

In view of the fact that some teachers object to permitting the students to know the name of the teacher who reports them for deficiencies in English, and the further fact that it is the desire to have the student apprised of his deficiencies rather than to call his attention to the person reporting, the Cabinet has passed a ruling to the effect that for the future students will not be permitted to know the name of any teacher reporting them for deficiencies in English.

"If any faculty members have any chairs, dishes, kitchen utensils, or other household articles for which they have no use, we would appreciate it if they would donate them to us to place in the camp at Lake Worth which has been given the school by Mr. Jarvis," says Mrs. Beckhan.

"This camp is for the use of all faculty members. In order to use it, one should see either Mr. Smiser, Dean Leftwich or me. It would, of course, save much time and trouble if we had more furnishings at the camp. Not only would it be more comfortable but persons who use it would not have to bring so much equipment."
