Student Union Fund Given $1000 Boost

Representatives of Student Lounge Committee gave a $1000 boost Monday to the Student Union Fund.

A check for that amount was presented to Vice-President Otto R. Nielsen by Dick Ramsey, chairman of the committee.

The money represents profits made from the Lounge sandwich bar and vending machines.

An air of optimism prevailed at a conference this week with Dr. Nielsen concerning TCU's proposed new Student Union Building.

But Dr. Nielsen warned that several steps must be taken before any definite statements can be made.

For instance, facts as to the need and purpose of the building must be presented to the University architect who will then draw up a rough plan. An estimate of the cost of the building must then be made. Next the building is to be pegged on the building agenda. And last, Dr. Nielsen explained, this material will be presented to President Sadler and the Board of Trustees for their decision.

With regard to possible location of the Student Union, Jarvis Hall has been described as structurally adequate for the purpose.

If this dormitory is destined to become the new Student Union, its second and third floors will become a large banquet and dance hall.

The dormitory's first floor would be transformed into recreation rooms, small parlors, reading rooms and offices for the student Congress and Court.

ROTC Personnel, Cadet Sponsors, Will Be Honored

A drill parade of the Transportation Corps and Air Force ROTC units will be held Monday as an official end of their first semester at TCU.

The parade will begin at 2 p.m. on the drill field behind the women's dormitories. The combined military band and all cadets will participate.

Being honored by the activities will be the TC cadet sponsors, Misses June Clark, Bettie Harbin, Madge Moreland and Sandy Hobbs; AF Officers Club sweetheart, Miss Arlene Oakley; professors of military and air science and their staffs; and the military committee.

New Record? Hungry 'Happy' Feasts on Eggs

Is "Happy" still happy? To that question we don't egg-sactly know the answer.

A short-order cook was nearly lost in the scramble.

Last Friday, Charles "Happy" Wren, Happy Junior, amazed all onlookers by downing 14 scrambled eggs.

Along with the eggs the voluminous footballer drank two root beers, ate four slices of bread, two hamburger buns and two tomatoes.

Registration Scheduled; Precounseling Next Week

In order to speed up spring semester registration, students are requested to contact their counselors before January 21st.

Presentation Ball Plans Are Made

The annual Presentation Ball will be held February 22 at the New Lake Worth Casino, announced Favorites Co-Editors Ellis Amburn and Jim Hatley of the 1952 Horned Frog.

Amburn and Hatley have been named dance managers for the occasion by Miss Eugenia Luker, editor-in-chief of the yearbook.

Dancing at the Presentation Ball will be from 8 p.m. until midnight. Dormitory girls will be allowed late permission.

The main feature at the ball, which is formal, will be the presentation of the 40 finalists in the favorites election and the 10 finalists in the Mr. and Miss TCU race.

Admission will be $2.50, stag or drag. Tickets will go on sale February 15th.

Unpaid Bills Total $450

Congress 'Flat Broke'; Christmas Caper Flops

BY ELLIS AMBURN

A grim financial situation faced the Student Association Congress as the organization met Monday.

A reading of the financial statement by Treasurer D. Melvin Shupp revealed the emptiness of all congressional coffers.

After an unprofitable $1750 payment to Russ Morgan's orchestra for a one-night engagement to play at the Freshman Prom, which lost, all told, some $1060, and an appropriation of $800 to KTCU, campus radio station, exactly $135 was left in the exhausted congressional piggy bank.

The remaining $135 does not exactly belong to congress though, explained Shupp.

"Our liabilities far exceed that figure. We have some bills which have been outstanding since September," Shupp confessed.

As a matter of fact, congress has myriad of unpaid bills which total up to more than $450.

So our congress is, literally, flat broke.

Understandably enough, only one appropriation was granted—a necessary $10 expense account allowed President Dick Ramsey to cover transportation costs for his Jan. 12 trip to Austin College, Sherman, for an executive meeting of T. I. S. A. where the money will be found was not explained.

Dance Manager Wes Steele presented the "last straw" to congressmen when he gave a financial report on the student body Christmas dance.

A total of $487 was expended in the arranging of the affair. Only $186 was taken in at the dance, leaving congress $286 in the hole. Only 124 students bought tickets to the "caper."

Ramsey dubiously commented, "I don't know whether we're falling down on the job or not."

Vice President Bob Cornell, offering a possible solution, suggested that congress should plan "small dances with smaller and less expensive bands."

Cornell, adding a somewhat brighter note to the otherwise dismal meeting, reported that he thought congress would break even and possibly make a little profit on the new student directory. Directories are now being sold in the Bookstore at 50 cents each.

Another suggestion by Cornell prompted congress to start making plans for a small scale Howdy Week for the mid-semester's new freshmen. An "economical" dance to be held in the Study Lounge will welcome the new students to the campus at a date early in the spring semester which will be later announced.

In other action, Ramsey appointed Chairman Joe Ward and his legislative committee to name two Catholic co-eds to represent the student body at the Feb. 23 Laneri Mardi Gras celebration held annually at Will Rogers Coliseum.

Names of 24 Catholic girl students on the campus were submitted by Dean of Women Elizabeth Shelburne in a letter to Congress. The letter was given to the appointed committee with the understanding that one town and one dormitory student would be selected from among the listed names. Last year's duchesses to the affair were the Misses Sylvia Jacobs and Barbara Whelan.

In another letter to congress, the Disciple Student Fellowship requested that congress take charge of the refunding of the $30 that organization expended in the construction of its Homecoming float which did not appear in the Homecoming Parade. The club reported that the float was damaged due to weather conditions on the night before Homecoming and that they did not have enough time to repair it before the Parade.

The letter stated that the payment of the bill by the Administration was justified since the float was used to "decorate" the campus later on Homecoming day. Congress approved the request and will include the $30 amount in its statement to the Administration, which has agreed to pay part of the float expenses of participating clubs.

Absent from this meeting were Carl Graner and Misses Fran Knight, Frances Nowotny, Pat Owens, Sylvia Boker, Beth Pearson, Bobbye Russell, Helen "Corkey" Shirley and Noreen Wilkins.

Everybody's Happy . . .

. . . And with good reason. Dick Ramsey, left, chairman of the Student Lounge Committee, is handing a check for $1000 to Vice-President Otto R. Nielsen to be applied toward a student union building. Onlookers are Dr. A. O. Spain, faculty advisor to the committee, Miss Ruth McCleskey, and Melvin Shupp, committee members.

Blood Donor Drive Starts on Campus

The TCU Blood Donor Drive, kicks off today, under the sponsorship of the TCU Chamber of Commerce.

The drive will be climaxed on January 18th, when the Red Cross "Bloodmobile" visits the campus.

Here's how the campaign will be conducted. Booths have been placed in the Administration Building, the Fine Arts Building, the School of Business, and Brite College of the Bible.

These booths will be manned by Chamber members who are passing out pledge cards to students and faculty members. These cards when filled out and returned, will enable the prospective donor to make an appointment to donate a pint of blood.

Students under 21 are required by law to obtain parental permission before making a blood donation. Cards signifying this permission are also available at the booths.

Pledge cards and parental permission slips are also available from all APO members.

At 8:30 a.m., on Thursday, January 18th, the Gymnasium will be transformed into a blood donor center. Red Cross personnel will be in charge of this phase of the campaign.

The procedure will be as follows:

First, a slip will be filled out by the prospective donor, to determine if he is medically qualified to give blood; then, if found qualified, the donor will be given a bottle of ginger ale to counteract any nervous tension which may be experienced; a nurse will step forward and prick the donor's index finger for a specimen of blood.

This specimen will be placed in a test tube containing a solution of copper sulfate, to determine if the blood is healthy.

The rest of the procedure is entirely painless. The donor will be requested to lie down on cots placed in the Gymnasium for this purpose.

An attendant will daub procaine on the donor's forearm so that the needle may be injected painlessly.

The needle will be placed in the donor's arm and the blood withdrawn. That's all there is to it. No strain, no pain.

Each donor will be given fruit juice and cookies after the donation by Red Cross workers. This whole procedure will not take more than 20 minutes of your time.

This is a most worthy campaign. Blood is desperately needed by the Armed Forces in Korea.

Special Bus Hauls Crowd to Game

A special bus will leave at 7:15 tonight, from behind the Administration Building, to carry students to the basketball game with Baylor University, at Will Rogers Coliseum.

"As many trips will be made as necessary to accommodate all students needing transportation," said Student Association President, Dick Ramsey.

The bus will also carry students back to the campus after the game.

Student Association Congress obtained the bus. Fare will be 15 cents.

Night School Degree Plan Announced by Holsapple

A new degree for adult education was recently announced by TCU.

This new plan calls for a bachelor of arts degree in TCU's Evening College. It will be restricted to students who have attained their 27th birthdays.

Dean Cortell K. Holsapple, of the Evening College, stated that the age restriction was proposed because this degree is not planned for day school students nor in competition with their program.

"Most of the students in the Evening College hold full-time jobs besides their scholastic work, and it takes quite a few years to be able to take all the required courses," the dean added.

The general requirements for the B.A. degree are included in the program. A total of 120 semester hours credit are necessary, exclusive of physical education. The new program provides for a divisional concentration of courses instead of a usual departmental major and minor.

Effective immediately, this plan requires at least 45 hours in one division, of which 30 would be advanced work. At present, the division concentrations are limited to departments in Add Ran College of Arts and Sciences.

Each adult who pursues the degree will have the benefit of a counselor for the division in which he concentrates his studies. This counselor, a full-time member of the faculty, will be appointed by the chairmen of the departments concerned in the concentration.

He will assist the dean of the Evening College in advising the student in courses to conform to the pattern of the B.A., and the needs of the student.

Women's Club Tea To Be Held Tuesday

Faculty Women's Club will hold a fine arts tea from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. Brooks Morris. Mrs. J. G. Metcalf is chairman.

Mrs. T. Smith McCorkle will introduce a program of music to be presented by Dr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Guenther.

Mrs. Arthur Faguy-Cote and Mrs. Samuel Ziegler are in charge of refreshments. Mrs. Lew D. Fallis and Mrs. Newton Gaines will pour.

Decorations are being planned by Mrs. S. Walker James, Mrs. Leonard Logan, and Mrs. Edward Pross.

TCU Professors Going to Attend Biblical Meeting

TCU religion professors will attend the annual meeting of the Southwestern section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors in Waco tomorrow.

Prof. Glenn C. Routt, vice-president of the group, will lead the opening devotional meeting. Mr. Routt is assistant professor of theology in Brite College.

Another TCU professor, Dr. A. T. DeGroot, dean of the Graduate School, will present a paper in an afternoon meeting.

"All members of the TCU religion faculty and Brite College, are members of the national organization," Mr. George P. Fowler, director of religious activities, said.

Almost all of the instructors will represent TCU at the meeting, which includes delegates from Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, as well as Texas.

Two TCU Alumni Are Now Authors

Two former TCU history students have distinguished themselves in the field of writing.

Dr. William J. Hammond, chairman of the department of history, recently received a pamphlet written by Durwood Bruden, B.A. '27. The pamphlet, "Democracy, Capitalism and their Competitors" is one of a series designed to survey vital contemporary problems in a format suitable for school use.

Bruden is now associate professor of social studies at New York University.

"Bailey Diffie, one of our most industrious graduates, has worked as an economic analyst, radio script writer, and professor, and has been a visiting lecturer at Cornell and Yale Universities," commented Dr. Hammond.

Diffie is the author of 15 published books and articles, most of them dealing with Latin American foreign policy.

He was an instructor at TCU in 1926-27.

Miss Major's Research Work Used by English Organization

December was a fortunate month for Miss Mabel Major, professor of English — and for "Lasca," the cowboy poem by Frank Desprez, she has been doing research work on for about 20 years.

First of all, she obtained the music originally used as a background for the elocution of the poem, much-used in declamation contests.

On December 31, Miss Major received from Dr. and Mrs. Newton Gaines, a record of William S. Hart, the cowboy-hero of silent movies, reciting the poem.

Her work was recognized at a special December meeting of the Savage Club, a literary organization for men in Bristol, England. They invited the ladies and featured "Lasca" on the program.

The information about the author that she has uncovered was used, and then "the best elocutionist in Bristol recited 'Lasca,'" a Bristol editor wrote her.

This was the same editor who had helped her find Desprez's brother and daughter, with whom she has been corresponding.

The brother, in December, sent Miss Major a copy of "Curtain Raisers," in which Desprez included "Lasca" in the 1886 edition.

It seems Desprez was secretary to D'Oyly Carte, who first produced Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. When Carte discovered the production was not long enough for a full evening's entertainment, he asked Desprez to write a "curtain raiser."

He wrote many such little operettas which comprise this book. But it is not known whether this was the reason "Lasca" was written. In fact, his life in Texas and how the poem began to be known here still remain a mystery.

Drama Schedule Changed; 'Savage' Replaces 'Harvey'

Abrupt changes were made this week in the drama schedule. Since a touring company recently staged "Harvey" in this area, the play has been replaced by John Patrick's "The Curious Savage."

The new drama, which is set in a home for slightly insane people was cast Monday. Try-outs were held with little publicity because of a lack of time.

Debate Tourney Begins Saturday

Members of three Texas schools will journey to Fort Worth tomorrow for participation in TCU's annual practice debate tourney.

According to Dr. E. L. Pross, Chairman of the speech-drama-radio department and also debate coach, these schools will open four-way competition at 10 a.m.

The teams will hail from SMU, North Texas State Teachers College, Baylor University and TCU.

Since this is to be a practice session, there will be no extensive attempt made to judge a tournament winner. However, the schools with the largest and smallest percentage of wins will be honored by a 10-cent award.

Chamber Gives Christmas Party

A Fort Worth family was given a Christmas party by TCU's Chamber of Commerce. The needy family received linens, clothes and a large amount of food.

The underprivileged family, located through the efforts of Henry Key, associate professor of Business Administration and M. A. Holcembach, administrative assistant to Dean Sowell, consisted of a woman and her three children. The children are all under three years old.

Leaders in Chapel Assigned for Week

Clem Hardy, Waycross, Ga., senior, is in charge of chapel worship today.

Miss Marian Armstrong, Fort Worth, junior, will lead services Monday.

Brite seniors, Miss Grace Humphrey, Pecos, and Alex Cox, Houston, will be leaders Tuesday and Thursday, respectively.

Wednesday's chapel will be led by Dr. A. T. DeGroot, Dean of the Graduate School.

The last chapel service of the semester will be Friday. Jimmy Miller, Smithfield junior, will speak.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

We're Out for Blood

This time we're really out for BLOOD. Not with any intention of sanguinary tactics in the field of sports, but in dead earnest in seeking maximum success in the operation of the Blood Booth on the campus.

The importance of participation in the Blood Donor program has been stressed before in these pages, yet it cannot be over-emphasized.

Generally response to date has been good, except for a few mentally and physically anemic visitors (we'd hate to think they were TCU students), who made their contributions by defacing the Blood Donor Honor Rolls in the Administration building in a manner which proves that either they are too young to give a pint of blood, or suffering from severe cerebral anemia.

Plasma and whole blood are badly needed both stateside in military hospitals and in Korea. The blood YOU give can save a GI's life.

Elsewhere in The Skiff you'll find full details on the necessary procedures. We aren't planning any razzle-dazzle burlesque show to ballyhoo a personal duty as serious as the donation of a pint of life-giving fluid, but there will be plenty of campus activity to let you know of the importance of your aid in the program.

There's nothing rough about the deal. You merely visit the booth, make your appointment, go and donate your pint, and come out feeling GOOD, knowing you've done your share toward saving another American who's lost some of his own on the battlefield.

Underestimating Ourselves

The Student Lounge Committee has put the ball in motion concerning the Student Union Building.

When a campus-wide student-run, faculty-guided organization can present the Administration with $1000 to help defray the costs of a student building, it is not only fitting that it be commended, but it illustrates the point that we have been underestimating ourselves.

This "grand note" is a ray of light in the darkness of student disinterest. Perhaps now the students are awake to the fact that they can play an important part in the shape of things to come.

In his speech of 1950 at the dedication of the Study Lounge, Dean of Students T. F. Richardson made the statement that when the student body becomes organized in its efforts, the Administration would "... build a union and hang the cost."

We like to think that the student body is on the verge of just such organization, and that the University, recognizing the fact, is preparing to meet its obligation.

We'll Miss Them

It is with deep regret that we mark the passing of two long-time friends of TCU, Dr. Roy Hampton Gough and Dr. Clarence J. Best.

Dr. Gough has sponsored the Gough Oratorical Contest since 1914. The contest is an annual event open to all. A trophy and $50 prize are awarded the winner. The contest is endowed and will continue.

He attended TCU and was a director of the University from 1911-1916. From 1914-1918 he served as professor of otology.

In 1916 Dr. Gough was made a lifetime member of TCU's advisory board.

For 37 years he was known in Fort Worth and Tarrant County medical circles as an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist.

Dr. Best came to TCU in 1947 and at the time of his death was chairman of the music education department.

He held an honorary life membership in the Music Educators National Conference and was also a member of the Music Teachers National Association and the Texas Music Educators Association.

TCU will deeply miss and long remember both men and the school will find it hard to replace them in the ranks of its friends.

The Syracuse Orange, University of Syracuse, worried over inter-campus vandalism as well as the local variety, preached a solution:

"Forget the empty heroism of enemy-campus raids. Why play little boys' games with their statuary and other property, when it can only result in your university's getting a bill which it will have to pay because culprits are characteristically too cowardly to admit their part?"

Students at Oregon State College are faced with a grave issue: Fussing or non-fussing.

Now students are being asked to make a definite choice by ballot. But there is a third alternative: Non-fussing with a separate section for fussing. This would take care of married couples.

Says the Barometer: "Fussing has had its chance. We have learned that school spirit was greater during the first 50 years of non-fussing."

Off the Top of the Deck

Heads Shaved, Roof Falls In, 'Rats' Tip Hats --- Other Schools' Troubles

BY RUSS HURST

Looks like we're having a dull year.

That's the impression we get from the accounts of pranks, hazing, water fights, etc. we've heard from other campuses.

The Associated Collegiate Press feature service at Minneapolis sends us a weekly roundup of features, news and editorials clipped from other universities' papers. Here's a sampling of this semester's reports.

The Chicago Maroon, University of Chicago student paper, was suspended after its Oct. 5 issue and the editor was fired. The Dean of Students wrote to the ex-editor, Alan Kimmel:

"Your prolonged stay in eastern Europe and failure to return to the University for registration make it necessary for me to write you a letter instead of talking with you about a very important matter.

"I find it necessary to remove you immediately from the editorship of the Maroon. Your action in sponsoring and attending the East Berlin Youth festival demonstrates your lack of qualification to edit a free and independent paper.

"I am today writing the student government to request it to proceed at once with steps for a new election . . ."

The last issue of the Maroon on Oct. 5 (under its old regime) protested loudly:

"(The dean's) action is a violation of basic civil liberties which guarantee freedom of political thought. . . . In no civil case can Kimmel's political beliefs be construed as reflecting discredit on the university—unless the university itself is submitting to the current nation-wide pressure against freedom of political beliefs."

Four University of Connecticut fraternities were forced to sever connections with their national offices, in accordance with the university's anti-discrimination ruling of 1949.

But the frats were permitted to stay on the campus when they all eliminated bias clauses—and at last report were again attempting to rejoin their national organizations.

Sixty Princeton freshmen had their heads shaved, courtesy the sophomore class.

Seems that a large number of the frosh forced their way into one of the sophomore dormitories during a traditional class "riot." Although they were drenched with buckets of water, the unlucky 60 plunged ahead until trapped in the soph's temporary "barber shop."

Snip went the scissors—off went the frosh locks.

Other events in the struggle: One freshman was tarred and feathered with chocolate syrup and confetti; firecrackers and water-filled balloons were employed by both sides during the fracas.

One enthusiastic freshman exclaimed afterwards, "What class spirit down here! Boy, when this is over, we ought to be great friends."

At Rider College, New Jersey, students were shocked to hear that their football team's star halfback, Eddie Wilson, had been dropped from college for failure to attend classes regularly.

At the University of Minnesota, halfback George Hudak was dropped from the team for the same reason.

Students attending a morning lecture at the University of Colorado saw the roof fall in—literally.

While the professor droned on, the ceiling began to crack loudly. The prof screamed a hasty warning and students fled in all directions. Two jumped out the window while others hid under furniture.

(The professor was unhurt.)

The Tangerine at Utica College took out its pencil and did some figuring. The result was this interesting bit of statistics:

Students there have contributed $7,500 to the city of Utica in parking fines.

The Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, got this letter from a reader:

"Dear Sir:
No football,
No cuts;
This college
Is nuts.

De-Emphasized"

The University of California band received quite a student send-off for its trip to UCLA.

As the band was loading itself and its equipment into busses, students inside the library opened the windows and rained water bombs onto the court below.

It was quite a barrage, causing an estimated $600 worth of damage to the band's equipment—mostly the drums. One band member got a bloody nose when he attempted to rush the bomb throwers.

The University of Miami Interfraternity Council voted to abolish all forms of hazing.

The new constitutional amendment defines hazing as: "To harass by exacting difficult work; to harass with abusive or ridiculous tricks; to place public or private property in jeopardy; to place an individual in a position of ridicule . . ."

A recent bit of nocturnal hazing at the University of Redlands, Calif., resulted in a cracked vertebra for freshman Forrest Sears.

The accident occurred when upperclassmen took some freshmen to a cemetery, stripped them of their pants and let them wander at will.

At this point Sears and a fellow freshman made a dash for it out of the cemetery. Sears sprinted right over a wall falling headlong to the pavement eight feet below.

Result: Student groups voted to abolish the more hazardous practices of hazing—at least temporarily.

Upperclassmen at Furnam University, S. C., have handed their freshmen (known as "Rats") a few rules for survival. They include:

Rats are to tip their caps to all upperclassmen.

A copy of the student handbook must be in the rooms of rats at all times.

A Confederate flag will be raised on campus each morning by specified freshman. Rats passing the flag will remove their caps at a distance of five paces from the flag and "maintain this state of reverence" for five paces beyond the flag.

And you thought you had troubles.

Employees Refuse To Sign Oaths, Pay Is Withheld

Employees of the University of California must now take three separate loyalty oaths. The standard constitutional oath of allegiance; the anti-Communist oath required of all state employees; and the Regents special loyalty oath.

This year 48 University employees, including five full professors, have refused to sign the special oath, although they all signed the other two. None of the 48 has been paid yet for this year.

Kansas 'Collegian' Reports Increase In Haircut Prices

The Kansas State Collegian reports that the price of a haircut has jumped 33 per cent in those parts. Since college men average about one haircut per month, the Collegian views the price increase with alarm.

As a possible solution, it suggests that Kansas State begin a barber school.

Pixillated Predictions for 1952; Visions of a Brighter Tomorrow

BY DAN JENKINS

Since this is the first issue of the new year, we thought it best today to make a few rash predictions and seamy observations concerning the times to come. Take them with a grain of salt and a table-spoon-full of alcohol, bonded.

Gilbert Bartosh will decide to remain at TCU and will be given a new pair of glasses by his benefactor.

Hollywood will film the life of Dutch Meyer, but will change the proposed title from "Mr. Razzle Dazzle" to "Davis and Blanchard of Army."

Plans will be laid for the construction of a new Student Union building and the Administration will promise its finish by the spring of 1976.

Curfew for dormitory women will be extended from 11 p.m. on week nights, to 10:30 p.m. One "late" will subject the guilty party to 20 turns on the stretching rack.

One-way driving around the Quadrangle will be discontinued and 30 students will perish in auticides the first week. The School of Fine Arts will present three plays with all female casts.

A group of university musicians will continue to play before overflowing crowds at the Tuesday evening tea dances.

The NCAA will vote to de-emphasize collegiate polo, and TCU will immediately nullify all scholarships to horses.

Goode Hall will become an annex of Forest Park Zoo.

Only one campus queen will be elected during the school year and she will reign over Ranch Day proceedings and will run the mile in 1:31.5.

The science building will be completed and instructors will dive into a vat of formaldehyde, out of loneliness.

TCU will win the Missouri Valley Conference in football, but will be disqualified for the 1953 season for accepting an invitation to play in the Finger Bowl without first obtaining permission from Louis Monroe, newly-elected MVC president.

The Frogs' All-American center, George McLeod, will be graduated with honors and will take a job as an oil derrick in Midland.

The Skiff will again do its patriotic duty by printing cartoons without captions, thus conserving space. (In 1952, it served as confetti for the MacArthur Day parade.)

Texas Christian University will lead all major colleges in wholesale purchases of Mickey Spillane novels.

'Mom, I Missed Queen'

BY JIMMIE (ABIGAIL) BROWDER

Dear Mom:

Here I am in my senior year at TCU. I was planning to graduate this June, but I'm packing my suitcase and coming home.

Straight A's all through college was my scholastic record. I never cut classes, I went to all the football games, pep rallies and dances. Being president of my class was only one of many extra-curricular activities. I belonged to Alpha Chi and 17 other campus organizations.

Although I have completed 168 semester hours including all the required courses, I have been informed that I will not be allowed to graduate this year.

So, dust my room, mop the floors, shoot the rooster and sober Pa up, because I'll be home tomorrow.

I guess the school officials can't be blamed too much for not giving me a diploma. After all, I suppose it's partly my fault.

You see, (sniff), I've been here nearly four years, and (sob), I was never elected as a "campus queen."

Of the 18,693 queens, sweethearts, sponsors and hostesses elected while I was here, I didn't even make honorable mention.

Your ever loving daughter,
Abigail

First Inspection Of TC ROTC Made Monday

The first semi-annual informal inspection of the Transportation Corps ROTC was held Monday by Lt. Col. C. L. Hilton, Jr., of the Texas Military District Headquarters.

Hilton, along with Major Edward E. Jordan from the Fort Worth high schools, checked the progress of the TCU unit. They inspected all phases of training, instruction and facilities.

A Military Committee meeting was held to discuss the ROTC set-up at TCU. This committee has Dr. Thomas F. Richardson as chairman and includes Dean Jerome Moore, Dr. Ellsworth Chunn, L. C. Wright, and Lt. Col. John Murray and Luther O'Hern. Vice-President Otto R. Nielsen attended the session.

Dr. Richardson says that TCU's method of handling both military and civilian students is proving to be one of the best systems. He says that the inspection proved to be complimentary and expects TCU's system of a combined civil and military committee to be recommended for use in other colleges.

As a climax to the inspection, a review of the joint forces of the Army and Air Force units was held on the drill field.

Led by the military band, composed of both Army and Air Force cadets, the units marched in front of a review stand. Cadet Lt. Col. Flavil Johnson was in command of the review drill.

On the review stand were company sponsor, Miss June Clark, Hilton, Jordan Murray, O'Hern, Major W. Weaver and Capt. Virgil Warner, Jr.

Chair Collapses, Calories Blamed

Miss Sara Carlock, Dallas senior who is Dr. Cecil Cheverton's secretary, blamed a recent accident on her boss's Christmas present.

When Miss Carlock went to work Monday, she sat down at her typewriter, only to have the chair disintegrate beneath her.

Her explanation to Dr. Cheverton as he rushed in was, "I must have put on a few pounds eating that candy you gave me for Christmas."

Dr. Sadler Is Elected At Annual Convention

President Sadler returned today from Washington, D. C., where he was elected president of the Association of American Colleges, at its four-day meeting.

The association, of which TCU has been a fully accredited member since 1921, was called "one of the highest accrediting agencies in the country by Dr. Sadler.

The meeting, held at the Statler Hotel, was the group's annual convention at which applications for membership to the association are considered and matters of general business are discussed.

Prof. Winton Is Honored By Academy of Science

Prof. Will McClain Winton has been given an honorary life membership in the Texas Academy of Science.

Chairman of the biology-geology department since 1913, Professor Winton was recognized for his research in the geology of central Texas.

His work on the strata of Tarrant and Denton counties has been the basis of geological study in those areas.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 31...THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

He thought they were trying to make him the butt-end of a joke when he was asked to judge cigarette mildness with a mere puff of one brand and a quick sniff of another. The fancy foot-work didn't dazzle him! He knew that the pinnacle of pleasure comes from steady smoking... and that there is only one test that gives you enough time to permit conclusive proof. Smokers throughout America have made the same decision!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Frogs Try Bears Tonight; Unbeaten in Conference

The Frogs will attempt to add to their 13-1 season record at 8 tonight in Will Rogers Coliseum as they meet the Baylor quintet in the final home game of this semester.

That 13-1 slate owned by the Purple at present, is the best in the history of TCU basketball. The Froggies have already passed the quarter mark in conference play without a loss and will be reaching for an undefeated record through a third of the schedule.

Materially, Baylor looks strong with fair height and an outstanding leader in Ralph Johnson, but the club has never jelled into a real team.

The Bears played good ball against Vanderbilt in the Cotton Bowl Tourney for three quarters, even leading the Commodores at half-time, but faded fast in the final stanza and eventually ended up in last place.

Last year, the Bruins were not expected to hold the score down when they came to town to play the Frogs, but walked off the court with a victory which was one link in the chain of events which knocked TCU out of a clear championship.

For three quarters in Houston Tuesday, the Frog basketball team played its most sloppy ball game of the season, but showed some semblance of championship form in the final period to rack up the 13th win of the season, 42-30, over the Rice Owls.

Johnny Ethridge led the Frog attack both in scoring, with 13 points, and in his defensive effort which found him stealing the ball countless times and hounding the Owl outmen—Leonard Childs and Maurice Teague—throughout the contest.

Faculty Men Best WSA Basketballers

A final score of 18-13 gave the faculty men's team a victory over the Women's Sports Association players last Friday night, in the Gymnasium.

Col. John W. Murray, Army ROTC, racked up 9 points for his team. Scoring the most number of points for the WSA team was Miss Betty Koones, Jacksboro freshman, with 6 points.

The third quarter of play found most of the players on the floor. WSA players led the faculty team until the fourth quarter, when Col. Murray began making successful shots from way out.

"It was more like football," was one comment.

Faculty team captain, Vice-President Otto R. Nielsen, was presented with a tin cup trophy for his team's victory. Miss Billie Anderson, McKinney sophomore, was captain of the other team.

Following women's rules for basketball, some of the situations puzzled members of the men's team.

"Col. Murray kept hitting the ball away from center when it was thrown in, and center was incidentally, me," Miss Anderson said.

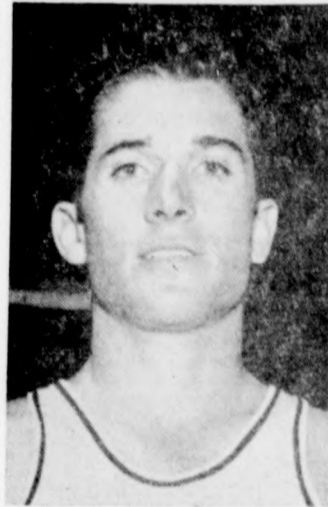

Both girls praised Dr. Nielsen for his ability to slap the ball back out of bounds, but added that he and Col. Murray were heavy on the personal fouls.

"Dr. Nielsen had three personal fouls for trying to tackle the girls," Miss Anderson added.

WSA members hint that a repetition of the game might take place if enough people are interested.

"But it would be some time after mid-semester," Miss Anderson said.

J. Bryan Kilpatrick was second-high scorer for the evening with nine points, while George McLeod had seven for the Frogs. Teague led Rice scorers with seven points.

JOHNNY ETHRIDGE

Key to the low scoring was the shot percentage. TCU hit only 18 for 60 from the field, or 30 per cent of its shots, while Rice hit only 10 of 44 from the field for 23 per cent. The Frogs were just as cold at the free-throw line as they hit only six of 15 charity tosses.

The game was a close affair for three quarters before the Christians put on the last quarter burst to win going away. The Frogs led 10-7 at the end of the first period, but cooled off and trailed 15-16 at half-time. Just before the end of the third period, they started the final drive scoring three points to lead 27-24 at the three-quarter mark.

McLeod shot only four times the entire game but he hit three of those four times. His lone miss was the only shot he took the first half.

The Frog basketball team lived up to its pre-season reputation by downing two Southwest Conference foes last week.

SMU's Mustangs invaded Will Rogers Coliseum Jan. 2, and took a 58-43 drubbing from the Purple.

TCU built up a 20 point half-time lead and coasted to victory as Captain George McLeod counted 22 points. Murphy and Holm scored 11 points each for the losers.

McLeod tallied 22 points again as the Frog five posted a 52-43 win over the Texas Longhorns Jan. 5.

Harvey Fromme meshed the nets for 18 points as the Frogs

Wildcat Claws Scratch Frogs

In a game which many fans would rather forget, TCU's footballers absorbed a sound 20-7 trouncing from Kentucky's Wildcats Jan. 1.

The Froggies' inability to make the game close might well be laid to lack of "goal line punch."

Four times the Purple was within close sight of the promised land, even through a heavy overcast caused by the tough Kentucky offense.

(It has been rumored that "Zim" one time caught a glimpse of the double stripe, only to see a five-yard penalty move it out of the range of vision.)

On the brighter side of the scene, now, we turn to an account of "B J's Day." Bobby Jack ran over, around and through Kentucky's defenders for 115 yards gained and an 8.2 average per carry.

Floyd's scampers included a 43-yard touchdown romp with practically no blocking.

Gilbert Bartosh is another Frog to be singled out for an inspired performance. Cotton Bowl spectators saw the Bartosh of old, as the "Granger Ghost" ran, passed, and directed the Froggies to an 80-yard touchdown march in only four plays.

The "Kentucky Babe" Vito Parrilli, more than lived up to his all-America publicity.

cut the tall Longhorns down to size. After overcoming an early 5-2 Texas lead, the TCU cagers led throughout the game.

Scaling and Dowies paced the losers with 11 points each.

No Relaxation for Frogs Over Christmas Holidays

BY TED ALLEN
Hustle. That's what the Frog cagers have this year and that is what will win a basketball championship because the ability to win is there.

It is this thing called hustle which now has them riding high atop the conference standings with a 3-0 record and a 13-1 season slate.

Coach Brannon told the boys, before the season got underway, they could win the crown this year, but they would be on the spot from the opening game and only hard work and concentration would win the championship.

Brannon also thanked them for their hustle. He said they acted more like a bunch of sophomores, rather than seniors, the way they had worked to get themselves into shape.

The Christians have had so much hustle this year that when they play normal basketball, it looks like they are loafing. In most of the games so far played, they haven't been too hard pressed. The Frogs have usually broken fast and then coasted in, with Brannon substituting freely in an effort to give the reserves experience for next year when the majority of the team graduates.

Only twice this year have we seen them extended to win. In the Nebraska thriller in Dallas, December 19, when the Frogs eked out a 58-57 victory, three regulars—McLeod, Reynolds and Fromme—went out on fouls. In an over-time period, the reserves came through when needed, to post the victory by getting ahead and stalling the ball til' time ran out.

Vanderbilt also pressed the Frogs in the semi-final game of the Cotton Bowl Tourney before bowing 49-51. Against the short, but hefty Commodores, fouls again hurt the Purple, but once again, reserve strength paid off and the Vandy rally was staved off.

On both occasions the Froggies out hustled the opposition and here lay the difference in the outcome of the games.

The Purple may not go through the conference schedule undefeated but it won't be because they didn't outscrap every opponent.

SWISH
George McLeod, Frog captain and center, goes into tonight's game as leading conference scorer with 249 points.

All work and no play makes, no, not our basketball team.

While the student body was enjoying turkey and home life, the TCU roundballers kept busy defending the University's prestige on the hardwood. DFH Day (departure for home day), found the basketball team entertaining that ever tough opponent from the plains to the northwest that dealt this University a mortal blow early in the fall, Texas Tech. But here no embarrassment was handed TCU. Tech was swamped 68-48.

The game was played in Dallas. Next the Frogs nipped the Nebraska Cornhuskers in a tight game, 58-57. This game was also played in Dallas on DFH Day plus one.

One C Day plus 2, the roundballers played the ever tough webfoots from the bayous to the south, namely the Rice Owls, whom they disposed of handily by the score of 69-57. This game was the first in the Cotton Bowl Tournament, also played in Dallas.

TCU took on Vanderbilt of the Southeastern Conference next in the tournament, a game in which the lead changed 7 times. TCU ended on top by the margin of 51-49. This game established TCU as the favorite in the tournament. This game was played December 28th.

On C Day plus 4, the Farmers took their mules to barn, fed them, got out their tennis shoes and came to Big "D", only to be soundly spanked. If you haven't figured already that this reference is to the future Generals, the Tessie Trailers . . . oh, let's quit, Texas A & M.

Yes, the TCU Basketball Team again won by the lopsided score of 65-35.

This game gave TCU the Cotton Bowl Tournament.

You'd think by this time the boys would get a rest. But no, conference play came up next week.

Our hats are off to the boys that bounce the roundballs on the hardwood.

Conference Ends Today, 200 Delegates Attend

Approximately 200 youth directors from 29 or more states are on the campus, attending a National Coaching Conference for Directors of Camps and Conferences for the Disciples of Christ.

The Conference which began Tuesday, will end today.

Meetings are being held in the University Christian Church and delegates are being housed in University dormitories and homes of church members.

Mr. Russell Harrison, national director of youth work, and Mrs. Mildred Jarvis, assistant director, are in charge of the program.

Wogs to Battle Cubs Tonight, Will Seek Fifth Cage Victory

TCU's Wogs will go against the Baylor freshman basketball team tonight in the Fieldhouse at 6:00 p.m., in the preliminary to the varsity game between the two schools.

The 4-1 record of the TCU freshmen give them a favored nod over the Cubs.

The Wogs marked up their fourth cage victory Saturday night as they slipped past the Tyler Junior College team, 63-61, in the closest game they have played this season.

Coach Bruce Craig's charges held a comfortable lead throughout the game until the Tyler five surged out to narrow the score to a scant two points in the final minutes at the TCU Fieldhouse.

TJC forward, Glenn Pearson took individual scoring honors with 17 points. Captain Charley White paced the Wogs' scoring with 15 tallies.

The Wogs only defeat came in Arlington as they fell victims to an Arlington State varsity team, 72-66, during the holidays.

The freshmen were not defeated easily. They gained a 57-57 tie at the end of the game, forcing an overtime period. The Arlington State team could not outscore the Wogs in overtime play which ended at 63-all.

Arlington then turned on the steam and eased past the Wogs in the second overtime period to take the 72-66 victory. Charley White compiled 20 points, to pace the TCU five.

Another holiday victory was gained as they downed the SMU Colts, 72-57. Wogs Duncan and Brumley shared individual honors with 16 points each.

Business Foundation Income Tax Exempt

Dr. Ellis M. Sowell, Dean of the School of Business and Secretary of the Southwest Business Foundation, received notification this week that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States Treasury Department has exempted the Foundation from filing an income tax.

This exemption means that the Southwest Business Foundation will not have to pay income tax, and also, that contributions to the foundation will be deductible by the donors in computing their taxable net income, Dean Sowell stated.

The Southwest Business Foundation was incorporated last June under the laws of the State of Texas for educational and civic purposes which include the study, research, experimentation, training and instruction in business problems of the Southwest on this campus.

Voting Method Changed For Selecting Favorites

"Several innovations are being featured in this year's Presentation Ball and favorites election," reports Ellis Amburn, favorites co-editor of the 1952 Horned Frog and Fort Worth Sophomore.

"For instance, there will be a new method used in the selection of Mr. and Miss TCU," Amburn said.

Nominations for the favorites and Mr. and Miss TCU will open February 5th, and continue through February 12. The primary election will be held February 15th.

Candidates for favorites and candidates for Mr. and Miss TCU will be placed in separate positions on this ballot. A student may be a candidate for both honors.

Students will be permitted to vote for five boys and five girls in their own class in the February 15th favorites primary.

The five boys and five girls in each class who receive the largest number of votes in this primary will be presented the following Friday, February 22, at the formal Presentation Ball.

In the February 15th primary the names of the nominees, at large, for Mr. and Miss TCU, will be placed at the bottom of the favorites ballot. All students may vote for five boys and five girls for these two positions. The 10 highest boys and girls will also be presented, along with the candidates for favorites, at the ball.

Ballots will again be given to students as they enter the Casino, February 22, for the ball. The names of all the finalists, who are to be formally presented that night, in both the favorites and Mr. and Miss TCU elections, will appear on that ballot. Every student at the dance may vote for three boys and three girls in each class for favorites. Students will also vote for one boy and one girl for Mr. and Miss TCU, out of the 10 candidates for those positions.

"The names of Mr. & Miss TCU and the 24 favorites elected that night, will not be revealed until the distribution of the Yearbook later in the spring. There will be a full page picture of every favorite and Mr. and Miss TCU in the favorites section of the Yearbook," Amburn explained.

Mr. and Mrs. TCU will be selected from the three upper classes. Nominations for freshmen for the positions

Lt. Pressley Recovering From Colorado Crash

Marine 2nd Lt. B. K. Pressley, B.A. '51, spent his holidays in a Denver, Colo., hospital recovering from back injuries received in a Dec. 22 plane crash.

The officer was on his way to Fort Worth for a Christmas visit with his parents when the crash occurred in a Denver residential area.

Pressley was undergoing advanced officer training at Quantico, Va. He was called to active duty last September as a reservist.

will not be accepted. The only requirement, other than that, in both elections is merely to be nominated. No grade point standard in either election is required.

Last year and in previous years, no candidates were formally presented prior to the dance. Election was held at the dance.

Deadline Is Near On Applications For Transcripts

Students needing transcripts of credits at the end of the semester, either for employment or transfer to another school, are requested to come by the registrar's office immediately, S. W. Hutton said Tuesday.

To allow sufficient time for completing the needed transcripts, Hutton placed a January 15 deadline on applications.

"The transcripts may be sent out now, showing courses in progress, or prepared now but held until Fall grades are available," he said.

It was explained that special card forms are available in the registrar's office which are to be used by each instructor for reporting final grades before grade sheets are ready to be released at the end of the semester.

"By using these cards the student may receive a complete transcript much quicker than if he waited for the grades to be reported in the usual manner," he added.
