduled for Nov. 15 when the Frogs face the Texas Longhorns in TCU Amon Carter Stadium.

Plans are set to allow students to purchase tickets in the student section for their parents for this special day. Tickets will be on sale Oct. 20 through the 25. Each student will be allowed to purchase three tickets with the two for parents going at regular reserved prices. Those wishing for brother and sister to sit with the family also may buy tickets for them, but the group must sit in Section Y.

All students are urged to have their parents attend the game and other activities planned for Parents Day.

Arts Dean Will Conduct 5 Concerts

Dr. Robert Hull, dean of TCU's School of Fine Arts, will conduct the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra in its five concerts for the 1958-59 season.

The series will open Oct. 21 in Will Rogers Auditorium.

Tentative program for the season opener includes "Overture to Benvenuto Cellini" by Berlioz, Beethoven's "Symphony No. 7," "Variations on a Theme of Haydn" by Brahms, Barber's "Adagio for Strings," and "Esperanza Rhapsody" by Chabrier.

Season tickets may be ordered from The Symphony Orchestra Association, Box 1501, Fort Worth, and will cost $12.75, $8.80 and $4.50.

Miss Judy McVay of the Fort Worth Art Center has announced that tentative plans have been made to sell tickets on campus during the week of the first concert.

Flu Shots Available

All town students were urged to obtain a polyvalent flu inoculation before the beginning of school by Dr. Laurence C. Smith, dean of students.

Shots are available in the infirmary for one dollar, and protect the student against all prevalent strains of flu.

Dr. Smith stressed that the shots "would help keep the student in class all winter long, but would not offer permanent immunization."

All dormitory students were required to take the shots before receiving their room assignments.

"The shots were intended to avoid the risk of an epidemic on campus and physical discomfort to students while keeping them in class," said Dr. Smith.

More than 700 students were struck during Rush Week and Howdy Week last year by an upper respiratory infection which cancelled several Howdy Week activities.

KTCU Plans New Format, Better Music

KTCU, TCU's on-campus radio station, has announced a change in its format for this fall. Paul Caines, KTCU's program director, made the announcement this week.

"Instead of playing music from the top 40 like we did last year, we want to try getting away from too much rock and roll. We thought that maybe college students would like a better type of music," Caines said.

KTCU operates on campus through the telephone system and is a student-run radio station that is not heard off campus. Broadcast time is from 4 p.m. until 9:45 p.m.

Plans are now being made to include an hour of music and news during the lunch hour.

Also planned is a student production show once a week, which will enable the students of the radio-TV department to practice with an audience.

Caines also stated that free time will be given to on-campus political candidates during elections.

Because of the expense of repairing and putting in some of KTCU's equipment, there will be some dorm students who will not be able to hear the station.

New manager for KTCU is Miss "Bebe" Edmondson, Irving sophomore. Caines is a Dallas junior. KTCU will begin its broadcasting on Monday, Sept. 29.

Alexander Tours Wyoming in Jeep

A 2-week trip in a jeep over the wilder areas of Wyoming was made by Dr. E. R. Alexander, associate professor of chemistry, this summer.

He and his brother visited Eden Valley in western Wyoming, a desert region famous for petrified wood. They searched for agate, a clouded, striped stone resembling quartz.

Dr. Alexander makes tiepins, earrings, pendants and similar pieces from the beautiful stones as a hobby.

"We got a jeep-load of items," he said.

One night near their camp, hundreds of sage hens came to a watering trough to drink, he related.

The two men visited a picturesque region near DuBois in northern Wyoming. Near the north fork of the Wind River a glacier had smoothed the valley down. Here Dr. Alexander hunted various types of agatized wood.

At Glendo, Wyo., a dam had been erected producing a lake. The wash from a breeze had disclosed an old Indian campsite above the water level, he said.

Fair to Exhibit Paintings by Pair

The paintings of two TCU students have been selected for a special exhibit at the 1958 State Fair of Texas. The works of Mrs. Ann Meredith Magness and Gene O'Rourke will represent the school.

Fifteen paintings from 10 Texas colleges and universities were selected for the exhibit by Bryan Caldwell, director of the Fort Worth Museum of Art.

The exhibit will be at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Oct. 4-19.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE BUT HERE IT IS!

"Couldn't be done." That's what they told Mr. Bell back in 1876. But where would three million college students be without the telephone . . . especially on a Saturday night? Today you can make a date, or talk to your folks, from practically anywhere . . . even from your own car.

PUFF BY PUFF
 TODAY'S L&M

Official Warns

Keep Your Combination To Yourself Or Suffer

Mrs. Fred Yockstick, superintendent of the TCU Post Office Sub-station, has requested that students do not give the combination of their post office box to anyone.

"Some students have done this in the past and later turned up missing mail," she said.

Another problem in the Post Office stems from students giving their dorm room number as part of their address. Because some room numbers are the same as some box numbers, mail may be delayed or lost.

Mrs. Yockstick said that no regular mail will be delivered to the dorms. For delivery to the dorm, a letter must be sent special delivery and addressed to the student at the dorm and not to TCU station.

The TCU Post Office is located in the south end of the Administration Building basement. The delivery windows will not be opened until all mail is up, which is usually about 9:30 a.m.

Mail may be received in rent boxes or at the general delivery window. All incoming mail should be addressed to:

Student's name
Box number
(or general delivery)
TCU Station
Fort Worth 29, Texas

The zone, 29, is a recent innovation. It originally was 9.

Freshman Wins Grant of $600

A $600 scholarship has been awarded to Miss Joan Kitley, Midland freshman, by the Ohio Oil Co. She is entering TCU this fall to study foreign languages.

Miss Kitley's award is one of 60 made this year by Ohio Oil under its plan to encourage children of the company's employees to attend college. The scholarship may be renewed over a four-year period.

552 Rushees Seek Bids In Fall Rush

Rush Week ended yesterday and Saturday for the 18 campus Greek groups as 552 men and women rushees sought bids from the 10 sororities and eight fraternities.

About 160 men registered Tuesday and attended an Interfraternity Council smoker in the Ballroom, and vespers in Robert Carr Chapel.

They signed preference cards and were issued bids Saturday evening.

An estimated 300 women rushees were issued bids yesterday after attending four rounds of parties beginning with a Panhellenic tea Wednesday.

About 392 rushees had registered by mail before Sept. 1

A 21-day open rush period for sororities that did not fill their chapter quota of 73 members during formal rush will begin tomorrow. Rushees who attended orientation and all required parties are eligible to participate.

Rx for Fish: 'Happiness Pill'

The campus, quiet all summer except for the ring of the hammer and the chugging snort of the bulldozer, will resound with the cries of some 1,500 healthy young freshmen from all over the country.

The estimated 1,500 will invade the Hill to partake of the "happiness pill" called Howdy Week.

After being rushed by the slavering horde of the Greek clans on campus, the youngsters will welcome the relatively quiet breather of orientation and testing programs, interspersed with picnics, dances, bull sessions and other goodies.

The Skiff would like to welcome these 1,500, collectively and individually, to the vital campus of TCU.

On the other side of the pill, TCU is not always sweetness and light. You will be expected to work here, the impression garnered from Howdy Week notwithstanding, for the number of people wanting educations and the number of classrooms for them are not meshing together.

With the adoption of the 4-point grading system last spring, TCU upped its already high standards another notch, and if you don't work, you are out.

TCU's president, Dr. M. E. Sadler, expressed this philosophy well when he said, "We want TCU to be a good school, not a big one."

And that's how it stands, but now it's both big and it's good.

More Elbow Room

Plenty of sleeping and study room—this will be the rule rather than the exception at TCU this fall.

The record crop of 6,300 students will be pleasantly surprised to find that two new buildings and two rebuilt structures will give them plenty of leg room, living-wise, and efficient study space.

For their home away from home, TCU students will enjoy the spacious new dormitories—Sherley Hall for women, with a capacity of 350, and the reconditioned Clark Hall, which will house 236 men.

The School of Education underwent major surgery this summer, and came out from under the ether with a $200,000 face-lifting job, guaranteeing ample classroom and administrative facilities.

The jewel in the campus setting will be the strikingly new Mary Coutts Burnett Library.

The classic Doric columns that set the edifice apart as a landmark are gone, and the clean lines of contemporary architecture have taken their places.

The new edifice, boasting a $1,300,000 overhaul, has all the modern features, including open stacks, that a university library must have.

And, the cussed and discussed Texas weather will not faze the comfort of students in these new buildings, for they are completely air-conditioned.

Truly, this is the "glory that was Rome."

'The Year' Is Here

By PAT BECKHAM

You have seized the opportunity to belong to a university in a year of destiny. TCU steadily has been improving over the past half decade, and 1958-59 promises to be a great Frog year on all fronts.

I recall, as a freshman in 1955, that similar "indicators" were prevalent before the term, and no ex-Frog can ever forget that year.

"Abe" Martin's grid machine enjoyed a tremendous season, bringing Southwest Conference, Cotton Bowl and national fame to the school. Halfback Jim Swink led the nation in scoring and rushing, and TCU was where it belongs in anything—near the top.

It was "Dutch" Meyer's baseball team that gave TCU its second conference crown of the year, and although the other sports teams showed less impressive records, they were building for the future.

Cultural improvements, including plans for the Select Series, increased Fine Arts activities, an enlarged Activities Council program, and many others, came into perspective during that year.

The interim years, 1956-57-58, have been solid if not spectacular here on the Hill. The Frog football team once more journeyed to the Cotton Bowl (and was victorious). Both the baseball and basketball teams took runners-up positions during the two school years.

School spirit continued in its tradition of more than a half century since the name was changed in 1902 from AddRan College, which was founded in 1873.

This year TCU is once again spotlighted.

The Frogs are picked to win the grid championship. They are picked tops in basketball. Returning are four of the school's best golfers since the sport hit SWC competition. Several of the state's fastest high-school freshmen of last year have joined the Frog cinder team.

The university continues to pour millions into the physical growth plan, building dormitories for both men and women, remodeling the library, School of Education building, Dan D. Rogers Hall with its modern journalism facilities, and undertaking numerous other projects.

Oh, by the way, welcome to TCU.

We can make this the exciting, constructive year that has been predicted for us. TCU will be larger in every way than ever before. But sometimes when a body has grown too rapidly, it becomes clumsy. We can use our new size, facilities, reputation and ability to become the best.

It is the student body who will decide whether we make this a year to remember or just another year. And these college years go by too rapidly to do the latter. Take my word for it. It seems only yesterday we freshmen were enjoying Howdy Week.

Make the most of it. Them's memories, boy!

From Dr. Sadler:

The Values Of College Education

By DR. M. E. SADLER
President, Texas Christian University

Numerous studies have attempted to discover why young people go to college, and what they should get out of a college education. These surveys, as most surveys, reveal the answers thoughtful people could have given before the surveys were made.

Young people go to college because: It is the thing to do; parents want them to; it will give social possibilities and prestige; it will provide preparation for the work one wants to do in life; it is the best known way of starting the life-long process of becoming educated (of learning how to think, to weigh issues, to discern truth from falsehood, to appreciate truth, beauty and goodness).

It is always the hope of college administrators and teachers that all students may achieve some real education regardless of the purpose back of the initial enrollment.

The economic value of a college education is well known. According to a recent study of Time Magazine, the average college graduate's salary starts at approximately $3,500 and reaches an average of $6,200 by the time he is 50 years of age. Whereas, the average non-college graduate starts at approximately $1,500 and reaches an average of $2,600 by the time he is 50 years of age. Evidently Ben Franklin was correct when he observed, "An investment in knowledge always pays the best dividends."

The question most frequently raised is: What type of activities in college will prove to be most valuable? Is it better to be a "bookworm" or the "Big Man on Campus"? According to the Time study, there is a close relationship between the quality of academic work and the type of position held by the graduate, and also the annual income. In every study, the better student held the superior job and received higher annual income.

However, the unusual contrast between the bookish fellow and the activity fellow does not represent the facts. Ordinarily, the best students on the campus are also the leaders in the most constructive student activities.

Actually, if the student is to get most from his college life, he should develop a scale of values and determine the amount of time he should spend on each item of his time budget. A student taking 15 hours of class work per week should plan on studying at least 30 hours each week. Beyond these 45 hours of study and class work each week, the student should carefully determine the extra-curricular activities in which he will participate and the amount of time to be given to each activity.

The value of your college education will be largely determined by the intelligence and care which you exercise in the use of your time.

We heartily welcome all new and returning students to a meaningful experience of balanced, constructive education.

TCU Adds 4 Administrators

Four new administrators for the fall semester have already assumed their duties and are preparing for the opening of classes at TCU Sept. 22.

Jewell Wallace has replaced C. J. Firkins as Dean of Men, and Pat Hyde, Brite College senior, will act as his assistant. Miss Jo Ann James is the assistant Dean of Women, and Mrs. Jewell Wallace is the new assistant registrar for admissions. Firkins will now head the Guidance Bureau.

Dean Wallace, B.Ed. '34 TCU and M.Ed. U. of H., has attained an illustrious coaching record.

He coached at El Paso, where his team took the state basketball championship in 1941. At San Angelo he coached a state championship football team in 1943, and at Thomas Jefferson High in San Antonio his teams won a grid championship in 1948.

He also coached teams at the University of Houston, Greenville High, and a high school team in Tucson, Ariz. His football record was 130 won, 38 lost and eight tied. His basketball teams won 238 and lost only 39.

Dean Wallace said that he notices tremendous physical changes in the school since he returned, but that the "same spirit of friendliness still exists on the campus."

"We want to make dormitory life dignified and studious, but we want everyone to have a good time and enjoy themselves in a democratic community," he said.

Dean Wallace was married to Anna Byrd Harness in 1935. They have one son, Bill, a sophomore at New Mexico A&M. Dean and Mrs. Wallace will have an apartment in the new Clark Hall.

Hyde, B.A. '56, is now completing his work in Brite College. Born in Oklahoma City, he attended Cassady High School there and Oklahoma University before coming here. He was married to Nancy Gibbs last June, and he and his wife live in Milton Daniel Hall.

Miss James also is a former student, but is a 1938 graduate of the University of Texas. She has been teaching since that time, except for a time during World War II when she worked for the U.S. Engineers.

She taught in Floresville, Texas, before the war. After the war she served as registrar for Paris Junior College. From there she went to Syracuse University where she served as assistant dean of women.

Dean James is originally from Austin. Besides her duties as assistant to Dean Elizabeth Shelburne, she also will teach Education 321, "Children and Youth in School."

Mrs. Wallace, B.A. '35 TCU and M.Ed. Trinity, is a native of Fort Worth.

"It's wonderful to be back, but it does not look like the same place. It's good to see old friends again," she added. She was a Paschal High graduate.

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today begins my fifth year of writing this column, and what an eventful five years it has been! What things have these old eyes not seen! What great discoveries have rocked the world—the anti-proton, for instance, and the anti-neutron, and high-low split, and Brigitte Bardot!

In these five years it has also been discovered that American smokers like two kinds of cigarettes—filter and non-filter. The Philip Morris Company makes both kinds. I mention the Philip Morris Company because they pay me to mention the Philip Morris Company. They sponsor this column. I write it and then they give me money. Then I take the money and pay my grocer, my butcher, my gardener, and my four madrigal singers. In this way full employment is maintained and we avoid a repetition of the Panic of 1873 when bread riots killed over 98 million people in Muncie, Indiana, and millions of others were reduced to ghost-writing Ph. D. theses to keep body and soul together.

But enough of gloom. Let us get back to cheerful subjects, like the products of the Philip Morris Company. For those of you who wish filter cigarettes there is Marlboro, which now, more than ever, gives you a lot to like—a brand new improved filter and a wonderful flavor that comes breezing right through. For those of you who wish non-filter cigarettes, there is Philip Morris, a mild natural blend, flavorful, fresh, and thoroughly agreeable. For those of you who can't decide between filters or non-filters but have an affinity for packages, I should like to point out that both Marlboro and Philip Morris come in both the crushproof Flip-Top Box and the good old-fashioned Soft Pack, and you will surely want several of each for your collection.

Speaking for myself, I smoke both Marlboro and Philip Morris in both packs. What I do is make kind of a fun thing out of it. In my bedroom I have four signs, one on each wall, which say in turn: "PHILIP MORRIS—SOFT PACK", "PHILIP MORRIS—FLIP-TOP", "MARLBORO—SOFT PACK" and "MARLBORO—FLIP-TOP". When I get up in the morning I put on a blindfold and then my faithful cat Rover spins me around six times and then, with many a laugh and cheer, I walk forward with my finger outstretched and the first sign I touch is the cigarette I smoke that day!

As you can imagine, this little game has been a great source of merriment to Rover and me, except for one untoward incident one morning. I was stumbling around in my blindfold and fell out the window right on top of a man named Fred R. Timken, a census taker, and broke all his lead pencils. He was cross as a bear, and though I offered him both Philip Morris and Marlboro in both the Flip-Top Box and Soft Pack, he refused to be mollified. In fact, he refused to put my name down in the census, so when you read population figures of the United States, will you please add one?

But I digress. We were speaking of Philip Morris and Marlboro who will bring you this column throughout the school year. In this space I will take up vital aspects of undergraduate life, like high-low split and Brigitte Bardot, and it is my fondest hope that the column will be half as much fun for you as it is for me.

© 1958, Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris welcome you to another year of fun and games from Old Max, and another year of good smoking from us. Filter or non-filter, pick what you please—and what you pick will please you.

Class Gives 6 Paintings

Six oil paintings have been presented to the university as the traditional senior gift by the Class of 1958. The paintings are by Fort Worth artist Jean de Toit, and are hanging in Rooms 210 and 216 of the Student Center.

They were selected by Jerry Daniel, chairman of the class gift committee.

The paintings are "Shabby Gentil," a study of a clown; "The Rogue," portrait of a bandit; a landscape in Estes Park, Colo.; "Morning Flight," a heron in flight over the Florida Keys; "The Flower Market," painted by de Toit in Paris; and "Home from Work," which he painted in Mexico.

Rep. Jim Wright will issue "First Call" at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

"Getting to Know You," at the Student Center Open House at 8 p.m. "Biff Murphy and His Salty Dogs," night club entertainers from Las Vegas, Nev., are to be featured along with the Miss America top-ten finalist. She also will be interviewed. The charge for former students is $1.

Old and new students will provide part of the entertainment for Friday evening at a variety show at 7:30 p.m. in Ed Landreth. Upperclassmen will pay 50 cents to see the acts.

Later, dormitory women will be hostesses at open houses in all five women's residence halls.

Nine thousand pounds of watermelon will be served to football fans at 2 p.m. Saturday while they listen to the TCU-Kansas game on the Jarvis Hall lawn.

And freshmen will elect their Howdy Week Queen at the dance in their honor at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Student Center.

Curly Broyles and his orchestra will play and the "Click-Clacks," recording group of "Pretty Little Pearly" fame, will entertain in the Ballroom, while Jose Ascona's Latin American Band will be featured in the Cafeteria. The charge for upperclassmen will be $1.

Congressman Jim Wright will issue "First Call" at 6:30 p.m. Sunday on the Foster Hall Quadrangle. The religious program will include an introduction to campus religious leaders and will precede meetings of the campus religious organizations.

"Chuck and Rita," a comedy trampoline act, will perform at intervals for the Activities Carnival at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday in the Ballroom, as campus clubs will have displays and solicit members.

Health Insurance Offered Students

This year for the first time, students are being offered a health and accident insurance plan to supplement the regular university medical program.

"This plan offers excellent coverage at low group rates, less than many would pay to continue as part of their parents' policy," Dr. Lawrence C. Smith, Dean of Students, stated.

A letter describing the plan and an application blank was mailed early this month to all new and returning students. Dr. Smith stressed that those not receiving the letter were still eligible to enroll for the plan. Evening college students taking nine or more semester hours also are eligible. Students already enrolled will be insured from the time they arrive on campus until Sept. 30, 1959.

"The plan was intended to supplement infirmity service for the dormitory student while providing coverage for the town student," Dr. Smith stated.

The policies, written by The Equitable Life Assurance Society, offer maximum benefits of $5,000. The first $200 for room and board during any one period of hospital confinement and 80 per cent of all other covered expenses will be paid by the plan.

Covered expenses are hospital room and board; diagnosis; treatment and surgery by a physician; private duty nursing service by a registered nurse; ambulance service; X-ray, laboratory tests and the use of radium and radio-active isotopes; and oxygen, iron lung and physiotherapy.

A maximum of $150 also is provided for maternity expenses.

Not covered by the policy is dental treatment, fitting of eyeglasses and hearing aids, transportation other than local ambulance service, health examinations, treatment in federal hospitals and treatment of accident or illness resulting from war.

Married students who are eligible also may insure their dependents under the plan.

Owen Cook, Abilene senior, attended summer school here, and then vacationed at Padre Island near Corpus Christi, and later at Reynosa, Mexico.

Women's Dormitories Add Four Hostesses

Four new hostesses have been added to the TCU women's dormitory staff for this school year. They assumed their duties earlier in September.

They are Mrs. W. A. Jenkins of Amarillo; Mrs. L. T. Keffer, who served as hostess at Texas Wesleyan College for six years; Mrs. E. K. Latimer of Columbia, Mo., and Mrs. C. D. Morton, a native of Kansas.

Being a dormitory hostess is a new job to former housewife Mrs. Jenkins. Her husband was the late W. A. Jenkins and superintendent of the United States Helium Plant at Amarillo where Mrs. Jenkins lived for 30 years. Her son, W. A. Jenkins Jr., is research director for the E. I. DuPont Co. of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. Jenkins will serve in Foster Hall.

Her hobby of interior decorating should prove useful to Mrs. Keffer, another new hostess in Foster Hall.

Mrs. Latimer, also a hostess for the first time, takes up duties in Waits Hall. Reading is the hobby of this former minister's wife. Her husband, E. K. Latimer, died recently. One of Mrs. Latimer's daughters graduated from TCU in 1947.

Foster Hall also is the home of Mrs. Morton, who served as dormitory hostess at Arlington State College last year. Her first job in the same line, however, was at Henderson State Teachers College in Arkadelphia, Ark., where she remained six years. Mrs. Morton, who enjoys travel, has been in Texas only one year. She is the mother of four sons and a daughter.

Select Series Goes From Bard to Guitar

The 1958-59 Select Series program runs the cultural gamut from Shakespeare to Segovia, by way of Jill Corey and the hydrogen bomb.

Tickets for the eight-event season are available to students and faculty members at $5 each, and will be sold in the registration lines.

The program is going into its third year under the sponsorship of the Student Congress and the university.

The season opens October 7, with an appearance by Martial Singher, internationally famous baritone who becomes artist-in-residence on the campus this fall.

Stage, screen and television star Raymond Massey mounts the Ed Landreth Auditorium stage October 24 to present a "literary concert" from the world's greatest authors.

The November 6 slot will be filled with atoms and sputniks as Dr. Leonard Reiffel delivers an address on "U.S. vs. Russian Science." Dr. Reiffel received national recognition for his participation in the first "top secret" hydrogen bomb blasts.

The series shows its lighter side for the first time on February 5, when recording artist Jill Corey warbles her way through "The Boy Friend," a musical comedy.

The Heidelberg University Chorus stops by February 19 for one of the few performances during its first American tour.

On March 4, the Barter Theater of Virginia troupe will present Shakespeare's tragedy, "Richard III."

The "master of the Spanish guitar," Andres Segovia, makes his appearance on the campus April 15. Segovia has been acclaimed by critics as one of the most distinguished living musicians, and boasts a long line of recording successes.

The season windup comes April 30, with an address by Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, president of the Fourth General Assembly of the United Nations, world-famous statesman and orator.

All events are scheduled for one-night stands in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director, said only enough season tickets to fill the 1,250-seat auditorium will be sold. A limited number of these tickets will be available to the general public for $8.

Tickets to individual performances will be sold if space permits, and then only at the door on the night of the event.

The Select Series is planned and staged by a student-faculty committee. Dr. Marguerite Potter is the faculty co-chairman and Robert O. Jones is the student co-chairman this season.

New Structures Are Opened

Four new buildings on the campus are ready and waiting for the estimated record enrollment of 6,300 for TCU's eighty-sixth session this fall.

The new buildings, including two rebuilt edifices, are Sherley Hall, which will house 350 women; Clark Hall, rebuilt to house 236 men; School of Education, and the $1,300,000 Mary Couts Burnett Library.

'Any Uranium?'

Hendricks Explores Indian Land

"Have you found any uranium yet?" was the question which Indians of the Acoma tribe asked Dr. C. L. Hendricks, TCU geology professor, this summer.

He noted many evidences of an earlier civilization of the Acoma tribe while exploring on a high mesa.

He spent the summer working out of Albuquerque, N.M., doing geology research for the Pan American Petroleum Corp. He has worked for the oil company the last two summers.

"We had to get permission from the Indians to study the geology of their land. Whenever anyone seems to be looking for something, the Indians think he is looking for uranium," Dr. Hendricks explained.

The work which he did was a sealed geological problem for the oil company. He studied the details of geology in a particular area which the company had not yet investigated in order to determine its prospects for oil.

Little Theater Offers Wilde

"The Importance of Being Earnest," a comedy by Oscar Wilde, will be the first production staged by the TCU Little Theater group this season. Performance dates will be October 24, 25, 29-31 and Nov. 1. Director of the production will be Mr. Henry Hammack.

Tryouts for the cast of five men and four women will be Monday and Tuesday, September 22 and 23. Tryouts will be held in the Little Theater at 4 p.m.

Dr. Walter Volbach, head of the division of theater, expressed hope that several students from outside of the drama department would try out for parts in the comedy. "Everyone who is a student is welcome to try out," Dr. Volbach added.

Dr. Volbach said that he is hoping that the turnout for Little Theater productions will be much greater this year than last. He said, "The student is given a free ticket to each of these productions and there are enough performances of each play so that the student can find time to attend."

Season tickets will be passed out at the same time student activity cards are distributed.

Dr. Barratt Named

Dr. Ernest Barratt of the psychology department has been named chairman of the elections committee of the Southwestern Psychological Association. The association's area includes Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Louisiana.

A Milestone in the History of TCU's Department of Journalism

You are reading the first issue of The Skiff to be produced in the J. Willard Ridings Memorial Press composing room in Dan D. Rogers Hall. It is the culmination of a strenuous fund-raising campaign, now almost completed.

For many years, Southwest Magazine has printed The Skiff in our shop at 715 Jones. Our association with TCU has been both a long and a pleasant one.

We want to take this opportunity to congratulate The Skiff staff, the faculty and the campaign committee for an outstanding achievement in the field of journalism, and wish them continued success in the future.

Fifteen hundred freshmen are wearing hats that are all alike—but each is an original. They have donned purple and white beanies rather than similar hats in green and purple worn by the "slimes" that preceded them.

When they take the hats off later this fall, the decapping ceremony will be a sedate one,

Maj. Phillips Joins Staff

The Air Science Department has announced two changes in personnel for the school year with Maj. Malcolm Phillips replacing Capt. J. B. Head, who now has an assignment in England. Maj. Phillips, B.A. '47, will serve as assistant professor of air science. He previously was in Japan where he served at U.S. Forces Headquarters.

S/Sgt. William Brown also joins the staff as assistant instructor of Air Science I. Brown previously was stationed in England.

Cadet officers for the fall semester have been selected, with Cadet Colonel Joe Driskill to serve as commander of the TCU 845th AFROTC group. Cadet Lt. Colonel Fritz Lebow was named deputy commander.

conducted by the Howdy Week committee rather than Leti (the organization of sophomore dormitory women) for the entire freshman class.

Formerly, only freshman dormitory women were officially decapped.

Howdy Week Queen, who will be elected at the dance at 8 p.m. Saturday, and freshman class officers will represent their group at the decapping on field at TCU Amon Carter Stadium at half-time of the TCU-Texas Tech game on Oct. 11.

The TCU Horned Frog Band will salute the freshmen during the half-time performance and Charles Johnson, Perry, Okla., junior, will be in charge of a pledge to be repeated by the class in the stands.

Ronny Coleman, B.S. '53, and former Howdy Week chairman, was responsible for changing the colors of the hats to those of the school.

Leti will continue to function although it is no longer in charge of initiating and decapping the Froettes, freshman women in the residence halls.

Elizabeth Shelburne, dean of women, said that plans tentatively have been made for the sophomore coeds to continue to choose freshman "little sisters."

TCU Horned Frog Band Drum Major Joel Yeakley and assistant John Tatum practice to lead the band in its half-time performances this fall.

Yeakley To Lead Band

"The Show Window of TCU," the Horned Frog Band, hit the practice field Sept. 7 to prepare for its many shows this year.

The 125-piece band will be led this year by Drum Major Joel Yeakley, Fort Worth sophomore, and Assistant Drum Major John Tatum, Wichita Falls freshman.

The drum majors will be outfitted with new uniforms, as well as the addition of new ones for the featured twirlers this year. These uniforms were designed by Band Director Jim Jacobsen.

The band made its first appearance at the Frog Club Dinner Sept. 13. It played several numbers during dinner.

The band's first official appearance was to start Howdy Week off Monday.

Members who will lead the band in council will be Leslie Ross, Waxahachie junior, president; Grimm Dewell, Fort Worth junior; Pat Buchanan, Ulysses, Kan., junior; and Jay Jacks, Refugio sophomore.

The band also has added a new twirler, Miss Kathleen Berkner, Bay City sophomore.

Language Lab Equipment Simplifies Course Study

By JOHN CANTWELL

Learning foreign languages will be made easier this fall by the addition of a new language lab to the language department.

Through the efforts of Dean Jerome Moore, chairman of the language department, the university has purchased about $6,000 worth of sound equipment to be used in the instruction of French, German, Spanish, Italian and Greek.

The lab is located in Room 211 of the Administration Building, and consists of 21 separate soundproofed booths, each equipped with earphones which are connected with a master control board.

Ten of the booths have turntables and microphones so that the students may record their own voices on special magnetic discs which can be played back immediately. On the master control board there are four tape recorders. This unique feature enables the instructor to send one language to all 21 booths, or divide the booths to receive four different languages at one time.

The whole system has amazing flexibility, as the instructor can talk to the students through an intercom system and give them more individual instruction.

In order to use the new lab, language students must be taking the lab courses, either 112ai or 122ai. These courses are optional, but they are recommended for first-year students and second-year students who are having difficulty with pronunciation and grammar.

The second-year course is mainly for conversation. A $3.50 lab fee is charged in addition to the regular $15 for the one hour.

Each lab has regular meeting hours twice a week, but students who can not work those hours into their schedule can make arrangements to take it at another time.

"The greatest value of the new equipment is that it brings the student into closer contact with the language," according to Dean Moore. "It multiplies tremendously the time spent hearing the language. The equipment is the very latest type and greatly increases the language department's teaching effectiveness."

APT LISTENER—Miss Pat Miller, Wichita Falls senior, makes use of the new language laboratory equipped with listening booths, and records in French, Spanish, Italian, German and Greek.

Dr. Bita May Hall and Dean Jerome A. Moore inspect the new language laboratory.

Study Field Broadened By Course Additions

Fields of studies at TCU have been broadened by the addition of several new courses to the curriculum for this fall.

A new English course will offer foreign students a chance to learn the language and to receive college credit for doing so, Dr. Jerome A. Moore, dean of Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences, said.

After the addition of several advanced mathematics courses, 49 classes ranging from intermediate algebra to the function of a complex variable now are available in that department.

A new business division has been formed by the addition of three insurance courses that will cover all phases of life and property insurance. They will be offered to all qualified students.

Now that the printing equipment of the journalism department is in use, a course in journalism and advertising typography will be offered this semester. This course will be under the direction of Maurice Selvin, print shop supervisor.

Italian will be offered by the foreign language department this year to meet the increasing demands for the language, Dean Moore said. The course was offered in 1956 but was dropped until this year.

In Sports Service Poll

Frogs Top Pick to Gain SWC's Cotton Bowl Bid

By LEE GRIMSLEY

Round and round goes the wheel of fortune, trying to pick a winner in what should prove to be one of the most exciting Southwest Conference football races in years.

The Horned Frogs are the top choice of 96 sports writers and radio and TV sportscasters that participated in this year's TCU Sports Service Poll. Coach Abe Martin's crew pulled down 32 first-place nominations.

SMU was picked for a second-place finish, followed by Texas, Rice, Texas A&M, Arkansas and Baylor. But a word of warning: The experts have picked a winner only four times in the 24 years the poll has been conducted.

But with 19 lettermen returning from 1957, the Frogs have the potential to go all the way to the Cotton Bowl.

Quarterback Hunter Enis, a spring training phenom, Halfbacks Marshall Harris and Marvin Lasater, and Fullback Jack Spikes give the Christians a well-rounded backfield, capable of striking on the ground or via the airways.

From tackle to tackle, the Frogs will have the strongest line in the SWC. Donald Floyd (215) and Joe Robb (220) are scheduled to handle the tackle posts, with Sherrill Headrick (200) and Ramon Armstrong (215) pegged for starting guard duties. Captain Dale Walker (210) will be the No. 1 center.

The other six clubs are evenly balanced, and could prove the experts' prediction wrong.

A capsule glance at the rest of the league:

SMU—In Don Meredith, the Mustangs have the top passer in the nation. But if the 190-pound junior gets hurt, the Ponies' offensive attack will suffer. Seniors Dan Bowden and Frank Smith head the list of potent runners that will get able assistance from Sophomores Glynn Gregory and Frank Jackson. The Ponies should be strong in the line with David Wilemon, Gary Ferguson and Tom Koenig returning for a final fling.

TEXAS—Graduation hit the Longhorns hard, stripping away Quarterback Walter Fondren, one of the best triple-threat men in the conference. Bobby Lackey turned out to be a top passer during the last few games in '57, but Reserve Vince Matthews is inexperienced in varsity competition.

RICE—Take away the strongest one-two punch at quarterback in the nation—All-American King Hill and Frank Ryan—and the Owls still come up with a strong replacement—Larry Duettt. Jon Schnable, a transfer from Arlington State, is another top passer in the Ryan and Hill tradition. Buddy Dial returns for a final season, and is the fastest end in the conference. Coupled with the running of speedy Fullback Raymond Chilton, the Owls could gain another ticket to the Cotton Bowl classic New Year's Day.

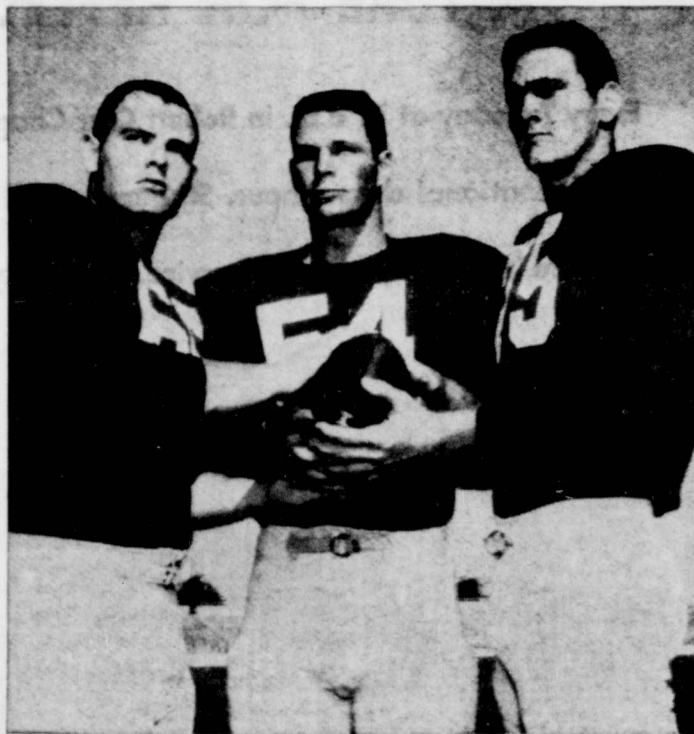

TEXAS A&M—Where Jim Crow and Charley Krueger once marched, inexperienced sophomores fill the gaps. When Coach Bear Bryant left the Cadets to return to Alabama, the Aggies' ranks were thin. But new Coach Jim Myers, the single-wing formation and the return of John Tracey and Charles Milstead

FROG GENERAL

Captain Dale Walker, center, gives instructions to Guard Ramon Armstrong, left, and Tackle Donald Floyd. All three are expected to start against Kansas University Saturday.

Big Eight Team Will Field Veteran Eleven

TCU's Horned Frogs face a stern test Saturday afternoon when they kick off the 1958 football campaign with the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

The Jayhawkers battled the Frogs to a 13-13 deadlock here last year in a rain-drenched opener. This season Kansas will field virtually the same starting eleven that faced the Christians in '57.

Heading a list of 21 returning Kansas lettermen is Halfback Homer Floyd, one of the most talented runners in the Big Eight Conference. As a sophomore in 1956, the 171-pound speedster led the Jayhawks in rushing with 638 yards, then returned last year to rack up another 505.

Kansas also will be operating under the reins of a new head coach, Jack Mitchell.

Mitchell was a quarterback for the University of Oklahoma from 1947 to 1949, and is well schooled in the coaching philosophy of the great Bud Wilkinson.

The Frogs should be accustomed to Mitchell's brand of coaching though. He was at the helm of the Arkansas Razorbacks from 1955 until he took the Kansas job this summer.

The opening day series with Kansas dates back to 1943. Since then, the Christians have won 10 while losing but two and tying three. TCU has rolled up 267 points against the Jayhawks while yielding only 99.

This year's battle shapes up as a thrilling grid war. The Jayhawks have 21 lettermen returning and could put in a strong bid for the Big Eight title. The Frogs already have been named pre-season favorites to swipe the Southwest Conference flag.

For Kansas, the starting forward wall probably will have Dale Rensberg and Sam Simpson at ends, John Peppercorn and Bill Blasi at tackles, Tom Russell and Ken Finch at guards, and John Wertzberger at center.

Mitchell can count on a potent backfield of Bill Crank, Dave Harris, Floyd and Doyle Schick.

For the Horned Frogs, Coach Abe Martin is expected to choose a starting line of Ends Jimmy Gilmore and Bubba Meyer, Tackles Donald Floyd and Robert Lilly, Guards Sherrill Headrick and Ramon Armstrong, and Center Dale Walker.

Hunter Enis, who blossomed as a top-notch passing threat in spring training, will get the call at the quarterback slot with Marvin Lasater, Jack Spikes and Marshall Harris lined up across the top of the T.

After the Kansas game, the Frogs journey to Iowa City for a date with one of the top Big Ten powers, the University of Iowa.

Then comes the first home game with Arkansas Oct. 4. Other home games will be with Texas Tech Oct. 11, Baylor Nov. 1, Marquette Nov. 8, and Texas Nov. 15.

The Frogs go on the road to meet Texas A&M Oct. 18, Rice Nov. 22, and SMU Nov. 29. The Rice game will be the annual student body trip.

SWC Grid Grind Starts This Week

By GORDON PYNES

While TCU's Horned Frogs face Kansas' Jayhawks in an afternoon game at Lawrence Saturday, the other members of the Southwest Conference will take to the gridiron in the cool night air and battle under the lights.

Baylor and Arkansas start the SWC race with the opener at Little Rock. Both teams are slated for lowly spots on the league ladder by grid experts and should hook up in a close one. The two elevens feature outstanding running backs—Fullbacks Larry Hickman of the Bears and Donnie Stone of the Razorbacks.

Over in the Cotton Bowl, the Texas Aggies and Texas Tech will put on a preview of what's to come. Tech won't be able to compete for the loop crown until 1960, but the Raiders' sophomores will be around as seniors for Tech's official debut two years hence. With a new coach and the single-wing formation, little is known of Aggie strength

HARE AND THE HOUND

Purple Booster

Bashful Brock

By JACK HARKRIDER
From New York to California, he shouts the fame of Texas Christian's name. Such is the job of Jim Brock, TCU's able sports publicity director.

Brock, a 24-year-old, chubby ambassador of good will, has worked in and around sports ever since he was old enough to carry a football and, according to him, he wouldn't trade jobs with anyone.

"The thing I enjoy most about this job is meeting new people and working with the boys. There are only two things I don't like about this job," he continued, "I've got to handle the football programs and the distribution of press passes and it sure can get you down. I still like my job though."

A TCU graduate of '56, Brock moved into his present position and takes pride in the fact that he is the first full-time sports publicity director TCU has ever had.

ROUNDUP

could make the Cadets known in the pennant chase.

ARKANSAS—The Razorbacks will be a young ball club operating for the first time under Coach Frank Broyles. Fullback Jerry Nesbitt and Quarterbacks Don Christian and George Walker are departed via graduation, but the Razorbacks can still count on the services of Don Ritschel and Donnie Stone.

BAYLOR—The Bears were pre-season favorites last fall, but finished at the bottom of the ladder. This year, the Bears are picked for the cellar at the start. Coach Sam Boyd has the nucleus of a fine team returning, including the block-busting 220-pound fullback, Larry Hickman. It's just a question of when the Bears will get tired of being shoved around. If they do this year, they have the potential to make the rest of the loop suffer.

Married five years, he has spent the last three years praising his school and his athletes.

"With the exception of a field house, I think TCU has the greatest athletic facilities of any school in the nation."

Very modest about his work and accomplishments, "Jimbo" will fail to speak of his more outstanding feats such as the snaring of the New Boston speedster, Sidney Garton.

According to some members of the athletic staff, Brock was one of the main factors in persuading Garton to choose TCU instead of East Texas State.

When asked, Brock used his old standby: "Naa, I didn't have anything to do with it."

While he may deny it, you can be sure that Brock had something to do with TCU being ranked in the top ten pre-season football poll. After all, what is a sports publicity director for?

GRID TICKETS AT STADIUM

Tickets for the Horned Frogs first home football game with the University of Arkansas, Oct. 14, can be obtained at the ticket office in the Stadium.

The tickets are free to full-time students and may be obtained by presenting the pink registration card at the office.

but the Cadets will be the choice to ambush the Matadors.

Rice gets started on one of its toughest schedules ever when the Owls face LSU's Tigers at Houston. Jess Neely's Owls figure to give everybody trouble if they find a quarterback to fill the shoes of the deadly King Hill-Frank Ryan combo. LSU sports a powerful offense led by All-America Candidate Billy Cannon. This wrangle rates a tossup.

Down in the capital city, Texas hopes to come up with the same stuff that whipped A&M last fall and earned the Longhorns a Sugar Bowl berth when they square off with Georgia's Bulldogs. Walt Fondren has departed, but the Orange still has too much power for the Southeastern Conference member.

SMU waits until next week to unveil Dandy Don Meredith and a talented stable of soph backs. The Mustangs gallop to the Midwest for a wrangle with Ohio State's No. 1 ranked Buckeyes.

Sportswriters' Session Held At Frog Training Camp

By GORDON PYNES

The big men, some of TCU's best Frog gridders, calmly sat in the shade of the stadium's scoreboard answering questions from other men, just as big in their business—Texas sportswriters.

Arriving here on the last leg of their SWC football camp tour, the group included notable scribes from Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Austin and Waco. The questions flew back and forth.

"What do you think of us picking you for the conference's top spot?"

"Well, since you had to pick someone, it might as well be us and it sure will give us plenty to work for," answered Halfback Marvin Lasater.

"Who's going to be the loop's toughie?" A favorite query that received various answers. Halfback Marshall Harris thinks Rice will field a good club. "That Speer is plenty speedy and they have some other swift backs, too."

As for last year's best opponent, End Bubba Meyer gave the nod to Ohio State. Considering the Buckeyes ended up with the nation's number one ranking and the Rose Bowl title, he wasn't far from wrong.

"Who's the toughest man from day to day in practice?" asked one writer.

Center Arvie Martin quickly spoke, "Oh, that Sherrill Headrick is really rough." "One day he knocked me flat on my back in dummy scrimmage." "That guy always goes all out."

With that, the Frogs went back to practice.

Texas Christian Lands Frosh Stars

By BOB BULLOCK

A group of the state's most outstanding high school athletes, recruited by the Frog coaching staff this year, will give TCU one of the best freshman sports programs in the Southwest Conference.

Heading the list of newcomers is Quarterback Guy (Sonny) Gibbs, a 6-7, 220-pound giant who led Graham to a district football championship last season, and Bert Coan, a 6-4, 190-pounder, who is at home as a halfback on the gridiron or a sprinter on the cinder path.

Gibbs was one of the best schoolboy passers in the state last year, and was named to three high school All-America teams.

COAN IS a hard-running halfback who led the Pasadena High School team in scoring for three straight years. In the all-star game at Houston this summer, he carried the ball 10 times and rang up 103 yards rushing.

Pete Hill, a 195-pound block-busting fullback from Fort Worth's Amon Carter Riverside, will give the Wogs one of the most awesome backfields in the league.

For the first time in history, the Christians are going all out in track.

To team with the speedy Coan on the cinder paths will be one of the most promising sprinters to come out of a Texas high school since Eddie Southern. He's Sidney Garton of New Boston.

THE FROGS almost lost Garton to East Texas State, although he had signed a letter of intent at TCU. No release would have been required for him to run track at East Texas, since the school isn't a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Garton was the state 1-A champion in the 100-yard dash and 220 last year. His fastest clocking in the century was a sizzling 9.5, just two-tenths of a second slower than Bobby Morrow's world record.

Jim Bob Thomas, the flying sprinter from Fort Worth's North Side High School, has dipped to 9.4 in the century, but had a strong wind at his back. Thomas also has hit 9.5 clockings, once in the Cowtown Relays this spring, before suffering a pulled leg muscle.

The basketball future is brighter this year with the addition of Mike Loudermilk, Fort Worth Arlington Heights; Bobby Bernard, Graham; Bill Warnell, Galena Park; and Bill Hawkey.

Hawkey is a 6-7 giant who has just been discharged from the Air Force. Last season he was named to the all-Air Force team.

WARNELL, AT 6-5, is one of the top rebounders in the state, and played in the all-star game at Houston this summer. Bernard is also 6-5 and was a standout schoolboy performer for three seasons.

Loudermilk is the shortest recruit at an even 6-0, but is a top-notch playmaker.

The Frogs landed a highly regarded baseball candidate when Charlie Clark, Brewer's mound ace last year, signed a letter of intent. During the past season, he compiled a 14-3 record, and hit over .400 while doubling as a shortstop.

Here's a list of some of the other top freshman athletes:

FOOTBALL

Don Crosier, end, Cleburne; Walter Crum, end, Dallas Crozier Tech; Rufino Escobedo, end, Stamford; Brooks Bowen, tackle, Jacksboro; Bill Phillips, tackle, Snyder; Bill Anderson, guard, Duncanville; Ted Hartness, guard, Weatherford; Bobby Biehunko, center, LaVega; John Thomas, halfback, Denton; Richard Holden, halfback, Dallas Crozier Tech; Saul Pullman, halfback, Eastland; Graham Smith, fullback, Harlingen.

TRACK

Mickey Allcorn, Fort Worth North Side; Glyna McCroskey, Hemphill; Reagan Gassaway, Graham.

BASEBALL

Don Goodwin, catcher; David Terry, second baseman; Leon Boze, shortstop.
