Dear Mr. Carter;-

I see the Airport opening is about due.

I remember many times that I was on your invitation list when aviation celebrities came to town, when your hand was guiding aviation in it's early days when no one else could see the possibilities.

Fort Worth is lucky that it had some one like you to believe enough in it to put all you put into it, when the days were all spending and no returns.

Aviation has made Fort Worth and without aviation all these plants, that has sprung up in the past few years would be somewhere else, and now

The greatest blessing of all will be that opening of the airport that now is full of criticism but in ten years will tell all the world of it's wonderful terminal. I picture it like a busy bee-hive in the not too distant future.

Surely you should feel proud of that attainment, and I feel proud too just like if I had a hand in it, because of the memories of the past.

Very truly yours
