Dear Mr. Carter:

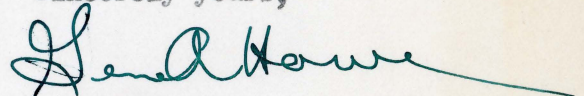

Appreciate so much your invitation to attend the unveiling of the Will Rogers Equestrian Monument and the luncheon in honor of General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But November 4, unfortunately, is the opening of the duck season. This in itself isn't important except that I am entertaining a party of friends, customers and stockholders at the ranch. They are coming from Chicago and elsewhere and they accepted the invitations weeks ago.

Otherwise would be there. Haven't been feeling too well. Nothing serious. Ulcers from over-tension and have been ordered to stay away from the office for six months. Am doing my best to follow instructions. As long as I stay on the ranch I feel great.

Thanks again for your including me.

Sincerely yours,

Gene A. Howe
