

The State of Texas
Austin

Coke Stevenson
GOVERNOR

September 1, 1942

His Excellency, Honorable Avila Camacho
President of Mexico
Mexico City, D. F.

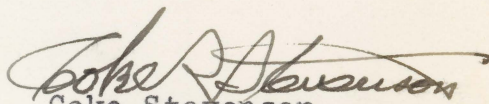

Greetings:

Pressure of official duties prevent me from participating in the inaugural ceremonies attendant upon the opening of service between Mexico and the United States by the American Airlines, which I regard as further evidence of the "good neighbor" policy and friendship that exists between your great Republic, Texas and the United States.

While, unfortunately, I am unable to join you in the program and ceremonies, I have the honor to appoint Mr. Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth, Texas, as my personal representative for this important International occasion. Mr. Carter is an outstanding citizen of Texas and the United States, and any courtesies shown to him will be greatly appreciated by me and the people of Texas.

My kindest personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

Coke Stevenson
Governor of Texas
