DANIEL BAKER CALLS OFF GAME.

Expected Team Fails to Appear.
Thursday's Game End Season.

The football enthusiasts of the University and Waco were sorely disappointed in not being able to witness the game scheduled to be pulled off last Saturday at Katy Park between the Daniel Baker College team of Brownwood and the local Varsity. The event had been looked forward to with great interest on account of T. C. U.'s 4 to 0 defeat two weeks before and the announcement that the management of the Brownwood team had declined to give us a return game was not greeted with approbation of the lovers of the sport in Waco.

The Daniel Baker manager gave as his reason for cancelling the game, T. C. U.'s attitude,—as expressed in a satirical write-up of the game at Brownwood, toward their reception and manner of treatment while visitors of the D. B. C. It seems to the management here to be a clear case of breaking the contract for the game, as this excuse is insufficient cause to account for their failure to appear in Waco Saturday.

Upon learning of the cancelation of the D. B. C. game arrangements were proposed to play Add-Ran Jarvis in Waco. This team had just returned from a trip to Weatherford and Abilene where they played two hard games, and were consequently not in very good condition to enter another contest Saturday. They finally declined to come on this account and this ended attempts to get a game for Saturday.

It was regretted that Add-Ran Jarvis was unable to come on this date as it was the only chance to play them this season. There was a peculiar interest manifested in the probable game with our kinsmen and everyone in T. C. U. was eager to extend a hearty welcome to the Add-Ran Jarvis boys.

Every effort is now being put on the Thanksgiving game and much interest is being centered in this last struggle.

THE LECTURESHIP.

Perhaps the best Lectureship of the Texas Disciples yet held met at Palestine, November 19-22. The attendance was probably not the largest but those present were there for a purpose. Strong address filled with thoughtful suggestions along lines of peculiar interest to Disciples were delivered. Everyone was impressed by the able address of the principal lecturer, Dr. H. L. Calhoun, of Kentucky University. He spoke on "Biblical Archeology," showing that the archeological research of the past century was favorable to the credibility of the Biblical record and on "Constructive Christianity," showing the proper method of christianity to be internally constructive rather than externally iconoclastic. He also spoke on such subjects as "The Work of the Holy Spirit," "The New Testament Worship," "The New Testament Law of Love."

Professor Ellsworth Faris, of T. C. U., provoked considerable discussion in presenting an address on "Necessity Conclusions from the Doctrine of Immanence." A noticeable feature of the Lectureship was the spirit of tolerance manifested by those who differed widely on controverted questions.

Prof. W. Stairs presented the advantages to be gained by ministerial students in the study of New Testament Greek and President Lockhart gave a comprehensive address on "Evangelism among the Disciples." Other speakers delivered strong addresses making the gathering all in all a feast of good things.

On Friday evening came the social event of the Lectureship—"The Pan-

Alumni Banquet," a meeting for the fostering of college spirit, for the men of all colleges, including such as K. N., T. C. U., C. U., Bathany, Butler, Hiram, Drake, "Huckleberry Thicket," "Cotton Row," etc." Colby D. Hall, our Educational Secretary, was toastmaster. President Lockhart and Prof. Stairs responded to toasts. Different colleges gave their songs and yells, T. C. U. being much in evidence. The way Prof. Faris led the yells would shame some of our star "rooters." It was a happy occasion enjoyed to the limit by everyone present.

The people of Palestine gave the visitors a cordial welcome and the most hospitable treatment.

Waco made a strong plea to have the Lectureship come next year, but Abilene was the successful contestant.

The following attended from T. C. U.: President and Mrs. Lockhart, Prof. Faris, Prof. Stairs, F. C. Buck, and Bonner Frizzell.

THE RECEPTION.

One of the most prominent features of this scholastic year so far, was the reception given last Monday evening, at the Girls' Dormitory. This event has been looked forward to since the 11th of September by the whole student-body and as a consequence it was well attended and much enjoyed.

The weather was cold and rainy but the inside was the brighter and lovelier by contrast. The entire lower floor of the Dormitory was thrown open to the visiting young men, a number of whom were almost total strangers, and the place abounded in nook, cozy corners and delightful places for the tete-a-tete. At about 8:00 p. m. the McKinney Reception Hall began to be enlivened by the dainty and lovely bits of T. C. U. femininity who served on the reception committee, receiving and introducing the young men. It is needless to say that everyone was engaged and the two hours seemed but five minutes to many of the young people. Refreshments in the form of punch was served in McKinney Hall and an excellent program was rendered in the parlors.

Fortnightly Club.

The Women's Fortnightly Club met last Friday evening, for a social session, in the parlor of the Girls' Home. The resident teachers were hostesses and Mesdames Carpenter and Pierce and Miss Batchelder were guests of honor. The time was spent very pleasantly indeed in conversation, games and a drawing contest. The latter provoked much mirth and friendly rivalry and was finally won by Miss Batchelder. An elegant collation was served during the evening. Those present were Misses Jackson, Batchelder, Smith, Wilkerson, Harnish and McClintic; Mesdames Carpenter, Pierce, Riggs, Boynton, Alexander and Norwood.

Each Day and Its Own.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could; some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; you shall begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense.—Ralph W. Emerson.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

On account of the failure of the speaker who was invited by the chapel committee to arrive Tuesday, there was no program on that day. After devotional services and roll call the students were dismissed.

Wednesday of each week is given over to the pupils of the music department, who always render very enjoyable programs. On last Wednesday the program was especially good and heartily encored. Miss Anderson was first on the program, rendering Petite Bolero, by Ravina, in a delightful manner. Miss Jeanette Alexander followed with Two Preludes, by Chopin, and her playing was enthusiastically received by visitors and students.

Again the "wires got crossed," on Thursday and we were dismissed after a short devotional service.

Friday we enjoyed the most interesting program of the week. The chapel hour and the following period was given to Prof. Lattimore, superintendent of the Waco public schools, and to Miss Alice Batchelder. Both speakers were interesting and instructive and will get a cordial welcome when they come back to T. C. U.

Saturday the Walton Literary Society gave an excellent program, which was much enjoyed. The program was prefaced by a few appropriate remarks by President J. B. Frizzell, after which the following numbers were given. Music, Miss Johnson; reading, Miss Williams; piano trio, Misses Spence, Wolford and Alexander; Declaration, Clois Greene. The program on a whole was excellent and reflects credit upon the society.

The entertainment last Monday night was stimulating and we notice that the student body seems to have a new lease on life. Let's have more of that which makes for good.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES.

All who attended the Lectureship at Palestine, pronounce it a marked success.

Miss Alice Batchelder, State Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, visited our association on Thursday and Friday of last week. Miss Batchelder made a splendid talk to the girls Thursday night on "Possessing Our Possessions." After the meeting an informal reception was held, at which every girl present met Miss Batchelder individually. We are glad to know that she will visit our association again during the year. Miss Batchelder spoke about the association work as a whole to the entire student body Friday morning.

Next Thursday morning the University church and the Central Christian church will hold a union Thanksgiving service at the Central church, to which all are cordially invited.

The Y. W. C. A. bazaar which was advertised in the last number of The Skiff has been postponed until the Easter season. The association is planning to send two delegates to one of the summer conferences next summer and are already at work to attain that end. Next Thursday night will be the regular Missionary meeting. A week or two later we will wrap packages to send as our annual Christmas contribution to the Christian Orphanage at Bayamon, Porto Rico.

Football Challenge.

The Senior Prep. football team do hereby challenge any class team in T. C. U. for a game, to be played the second Saturday after Thanksgiving. "Sops" preferred.

M. BIVENS, Manager.

Those who attended the Lectureship report a pleasant time.

The Would-Be Wit.

We need not tell you that he is in our midst for you know him; he is everywhere, every community has to tolerate this imbecile. He is more contemptible than the knocker—disgusting to the last degree. Not long ago one of these would-be wits had an opportunity to practice some of his rascality at T. C. U.

Just after the Brownwood football game the student-body and members of the faculty were anxiously awaiting for the results to reach here. Somehow the news was delayed and this made them even more anxious. Then the would-be wit spread the report of victory, and enthusiasm ran to the highest point, everybody was rejoicing. The thing most desired had at last come, and its coming made everybody exultingly happy. Then came the true report: Instantly there was a fall of spirits correspondingly as low as enthusiasm was high. The law of extremes was produced on the student-body by the two reports. Then the contemptible, cowardly, snickering would-be wit who started the report of victory hugged himself in his glee, as if he had lightened the defeat instead of making it doubly deleterious. In his mind he was a hero, the author of a "practical" joke. No one else could have thought of such a thing, it was original with him. He thought it was a great trick—and is still laboring under the delusion.

Such a fellow is a disgrace to the school, and should not be allowed to remain here. He perpetrated an insult on the student-body which we should not tolerate. It is the limit of insolence, and disrespect.

The Devil to Pay.

Yes, we have the devil to pay and the printer, too. How can we pay when "we aint got the kale-seed"? But kind friends, do not think that we are going to be disagreeable or fussy about such a small matter as the subscription price of The Skiff. Optimism prevails in our sanctum and we are the jolliest paupers you have ever seen. We take such a breezy view of life that we do not pay any attention to the little squalls which threaten our destruction. We have the highest regard for the man that doesn't pay his subscription. From intuition an editor knows that this same man is his greatest benefactor in many ways. He will say all the nice things about us which his massive intellect can command—that is

HAVE YOU GIVEN YOUR Holiday Purchases a Thought?

Its very likely that you havn't, but this season more than ever you should give them your early attention, for with the general prosperity of the country the Holiday business will be heavy, and every day lessons your chance to secure just what you want without worry of shopping.—Now, while stocks are complete in detail, selection is easy.

our gain. We are never afraid of being slandered when one of our delinquents are around—they are as keen to our interests as a Senior is for a soiree.

The man that doesn't pay his subscription is an honorable man, some day he will erect a monument to "the lost cause" or support a missionary in the foreign fields with "his" money. He knows that we do not contribute to the "widows' and orphans' fund" and other worthy causes, and for this reason he does not pay his subscription. We do not blame a man tho' for not wanting to contribute his money to a spendthrift—all editors are spendthrifts, they waste their money in riotous living. The shame of it all!

Then there is another reason why a man should not pay his subscription. An editor or business manager has no sense of appreciation. You might hand either of them a dollar and he would probably put it in his pocket before thanking you for it. He might even be so disrespectful that he would not take off his hat while receiving the "small boy"—all newspaper men are impolite.

Now, gentle reader, when you see us coming do not give us the dodge for we are not going to ask you for your hard earned cash, it is beneath our dignity—if we have any. We are the most contemptible of grafters and the sheet which you read every week is such a poor, miserable one that it is not worth the subscription price—no college paper is worth the price the management asks for it. If we are paying an exorbitant price to get The Skiff printed that is only a reflection on the business manager. We have the devil to pay, it is true, but that is no concern of yours.

COLLEGE THEATRICALS.

Among the varied interests of college life, student treatricals may be classed with the most popular. The undergraduate finds a rare delight in appearing before the footlights in all the bravery of tinsel and grease-paint, a delight eclipsed only by that of his fellow-students who watch breathlessly and rejoice in his caricatures.

The Skiff is pleased to learn that the University Dramatic Club is to put on at an early date an exceedingly interesting play of Barrie's.

This will be quite the most pretentious dramatic undertaking since the notable production of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," by one of the literary societies, two years ago. The dramatic interpretation of the lines will be, as at that time under the direction of Miss McClintic, and the class includes some twelve or fifteen actors.

The date of the presentation will be announced next week. Meantime the rehearsals go merrily on. Everyone is interested in the play and it will doubtless prove the entertainment event of the year.

MARK TWAIN FOR SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

Says That the Associated Press Can Bring About Its Adoption by a "Ninety Days' Trial."

The men who report the news of the English-speaking world are the men who can reform its spelling. At least, that was what Mark Twain told the members of the Associated Press at their annual meeting in New York.

Mr. Clemens declared that only through the Associated Press can the nations of the world be reached in behalf of simplified spelling:

"There are only two forces that carry light to all the corners of the globe—only two—the sun in the heavens, and the Associated Press. I may seem to be flattering the sun, but I do not mean it so. I am meaning only to be just and fair all around.

"You speak with a million voices; no one can reach so many races, so many hearts and intellects as you, except Rudyard Kipling, and he cannot do it without your help. If the Associated Press will accept and use our simplified forms and thus spread them to the ends of the earth, covering the whole spacious planet with them as with a garden of flowers, our difficulties are at an end.

"Every day of the three hundred and sixty-five the only pages of the world's countless newspapers that are read by all the human beings and angels and devils that can read are those pages which are built out of Associated Press despatches.

"And so I beg you, I beseech you—oh, I implore you—to spell them in our simplified forms. Do this—daily, constantly, persistently for three months—only three months—it is all I ask. The infallible result?—victory, victory all down the line.

"For, by that time all eyes here and above and below will have become adjusted to the change and in love with it, and the present clumsy and ragged forms will be grotesque to the eye and revolting to the soul. And, we shall be rid of phthisis and phthisic and pneumonia and pneumatics and diphtheeria and pterodactyl, and all those other insane words which no man addicted to the simple Christian life can try to spell and not lose some of the bloom of his piety in the demoralizing attempt.

"There are eighty-two millions of people that use this orthography, and it ought to be simplified in our behalf, but it is kept in its present condition to satisfy one million people who like to have their literature in the old form. That looks to me to be rather selfish, and we keep the forms as they are while we have got a million people coming in here from foreign countries with this orthography of ours, and it keeps every month, and they have got to struggle them back and damages their citizenship for many years until they learn to spell the language, if they ever do learn."—Scrap Book.

Some Rules.

Rules for attending concerts—taken from the Year Book of the New England Conservatory of Music, but applicable to any school:

1. Come late.
2. Leave early.
3. Wear creaky boots, and make your entrance and exit at pj passages.
4. Encore everybody.
5. Converse with your friends; only a narrow mind is unsocial while music is being performed.
6. Instrumental music may be ignored; it is generally meant as an accompaniment to conversation.
7. Violin music is an exception to the above rule. Listen attentively; open your mouth at the softest passages; the more you don't heart it, the finer it is.
8. Be wary lest you applaud too soon at very soft endings. Watch the performer; if it is a soprano, she will shut her mouth; if it is a violinist, he will flourish his bow; then you may softly stamp, whistle, clap, shout "Bravoo," "Bravee," "Bravah," or anything you like.
9. Loud endings are always to be applauded, but you need not wait for the end; as soon as the singer hits the high note—go it!
10. Changes in programs are frequently made; be non-committal.
11. There are many European modes of applause. Always use these in preference to the American manner; shout "his," "brava," "encore," etc., and somebody may mistake you for a great ranoozer (commisseur).
12. You may hum the tunes if you know them. You may also hum them if you don't know them, but the former method is, on the whole, to be preferred.
13. It may be possible that you don't own the hall, singers, orchestra, and audience, but there is no harm as if you did.
14. Wag your head.
15. Beat time with your feet.
16. Paste these rules in your hat or bohnnet.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

MISTROT'S

AMONG OUR PATRONS.

One of the lines of enlargement of T. C. U. in which our patrons are interested is the establishment of Educational Day among the churches.

It is not to be expected that every one will understand without much explanation what this day is; nor will many appreciate the far-reaching significance of it without some study and foresight.

Several years ago there was brought before the National Convention of the Christian Church a resolution to adopt the Third Sunday in January as Education Day, and to ask churches at that time to make an offering to the education work, each church choosing the college it preferred. The value for the work done by the colleges and their need for endowment and equipment had been presented before the convention for several years. Hence the resolution was heartily adopted. It has since met the hearty endorsement of our leading men all over the country. The only objector encountered has been that of indifference. That is not a discouraging one, however. For able people of this busy generation do not go into raptures over any movement while they are still uninformed as to its worth and purpose. Agitation of the question among the churches is all that is required to get from the members the same hearty endorsement that has come from the ministers who have already studied the question.

At the Congress last winter the work was discussed and was thought best to recommend that the propagation of the idea be left for each college to conduct in its own territory. This makes it different from home and foreign missions, etc. In these we have one organization for the entire brotherhood. But education is different. Each state looks to its own college. The plan of having one day for offering to Christian Education is adopted by the brotherhood. But each school must work the interest in the day in its own territory.

Texas is often ahead, though it be so far from center, and in this she was the first. Before the Congress had passed the resolution our Texas Convention had resolved to have employed an Educational Secretary, who should, among other things, put Education Day on its feet.

That has been carried out and the Educational Secretary is getting busy. The campaign will soon be on. Third Sunday in January is the day. The period of a month or so preceding is the one in which the facts and appeals must be made. During this time it is hoped that all the churches will keep in touch with the information that is circulated, and will catch the viewpoint of Education Day so that when January 20 rolls round, they will all with one accord send in offerings for this cause.

Everybody knows the Educational Secretary, Mr. Colby D. Hall, a young man, has taken such interest in the large life of the brotherhood and in the general causes of christian work, that he has become known widely over the state.

His work is different entirely from that of a Financial Secretary, or Field Agent. He is not a collector of money but a distributor of information. He is constantly visiting the churches, talking about the work, but when he goes he never takes up an offering or asks for pledges. He tells the people the facts of the educational work, the relation of the church to it and asks for their intelligent sympathy in the work and their co-operation in the plan for an offering on Educational Day.

Information must precede inspiration, and a well informed body of Christians will not fail to give their worthy support.

On this basis the work is being pushed to bring the facts of the cause to the minds of the people, believing that this will secure the most lasting and healthful growth.

The motto is "A closer touch with more friends and support in larger figures."

The Commercial Class Entertained.

On last Thursday evening at seven-thirty Prof. Dacus threw open the door of the commercial room to his students. He did not open the door as usual, and the members of the class knew upon entering that they were not going there to worry over "cash sales," "journals," "ledgers," "trial-balances," shorthand or typewriting, but all this would be put aside and they were to spend the evening in an hour of social enjoyment, and help celebrate the Prof's thirty-second birthday.

After a while of mingling and mixing, shaking hands and meeting the visitors, the class was called to order and answered to roll call, after which the doors of the adjoining room was opened and all went in and enjoyed a dainty lunch, prepared by Mrs. Dacus.

At eight-thirty the class was again called to order and Miss Bessie West, in behalf of the girls of the class, presented Prof. Dacus with a fine fountain pen. By this time the hour had arrived for the departure, so the president of the class, with a short speech, expressed the thanks and appreciation of all present to Mr. and Mrs. Dacus for the royal manner which they had been entertained, and after a few words from Prof. Dacus all went to their rooms and homes with a feeling of having spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year.

Keep-A-Pushing.

One step won't take you very far;
You've got to keep on walking.
One word won't tell folks all you are;
You've got to keep on talking.
One inch won't make you very tall;
You've got to keep on growing.
One little "ad" won't do it all;
You've got to keep 'em going.—Ex.
