Extry! Extra! Jim Gets Another One To Pay For Paper

Many tales have been told of how ex-Governor James A. Ferguson gets readers for his paper. "The Ferguson Forum," but an insight into his methods was given a few Lubbock people here yesterday when a young, and to be honest—really charming young lady—incidentally an employe of the state, received a letter from "Governor Jim," suggesting that she jar loose with a two dollar bill and have her name placed on the list of subscribers of the "Forum."

The Ferguson Forum, Jim's letter says, is the only newspaper that the present administration has, and it is the duty of all Ferguson supporters to actively support it.

"Well," the young lady in question said after viewing the letter, "It means come across with a couple of bucks but I guess my job's worth that much if it's worth anything."

And as a result the Forum has another—let's say, subscriber, rather than reader.
