Acknowledgements

First, I would like to acknowledge and thank his composition professor Till MacIvor Meyn for advising me throughout the composition of this work, and my colleague Eddie Airheart for his invaluable insight on how to make this work even more idiomatic for wind band. I would also like to thank my parents, extended family, and friends, all who have supported me financially and emotionally throughout my collegiate studies and without whom none of the music I create would have ever been conceived.

Performance Notes

GENERAL

0 denotes zero volume (niente).
All slides (gliss.) should be intentional and begin immediately on the note indicated.
When a sudden dynamic change occurs without sufficient room to notate sub. X or X sub., the score and part contains a dashed vertical line prior to the dynamic.

PERCUSSION

Ⓢ denotes dampen vibrating instrument.

+ denotes mute instrument with hand before striking.

∅ denotes half-muted Hi-hats

○ denotes open Hi-hats or to play the instrument unmuted.

DOUBLING/SUBSTITUTIONS

Most parts (except the percussion) may be doubled except when the scores designates "1 player" or the like.
The composer expects that the flutes, B $\flat$ clarinets 1 and 2, horns, trumpets, and trombones will be doubled. It is not so necessary to double the auxiliary instruments, and the English horn, E $\flat$ clarinet, alto clarinet, and contrabass clarinet do not have single player/tutti designations. If an English horn or contrabass clarinet is unavailable, cues have been indicated in the score to replace their solos.

Duration: ca. 11'45"

Program Notes

Olympus Mons, Latin for “Mount Olympus,” refers to many features. It obviously refers to the terrifying Mount Olympus in Greece, which was considered insurmountable during ancient times. It also refers to the largest known volcano in our solar system—374 miles in diameter and 16 miles high—on the planet Mars. “Mars Mountain” can refer either to Olympus Mons, and “Mars Hill” can refer to the Areopagus in Athens, Greece, where Athenians held debates and murder trials. On the other hand, “Olympinublius” is a made-up word, which I devised by juxtaposing the roots “Olympus” and “nubilus” (sic). Thus, the title essentially refers to a cloudy Mount Olympus.

Although I originally conceived this work with “Olympinublius,” it became clear about halfway through composing the piece that it needed a suitable, light-hearted introduction, for two reasons: (1) “Olympinublius” felt too heavy and isolated as a single movement, lasting just over six minutes in an architectural form. “Mars Mountain March” thus introduces some of the main motives in a more accessible fashion and more traditional form.

The second reason was practical: “Olympinublius”, while Grade IV, may sound too modernist for audiences around the world. “Mars Mountain March,” on the other hand, is Grade III, and is more accessible while still retaining the zest of “Olympinublius.” Thus, average average concert goers can listen to the first movement alone, while more adventurous audiences can hear both movements without sensing a loss in musicality or cohesiveness.

As with the original “Olympinublius”, the main feature of the program remains Mount Olympus (or at least one of them), but with a brief storyline. “Mars Mountain March” depicts a ceremonial march up Mars Mountain (either Olympus Mons or the Areopagus) to honor the gods (either the Greek gods or the planets). Formally, the march includes two main themes, plus a “Dogfight”—a noticeably more intense theme for contrast. “Olympinublius” depicts Mount Olympus with a thick cloud of the gods' presence, creating an exciting, tumultuous, and stormy environment for the ceremony proper. Indeed, some storms can be entertaining, especially when you live near the mountains—or where thunderstorms and tornadoes are frequent.

-Ian Evans Guthrie

About the Composer

Ian Evans Guthrie (b. 1992) blends Western concert music with various world musics. He is the recipient of the National Federation of Music Clubs Hatz Special Recognition Award, 3rd prize in the National MTNA Composers Competition, and other prizes and recognition from the Society of Composers, ASCAP Morton Gould Young Composers Competition, the Webster Young Composers Competition, and the WSMTA Young Composers competition. In addition, many of his works have been performed publicly around the nation from groups such as fEARnoMUSIC, Portland’s Metropolitan Youth Symphony, the Northwest Symphony Orchestra, the Moore Philharmonic Orchestra, March Music Moderne, the Atlantic Music Festival, the Charlotte New Music Festival, the Clear Creek Music Festival, the Oregon Bach Festival, and the 2014 Pierrot Lunaire Project. His latest commissioned works include a work for the Fort Worth based ensemble Trio Con Brio, a string quartet for the highSCORE Music Festival, and two songs cycles. He has served on various committees, including the Society of Composers, Inc., where was the 2015-16 Region VI Student Representative.

He completed his Master of Music in Composition under a graduate teaching assistantship from Texas Christian University (2016) and his Bachelor of Music in Composition at Marylhurst University (2014). He has studied composition with Till MacIvor Meyn, Martin Blessinger, Blaise Ferrandino, John Frederick Paul, and Robert Priest, among others. Guthrie has also been mentored by John Mackey, George Tsontakis, Robert Paterson, Martin Kennedy, and others; and performers such as Sheila Allen (Yeomans), Sarah Dunham, and Evan Mitchell.

Guthrie began playing the piano at seven and considers his piano skills fundamental to his musical development. At the age of ten, he already accompanied choirs and soloists, and a year later appeared on the Vancouver Seafarer’s Concert. Most recently, he won the 2013-14 Oregon MTNA young artist’s competition and also the 2014 Brookings-Harbor Friends of Music scholarship. He also won the 1st prize in the college-level OMTA scholarship competition in 2012. In September 2008, under the instruction of teacher Barbara Roberts, he and fellow student Mary Stone performed Saint-Saëns’ Carnival of the Animals with Portland’s Columbia Symphony Orchestra. He has studied piano with John Owings (2015-16), Gloria Lin (2014-15), Renato Fabbro (2010-14), and Barbara Roberts (2004-10).

The image displays a page from a musical score, likely for a symphony orchestra. The score is written for various instruments, including Piccolo, Flutes 1, 2, Oboes 1, 2, English Horn, Clarinet (E♭), Clarinets (B♭) 1, 2, Alto Clarinet, Bass Clarinet, Contrabass Clarinet (B♭), Bassoons 1, Bassoons 2, Alto Saxophone 1, Alto Saxophone 2, Tenor Saxophone, Baritone Saxophone, Horns (F) 1, 2, Trumpets (B♭) 1, 2, Trumpets (B♭) 3, 4, Tenor Trombones 1, 2, Bass Trombone, Euphonium, Tuba, Double Bass, Timpani, and Percussionist 1, 2, 3, 4. The score is in 4/4 time and features a tempo marking of "Allegro vivace" with a metronome indication of 138-152. The key signature is one flat (B♭). The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, dynamics (ff, mf, f, p, pp), and performance instructions (e.g., "1 player, solo", "sul pont.", "change B♭ to B♭"). The percussion section includes Xyl., Glsp., Field Drum with snares, and Bass Drum.
