Dear Amon:

It always grieves me to read in the papers of our boys being lost in some far distant place but in your case this goes even deeper because I know how much your son meant to you. There is nothing one can say to alter the fact but we can hope and pray that he will be found safe and sound. So I say, don't give up hope. Being a newspaper man, you know even better than I, that many of these boys return who have falsely been reported lost.

With warm personal regards -

Sincerely,

Charlie
