

Culp on Loose for Freaks

Carnival Side Shows, Feb. 11, to Feature Campus Oddities

"Ach, mine side show!" is the by-word of Miss Mary Lou Slay. She is in charge of the talent show at the carnival to be staged Feb. 11. Miss Lorna Culp who is in charge of the entire affair, says that she is having difficulty in finding jugglers, fortune tellers and other artists. She reports that, despite all the freaks she sees running loose around the campus, not one is eager to capitalize on his oddity.

"We simply must have some kids with rubber stomachs, six toes per foot or two heads per neck around here somewhere," she says. "I've got to have them. We must search diligently in every dresser drawer and find these fugitives."

The carnival, which is sponsored by the Frog War Fund committee and the proceeds from which go to the Fund, is to be held in the Basketball Gymnasium Friday, Feb. 11, from 8 till 11 p. m. The Navy men whose work is passing will be free at those hours and allowed to attend.

The Brushes Club will have charge of decorations and each campus club and organization has been asked to select a concession to sponsor. Braz Pryor has been "hired" as the barker.

Wire Reports Death Of George Hill, Ex '41

Capt. George Holman Hill, Jr., A. B. '41 died Jan. 6 according to a War Department telegram received by his parents.

He was in the Army Air Force in Alaska. Miss Elizabeth Ann Hill, senior, is his sister. No details are known. His family received a letter from him dated Jan. 4 which indicated that he was in good health at the time. A letter is forthcoming giving the details of his death.

George received his promotion to captain recently and was in line for a leave within a few months. He has been in the Alaskan region nearly two years.

C. A. A. Meeting To Be Held Here

Colleges and universities having aviation training in the area including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and western Louisiana, will hold a one-day meeting on the campus Jan. 22.

The meeting has been called by Dr. Cortell Holsapple, who is secretary of this region for the National Association of Colleges and Universities in Aviation Training. He is also on the executive committee of the national board of the association.

Army and Navy officials are expected to be here for the Saturday morning meetings, which will be held at 10 o'clock in the Club Room and McPherson Lecture Room of Brite College. C. A. A. officials from Washington will attend the Saturday afternoon meeting, at 2 o'clock, in the McPherson Lecture Room.

COACH AND CAPTAIN grin confidently as they discuss tomorrow night's game with the Baylor Bears. Zeke Chronister is Hub McQuillan's only letterman and the only member of last year's basketball squad. He will fire the team with plenty of pepper in the game if he holds true to form.

3 Judges to Pick Winners— Editor Urges Camera Fiends To Enter Snaps in Contest

Miss Bettye Flo Baker has named Frank Crow, Miss Mary Lou Slay and Miss Billie Jean Boney to act as judges in the 1944 Horned Frog snapshot contest which ends Feb. 1.

No entries have been submitted to date; however, a number of students have informed Miss Baker that their entries are in the development process and will soon be entered. Some pictures have been turned in for use in the snapshot section but were not submitted as contest entries.

The contest winner and a description of the picture which took the honor, will appear in The Skiff of Feb. 4. The contest was inaugurated for two reasons: To help solve the yearbook photographer's film troubles and to assure the editor of getting a cross section of campus life.

"The better your pictures and the more you turn in, the bigger and better your annual will be," says Editor Baker. "No box-tops, reasonable facsimiles or dimes need be enclosed, just a picture of your favorite enemy being trampled to death by a horse or your girlfriend courting some goof, that's all it takes!"

Jan. 20 Deadline Set For Returning Proofs

"Those students who have not returned their annual picture proofs, will be given six more days in which to do so. The photographer reserves the right to select the pose he wishes for any student who has not brought his proofs in by Wednesday," says Miss Bettye Flo Baker.

The post which the photographer selects is the one which will appear in the 1944 Horned Frog. Students are asked to return the proofs as soon as possible.

The Judge Roy Bean trial will be held at noon Friday. Friday night a melodrama and a musical, "Cowtown Cabaret," will be presented. Miss Barham will direct the Cabaret.

A barbecue, contests, and a dance are on Saturday's program. "We want to hold the barbecue outdoors," says Miss Barham, "and the dance will probably be in the Basketball Gymnasium."

"All the details have not been settled," says Miss Barham, "so the plans are still a bit vague."

Revision Body Takes Report

New Constitution to Be Ready for Student Council by Jan. 18, Says Brown

Some unforeseen difficulties, the student body committee in its revised state will be presented to the Student Council on Tuesday.

The constitution committee has met almost every afternoon this week in an attempt to work out the final document so that it may be approved and voted on by the student body and go into effect in February.

The constitution is not a new one but is merely the old one brought up to date and adjusted to the new schedule," says Jim Brown, chairman of the committee.

Miss Mary Louise Waldron has been acting as secretary of the committee and Jimmy Farrar as chairman. The other two members are Miss Nina Elliott and Miss Crutchfield.

Some students have taken suggestions to their Council representatives and these have been brought on to the constitution committee for consideration. Any student who has an idea as to a clause to be added to the constitution, or for the revision of an old one, is asked to submit that idea to his council representative.

The committee meets at 4:30 p. m. daily in Room 205, Administration Building. The student body is invited to attend.

Who's That Barking at My Door?

Man's best friend—they're all over the place. Perhaps it's because T. C. U. has the reputation of being a friendly school. At any rate, the canine population of the campus seems to increase daily.

Last year everybody knew the chubby little scotty that stayed around for months. Now there are dozens of dogs just staying around.

There's a scotty this year, too, only he's a smaller edition. And there's a homely little white dog with whom the scotty doesn't get along so well. There is a red cocker and a big white just-plain-dog.

A little brown mongrel, who looks as if there was dachshund in his ancestry, haunts the place. And who doesn't know "Gogoles," the lovable white hound with the two big black eyes?

The chows are the most exclusive of the stay-arounders. They're just plain snooty. Dr. Rav Lindley's black chow is one of the few dogs around here that ever remember that they belong to anybody. He rarely wanders away from Brite College. And he has the bearing of an aristocrat.

But few of the dogs are aristocrats. Most are shameless, lovable puppies who are conscious of no social rank in dogdom.

They come and go, are petted and teased. They wander into classrooms—and are usually thrown out. They wander into the Cafeteria—and get a hand-out.

Yes, everybody loves them.

The Time Is Now

Since two weeks before the Christmas holidays, The Skiff has made an earnest endeavor to impress upon students the vital governmental change which is taking place in the form of constitutional revision. For four previous issues the Skiff has strenuously urged student participation in drawing up the provisional document. Today the individual member in this institution receives his final appeal to present any ideas he may have to his representative for Tuesday at noon the constitutional committee will offer to the Student Council its proposals.

One week from today there will appear in this paper new suggestions which will soon be voted on by the student body. It will be for the electorate to decide the merits of the war-time constitution as such. Upon this decision will rest the future efficiency of student government at Texas Christian University.

Rather than suffer disappointment as a result of the inclusion or exclusion of certain ideas, the voter should consult his representative Tuesday following the Council meeting and ask for explanation of the issues. Let the student not feel sorry for himself because he was slighted; if such a thing occurs he can blame only himself for his indolence.

The "Little" Matter of Courtesy

"It's the little things that count," said some ancient and learned man, and he was quite right.

In years past, the columns of The Skiff always got around to printing a few editorials on the "little" matter of student courtesy—courtesy toward professors, courtesy toward campus institutions and traditions, courtesy toward fellow students. But little has been said on the subject of the courtesy of professors toward these same things.

Most university professors lead hard lives, with a major part of their time and effort devoted to their work. Probably they're sometimes out of sorts, for a Ph. D. degree doesn't make one any less human. But the heavy schedule and long hours is still no excuse for their sliding over the rules of collegiate courtesy.

To sit down on the bus and leave an old woman standing—to give vent to anger before classes without finding out for sure whether it's justified—to ignore salutations in the halls or on the sidewalks—all of these are just as much a discourtesy on the part of a professor as they are for a student.

The "little" matter of courtesy works both ways. A good example from professors might lead toward its better observation by students.

Moonlight Saving Time

Whoever called it daylight saving time made a mistake—at least for half the year.

It's really moonlight saving time! How else can Betty Coed account for the fact that she goes to 8 a. m. classes with the moon glaring down at the campus?

Moonlit mornings would be all right if it weren't for the weather. There is something about a sub-freezing temperature that takes the glamour out of the morning, moon or no moon.

In the summer, getting up an hour earlier doesn't get you any moonlight. The sun beats you up! And summer is when moonlight saving time might be appreciated.

Members Sit Up, Take Notice— 3 Visitors Bring Council 'Change From Straight Ham'

The three visitors to the Student Council meeting Tuesday brought a change from the straight ham, according to several of the members.

The first was Dr. Gayle Scott, who came on a mission of goodwill. He made the statement that "Civilization is made up of people with a certain amount of restraint." This snapped the Council members to attention, for it is evidently the first time they had been accused of being civilized, much less being such with any amount of restraint!

Dr. Scott wished to enlist the Council's co-operation in keeping the student body the good sport gang that it is. He wanted some assurance that students would not attempt to return any discourtesies which they might suffer at the hands of other student bodies when the Frog basketeers play other cagers.

"Of all the conference schools, ours shows the best conduct. We must emphasize that good conduct and let it be an example to others," Dr. Scott said.

The second visitor was Miss Barbara Bundock, who wished Council opinion on the yelling for the basketball game tomorrow night. She was advised to work up organized yells to get the students interested. She also presented a plan to have either the Horned Frog band or the Navy swing band on hand to help give the Frogs a little spirit in their first home conference game.

Dick Geib, the third visitor, made a suggestion concerning future dances. He asked if he might appoint a new dance committee and begin work immediately on the vice-versa dance. His plan was approved. He appointed Miss Mary Lou Slay on his committee and stated his intention of getting a civilian boy and Dr. Fred West to work with him and Miss Slay. The committee is subject to the approval of the Student Council. Prof. Charles Sherer reported that the judiciary committee had been appointed. Its members are Clyde Foltz, Bobby Wilson and Ben White. This committee acts as the jury which studies the constitution in cases of faulty interpretation and presents the Council a correct meaning of certain clauses which may be under discussion.

B. C. B. Students to Start Spring Work March 1

The graduate division of Brite College of the Bible will begin the spring trimester March 1 instead of March 6. A holiday will be given April 7 to 10 in order that students may be with their churches during Easter week. Nine pairs of students will conduct nine simultaneous youth revivals in the Christian churches of Houston during Easter.

Dorothy Thinks Forgotten Lunch Means Murder

Dorothy Bryant Montgomery believes that there is either one on the campus who is to murder her or someone unusually absent-minded.

For a long time before Christmas, Dorothy kept finding lousy lunch sacks in her car each day as she started home. Sometimes the lunch would be bottom of the car, sometimes the seat. And it didn't belong to any of the six other girls who go to school with her.

One day Dorothy decided to try one of the lunches. So she had a fine repast of meat and potatoes, pickles and cheese. The lunches appeared no more.

But this week it started. Dorothy found another meal awaiting her on the seat as she started home one noon.

Now she's skeptical. She says, "I think someone is trying to poison me."

Frogs to Try Hard to Win One Against Bears Tomorrow Night

West Is Lost to Squad, 3 Trainees Added---Baylor Has One Victory, T. C. U. None

The T. C. U. five will still be trying for its first victory tomorrow night when they meet the Baylor Bears in the Basketball Gymnasium. Game time will be at 8 p. m.

Both teams have played three games. Baylor has one victory in its three starts—that over the weak Aggies, 48 to 13. The Bears dropped their opening two games to Rice, 45 to 27, and Texas, 55 to 37.

T. C. U. received its third defeat Wednesday night, losing to S. M. U., 40 to 30. The Frogs were walloped by Arkansas in their opening games, 71 to 50, and 60 to 29.

Coach Hub McQuillan lost one of his starting five last week, when Eugene West was declared ineligible. He lacked the needed grade points to continue playing.

Helm Shows Promise
However, Hub has added three men from Jarvis Hall—Hicks, Helm and Radcliffe. All three of these men played in the S. M. U. game. Helm showed up especially well. His height is sorely needed.

The Bears, returning to intercollegiate athletics after laying out the football season, are coached by Van Sweet, Baylor captain of last season. Sweet, who graduated in June, succeeds Bill Henderson, now in the service.

Hicks Stars for Bears
Tall Marlin Hicks, center for Baylor, has been the main threat of Sweet's team. Frank Scott, Bob Worthy and Kelly Avery are other members of the Bear five who have led their team in its three games.

Hicks, because of his height, is especially good in getting rebounds. Avery is the best point maker for the Waco boys.

If the Frogs' defense can hold together for the whole game, the home boys may surprise the visitors. The Purple defense has come apart in the closing minutes of their previous games, to let their opponents run rough shod over them.

Mixed Doubles Start Next Week

A mixed doubles tennis tournament gets under way next week with six matches scheduled, weather permitting. The tournament, sponsored by the W. S. A. and intramural department, is under the direction of Miss Connie Green.

The matches are as follows: Persson-McKennon play Perry Ellis-Annelle Elliott; Bill Witte-Gene Green meet Stuart Erlan-Tallulah Linton; Hicks-Culp clash with Bobby Fisher-Myra Orin; Russell Vinson-Gwendolyn Barrow play M. C. Smith-Roxie Hart.

Wendell Towery-Frances Straus take on Spud Cason-Bobbie Turner; Richard Moore-Joleen Handman meet Lynn Adams-Red Tompkins. Paul Lacy-Maxine Cox and E. G. Brown-Fay Garner received first-round byes.

2 "Dog" Teams Lead Murals

Nimitz, Bulkeley Fives Have 2 Victories Each in Campus Basketball Play

The Intramural Basketball League ended its second week of play Wednesday night with the Nimitz Bird Dogs and the Bulkeley Sea Dogs tied for the lead, with two victories each. In a deadlock for third and fourth place are the Halsey and Goode Hall fives, with one victory and one loss. The Farragut and King teams bring up the rear, with no victories in two starts.

Monday, the Bird Dogs tackle the King's Deacons; Tuesday, the Farragut five plays the Goode Hall team; the Halsey team meets the Sea Dogs in the final encounter Wednesday. All games begin at 7 p. m.

In the opening games Jan. 5, the Bird Dogs edged out the Goode Hall five, 18 to 12, in the top fray of the evening. George Blackburn of the winners was the high scorer with nine points.

The Halsey five easily defeated the Farragut team, 37 to 18, and the Sea Dogs whipped the Deacons decisively, 38 to 14. Olin Brown was high man for the Sea Dogs, with 14 points.

Brown again led the Sea Dogs to victory Monday night, with eight points, as the Bulkeley five won, 26 to 17, over the Farragut cagers.

The Bird Dogs easily defeated the Halsey five Tuesday, with J. E. Woods hitting the basket from all angles, to tally 21 points as the Nimitz bunch won, 24 to 6.

In the final game Wednesday evening, the Goode Hall players annexed their first contest, with an easy 44-to-4 victory over the Deacons. Clyde Flowers led the winners, with six field goals for 12 points.

Clark Men Begin 'Club' to Eliminate 'Certain Words'

An Anti-Cuss Club has been organized in room 210 of Clark Hall with the avowed purpose of eliminating certain words (which for obvious reasons we do not print here) from the vocabulary of its members.

The list of words and phrases is posted on the wall. So far the list contains three very expressive phrases. Each week a new word or phrase is added "so as to break the members in gradually," as Bill Shieder, spokesman for the club, put it. No members of the club may use these words.

According to the rules of the club, any member who slips and uses one of these words is given a helping hand to raise him back up. The actual procedure is for all other members to pounce on the "sinner" and beat him until he manages somehow to touch the ceiling. Note to Lieut. Decker: Please don't make it a point to look at the ceiling for fingerprints during next inspection.

Speaker for Nurses Aid To Be at Brite Today

Miss Margaret Taylor, assistant public health consultant of the U. S. Public Health Service in Texas and New Mexico, will speak to all women students at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in Brite College Auditorium.

Miss Taylor will bring information concerning the United States Cadet Nurse Corps. There is an effort under way to recruit 65,000 student nurses this year for wartime replacements.

After her discussion of the opportunities for college women in nursing, Miss Taylor will hold conferences for those students who are interested in becoming cadet nurses.

Those girls who are members of W. S. A., will be given credit for one class attendance if they go to the lecture, according to Mrs. Helen Murphy.

SPORTS FORUM

By Richard Moore

Coach Hub McQuillen and his boys had nothing but praise for the Arkansas cagers when they returned home—that's after they could forget their trip back and remember what happened in the two games in the Ozarks.

The snow and icy roads caused "Hub," who was driving, to slide into the ditch four times, plus running into a parked bus. The T. C. U. basketballers love to play the game, but they are hoping they won't have to go through anything like that weather again.

In fact, if anyone has the blues, get one of the Frog players to tell you of the trip back, and you will split your sides laughing. Yes, it is funny now, but it wasn't quite so funny while it actually was happening.

However, back to the Arkansas chances at the title. "Hub" and the Purple players all believe they will be the team to beat in conference play.

The Frogs should have won the first game, if their defense had been up to par. Fifty points were scored by the cagers, and considering the brand of ball T. C. U. plays, easily should have been enough scoring to take the fray.

The Porker five this year is different from the former Razorback teams. As usual, this school has some efficient point makers and plenty of height—but they also have some fast boys who really make their fast breaking game dangerous. This fast break is what caused the frogs to tire in the latter part of the first game.

The poor Aggies, though, the poor little Kiddy Korps. Yes, the Aggies got off to a bad start and their team wasn't so hot—but these little boys, who are not dry behind the ears yet (they say), have about the out-cryngest sob reporter in Texas.

The greatest understatement of the year made about the Aggie-S. M. U. game recently was, "Only for the first five minutes of the first period did the little Aggie team stay even with the Mustangs, who towered over them like cornstalks in an oat field." The Arkansas players were not exactly midgets compared to the wee Frogs but there was no crying done about it.

After the final Razorback game, the Christians were wishing that Bill Flynt, the Baptist minister who scored a total of 47 points against them, had chosen the Christian ministry.

'Fair and Warmer' Conley Awaits Weather Changes

"Fair and warmer" hereafter will be the signal for Miss Janice Conley to tear her hair, as her temperature rises according to all scientific principles.

Last week she unknowingly swallowed a tasty combination of mercury and tomato juice, and has since been expecting a visual change with every change of the weather.

"I simply can't wait," she says, "for one of these record heat-waves in the summer when thermometers have even been known to break!"

Cage Season In Bad Start

Arkansas Takes 2, SMU 1 From Frogs—McQuillan's Men Weaken in 2nd Half

Fast finishes by Arkansas and S. M. U. proved to be the undoing of the Frogs in their first three encounters of the 1944 Southwest Conference basketball race. Arkansas defeated the Purple cagers easily, 71 to 50, and 60 to 29, Jan. 7 and 8 in Fayetteville.

Wednesday night, the S. M. U. five dropped T. C. U., 40 to 30, after the Frogs had pulled within four points of their taller opponents, only to lose out in the last 10 minutes of the game.

Frogs Get Early Lead

Only once did the Frogs lead in the S. M. U. fray. That was in the opening minutes when two field goals by Bruce Johnson put the Purple aggregation out in front, 4 to 2. Then the taller Mustangs began to get the range and scored 11 points before Capt. Zeke Chronister could tally for T. C. U., making the score, 11 to 6. S. M. U. led 24 to 19 at the half.

Four minutes of the second half were gone before a score was made, with Scott Ernest dropping a field goal in for the Mustangs. Here, however, Joe Wick, by himself, pulled the Frogs within four points, to make the score board read 26 to 22.

Arkansas Too Fast

But the Mustangs then pulled away from the Frogs, to win going away.

In the opening Arkansas battle, the Frogs were within two to four points of the tall hill boys until the fading minutes, as the fast breaking Razorbacks ran the Frogs down. Zeke Chronister led the Frogs in scoring in the first game, with 13 points. Wick was high man the second game, with eight points. Johnson led the Frogs, with 10 points, against S. M. U.

T. C. U.'s first conference basketball game at home and a Campus Club dance at the Elk's Club tomorrow night will make the Hill a pretty busy place this week-end. Plans are being made to have the Navy Swing Band play during times out at the game.

Late comers from the holidays were still wandering back into school this week. RUTH ANN KING, on her trip to Mexico, found a caballero who was hotter than any of the tamales down there. SNOOZY SMYTH finally got a plane reservation and got back to school a week and a day late.

OVER THE WEEK-END: DANNIE DANENBERG was all excited over a visit from THE LIEUTENANT. CHRIS HOLDER was having a pretty good time with a lieutenant, too. THE NAVY got LIBBY DUNCAN out to church Sunday morning. BILLIE HARP and MARGE ROBERTS and two lieutenants at the Den Saturday night.

JUST STUFF: MARGARET CULP is going in for all kinds of skating these days.

BOB MATHENY is having a hard time trying to decide whether it is ELIZABETH FAGUY-COTE or MAX HELEN PICKENS who is the most interesting. AVIS HADDEN comes forth with the claim that she is 21 and never has been kissed. I wonder—is she bragging or complaining??? MARGE ROBERTS, CAROLYN McCARTNEY, JEAN SMITH, MARTHA BRIGHT, BONNA MCKEE, FRANCIS JENKINS, JIMMY KING, MAX HELEN PICKENS, BILLIE HARP and NANCY MCKINNEY have a poor pastime of typing up telephone lines and blocking hall traffic.

GOOD-BYE BOYS: GEORGE GARTNER has gone to the Navy Hospital in Norman, Okla. WALTER HARRISON reports to Uncle Sam this week. Good luck, boys, and hurry back.

IT'S SO CONFUSING: JOE WICK asking CONNIE GREEN for a date... FRANK CROW and his girl friends... LORNA CULP and her wedding date... PAULINE SYNDER walks down the hall in Foster Saturday night and says she is on her way to be married.

IT'S SO AMUSING: It seems that someone is certainly crazy about HAROLD STEVENSON. He gets two AIR MAIL letters a day from Amarillo. MAURICE BRALLEY is really a swoon crooner. Those who knew him in Austin say the girls down there hollered for him just like they do for FRANKIE. Not so fast, girls, he's engaged. CAB GALLOWAY is a "little bitter" about BETTY CAMP.

Don't forget about the ball game tomorrow night and let those boys on the court know you are there.

Love Walks In, Five Secretaries Walk In and Out

A love affair is a wonderful thing, but somebody always gets a raw deal.

If you don't believe it, just ask Dr. T. Smith McCorkle, who Monday enjoyed (?) such a succession of secretaries in one day as the campus has never seen.

The reason for the flood of assistants was that Claude was in town. In case you don't know who Claude is—he's the lieutenant who put that diamond on Elaine Russell's finger Christmas.

Now Claude was in town, and Elaine, naturally, didn't want to work at her job as Dr. McCorkle's secretary on Claude's last day here. So some of her friends volunteered to help out.

The girls worked in shifts. Every time Dr. McCorkle walked into his office Monday, he had a different secretary. One hour it was Polly Gean. Then it was Margaret Horan or Margie Mae Luxa or Jean Duckworth. Jean Russell, Elaine's sister, took the afternoon "shift."

Dr. McCorkle managed to get through the day, although it must be admitted that his correspondence looked a little smudgy, his books and records were just a wee bit mussed up—and he was confused no end.

What? Chicago Again!—

"Six-and-Half-Hour" Journey Returns Snoozy Week Late

"Six and a half hours to Fort Worth—six and a half days, you mean," was the retort of Gladys "Snoozy" Smythe as she finally collapsed in her own room in Foster Hall, back from the holidays just one week late.

Snoozy had reservations on a plane leaving Chicago at 8 a. m. Tuesday, Jan. 4 and at 5:30 a. m. the Braniff Airlines called her home to inform her that all planes to the Southwest had been grounded and due to higher priorities she couldn't get a flight out until Friday. A blizzard on Friday squelched her hopes for a week-end in Fort Worth and she was scheduled to take the 12:30 plane out to Dallas on Saturday.

Prompt as always these days, the plane arrived at 4:30 p. m. After the third round of tearful goodbyes Snoozy boarded the plane and settled down for those six hours to Fort Worth. Outside Kansas City, two and a half hours later, the captain of the plane was informed he couldn't land because of the weather. They didn't have enough gas to go on so they headed the big airliner back to Chicago.

Over the Municipal Airport there, the pilot told the control tower operator to turn on the lights on the field; that he was bringing his ship in. From the sky above, the ground was completely blacked out, despite the field lights which the operator insisted were on. Fog had drifted in and they were warned not to tempt a landing. The pilot, aware of his fuel shortage, circled the field warily and began to drop. The engines coughed and died, the plane glided in on instruments.

The passengers consisting of Army personnel, Snoozy, scared and shaky on knees, loosed their safety belts, clambered out onto solid ground.

Snoozy called her astounded father to let him know she was getting anywhere at all in traveling by air. It was by agreement of Snoozy, her father and no doubt, Braniff Airlines who by this time probably had Snoozy is jinxed, that she boarded a nice safe, if slow, plane and arrived 27 hours later in Fort Worth.

Just a quiet six hour journey. Oh yeah!
