Dear Mr. Carter:

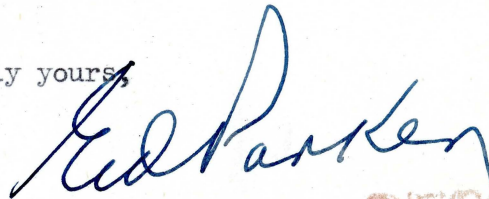

While I was on my vacation recently several packages of books came to my home which I had ordered from various sources through Miss Florence L. Shields of Tulsa, Oklahoma. When I returned I put them aside without even opening the packages and due to the rush of business did not open them until last night when I decided to take time out and do so.

Very much to my surprise and pleasure I found among these packages a special Texas edition of "Garner of Texas," which you sent me and I want to apologize sincerely for not having written you sooner. It was very kind of you to send me this book and I shall read and enjoy it with a lot of pleasure.

Mrs. Ollie Burnett saw it on my desk this morning and has already asked me to let her read it when I have finished with it, which I will be inclined to want to do since she is not in position financially to buy a copy of her own.

Please accept this late thank you with the sincerity with which it is sent and know that I do appreciate your friendship and all the kindnesses you have extended to me in years past.

Cordially yours,

E. G. Parker
