'Rivals' Envy T. C. U. Salute

Mutual Narrator Says School Is 'Friendliest'; Praises War Program

Citizens and students of Dallas, Waco, Houston and other Southwestern college hometowns must surely have been "gnashing" their teeth if they were listening to last Friday's Army radio salute to T. C. U. aired over the Mutual Broadcasting System, the world's largest network.

Such was the substance of a comment about the half-hour national radio program by one listener who is to join the staff of T. C. U. in the fall, and, according to other school officials, this was most appropriate.

T. C. U., the 37th school in the nation and probably the first in the Southwest to be honored on the Army's weekly "Campus Salute" series, was the subject of nearly what has been termed "more-than-soap-opera" boosts on the show.

"T. C. U. has the most democratic and friendly campus in the Southwest," was one of the narrator's comments, for example.

In similar glowing language, he presented a brief summary of the school's history, a report on T. C. U.'s part in war training, a survey of its football achievements, and a statement of its academic standards. Ranch Week, the Horned Frog Presentation Ball and the various T. C. U. queens were described as was also the school's emphasis on religious education.

From the opening line, "The Army salutes Texas Christian University on its seventy-fifth anniversary," until the close of the program, virtually every one of the announcer's words was devoted to praising T. C. U. Statements about T. C. U. were given between all musical numbers on the show.

As features of the program, the Army Band and chorus opened the program playing and singing the "Fight Song" and later, in tribute to Horned Frog football players, the chorus sang the "Alma Mater," both verses.

Ups and Downs Of Union Listed

Business is down, but behavior is up, according to Troy Merideth, Austin sophomore and manager of the Student Union, in his latest report on the lounge.

Due to the decrease in enrollment of the second six weeks summer term, fountain business is off as much as 15 per cent, he reports. But the staff is not alarmed by this slump because until now business in the lounge has exceeded expectations.

Improved behavior on the part of the students is reflected in Merideth's report that not a single piece of furniture was broken during the month of July in contrast to a heavy breakage rate during each of the first three months.

"The student co-operation which this evidences is much appreciated," says Merideth, "and actually by being on their 'good behavior' in the Student Union the students are helping themselves. The breakage rate had become so bad that school officials were threatening to close the lounge until students could prove that they would take proper care of the equipment."

Sadler Has 7 'Busy' Days Until European Tour Begins

With only one more week to remain on the campus this summer, President M. E. Sadler is completing all business matters before leaving on a European tour.

A called meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees will be held tomorrow in the office of Dr. L. D. Anderson, pastor of First Christian Church, Fort Worth, to make plans for the remainder of the summer session, according to Dr. Sadler.

President Sadler will ask the board to authorize Business Manager Pete Wright or Dean Jerome Moore, School of Fine Arts, to sign official papers during his absence. He will also ask that Dean Moore be appointed to confer degrees at the summer commencement exercises, Dr. Sadler said.

President and Mrs. Sadler will leave Fort Worth Friday, Aug. 6, on the first leg of their overseas trek that will take them on a tour of all major countries of Europe and to the first assembly of the World Council of Churches, Aug.

New Order Set For Registering

An alphabetical schedule to be used by students during the Monday through Friday pre-registration has been announced by Registrar S. W. Hutton. Each student should go to the Registrar's Office at the time designated for the first letter of his last name, according to the plan. The three-day schedule is as follows:

H, I, J, K—Monday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

L, M, N, O, P—Tuesday, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Q, R, S, T, U—Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

V, W, X, Y, Z—Tuesday, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

A, B, C—Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

D, E, F, G—Wednesday, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Thursday and Friday will be open for students who are unable to meet the above schedule and for those not now attending who plan to return this fall, says Registrar Hutton. No new students are to be included in the pre-registration, he adds.

"Those who sign up accurately and completely during the pre-registration period will not have to go through the line in September at the Library," Hutton concluded.

21 to Sept. 5 in Amsterdam, Holland.

The Sadlers will fly to London via New York and Shannon, Ireland, with arrival in London set for Aug. 8. They will tour the British Isles by motor car and bus Aug. 8 to 11. From England the Sadlers will go to Paris and other points of interest in France from Aug. 12 to 15.

Switzerland and Belgium will be visited by the travelers from Aug. 20, where they will participate in the World Council assembly through Sept. 5.

"With only limited time abroad, we are flying to conserve all the time possible," says President Sadler.

While in Amsterdam, President Sadler will work with a commission dealing especially with "International Relations." The 900 delegates to the assembly were chosen for their ability to contribute to some phase of the work being carried on by the Council.

Some 42 nations and 148 church denominations will be represented in the assembly. The United States and Canada have 150 delegates to the Council. Only Russia and the Russian Orthodox Church have refused to send delegates to the first attempted Council.

"The World Council of Churches will comprise separate study groups dealing with specific problems related to the world church," comments President Sadler. It is really a work meeting and not a (Continued on page two)

N.B.C. to Present Breedon's Work

"Cowtown, U. S. A.," a march composed by Band Director Leon Breedon, will be played Aug. 6 on the N.B.C. radio show "Band of America," according to word received from Paul Laval, program director.

The program, which originates in New York City, will be carried at 7 p.m., central standard time, by Station WFAA, Dallas.

"Cowtown, U. S. A." is number one of "The Texas Series," a group of six marches being written by Mr. Breedon with each being dedicated to a Texas city.

"Cowtown, U. S. A." obviously dedicated to Fort Worth, is the first in the series to be completed and Mr. Breedon hopes to have the remaining compositions finished by the end of this summer.

Constitutional Committee Will Replace Convention

Election Is Off; No Petitions Filed

There will be no election today.

At midnight Tuesday, deadline for filing petitions for three Student Council posts, no applications had been received by the Council; therefore, the Council had no alternative but to cancel the election.

In consequence, the Council will operate for the remainder of the second term without three members, and the junior class will be minus a chief executive.

The election was scheduled when Lowerclass Representative Bill Bogoin, Fort Worth; Junior Class Representative Frankie Robbins, Breckenridge; and Junior Class President Dec Kelly, Bonham, withdrew from school, leaving their posts vacant.

The junior class now has no official representative on the Student Council. The student body constitution provides that the Council may continue to function without these officers since there are only four weeks remaining of the summer term.

2068 Enrolled; 1434 Are Vets

Registrations for the second summer term total 2068, including 1434 veteran enrollments, according to figures released by John Fennell, statistician.

Eighteen hundred students are enrolled for day classes, 216 in the Evening College, and 52 are attending day and night classes.

Three members of the Army are included in the total, which is 148 fewer than for the first six weeks.

Sunday's Sermon to Be 'Believing and Unbelievable'

The Rev. J. M. Moudy will speak at 10:50 a. m. Sunday at the University Christian Church, where he is assistant pastor. His topic will be "Believing the Unbelievable."

Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Barker will sing a duet, "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod. Mrs. Edward C. House will be at the organ in the absence of Mrs. Q'Zella O. Jeffus. She will play for the offertory, "Morning Hymn," by W. J. Marsh.

3 Faculty Members Named; Previous Plans Go Astray Due to Element of Time

Provisions for a constitutional committee were made Tuesday night by the Student Council to replace the proposed constitutional convention originally planned to draft a new student body constitution.

The plan for a convention was abandoned because there is not enough time left in the second summer term to form such a group in time to comply with the recommendation of the spring Council and President M. E. Sadler that the constitution be re-written before the fall semester.

The committee will be composed of ten students and three faculty members. Five Council members, who will select five other committeemen from the student body at large, were named Tuesday night: Fort Worth Sophomore Worth Dalton, lower class representative; Council President Ben Hearn, Jacksonville senior; Lower class Representative Bill Hamilton, San Antonio sophomore; J. W. ("Red") Brothers, graduate student from Mount Enterprise, upper class representative; and Miss Shirley Hammond, Fort Worth, freshman class president.

Dr. William J. Hammond, history instructor and Council faculty advisor; Dr. John Lord, professor of government and dean of the Graduate School; and Dr. A. O. Spain, associate professor of government, were named faculty members of the committee.

No date has been set for the committee to meet.

Rice Given Nod As Student Trip

The T. C. U.-Rice game in Houston was named as the probable preferred choice for the official student body trip for the fall football season by the Student Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

This action was in answer to a letter from President M. E. Sadler requesting that the Council state its preference in order that preliminary arrangements might be made.

The Summer Council in its action emphasized, however, that the final decision will be made in the fall when there will be a larger representation of students on the campus. It has been the custom in the past to make the selection of a student body trip by vote of the student body.

Clock Donated to Lounge; Sadler to Talk to Cabinet

Louis Daiches Jewelers have donated a clock to be used in the Student Lounge, it was reported at the Student Council meeting Tuesday night. The Council voted to send a letter of thanks on behalf of the student body to the jewelers for the gift.

In other actions Tuesday night, the Council voted that the Cabinet meet with President M. E. Sadler to hear his reply to the Council's protest concerning his position in regard to the N. S. A. election in the spring. The meeting was requested by President Sadler in a letter to the Council. No date has been set for the conference.

Those With Science Requirement Would-Be News Photographers Get Break

11 New Courses, 9 for Fall, Are Approved

Two new biology courses, two journalism and one chemistry course are among 11 new courses approved Tuesday at a meeting of the Curriculum Committee, announces Dean Jerome A. Moore.

Nine of the new courses will be offered this fall, five in day classes and four in the Evening College.

The new chemistry course, Chemistry 313ab, which is less technical than the first-year chemistry course currently taught at T. C. U., is designed for students who face a one-year science requirement but whose major interest is not in the science field.

The teacher for the course, which presents scientific methods of problem solving in science with its adaptation to other fields, will be F. M. Lisle, assistant professor of chemistry, assisted by Miss Geraldine Kissinger, laboratory assistant.

The chemistry course will parallel Physics 313ab in purpose. This course was offered for the first time last year and does not require an extensive mathematical background. It will also be taught again this year by Dr. Newton Gaines, head of the physics department.

The journalism department will add a photography class and a senior journalism course this fall.

"News Photography," Journalism 334, which will deal with the problems of telling a story in picture, reflects the increasing use of pictures in modern journalism. The class will be organized with photographers covering the campus "pictorially," in the same manner as the reporting class covers the campus for news.

be taught by Warren Agee, journalism instructor, the course will be restricted the first year to students who own cameras and equipment. Completion of Physics 321, "Photography" or equivalent experience in photography will be prerequisite for the course.

Why Bother

A constitutional committee was named by the Student Council Tuesday night to write a new student body constitution. This action was passed by a margin of one vote.

No delegates were sent to the National Student Association convention, and no vote was taken on the question of affiliation with N. S. A.—because there is not a large enough representation of students on the campus during the summer.

No action was taken Tuesday night by the Council on installing a television set in the Student Lounge, first, because the committee in charge of this project wanted more time to investigate television markets, and second—because there is not a large enough representation on the campus during the summer to justify action on the part of the Council to appropriate funds for the set, part of which will probably have to be paid by the fall Council.

The Council chose, with reservations, the T. C. U.-Rice game in Houston as the official student body trip for the fall football season. The "reservations" were made—because there is not a large enough representation on the campus during the summer; therefore, the final decision should be left up to the fall Council.

There will be no election today to fill three vacancies on the Student Council. There was not enough interest among summer students to bring forth even one petition for these posts. So the Council will operate for the remainder of the summer term minus three members (in addition to those who are habitually absent from Council meetings).

When there is not enough interest on the part of the student body to fill the ranks of the Council, and when all actions taken by the depleted Council are questioned or are made with "reservations", is that not reason enough to ask, "Why have a Student Council at all during the summer?"

Registration Windfall

Even though there are less than half the number of students enrolled in summer school as will be enrolled in the fall semester, this "minority group" will get a break next week: They will be given an opportunity to escape the agonies of registration by pre-registering.

A committee of five faculty members spent weeks working on the project. Later the Dean's Council approved the plan from the information gathered by the committee.

It is up to the summer students to make the plan work, however. The plan has been written out in minute detail, available to students at the Registrar's Office and in The Skiff.

Don't miss this opportunity. Just follow the simple directions, and, presto! your registration worries are over.

Baylor University inaugurated a dial telephone system on the campus recently. Students may dial any phone on the campus as well as those in Waco.

Fifty-five T. S. C. W. students are combining school with vacation. These Tessies are attending the college's special summer school in Saltillo, Mexico.

New Courses

Paul O. Ridings, head of the journalism department, will teach the other new class, Journalism 343, "Newspaper Making," a course designed to give experience in modern problems of publication.

The biology and geology department will offer two new courses this fall open to seniors and graduate students. Biology 355ab, "Biology Seminar," will be taught by Prof. W. G. Hewatt, biology instructor, and John Forsyth, assistant professor of biology.

W. M. Winton, head of the biology and geological department, and Leo Hendricks, assistant professor, will hold the class in Geology 357ab, "Geology Seminar."

Two business courses, a German and an English course will make up the newly-added classes this fall to the Evening College.

Business Administration 347, "C. L. U. Review," is a coaching course to prepare students for the taking of part "c" of C. L. U. examinations. The course will be taught by Melvin Adler, attorney specializing in wills and trusts.

Business Administration 338, "Principles of Retailing," a course covering the principles of successful retail operation, will be taught by Wade Forman, marketing specialist at the Lone Star Gas Company.

The third-year German course, German 325, is "Conversation and Composition," to be held by Nathan Bushstab, instructor in chemistry and German.

English 009, "Review of English Fundamentals," is a course covering the principles of grammar. The instructor will be Chester May, English and Spanish instructor.

Two courses approved for the day school that will not be offered this fall are Geology 336, "Principles of Geomorphology," and Biology 354, "General Physiology."

Education 333 has been changed from a three to a six-hour course. The first half will cover a history of elementary education, and the "b" part will survey the history of secondary education.

Sadler Tour

a speech making assembly, he adds.

The Sadlers will leave Amsterdam on Sept. 6 and arrive in Fort Worth Sept. 7. This schedule will permit President Sadler to be on hand when the fall semester begins.

Fine Arts Building, Library "Ok'd" As to Final Plans

Final plans for the Fine Arts Building and the addition to the Library were approved last week at meetings of the building committee, President Sadler and the architect. No changes were made in the original plans.

Dr. A. F. Kuhlman, director of Joint Libraries, from Nashville, Tenn., conferred with the Library staff and architect last week in planning, securing and placing of furniture and fixtures to be installed in the new addition to the Library.

Plans for the School of Business Building will be completed in the near future, according to President Sadler.

Girl Flies to Valley Home Follows Cousin's Election

Miss Rose Marie Bentsen, sophomore, McAllen, flew home for the week-end because of her interest in the election. Her cousin, Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., 27, a graduate of the University of Texas, is running for representative from the 15th District. According to latest reports, he was 2,000 votes ahead of his opponent.

Miss Bentsen was accompanied by her roommate, Miss Dora Calhoun, junior from Cresson, Tex.

Names 'n Notes

T. C. U. actually owns a tombstone inscribed with the words, "Here lie the remains of the Baylor Bear." The tombstone now reposes in the campus Work Shop . . . JAMES RATCLIFF, Dallas senior, arises at 4 a.m. each morning to get to his 7 o'clock class, via the bus to Fort Worth . . . MRS. MARGARET HALL, Evening College secretary, is a former airlines hostess, yet has never ridden on a train . . . RICHARD POOLE, graduate student from El Reno, Okla., drives 250 miles every Sunday to Heaston, Okla., where he is pastor of the Community Church . . . Tired T. C. U. students who want to relax might check with these students who are in school this summer: DONALD COUCH, Fort Worth junior, HAROLD SHEETS, Fort Worth graduate student and DAVID J. PILLOW, also a junior from Ft. Worth . . . T. C. U. will be the second Southwest Conference school to install lights on the gridiron. Rice has played under her own arcs for several years . . . JACK WHITE, Fort Worth senior, has collected more than 1000 old magazines from which he plans to clip pictures for his art reference file . . . Another collector is AUBREY ROBERTSON, Amarillo junior, who at one time had more than 6000 match folders . . . JOE WALLACE, Fort Worth senior, will graduate this August with 64 extra credit hours—enough for a sophomore standing. It's all because he transferred from Texas A. & M. and changed his major.

Phone inquiries aren't the sole means of seeking information from the English office. People are always coming in the office with manuscripts to be read, according to Dr. Warren W. Wood, English teacher. Larry Denton, Bonham junior, a student assistant, takes a number of these calls and sums it up by saying that people are either too lazy or too busy to look for themselves.

On Other Campuses

A group of cadets from Texas A. & M. isn't being bothered by the hot Texas sun this summer. However, the Aggies, part of a group of 250 cadets from all over the country who are now in training in a six weeks' summer camp at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., were soon longing for the warmth of the Texas sun after a recent problem. The problem was to study the effects of sub-zero weather on ammunition, and after firing a howitzer in a room at 20 degrees below zero, the Ags were soon complaining about the cold!

The Ex-Students Association of Texas State College for Women has built a center on the campus at Denton for the use of ex-students who visit the campus. Its construction partially financed by the sale of maps of the campus, the center will provide housing accommodations and entertainment facilities for any of the 1000 members of the exes group, as well as the mothers of visiting students.

Miss Betty Pfeffer, Louisiana State co-ed, has been invited to Austin as the guest of The Daily Texan staff at the L. S. U.-Texas game Sept. 18. The only fly in the ointment was, according to Betty, "they want me to sit on the Texas side all game." Her hosts came through in typical Texas galantry; they will escort her across Memorial Field at the half so she can see the remainder of the game from "friendly" territory.

Daily 'Quizzers' Alert Teachers In English Office

"Is it proper to put a comma between the proper name and junior on a tombstone?" This is but a sample of the inquiries which daily come into the English office, apparently indicating that many people confuse the English office with an information bureau.

The instructors and the student assistants in the English office estimate that people phone on an average of three times an hour, during the regular school term, with questions as to correct spelling, punctuation and usage of words.

One lady wanted to know the correct way to address the Pope in a letter. Another time a lawyer called wanting the correct usage of a word that meant the outcome of a case in court.

Phone inquiries aren't the sole means of seeking information from the English office. People are always coming in the office with manuscripts to be read, according to Dr. Warren W. Wood, English teacher.

Larry Denton, Bonham junior, a student assistant, takes a number of these calls and sums it up by saying that people are either too lazy or too busy to look for themselves.

TCU C. of C. Asked to Aid Jaycee Hospital Fund Drive

The T. C. U. Chamber of Commerce was asked Wednesday to participate in a $100,000 fund raising drive now being sponsored by the Fort Worth Junior Chamber of Commerce. The money is to help finance a Spastic hospital that will serve the city and its surrounding territory, according to Wes Motheral, Fort Worth Jaycee, guest speaker to the Frog group.

Other summer activities for the group include an election of officers, board of directors and the voting in of new members. The officers are: Zack Mason, president, Fort Worth senior; Billyam Matson, 1st vice-president, Fort Worth senior; Hudson Russell, 2nd vice-president, San Angelo junior; and Marlin Robert, secretary-treasurer, Weatherford junior.

The T. C. U. Chamber of Commerce meets every Wednesday and men in the School of Business are invited to attend and become members, according to Mason.

Almost His Own Grandpa

Brite Boy Marries Mother, To Another Man, of Course

A T. C. U. ministerial student married his mother Saturday—to somebody else, of course. The Rev. Joseph Schuler, 2945 Princeton, graduate student in Brite College, drove to Shreveport, La., after classes Friday to perform the wedding ceremony for his mother, Mrs. Agnes Grether Schuler, at 11 a. m. Saturday. The bridegroom was C. W. Plopper, retired auditor of the United Christian Missionary Society, Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Plopper is state secretary of women's work for the Disciples of Christ in Louisiana. The Rev. Mr. Schuler, who preaches at Azle, is a former chaplain who spent three years in the Pacific. Marrying his mother who has been a widow for several years, did seem a little "different" from an ordinary wedding, he admitted. "But I felt fine about it," he said.

Foreign Language Department Plans Experimental Lab Program in Fall

Three rooms in the southwest corner of the first floor of Jarvis Hall have been converted into laboratory, classroom and office to be used by the foreign language department in carrying out laboratory experimentation program, announces Dean Jerome A. Moore, head of the department. The program, which was delayed in getting started at T. C. U. because of lack of space, will include the use of phonographs, ray backs and projectors in the teaching of foreign languages. One definite change effected by the program will be class hour requirements for the first year French classes of Miss Bitu May, assistant professor of French and Spanish. Her fall classes have been scheduled to meet four instead of three times a week. Changes for other foreign language classes will be in the form of extra-curricular activities, including oral drill and use of the machines. Miss Hall conducted similar experiments with French classes last year. Also, Dr. W. H. Hawley, newly appointed assistant professor of French who recently came from the University of Texas, worked with similar courses in French for the past several years at that school. The new office will be occupied by Dr. Hawley, Miss Hall and Dr. M. U. Condit, instructor in German.

School of Business Adds Miss Mary Stella to Staff

Miss Mary Stella has been added to the staff of the School of Business for the fall semester as instructor of secretarial science, Dean Ellis M. Sewell, of the School of Business, announced this week. Miss Stella was graduated with a B.A. in 1934 from the University of Pittsburgh and in 1940 received her B.S. from Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh. She is now enrolled at Oklahoma A. & M. and is working on her master's degree in business education. She expects to complete her work in August of this year. Miss Stella has worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad, the University of Pittsburgh and an accounting firm. In addition she has taught at Oklahoma A. M.

Pross Conducts Survey On Future of Debating

An attempt to determine the future of debating in the colleges and universities of the United States is the object of a survey being conducted by Dr. E. L. Pross of T.C.U.'s speech department. After sending out hundreds of five page questionnaires, Dr. Pross is now receiving answers which will be compiled and written into a report for publication during the second six week summer session. He is doing the work while on vacation.

'Battle' Is Over; Manual Labor 'Defeats' I.B.M.

T. C. U. has become a "Waterloo" for "the machine age." It will discontinue use of the International Business Machines in the Statistical Office as of Sept. 30 and revert to methods formerly employed in keeping these records, an announcement by Dean Jerome A. Moore, director of the summer session, reveals.

As a result "admit-to-class" cards will be used for fall pre-registration next week instead of the I. B. M. cards which have been used during the past year, his announcement reports. This procedure is the same as that used prior to the advent of the machines and will be used for all future registrations.

The effect of the return to the old system, Dean Moore says, will be that at the time a student enrolls for a course he will have an admit-to-class card filled out, giving course, number, section, day and hour. Students will turn in the cards, stamped "paid" by the Business Office, to the instructor when classes start.

Teachers will no longer receive machine-made class rolls, but will make out rolls from names taken from the cards, which are to be retained by the teacher until the end of the semester when they will be turned in with grade report sheets, Dean Moore explains.

Teachers will be furnished with grade report blanks which they will fill out and submit in duplicate at the end of the semester. Blanks will be furnished all departments before the end of the fall semester, he adds.

Saturday Noon Is Deadline For Ordering Invitations

Tomorrow noon is the deadline for ordering senior invitations and the engraved name cards, announces Miss Lou Rumely, Book Store manager.

Three types of invitations are on sale. The white paper type sells for 19 cents each, the fabricated leather type for 35 cents each and the genuine leather type are priced at 85 cents each. Students may order any number they wish, Miss Rumely said. Students may also order any number of the name cards they wish, Miss Rumely added. The type of card desired by most students sells for $3.50 per hundred.

Mrs. Swank Visits Daughter

Mrs. C. G. Swank, Conroe, Tex., is visiting this week with her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Swank, a junior religious education major.

Never Too Old to Learn

Comes to School 'For Fun' Says 81 Year Old Student

"You are never too old to learn," according to one T. C. U. summer student, born in 1867. He's D. A. Bickel, who will blow out 81 candles in October, and who travels back and forth from Arlington four mornings a week to attend Dr. William Reed's "Archaeology and the Old Testament" class, "Just for the pleasure of learning."

Mr. Bickel, who retired officially from teaching in 1945, still holds down a job as secretary of the Arlington Christian Church, keeps up with current affairs and gets his homework every night on his own portable typewriter.

Mr. Bickel, a bachelor, was born in Tippecanoe County, Indiana, and attended rural schools in Missouri until he was 22. Two years later, he passed the examination for a teacher's certificate. He taught and farmed until he graduated from the University of Missouri at the age of 54, and worked as a superintendent and teacher in Missouri and Texas until he was appointed head of the education department at NTAC in 1919, and later registrar until his retirement in 1945. He is still listed in "Who's Who in Education."

"College students today are the same as they were when I went to college 35 years ago," he says.

Class Schedules for Fall To Be Available Monday

Copies of class schedules for the fall semester will be available Monday in the Registrar's Office to aid students in registering. The schedule lists 591 courses in 34 major fields to be offered this fall, and includes the course number, section, hour, room and instructor for classes.

A copy of the schedule is posted on the bulletin board inside the front entrance of the Administration Building for the benefit of students who wish to make advance plans for registration.

"except then their horizon was limited to five miles in the future, and now it's expanded to at least 500. Just the difference between the carriages of those days and the new Fords of today," he explains.

Mr. Bickel, a sports enthusiast, listens to all the prize fights and baseball games on the radio, but tunes out when the jazz starts playing. "I like music, but not jazz," he insists. "But now the 'Lone Ranger,' that's a different story!"

Four Religion Professors Busy Seven Days A Week

Currently busy, not only in the classroom during the week but also in the pulpit on Sunday, are four T. C. U. professors, three of whom are from the undergraduate religion department and one from Brite College.

Prof. George Fowler, acting head of the undergraduate religion department, is preaching at the Christian Church at Plano. For the next two Sundays, Prof. E. T. Cornelius, Sr., will be preaching at the East Dallas Christian Church.

Prof. Lyle Mayne, also of the undergraduate religion department will speak again Sunday at the Preston Road Christian Church, Dallas, and a week later at the Central Christian Church, Waco. He will follow Dr. William L. Reed of Brite College who will preach Sunday at the Waco Church for the fourth time.

Saturday, Aug. 28 Classes To Be Held Aug. 14, Instead

The Saturday classes previously scheduled for Aug. 28 will meet instead on Saturday, Aug. 14, announces Dean Jerome A. Moore, director of the summer session. The change will necessitate holding final examinations on or before Friday, Aug. 27, he adds.

Real Estate Course Aided by 300 Years Experience

Over 300 years of practical experience in real estate will be at hand to teach Evening College students in the fall semester in real estate principles, according to C. K. Holsapple, dean. Each week a different member of the Fort Worth Real Estate Board will teach the class, although one member may be called on to teach more than one week before the semester ends. These men have each had from 20 to 25 years experience in the real estate field. This course is being offered to Evening College students in connection with the curriculum outlined by Dean Holsapple for a Real Estate Certificate from C. U. The real estate curriculum will offer from 60 to 65 college credit hours in most phases of real estate problems. Also included are business courses which will be of value in acquainting students with the business end of real estate activities, added Dean Holsapple.

Butchering to Baby Sitting Among Off Campus Jobs

From baby sitter to executive—that describes the full and part time employment of T. C. U. students who are working their way through college at jobs off the campus. The well-worn cliché, "Where there's a will there's a way," and "Variety is the spice of life" might also be used to describe working students and their numerous types of work.

Between them is a wide variety of jobs: Bryan Weickersheimer, Lufkin junior; M. E. Rudd, Fort Worth senior; Homer Ludiker, junior from Fort Worth; James Boyd, Springtown junior; James Bostick, senior from Big Spring; James Barnett, Dallas senior; David Choate, Fort Worth junior; Clarence Marable, Waco sophomore; James Hightower, Waxahachie junior; Bill Richards, Fort Worth senior; and Hubert Muschelwhite, Fort Worth freshman, all work for the Thomas F. Byrne Construction Co.

Clarence Black, Fort Worth junior; Mack Read, Fort Worth freshman; and Dick Cloud, graduate student from Fort Worth, all at Stripling's Department Store; Bobby Malone, Fort Worth junior, Washer Brothers; James Milburn, Gladewater junior, Western Auto; Rollis Meredith, Fort Worth junior, Safeway Food Store and Miss Pat Perkins, Fort Worth junior, University Record Shop.

Miss Betty Thornton, Fort Worth senior, selects the week's best poetry and humor for church publications at the Fort Worth Tribune; Charles Gregory, Fort Worth junior, takes care of the lawn at Container Corporation; and David Mills, Fort Worth senior, counts the day's collection of pennies at Fort Worth Transit Company.

Loughridge Murrell, Fort Worth junior, draws building plans for Maxwell Steel Company; Ellis Alvarez, Fort Worth junior, swings a butcher's cleaver behind the meat counter at Leonard's Department Store; and Dayle Weatherly, Fort Worth senior, is bookkeeper at Natatorium Laundry.

Jerry Heltzel, junior from San Antonio, is a bouncer at the Rendezvous Club; Charles Utley, senior from Oklahoma City, Okla., is an employee at Armour & Co.; D. A. Bickel, Arlington special student and probably the oldest student at T. C. U., is secretary of the Arlington Christian Church; and David Davis, Fort Worth sophomore, is a dance instructor at Arthur Murray's.

Registrar's Office Adds Two-part Time Workers

Two employees have been added to the staff in the Registrar's Office, announces Registrar S. W. Hutton. Paul Thompson, Houston sophomore, and Miss Glenda Ruth Brown, graduate student from Richmond Springs, will work part-time as recorders.

Personnel in the Registrar's Office totals 14, including five full time employees.

Lindley So Busy He Can't Write Three Speeches

"Busier than a huntin' dog" these days is Dean D. Ray Lindley of Brite College.

Although not teaching this summer, he has yet to find time to work on seven addresses which he will give on various occasions within the next three months.

Thus far, he has served as dean of young people's conferences, attended a week's meeting of the Association of Colleges and Universities in Ohio, held a revival meeting in Oklahoma, and each Sunday supplies the pulpit of some pastor on vacation, in addition to the general administrative duties of his office which keep him fairly occupied.

Three of the addresses which he must find time to write soon are to be given at the annual State Youth Convention of Christian Churches Aug. 18 to 20, at the First Christian Church in Longview.

He will give one address at the International Convention of Disciples of Christ in San Francisco in September. In October, he is scheduled to give three addresses at the North Carolina State Convention of Christian Churches.

In the meantime, he has been working on the housing of ministerial students, and arranging for their preaching appointments while Brite College is getting its face lifted.

At present Dr. Lindley is visiting several points in Mexico, with Monterrey his final destination before returning to T. C. U. Aug. 1.

Sherers, Sales Fete Macke, Wright

A party and a lawn supper were given the last week honoring Mrs. Mary Ann Macke, mathematics instructor, and her fiancé, Robert Wright, B. A. '48, by members of the mathematics and engineering departments.

The party was held July 22 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Sherer of the math department and was attended by mathematics faculty members and student assistants accompanied by their wives.

C. M. Sale, assistant professor of engineering, and his wife entertained the couple and friends Sunday evening at the Sale home with a lawn supper.

2 German Classes Hold 'Song Party' Wednesday

German lyrics echoed through the halls of the Administration Building Wednesday evening when two German classes of Dr. Irma Huber met in the Auditorium for an informal German song party.

Mrs. Lawrence Fowler, Fort Worth sophomore, was head of committee in charge of the party. Different members of the class led in singing 16 favorite songs of Germany. Also featured were solos by Miss Myra Lee McNeel, Fort Worth graduate student.

Husbands and wives of class members were invited.
