Dear Amon:

Your post card from Buenos Aires arrived here this morning.

You were the only one of the number of my alleged friends who apparently thought to send me any advertising matter.

I am sure you must have had a grand trip, and I hope the crowd appreciated that you were the Life of the Party.

I am going into the hospital for observation today and probably shall have an operation to follow. Will let you know when I get around again.

Yours truly,

Chas. H. Taylor
