DRAMATIC CLUB FINAL ON MAY 27

THE LAST LAP

ONLY three weeks left to go. It seems too good to be true. Some of us who have term themes and note books piled up wish it were longer, but the majority is glad that the end is in sight.

Make this last lap one well worth the running. It is well known among those who have weathered four years of college prods and class rooms that a whirlwind finish has often, very often, pulled failures up to passes and B's to A's.

Examinations, curse them! are hanging over our heads even as the sword of Damocles, swung by a horse hair, and when they strike many get the aforementioned blade in the cervical vertebrae.

Give heed. "A little woman is a dangerous thing." Cast aside the object of your admiration, you men, just as Noah pushed away his frau when he went to stop the bull fight.

Even the writer will stop writing this bit of bunk as he turns with fresh energy to his lessons! Verbum sat sapiente!

PUBLIC CALAMITY IS A MIGHTY LEVELER

WHEN the floods raged on the Mississippi River, would we, as an enlightened people, have done less than what was done to relieve the flood sufferers? No, certainly not!

All agencies, and many individuals labored unceasingly to relieve the stricken people. They aided in the rescue of the injured and helped in the recovery of the dead. The injured were tenderly cared for by doctors and nurses, who volunteered their services without thought of recompense or reward.

Money in large amounts was necessary to carry on this noble and inspiring work. Whose duty was it to supply the necessary funds? Our duty—the duty of the fortunate ones who escaped the calamity visited upon this unhappy region.

Now what did all this show? What lesson did it teach? It showed that there is a common bond, that "public calamity is a mighty leveler," for every one co-operated with everyone else to remedy the situation. The banker worked with his porter, the hotel proprietor with his waiters, the rich with the poor, the black with the white, all for a common cause.

EXTENDING THE MONROE DOCTRINE

WHEN President Coolidge a short time ago announced to the world in general that the United States not only felt a deep friendship with all nations in the Americas, but assumed a very distinct obligation to all countries lying north of the Panama Canal he expounded a new principal of the Monroe Doctrine.

Foreign comment on this declaration is varied and interesting. No opposition is found in the English press. They merely assume the position that the step was a natural one, and one which has long been recognized in practice.

Recognizing undoubtedly, the material advantage of having America assume this attitude, these countries do not find it compatible with notions of liberty. Nor would we in such an instance. However blundering a people may be, it is folly to suggest that someone else is more capable of handling their affairs.

Two Interesting Recitals Scheduled For Month

Two interesting recitals have been scheduled for T. C. U. auditorium this month. On May 18, Hazel Carter will present the "Doll's House," a play by Ibsen.

The second recital is billed for May 26 when Mrs. Henry Bradford will give "Without the Walls." Both of these pieces are plays by prominent writers and an evening of good entertainment is assured.

Bernice Badgett entertained a number of T. C. U. students at her home in Dallas last week-end. Elizabeth Ayres, Helen Boren, Lucille Oliver and Janie Miles Monroe were in the party.

Nelle Brown, Corine Brown, Betty Tucker and Frances spent last week-end at their homes in Garland.

T. C. U. Takes Part In Music Week Programs

T. C. U.ites were well represented in the annual Music Week activities which were celebrated over the country May 8-15. Professor Guelic, popular University musician was in charge of the celebration in Fort Worth.

In the many musical presentations over the city, the colors of T. C. U. were much in evidence. The girls' pep squad made a decided hit as soloists at the massed choir recital held at the First Baptist church Thursday evening. Also at this time the Fort Worth Symphony assisted. Several T. C. U. violinists are members of this Symphony.

The Purple orchestra was presented at the Baptist Seminary on Friday evening, and from reports were well received. Mr. Claude Sammis, director, is well known in local music circles, and holds many offices in musical organizations.

On Wednesday evening, the First band gave a program on the campus which was highly enjoyed. The program included the "Military Escort March," "Princess of India" and the popular "Sunday."

Frances and Anita Grissom visited friends in Denton last week.

Edna Verne Cox spent last week-end in jail. Hazel Wales spent the week-end with Elsie Fay Carson at her home in town.

TOMLINSON LECTURES ON JOURNALISM

Douglas E. Tomlinson, president and founder of the All-Church Press, addressed the members of the Torch club at the Westbrook Hotel, Thursday, May 12, on the subject, "The Modern Newspaper."

"The Modern Newspaper is a late development," Tomlinson declared. "As late as the time of Benjamin Franklin newspaper work was looked upon as a crowded field on account of there being already thirteen newspapers in the colonies."

Other important inventions, Tomlinson said, are those which transmit photographs by wire through a code system, by dot and dash and another recent device which prints newspapers by a photographic process, thus eliminating the use of type.

Radio will not supplant the newspaper, according to Tomlinson. For some time, he said, newspaper men feared that this would occur, and in England especially the press waged war on the radio.

American newspapers were highly praised by Tomlinson for their refusal to "take sides" except on the editorial pages. The current tendency to give more space to religious news is largely occasioned, he said, by the recent increase of twenty-five per cent in church membership.

JUNIOR - SENIOR FEAST GALA AFFAIR

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held with great success on last Wednesday evening at the University clubs new quarters in the Medical Arts building.

Purple and white were much in evidence in the decoration, and the whole room was ablaze with color. Mr. Everett Shipp, president of the Junior class was chairman for the evening, and Mr. Henry Shepherd, president of the senior class and his cohorts were guests.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. John Lord, head of the Social Science department whose talk on tolerance of thinking was highly appreciated. Addresses were made by Professor Elliot, Junior class professor, and Prof. McDiarmid, Senior class proxy.

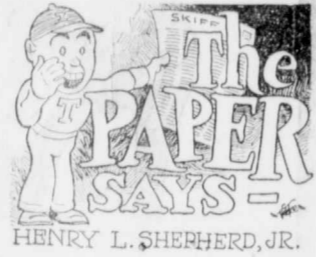

The Senior class officers for the coming year: Arthur Graham, president; Robert Qualls, vice president; and Margaret Cameron, secretary-treasurer were presented. Also short talks were made by Amos Melton, editor of next year's Skiff; Chilli Pruden, editor of '27 Horned Frog; Henry Shepherd, president of the Senior class; Pat Dooley, vice president of the Senior class, and James Wilson, winner of the Conference Golf Title.

Horned Frog To Make Debut Today

According to its editor, Mr. Chilli Pruden, the year book for 1927 will make its appearance on the campus today. That is, barring such disastrous catastrophes as the "failure of the Chinese rice crop; or the curtailment of the endowment of the home for overworked moths in Kansas City."

The art department of Texas Christian university requests the pleasure of your presence at a reception and exhibition presenting the work of Miss E. Trulove Thompson, Wednesday, May 25, 1927, from 3 to 5 p. m., Art studio.

Louise Scott was the week-end guest of Mona Keit at the home of the latter in Hubbard, Texas.

HENRY L. SHEPHERD, JR.

IN merrie olde England, where the fog is so thick people cut hunks of it and serve it with pepper sauce, and where women don't vote until they are 30 or not at all, this issue of The Skiff would be considered a good newspaper.

WHAT's good enough for the genial Georgies is sufficient for us once in thirty-one issues of The Skiff. So, we gave the advertiser's who have stuck with us throughout the year an even break this week—and I'll be blowed, there you are. If you don't like this kind of makeup, send it back and receive a beautiful retouch photograph of the assistant business manager, the dashing W. P. Atkinson, free.

TODAY the 1927 Horned Frog will be dedicated. Mrs. Burnett, greatest single benefactress T. C. U. has ever known, is the honoree. Sadly, she is not here to respond as those to whom the yearbook is dedicated usually do, but perhaps the spirit of our good will and sincere appreciation will touch her own ethereal self.

THIS 1927 book is indeed a wonder-tome. Larger than ever before—we would say "bigger and better," but we are serious in our praise—closely edited, beautifully illustrated and carefully planned, the "Frog" is a keepsake of inestimable worth.

CLASS officers, student entertainers, athletes, employed students etcetera have hard times, perhaps, but there are no two students who work so faithfully and so untiringly toward one goal throughout the scholastic year as do the editor and business manager of the annual. Chilli Pruden and Floyd Franklin will receive little actual praise or commendation, but from one who knows how they have lived the 1927 "Frog" goes out a written word of appreciation, and the hope that the readers of the annual will feel the spirit of these two pervading at least a few of its 400 pages.

MUSIC will charm visitors and campuses during commencement season. Dr. Guelick and the other members of the Fine Arts school have prepared series of recitals, and students are straining nerves and taxing strength to meet requirements of an artistic climax to the busy year.

PAUL Bliss' operetta, "In India," should be well patronized Friday night. In this production, Prof. Klingstedt has cast the best voices in the university as well as the best arrangement possible. The operetta has been presented on other occasions and has always met delighted audiences and praising music lovers.

CHARMING Pollock, the Jewish playwright who determined to write plays without crooks in them, has given a masterful drama to theatregoers in "The Enemy." A four-act play, reeking with potential strength and power of action, is in the hands of the T. C. U. dramatic department. Students are playing all the parts. What they can do with such a weighty play will be interesting to observe. That they will succeed is certain. This is another treat to which we may look forward before the end of the month.

It's real live hair that has no turning.

Agnes have been named by the missiles women have employed in cooing their husbands: First, the Stone Age, when rocks flew thick and heavy; next the Wooden Age, when rolling pins thrived and prospered; thirdly, the Iron Age, characterized by flying stove lids, etc., and now—we wonder what will happen in this age of Electricity.

It is proposed to Lord Byron that he take Keats and return to earth, Shelly?

- Doubtful questions of etiquette: 1. When falling from a tenth story window, is it proper to wave at the people on the floors below? 2. When being hung, should the black cap have fringe or simple bands? 3. When leaping from a burning ship should permission be obtained from steamship officials? 4. When falling through a plate glass window, should the third finger of the left hand be extended at right angles with the body?

No, dear, outside reading doesn't mean open air study.

Did you meet her formally? No, only last week.

Funny thing a golf course: when on tee one, the fairway is faraway to green two, to which green, if you are green you take the fairway to tee two.

Are you in Baily Diffie's history class? No, I got this overworked look trying to find a short government book.

You take psychology? Yep, abnormal. Makes it easy, with introspection. Professor McDiarmid, whose persona producer is the famed "Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard," recited the opening stanza so realistically to a class the other day, one young fellow felt the "falling shades of night" so distinctly he went to sleep. Name given on request.

Do you know the new young thing in the business office? Such teeth, clear and beautiful; such an elaborate use of ribbon; such a perfect carriage! Come one, let's meet this one! Oh, you've seen typewriters before.

SENIORISMS MAKE HIT

The final class production of the year, the Senior class' Seniorisms, was run off last night to a large audience. Among the acts most enjoyed were Poe's Hicks, Adalie Rogan and Adaline Boyd's syncopations on twin baby-grands, and the ludicrous faculty takeoff.

This was the final class performance of the year and was accredited by many to be the best. Poe's musicians acquitted themselves well, and their "jazzy renderations" added spice to the program. The performers of the baby-grand pianos were thought by many to be professionals so well did they play.

The take-off was the crowning event of the evening, with many professors so ably "taken-off" and so many idiosyncracies and peculiar foibles emphasized as to keep the audience literally "rolling" in the aisles. This work was ably handled by Heinie Paine.

The famed "Bully Quartet" lived up to their reputations, dispensing mirth and melody throughout their act. The skit "Femalesmanship" starting Betty Evans and Bill Atkinson was also a great hit. The Radio Skit was perhaps, the most entertaining on the bill. Those sweet singers, the Carson sisters, also did much to hang the "O. K." on the entire bill.

MOST POPULAR BOOKS PROVE NOVELS

What do T. C. U. students read? A census recently conducted among members of the student body revealed interesting, not to say startling tastes.

Of slightly less than four hundred students questioned at random, one hundred and seventy-four mentioned Erskine's "Galahad" as their first choice among books read during the past school year, and only forty failed to mention it among the three which interested them most. "Nigger Heaven" by Van Vechten, and "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" tied for second place, "The Man Nobody Knows," was a lagging third choice.

Anthologies and short-story collections were popular among the students, with Barry Benefield's "Short Turns" heading the list. Only seven students mentioned "Elmer Gantry" and it received only three first-place votes. "The Crescent Moon," a volume of poems by Tagore; "The Cathedral" by Hugh Walpole; "The Lion's Skin" by Sabatini; "Troilus and Cressida" by Shakespeare; and "Second April" by Edna Millay were interesting choices of individual students.

On the whole it seems that freshmen and sophomores read better literature than upperclassmen. Juniors and seniors inclined toward light and hectic novels in their preferences, while practically all choices of non-fiction were made by sophomores and freshmen. "The Book Nobody Knows" by Barton and "The Golden Bough" by Frazer received their only votes from the two lower classes. Perhaps the most distinctive taste revealed was that of the virile young law student who named as his first choice "The Business of Being a Woman" and as his second "The Girl in Her Teens."

Very often the students questioned had read no books whatever outside of required reading. Many of them expressed the opinion that some of the required reading in the various classes should be selected by vote of the students themselves.

Brite College Holds Banquet

Members of Brite College of the Bible association held their second annual banquet at the Westbrook hotel on Tuesday evening, May 10. Jen Canfield was chairman of the banquet committee, and served also as toastmaster. About eighty students, former students, professors and visitors were present.

Mr. H. E. Bowden, vice president of Texas Christian University, addressed the assembly, and Mr. Jack Huppertz, general secretary of the Christian Endeavor of Texas, spoke on the subject "A Challenge We Have Not Met."

On the whole the banquet was entirely successful and justified the painstaking efforts of those in charge.

Romance Language Fraternity Initiates

Last Friday evening at 5 o'clock the Alpha Zeta Phi, Romance Language Fraternity held its second initiation. At that time, four new members: Richard Bailey, Virginia Bales, Mrs. B. H. Gough and Miss Lucille Jarrett were initiated. This fraternity is a new one to T. C. U. having been but recently organized.

CARSON HURLS NO HIT GAME; WINS 1-0

Pitching the first no-hit-no-run game in the conference this year, Hobo Carson literally won his own game against Rice Tuesday, by smacking out a clean hit, stealing third and home for the only run of the game. The Owls went hitless during the nine frames. It was the second of a two-game series, the first having been played Monday with Rice nosing the Frogs out 2 to 1.

Carson was in great form, holding the slugging Houstoners helpless. The Frogs managed to collect but three hits off Ables, who went the route for the Owls.

Both games were exceptionally fast, the teams being well matched. The game Monday was a pitcher's duel of the first water, with Cantelmi and P. Ables tossing superb ball. Carson's feat overshadowed the masterful pitching of R. Ables, who's three-hit game would have been more than enough to win ordinarily.

The Monday game was filled with thrillers, the climax coming in the ninth inning when T. C. U. had a man on third and second with one down, an attempted squeeze bunt was gathered in by the Owl pitcher for a double play, retiring the side.

The series was a "celler" series and the split still leaves the bottom finisher in doubt. The Frogs have two more games, both with the S. M. U. Mustangs.

Jake Williams, who went in as a pinch hitter in the ninth Monday, came through with a clean single to center—one of the five hits gathered by the Purple. Almost every member of the Frog squad was used in a desperate attempt to turn the tide Monday. The final innings of the game was caught by Raymond Mathews, who showed no mean ability to snag 'em behind the batter.

The box scores:

The custom of sending Gifts to Graduates has now been extended by general accord to include those in the lower classes who have manifested sufficient industry to pass their final exams.

To know what to give, one needs but observe the students' own expressions of preference for the Parker Duofold Pen and Pencil.

To have earned the favor of the younger generation is our reward for serving it with studied personal interest. We have lifted the frowns from student brows [among others] by giving the world a writing pair that are inspirations to work with and beauties to possess.

All those in favor of owning, or giving the finest—whether for Graduation, Birthday or Wedding Gifts, or for prizes at Bridge or Golf—will signify by stepping in to the nearest Parker pen counter. The first thing to look for is the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker," on the barrels. Then nobody will be disappointed.

Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens:
Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50; "Big Brother" Over-size, $4

TEXAS GRABS TWO FROM FROGS

Hard luck continued to reign supreme in the Horned Frog camp when the T. C. U. club dropped two hard fought games to the Texas Longhorns. The first game was lost by a 4 to 0 score, and the last encounter was dropped by a 10 to 7 count.

In the first game Baker of the Steers let the Frogs down with five hits and no runs. He pitched a masterful game, and was in no danger at any period of the game. Hobo Carson pitched a wonderful game of ball himself, and held the hard hitting Longhorns to seven widely scattered blows. The old saying that ball games cannot be won without scores still holds good, and this is the main reason the Frogs were forced to bow to the Conference champions.

Tubby Brewster started the second game for the Frogs, and lasted one-third of the first inning. He gave up two hits and three walks before he was yanked in favor of Jake Williams. Jake pitched wonderful ball until the seventh inning, when he was greeted with a shower of base hits and four runs. Before this time the Frogs were leading by a 6 to 3 count. This gave the Longhorns a start which was never overcome by the T. C. U. club.

Don't forget the picnic, May 24, Forest Park at 2 p. m.

"Skinney" Bond was found guilty of "mocus" in Business Law class recently. A heavy fine of many eskimo pies was levied.

Mr. "I Won't Tell" Thompson is chairman of the committee on prizes for the B. B. A. picnic which will be at Forest Park May 24. Please notify him of any prizes you can secure.

"L. M." Rosser won his match in tennis last week, and received the usual congratulations of the Business Law class, who assisted in celebrating the first victory of the season.

John Shawhan has donated a stalk of bananas for the picnic.

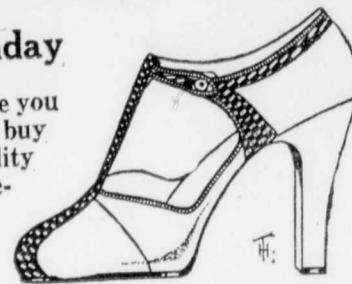

Latest cases of "bees:" Andrews and Elliot, Roberts and Goodwin, Holcomb and Magee. Holcomb has so far succumb he is unable to exercise his usual concentration on scholastic achievement.

Bill Utz is planning to spend the summer making up an E, which he anticipated as his final term grade in accounting.
