

Bunche Talks Here Monday

Negro Ralph J. Bunche, who won the Nobel Peace Prize for helping bring peace to the troubled Near East, will arrive at Love Field in Dallas Monday morning en route to an 8 p.m. Monday appearance in the Student Center Ballroom.

Bunche, U.N. undersecretary for special political affairs since 1957, will discuss "American Racial Prejudice."

His TCU address is being sponsored by the Forums and Human Relations Committees. The speech will be free and open to all students, faculty members and administrators.

answer prepared queries in a press-conference type question and answer session.

Billy Tumlinson, former Human Relations Committee chairman, said he thought Bunche's appearance will "help the academic and intellectual atmosphere of the campus."

Bunche was born in Detroit in 1904. He was orphaned at age 13 and he and a sister were reared by their maternal grandmother.

He received an A.B. degree at UCLA, M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Harvard University and post doctoral training at Northwestern University, London School of Economics and the University of Cape Town, South Africa.

BUNCHE'S CAREER has included work as an educator, State Department official and various capacities in the United Nations. His efforts as acting mediator in the Palestine-Arab dispute in 1948-1949 won for him the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize.

Congress Buys 'Mugs'

Student Congress Tuesday voted approval of a motion by Congresswoman Joan Bennett asking "milk mugs" be purchased for all congress members, using money from the general fund.

The motion met with a ripple of laughter and a minimum of debate and was approved, 16 to 6. President-elect Mark Wassenich told The Skiff after the session that he "and several others" had their "mug money" spent on periodicals for the library.

"We are drastically in need of periodicals," Wassenich said.

Further action, congress: Further debated the proposed merger of the Human Relations and Forums Committees.

Mailing System for Year Books

Students who are not returning to the campus in September will have no difficulty in obtaining a copy of the Horned Frog, following action taken Tuesday by the Student Publications Committee. The committee after considering the problem, reported that an effective mailing system will be set up to send the yearbooks to students who have graduated, transferred or withdrawn.

A $1 fee for handling and mailing will be assessed each student who will receive a yearbook.

The committee recommends that students who want the book should go to the Journal Office (RH116) and pay the charge. Students will fill out a mailing label, designating to whom the book will be mailed and the correct address.

The merger became the subject of a heated 30-minute debate at the close of the April 23 congressional session. A motion to take no further action on the proposed merger then was approved, 19 to 2.

Wassenich said that Dr. Laurence C. Smith, vice chancellor for student affairs, had recommended the merger since the Human Relations Seminar was an activity and it might be efficient to operate the seminar through the Forums Committee.

Palmer McCarter, Activities Council chairman-elect, said that Congresswoman Linda Pilcher is to be next year's Forums Committee chairman and "she says she can handle it (the seminar)."

Congressman Billy Bob Sherley said he was sure that Miss Pilcher was capable but that he was concerned with Forums chairmen after her term of office.

"We don't know who'll be on Forums Committee year after next," Sherley said. Sherley proposed that McCarter and other future activities council chairmen might make reports to congress, bringing it up-to-date on the progress of Forums Committee.

Congress President Galen Hull said "this is a very touchy issue and I can see where there would be a need for closer communication between congress and activities council."

Sherley further suggested that Congress have a member on Forums Committee reporting progress of the committee to congress.

Since the proposed merger will be taken up by next year's congress, no further action was taken.

Congress was given a financial statement by Treasurer Bill Biggs regarding this year's spending and balance.

The statement reported that out of the general fund of $16,010.56, Congress this year spent $13,058, leaving a balance of $2,952.51. The figures, Biggs said, include expenditures through the month of May.

Of the $1,505 allotment for administrative expenditures, $1,342 was spent; of $10,625 for Activities Council, $8,198.45; of $1,225 for delegations, $457; of $3,875 for operating expenses, $3,066.60.

Biggs said a 50 cent assessment of summer students would add to the balance.

2. Voted on a motion by Congressman James Ward, chairman of the Permanent Improvement Committee, to provide Pete Wright Dormitory with a set of encyclopedias, an Oxford dictionary, and a shelf for the books, to cost "at least $300." The motion carried, 15-3.

Also passed was an amendment to the motion providing that a plaque be placed with the books, noting that they were a gift of the 1962-1963 Student Congress.

3. Heard a report from McCarter, chairman of the activities council dance committee, stating that 270 couples attended the Stan Kenton Spring Formal.

"The dance was a complete and total success," McCarter said.

4. Was informed by Wayne Ewen of the Human Relations Committee that United Nations Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, scheduled to speak here May 6, will be present at a press conference.

From Dr. James Moudy

An Open Letter

The visit of Dr. Ralph Bunche to the TCU campus on May 6 is a very special event.

Not often do we have the chance to see and hear a winner of the Nobel Prize (1950) and the Medal of Honor of the Theodore Roosevelt Association (1954).

Dr. Bunche will speak in open session in the ballroom of the Student Center on Monday evening at 8 p.m. In his formal speech he will deal with racial prejudice. We expect that he will later respond informally to questions from the floor.

Dr. Bunche, as undersecretary for special affairs of the United Nations, represents an organization about which some controversy has raged, and he will speak on a topic which is also controversial. But he is known for his calm and straightforward approach to all questions. Persons of all persuasions will be able to profit from the evening session.

I sincerely hope that students and faculty alike will accept the invitation of Student Congress and the Human Relations Seminar Committee to hear Dr. Bunche.

Sincerely,
J. M. Moudy, Vice Chancellor
For Academic Affairs

NEXT YEAR'S EDITORS

Two Fort Worth students, James Brassfield Martin and Diane Turner, have been named editors of University publications for next year. Martin, a junior, will edit The Skiff. He has served as managing editor of the paper this semester. Miss Turner is a junior and will edit the Horned Frog. She was assistant editor of the yearbook last year.

PBX Operator Concerned About Phone System Use

BY JAY SCHEMPF

Do you know how to use the telephone correctly?

This question is aimed not only at the student body but also at the faculty, including deans and chancellors, maintenance men, cooks, mail clerks and the dorm mothers.

Pauline Jones, public board of exchange (PBX) operator at the University, says it is astonishing how many people do not know how to use any kind of telephone system, including the one at TCU.

"We have an efficient system here and it is capable of meeting the needs of even the busiest day," said Miss Jones.

"IT COULD, however, be used much more efficiently if the people knew how to place calls through the University switchboard."

Mrs. Jones, PBX operator here since 1947, says that although she has loved working for the University, she is concerned with the betterment of the communications system.

"Cooperation is what counts," she added. "If everyone would realize that the telephone was not made especially for them, everything would work out fine."

This reporter spent the better part of an hour in the switchboard office with Mrs. Jones and another operator, Mrs. Francis Henry. Their job is a harried one.

The board is open from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m. every day. There are two student helpers who take the board in the evenings and on Saturdays afternoons and Sundays.

MRS. JONES is a cheerful, friendly woman who has been a telephone operator since 1925. She is from Fort Worth and has lived in the same house (3533 Avenue J) since World War I.

She spent a 10-year period away from mouthpieces and wires while married, but after her husband died, she returned to the lines.

As for her work at TCU, Mrs. Jones enjoys every minute of it.

City Manager To Speak At Pi Sigma Alpha Event

J. L. Brownlee, Fort Worth city manager, will be the guest speaker at Pi Sigma Alpha, national honor society in political science, initiation ceremonies tonight at the Cross Keys restaurant.

To be initiated are Jack C. Bailey, Joseph P. Bandor, Thomas E. Barlow, Dan Barr Jr., Richard J. Hancock, Dorothy C. Hankins, Sarah H. Haynie and Bonnie J. Johnson.

Also Ronald W. Johnson, Frederick D. Kemp, Neven M. Kense, Carol Lee, Karen Manning, Donald R. Matl, Nancy J. Rhoads and Joan M. West.

and she has seen the school change in many ways.

She worked at the Fort Worth Star-Telegram when both Dr. Warren K. Agee, now dean of the TCU evening College, and Amos Melton, TCU's public relations director, were there.

The most grueling time for the operators is during football season, when hundreds of people call wanting to reserve tickets for the "big game" the next week.

"BOTH FRANCIS and I have every line working then," she said.

Asked if she had much trouble with students placing long distance calls.

"We have had a number of phones simply pulled out of the walls in the dorms for pure meanness and have had a few of them stolen by outside parties."

Mrs. Jones said that through the quick work of one of the student helpers, the location of an anonymous caller who talks to women in the dorms in vile and profane language, has been found.

He is a student and the operators are screening all calls from his dorm in the evenings.

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess that I myself have never been to Europe, but I do have a French poodle and a German shepherd, so I am not entirely unqualified.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Liechtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The old ones are thrown away

The capital of England is London—or Liverpool, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Another "must" while in London is a visit to the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint, but terribly disorganized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Little Women, fought all his life to simplify English spelling. They tell a story about Shaw once asking a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?"

The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw sniggered. "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish."

"How is that?" said the friend. Shaw answered, "Gh as in enough, o as in woman, t as in nation. Put them all together, you get fish."

This was very clever of Shaw when you consider that he was a vegetarian. And a good thing he was. As Disraeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who enjoys a fine, rich breed of tobaccos, who appreciates a pure white filter, who likes a soft pack that is really soft, a Flip-Top box that really flips. Be sure you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sight-seeing there is nothing so welcome as a good flavorful Marlboro and a foot-bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens. Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall, Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

The guards at the Tower of London are called Beefeaters because they are always beefing about what they get to eat. This is also known as "cricket" or "petrol."

Well, I guess that about covers England. In next week's column we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

Wherever you may roam in Europe and in all fifty states of the Union, you'll find Marlboro ever-present and ever-pleasant—filter, flavor, pack or box.

After Discussion on Student Life

Greeks Arrived in 1954

BY LARRY RICHARDS

At a meeting on student life held in May 1954, a committee headed by Dr. D. Lindley, then TCU vice president, first discussed the possibility of sororities and fraternities on campus.

The primary purpose of that meeting was to discuss factors which might aid in enrollment and general student life. In that connection the Greeks were mentioned.

Bitter opposition was aroused against the Greek admission by some board members, but Dr. Lindley believed the move would be approved for two reasons: 1. Greeks would provide a better opportunity on the student level of self-expression and discipline. They would bring about an increase in enrollment.

When the Board of Trustees met to discuss the issue, they decided that a committee of representatives from the board, administration, faculty and student body should establish a governing policy before the Greeks would become a reality on campus.

AFTER INITIAL approval was granted and policy rules drawn up, a survey was made to select a group of acceptable national sororities and fraternities.

The committee reported that sororities and fraternities should be limited to keep local students in Fort Worth and draw other students from over the state.

The committee also felt that if the University was to maintain a complete democracy, the organizations had to be allowed on campus. Another positive factor was that the Greeks would aid TCU financially by producing future contributors.

Dr. Lindley said members would be housed in dorms and homes and that the University would provide TCU-owned land near campus on which Greeks could eventually build their own houses.

THE INTRODUCTION of sororities and fraternities to the campus brought about misunderstandings and clashes between the administration and students. The students felt the decision was biased and at times a "flagrant misuse of democratic procedure."

Protest meetings were held in which students criticized the administration's position and attitude toward establishment of Greek organizations.

With the passing of student protest, TCU's first Rush Week was set for Dec. 5-11, 1954. Rushing of pledges was conducted by members of alumni groups here.

In October 1954 the fraternities due at TCU were named. They were Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Sigma.

In November 1954 eight of the present 10 sororities were named. They were Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Zeta Tau Alpha. Their formal rush was scheduled for the first week of the spring semester.

THE SKIFF began publishing articles each week which told the history of each fraternity and sorority, prominent alumni members and current functions.

When the men's first formal rush ended, it was announced that 100 men had been pledged.

The Interfraternity Council was organized Jan. 13, 1955, to serve as the governing body for the fraternities.

The first Greek social event was a formal dance presented by the Phi Delta Society of Phi Delta Theta and the Phi Alpha colony of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The first formal sorority rush ended Feb. 4, 1955, with 198 women participating. The same night the first 13 TCU students to be initiated by a national fraternity became members of Phi Kappa Sigma.

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority were the first Greek organizations officially to receive their charters.

All eight of the sororities received their charters officially at a formal convocation April 17, 1955. National officers were present to climax a week of initiation activities.

THE FIRST formal fall rush was held the next September with 150 men and 250 women participating.

In November 1955 two more sororities were invited to organize. The two were to be chosen from Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Mu, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa and Delta Zeta.

Delta Gamma and Pi Beta Phi were chosen, raising the number of sororities to the present 10.

In March 1956 plans were started for fraternity and sorority housing to be located west of the men's and women's dorms. The houses were planned to provide for 28 to 30 students with the cost not exceeding $90,000. Another option would have been to erect duplex-type building which would house two groups each.

As it developed, the "house" plan was thrown out in favor of two air-conditioned, sectionalized dorms. These dorms were to be ready for occupancy by September 1957. They are the present Milton Daniel and Colby Hall Dormitories.

Honor Group Initiates Five

Five TCU students and two professors will be initiated into Alpha Sigma Lambda, national scholastic honor society for Evening College students, Saturday in Brown-Lupton Student Center.

The TCU chapter was organized in 1955. A student must have earned 30 hours credit in the Evening College with a B-plus average to be eligible for membership. Professors are given memberships for outstanding leadership and contributions to outstanding scholastic achievement by their students.

Those being initiated are: Joseph P. Dummigan, Wayland M. Keith, Col. Don R. Parsons, Albert O. Watson, Frank C. Wilkes and Dr. Comer Clay, professor of government and Dr. Otto R. Nielsen, dean of the School of Education.

COULD THIS BE WHY THE FOUR FRESHMEN CAN'T FINISH SCHOOL?

Yes. But there's nothing wrong with their addition. Four master vocalists, plus four swinging instrumentalists, plus four on stage-off the cuff comedians total Four Freshmen. Honest. And this fantastic triple threat versatility is why college audiences refuse to let the Freshmen finish school.

In "The Four Freshmen in Person • Volume 2" on Capitol, you'll hear them at their versatile best, in a recording made during an unforgettable performance at Long Beach City College. The packed house called it great, and so will you.

Look for "The Four Freshmen in Person • Volume 2" on Capitol, and look for the Four Freshmen in concert on your campus.

Student Congress members and their advisers "took to the woods" last week to talk over matters for next year. Congressmen covered a number of possible problem areas that might come up in the coming year, ranging from the question over football tickets to new uniforms

Congress 'Takes to the Woods'

Student congressmen "took to the woods" at 2 p.m. Friday afternoon. They gathered at Rockwood Park to hear next year's president, Mark Wassenich, give further indications as to the kind of leader he will be.

The park trip was the first annual Student Congress Retreat. During a reading of the constitution, Wassenich said he was concerned with congress-administration relations and believes that Congress should look to the administration and faculty for aid.

"They'll go along with you." He said students should not look at campus administrators as "big, bad men" and should let them "know what's going on."

"We're all a part of the same university," Wassenich added. Congress could expect help from the faculty and should "bring faculty into being a part of all we do."

Congress President Galen Hull expressed concern about congress-cheerleader relations. He said that before this year, there was never any specific means of "getting rid of cheerleaders."

"They need to have a better sense of responsibility," Hull said.

Vice President-elect Don Holt offered information about two new congressional committees being formed. One of the committees, Holt said, will be a Public Information panel, designed to take surveys, questionnaires, and polls to keep congress informed of student opinion and views.

The other will be a "Special Functions Committee" tackling many congressional operations, none of which will deserve a full year's attention. They will handle such things as Campus Chest, the Leadership Retreat, and student participation in Homecoming.

Other subjects discussed at the retreat included:

1. Student Congress representation in the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee, in which five students are to participate.

Named to the committee were Wassenich (the student congress president of each conference is automatically a member); cheerleader Dick Hanley; next year's Skiff editor (not yet chosen); Don Holt, representing the junior class; and Donny Smith, representing TCU athletes.

2. Organization of the election committee for the coming year. Election Committee Chairman

Billy Bob Sherley and Congressman James Ward expressed concern because of the lack of interest in helping with elections.

"It wouldn't be such a job if enough would help," said Sherley. It is the committee's "general consensus to have" another election pamphlet next year, but there are no plans to have a pamphlet for the fall elections.

3. Uniforms for next year's cheerleaders. Cheerleader Jerry Loftin said cheerleader uniforms wear out quickly.

"Our trying to wear Barry Acker's and Tim James' stuff will look sloppy," Loftin added.

Wassenich said cheerleaders would be taken care of by the budget for next year's congress. The budget is to be ready for discussion in congress Tuesday.

4. Next year's student body trip. Congressman Jim Lane said the trip has been planned for the TCU-Arkansas game. If these plans fall through, the trip will be made to Texas.

A trip to Texas would be undesirable since too many students would want to stay overnight. This might cause students to miss classes the following Monday, he added.

5. The football ticket problem. Hull said Stadium Ticket Manager Frank Windegger and Football Coach Abe Martin have informed him of a suggested solution to the problem.

Too many students stay up all night waiting at the ticket window. Many of them, Hull said, are so tired the following day they cut classes.

Windegger and Martin suggested that, instead of having activity cards, students would carry coupon books with one coupon for each game.

The coupons could then be presented at the games for admittance. This would eliminate the line problem, but it would mean that seats would go on a "first-come-first-served" basis.

Coach Martin is to speak before Congress at its regular meeting Tuesday, Hull said.

In closing, Wassenich said he hoped each congressman and activities council chairman would take his job seriously next year.

"There are a lot of things that do need doing," Wassenich said, "and there are a lot of things that should be cut out. Certainly school work is more important, but keep this in mind and try to do a good job."

Hobbs Junior Elected As P.E. Club President

The Physical Education Professionals' Club (PEP) members elected officers and voted for miniature golf titles Tuesday at the Texas Miniature Golf Course in Fort Worth.

PEP, a women's organization for physical education majors and minors, promotes interest in physical education and professional growth.

Officers named Tuesday were Carol Kennedy, Hobbs, N. M. junior, president; Judy Hurst, Burleson junior, vice president; Patty Rapp, Cliffwood, N.J. sophomore, secretary; Jane Schmidt, Fredricksburg junior, treasurer; and Sandy Hill, Dallas freshman, publicity director.

Marilyn Seinworth and Sue Potter, Fort Worth sophomores, won first and second places in the miniature golf tourney.

Student Spelunkers Explore Caves To Promote Conservation Procedures

BY SHIRLEY CRESWELL

Ever tried spelunking in your spare time? Well, there are four university students who do just that whenever they can find time. And just what is spelunking? Well, to non-adventurers, it's commonly known as cave exploring.

The four adventurous spelunkers are Jim Eagan, junior; Glenn Pense, sophomore; Craig Rabb, sophomore; and Dick Waller, junior, all of Fort Worth.

They are members of the Fort Worth-Dallas Grotto, a local subdivision of the National Speleological Society.

In the dictionary, grotto is defined as a natural covered opening in the earth. The word spelunker is coined from speos meaning a grotto, or cave. Hence all this vocabulary comes about.

The Fort Worth-Dallas Grotto was organized in 1960. Eagan has been a member for three years while Pense, Rabb and Waller are more recent joiners.

GROTTO GROUPS get together on week-ends and plan trips to unexplored, non-commercial caverns. They photograph, survey, map and conduct a biological study of the caves, and are primarily concerned with cave conservation and safety procedures, with a little fun added in between.

Standard equipment usually consists of carbide lights, flashlights, lots of rope, steel hats and cameras.

The grotto has made "expeditions" to Sonora, San Antonio, Northern Arkansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Mexico, in search of hidden caves.

There are some 30 members of the local organization ranging in age from 16 to 35. Several are married couples.

The "true-life" occupations of these cave hunters vary from electrical engineering and drafting to chemistry and insurance—and of course, our four Lewis and Clark-type students.

Eagan described the group as well organized.

"We make thorough examinations of our trips and keep accurate records," he added.

So if studies seem to be closing in on you with finals drawing near, instead of flunking, maybe you could try "spelunking!"

There are more than 700 roadside parks along Texas highways. All offer complete picnicking facilities. Many have drinking water and firewood.

Music Department Slates Series of Cultural Events

The School of Fine Arts' Department of Music is planning another series of cultural events for the University.

A senior recital is planned at 8:15 tonight in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Martha Watson, Artesia, N.M., senior, will play the violin and Carolyn Rankin, staff accompanist, will present piano selections.

TCU Chorus and Orchestra will present a concert of "Te Deum" by Kodaly and "Flos Campi" by Vaughan Williams at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Dr. Ralph R. Guenther, professor of theory and flute, will conduct.

John Weaver, organist, will present a concert for the American Guild of Organists at 8:15 Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The concert is open to the public and tickets are on sale at the box office the night of the performance or from Charles Segó at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Weaver will conduct a master class for organists at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Admission is free.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect. How intelligent!

Drama Student Lands 4 Roles in New Corpus Christi Theatre

A Fort Worth senior who has played in plays all over the United States signed a contract last week to play leading and character roles in four musicals to be presented this summer at the newly organized Sandy Shores Theatre in Corpus Christi.

He is Jack Rader, currently playing the leading role of John Proctor in the TCU Department of Theatre Arts' production of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible." Rader, a husband and father, first enrolled at TCU in 1955.

IN 1957 the actor left the University to work in summer stock shows.

Rader went to Pennsylvania, where he worked and acted. He left Pennsylvania in fall 1959 and returned to TCU.

"I quit at midsemester," Rader said in an interview. He said he left TCU to go to Hollywood.

"Hollywood is beyond belief," Rader said. "Acting is a closed shop—you don't get parts if you are new out there."

RADER SAID he had instruction in motion picture technique while in Hollywood. He also did some acting but "had no parts in the professional theatre."

While in Hollywood, Rader was drafted into the Army and had his basic training at Fort Riley, Kan. From there, he was sent to Fort Sill, Okla., and entered Officers' Candidate School. He is now a first lieutenant in the Reserves.

Rader said his favorite part was that of Stanley Kowalski in Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire." He filled the role while working in summer stock shows in Lawton, Okla.

"I also enjoyed doing Othello at TCU," Rader said.

UNLIKE MANY actors, Rader has no desire to play the role of Hamlet. Instead, he has always dreamed of doing the title role in Edmond Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Rader said he believes the five most important things a good actor should have are "a good voice, good movement, and study, study, study."

Too many actors, he said, go to Hollywood thinking they'll get an agent and begin acting in films, without studying theatre at college.

"I KNEW only one guy who made it this way," Rader said. He said the actor was in Hollywood for 10 years before he received a good role.

At the Sandy Shores Theatre in Corpus Christi, Rader is to play Herbie in "Gypsy," Mayor Shin in "The Music Man," the prime minister in "The King and I" and Steve in "Showboat."

Rader plans to leave Texas for New York next spring. He says he hopes to get parts in Broadway shows, but "will be lucky if I can get parts in off-Broadway shows."

Explaining that Broadway, like Hollywood, is hard to break into, Rader said he "may end up in the insurance business."

Donor Presents Plates in Miss Hogg's Honor

An anonymous donor recently presented the University with 50 "Governor Hogg" commemorative plates in honor of the governor's sole surviving daughter, Miss Ima Hogg.

James Stephen Hogg, governor of Texas from 1891 to 1895, is the main figure pictured on the plates. He was the first native-born governor and served as attorney general of Texas from 1887 to 1891.

Baylor, Ags Square-Off In Waco

The Southwest Conference baseball spotlight will shine on Waco this weekend when Texas A&M and Baylor will meet head-on in an important duel.

Both squads have three losses. One more loss will scratch each team from the race. Baylor has a 5-3 record, A&M a 7-3 mark.

In other conference action this weekend, Rice is scheduled to play Texas in Austin this afternoon. TCU and SMU are to hook up in Dallas this afternoon and in Fort Worth on Saturday. Rice and Texas also played yesterday.

Texas is currently leading the league with a 6-2 slate. The Longhorns are 15 percentage points ahead of second place TCU and A&M. The Aggies and the Frogs have 7-3 records.

Team	W	L	Pct.
Texas	6	2	.715
TCU	7	3	.700
A&M	7	3	.700
Baylor	5	3	.625
Rice	2	7	.222
SMU	0	8	.000

Wogs Play SMU Frosh

The Wog baseball team plays the SMU Colts in Dallas Saturday afternoon. The TCU frosh won two games from the Colts in Fort Worth earlier in the season. The Wogs have a 6-3 record.

Starting pitchers for the Frogs in the two-game series with SMU today and tomorrow afternoon are Lance Brown, left, and Pat Peebles. Peebles, 3-2, is due to pitch this afternoon's game in Dallas and Brown, 8-1, is slated for action tomorrow afternoon on the TCU diamond. Game time for the Saturday contest is 2:30 p.m.

Big Weekend Due For 'Mural Athletes

Sigma Chi fraternity will be out to protect its lead in the intramural standings this weekend when a swimming and diving meet and track meet will be held. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is sponsoring a golf tournament.

The Sigma Chis have compiled 306 points. Phi Delta Theta is second with 243, followed by SAE with 185 and Kappa Sigma with 181½ points.

The diving events will start the swimming meet at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Panther Boy's Club at 1501 Lipscomb. The other swimming events will follow. Swimming coaches at the club will judge events. All fraternities are entered.

Men from the TCU track team will be officials at the track meet to be held Sunday at 1 p.m. on the TCU track.

The SAE golf tournament will start at 8 a.m. Saturday at Worth Hills. Trophies will be given to the individual low scorer, and to the winners of the two-ball team. A team trophy also will be awarded.

Play SMU There Today, Ponies Here on Saturday

The Frogs hopped back into the Southwest Conference baseball race Tuesday afternoon by whipping Texas A&M, 8-2, in College Station. The victory enabled TCU to sweep the three-game series with A&M. Previously, the Frogs had bested A&M twice in Fort Worth.

TCU may hold an advantage despite being tied for second place with Texas A&M. Texas is leading the conference with a 6-2 record, and A&M and TCU follow with 7-3 marks.

Four of the Frogs' remaining five games are to be played with SMU and Rice. Between them, they have won two games this year.

On the other hand, Texas and A&M must play a three-game series with each other, plus two games each with fourth-place Baylor. The Frogs have one game to play with the Bears.

This afternoon the Frog crew plays SMU in Dallas. Sophomore righthander Pat Peebles, (3-2), is due on the mound for the Frogs. On Saturday afternoon, the two teams play on the TCU diamond at 2:30 p.m. Coach Frank Windegger has nominated Lance Brown, (8-1), as his mound choice.

This will be the last regularly scheduled home game for TCU. They do have a make-up game to be played with Baylor here around May 15.

TCU may land three players on the All-Southwest Conference team this year. Brown appears to be a cinch along with smooth fielding second baseman Billy McAdams. Left fielder Jay Walrath is another possibility.

Center fielder Bob Bigley may land a berth on one of the top two teams. He was a first team selection last year.

Brown picked up his eighth victory Tuesday against A&M. The stocky righthander set the Aggies down on seven hits. He walked two and struck out seven.

The Frogs unleashed a 17-hit attack to bolster Brown's pitching. McAdams whacked out four hits to lead the hitters. Bigley and Walrath each had three hits. Shortstop Ronnie McLain and catcher Freddy Jones stroked two hits each.

The hitting of McAdams was a pleasant surprise for the Frogs.

Frog Hits (Through 20 Games)

Conference Meet in Arkansas

Trackmen Head for Hills

BY BENNY HUDSON

The top thinclads of the Southwest Conference will take to the hills of Arkansas next week to participate in a conference track meet May 10-11 at Fayetteville.

Baylor and Texas seem to be the strongest of the Southwest Conference teams and one, of the two, could easily become the victor in the conference meet.

TCU's defending high jump champion, Jackie Upton, is favored to sweep the high jump event with the greatest of ease. Upton won the event last year with a leap of 6-8. This year he won the Southwest Rec meet here, the Border Olympics at Laredo, and completed the first two legs of the track's triple crown, winning his event at the Texas and Kansas Relays, before faltering on the final leg in the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa. Upton's best jump was 6-8¾ at the Kansas meet.

Billy Foster of SMU is picked to win the 100-yard dash. He placed second at the Rec Meet, third at the Border Olympics and second at the Texas Relays.

The 440-yard relay team from Baylor finished first at the Texas Relays with a 44.1 and should come in first at Fayetteville. Rice finished fifth and Texas came in sixth at the Texas Relays.

Danny Roberts of Texas A&M and Jim Lancaster of Baylor should dominate the shot put and the discus throw. Roberts set a new conference record of 59-3¾ at the Texas Relays, beating his record of 57-1½ set at Waco last year. He also won the event at the Border Olympics. Lancaster finished second at the Texas Relays and third at the Border Olympics.

Roberts hurled the discus 164-6 at the Border Olympics to grab first place honors. He also won the event at the Texas Relays. Lancaster placed second at the Texas Relays.

Texas' Rex Wilson won the 120-yard high hurdles at Laredo with a time of 14.5. He finished second at the Texas Relays and should be the first to break the string at Fayetteville. Bobby May of Rice finished third at the Texas Relays.

The one-mile relay should be dominated by Texas Tech. Tech won second place at both the Rec Meet and the Border Olympics.

Richard Perry of Arkansas probably will win the broad jump. He was the only Southwest Conference try to place in the Texas Relays' broad jump event.

Rice and Baylor should be nip and tuck in the 880-yard relay. They finished first and second, respectively, in the relays.

Ed Red of Rice, and Fred Rath of Baylor, should be the top competitors in the javelin throw.

Baylor's Glen Felds is expected to take first-place honors in the 220-yard dash. He finished third at Laredo and second at the Rec Meet.

The 880-yard run could be won by Brian Bolten of SMU. Bolten won the event at the Rec Meet with a 1:54.1 time.

Texas A&M is picked to win the one-mile relay. The Aggies finished second at the Texas Relays.

TCU's Marvin Silliman has a good chance of winning the one-mile run. He ran the mile at the Border Olympics in 4:16.

Fred Hansen of Rice easily could break his Southwest Conference record of 15-5 in the pole vault event. He cleared 16-1 at the Texas Relays.
