

from AMERICAN AIRLINES

FOR RELEASE April 30

American Airlines and American Overseas Airlines yesterday completed a move to new headquarters at 100 Park Avenue, New York.

Involved in the transfer from the Continental Can Company building at 100 East 42nd Street are the executive staff and general office personnel for the non-operating departments of the two airlines. The companies vacated three floors and part of a fourth at the 42nd street address. They will occupy two floors totalling 60,000 square feet at 100 Park Avenue.

The transfer of equipment and 575 employees was accomplished without interruption to work on three successive Saturdays. There has been no change in the telephone number and no change of location for the company's regional and district sales offices from the Chanin Building at 122 East 42nd Street.
