TCU/TC CAMPAIGN EXCEEDS GOAL FOR 8TH YEAR

A total of $1,351,644 raised during the 1985 TCU/Tarrant County campaign exceeds the hoped-for goal for the eighth consecutive year of the annual fund drive. The over-the-top figure raised during the six-week effort was announced by Martin C. Bowen, executive vice president of Texas American Bank/Fort Worth who chaired this fall's campaign, at a Dec. 10 gathering of fund-raising volunteers.

A goal of $1,339,785 had been set for the 1985 TCU/TC drive, a part of the University's overall budget-supporting total of $3.1 million for this year's Annual Fund, according to Bowen. The goal was the highest in the eight-year history of the campaign.

"Gifts are like ballots," Bowen said in announcing the campaign's successful completion. "The ballots have been cast in a record total that clearly shows that the citizens of Tarrant County--whether they be alumni, parents or corporate leaders--approve of the direction this University is taking and of the strength of its leadership."

Bowen also called attention to the campaign leadership. "We set out to build the best team ever for a TCU/Tarrant County drive, and we began with the logical leaders--TCU trustees."

The campaign's four major divisions were led by members of the University's board. "When your first four persons are of their stature, you know you will have a winning team," said Bowen, who noted that the managers built a group of 500 volunteers "who covered Tarrant County from boundary to boundary."

The trustee managers included Robert R. Lowdon, chairman of the board of Stafford-Lowdon Company who led the business and industry group; Charles B. Moncrief, independent oil producer, alumni group; William L. Adams, president and chief operating officer of Champlin Petroleum company, parents and friends group; and John S. Justin Jr., board chairman of Justin Industries, special gifts group.

Two student leaders were recognized by Bowen. They were Andy Deufel of Chesterfield, MO, head of the senior giving committee that has raised more than $7,000 in its ongoing campaign, and Joe Jordan, junior from Baytown whose Good Neighbor Division solicited all the small businesses in the TCU area.

"The pride and love these student groups have for the University and their sense of commitment to it have been an inspiration to us all," Bowen said.

A response to Bowen's victory report was made by Bill Tucker, who assisted Bowen in the presentation of plaques to group and division managers.

TCU's initial campaign in Tarrant County was held in 1978 with a goal of $650,000 and a total of $719,786. Total gifts reached $829,586 in 1979. The 1980 goal of $850,000 was exceeded by more than $40,000 and the $1 million goal in 1981 by $18,997. In 1982 the goal of $1,118,000 was exceeded by $19,317, and the 1983 total of $1,190,212 was $12,129 over the goal. The 1984 anticipated goal of $1,246,760 was exceeded by $39,094.

KROC GOING OFF THE AIR

KROC, the AM campus radio station operated by students in the radio-television-film department, will cease operations at the end of this semester, according to Joel Persky (RTVF). In the last two years, students have sustained the cost of the operation through advertising revenues, he said.

The primary cost of operation is the expense of the phone lines, which recently tripled. Since the students will not be able to cover the cost, the department has voted to suspend operation until other arrangements can be made.

KROC's area of coverage extended only on campus. This decision will not affect the operation of KTCU-FM, which is a non-commercial station.

As a result of the increase in salary base and tax rate the maximum Social Security tax paid by employees will rise by $211.20 to a maximum of $3,003 annually, according to controller Larry Calloway.

Persons with questions concerning their individual tax problems should contact Larry at Ext. 7834.

ARMY SCHOLARSHIPS INCREASE TO 42 THIS YEAR

The number of students receiving Army ROTC scholarships increased from 27 last year to 42 this year. Texas A&M is the only Texas school with more scholarships, said Lt. Col. Bruce Stacy, head of Army ROTC. TCU leads the state in the number of nursing students on scholarship.

A total 152 students enrolled in Army ROTC courses for the fall semester. For 30 percent of the enrolled students to be granted scholarships is a reflection of the high quality of TCU cadets, Bruce said. Last summer 80 percent of this year's seniors ranked in the upper third of their platoons at Advanced Camp in Fort Riley, KS, and their first three lieutenants commissioned from TCU last May were in the top 20 percent of their Officer Basic Courses, classes largely filled with West Point graduates.

Approximately half the students enrolled in Army ROTC courses are female, and many of the students are members of social sororities and fraternities, Bruce said.

The two most recent recipients are Donald Harbour, a sophomore political science major, and George Renfro, a business major at Tarrant County Junior College who will transfer to TCU in the spring. The three-year scholarships, approved this month, are retroactive to the start of the semester.

TCU IN THE NEWS

ABC's "20/20" segment featuring JIM WACKER tentatively is scheduled to air Thursday on Channel 8. Shot several weeks ago, the show was pegged for a December air date.

The wisdom of an individual being his/her own representative in legal matters was the subject of a Star-Telegram story on Nov. 18. Quoted was political scientist DON JACKSON, who noted that "a layman simply does not know the tactics of what to say when."

"Out of Bounds: The TCU case and ethics in college athletics" was the title of the lengthy feature story that appeared in the Nov. 24 issue of the Dallas Times-Herald's Dallas City magazine. In addition to players and JIM WACKER, the article quoted SPENCER WERTZ (philosophy), who teaches a course on "Thinking About Sports," at length. The story was complemented with a color photo of Spencer.

FERNANDO SCHAFFENBURG danced the role of the eccentric Herr Drosselmeyer in the Richardson Ballet Company's "The Nutcracker" Saturday and Sunday. Nancy Schaffenburg-Cross, artistic director of the company, based her choreography on Fernando's original choreography created for the Fort Worth Ballet in 1969 and danced by that company until 1980. Dallas Ballet artists who also were guests for the Richardson production included Gregory Schramel and Sheila Applewhite.

One of two persons featured in the High Profile section of the Nov. 24 Dallas Morning News was alumna VICKY VINSON, who completed the B.A. in art history in 1978. She is coordinator of the Dallas Museum of Art's project involving the new Wendy and Emery Reeves Collection and is a curatorial assistant at the museum.

"'Little Women' survives test of time" was the Dallas News' headline on the story about Louisa May Alcott, her best-known work and what it says to children of our time. Regardless of the reader's age, the book -- like others of that author's works -- has a timeless message of interest, according to English chairman FRED ERISMAN, who is a children's literature specialist.

"The championship season of Lillian Wacker" was the page-wide headline on the Page 1 feature of the Nov. 21 Star-Telegram. The lengthy feature by Katie Sherrod detailed LIL's supportive role of husband/coach JIM WACKER.

On Nov. 26 Jim was one of two interview subjects on ABC's "Good Morning America" segment dealing with athletic integrity. The Notre Dame basketball coach, the other participant, suggested that Jim should be named "Sportsman of the Year" for his actions this fall.

LaLONNIE LEHMAN (theatre) is costume designer for "Gemini," playing through Jan. 5 at the New Arts Theater in Dallas. A Star-Telegram reviewer wrote that she chose "appropriate, and often hilarious, outfits to enhance the comedy."

MORE TCU IN THE NEWS

"Muppies chased on Madison Avenue," a story about the purchasing power of over 55 Americans, was the headline on the Star-Telegram's Dec. 3 story that quoted CHARLES LAMB (marketing). These Mature Upscale Post-Professionals (Muppies) are the fastest-growing market segment, representing 48.2 million in the U.S. According to Charles, they are a "tremendously important new market segment" with the advantage of more than four decades of relatively stable economic growth.

The plight of the world's hunger and solutions to the problem were the focus of the recent observance of Hunger Week on campus. The week's banquet was featured on a WFAA-TV news report on Nov. 20, and appearing on camera were senior LARRY GRUMMER and ANDY FORT (religion-studies), who coordinated the week. Two photos complemented the lengthy story about the banquet that appeared Nov. 21 in the Star-Telegram.

Photos of three area school superintendents were used along with the feature article on the School of Education-sponsored Superintendent's Council that appeared Nov. 20-21 in the Star-Telegram's EXTRA. The unique program that includes top administrators from 15 small school districts in the area is coordinated by CHERIE LOHR (education), who was quoted in the story.

The availability of financial aid to offset college costs was the topic discussed by HERB BRUBAKER (financial aid) in the KXAS-TV story that aired Dec. 9.

The Star-Telegram's Southwest Extra section on Dec. 4-5 featured the story of 13-year-old Courtney Zawadzke and her ballet teacher, FERNANDO SCHAFFENBURG, both of whom starred in the Richardson Ballet Company's production of "The Nutcracker."

The Dec. 8 issue of the Dallas Morning News carried a two-page spread in the sports section on FROG football...reflecting on the 1985 and its problems and pointing toward recruiting in 1986. Written by David McNabb, the central feature was entitled "Jim Wacker is hoping for an about-face after his program faces the NCAA music."

"Scholarship hunt requires caution" was the headline on the story about commercial financial aid services that appeared Dec. 9 in the Star-Telegram. Quoted in the article was LEO MUNSON (financial aid), who said that he wasn't "so sure they do a service...but we've only heard from people who were dissatisfied."

"'Messiah' impressive at TCU" was the headline on the Star-Telegram's Dec. 9 review of the TCU Choral Union's presentation of the traditional "Christmas" section of Handel's work. Noted in particular were conductor RON SHIREY and music chairman PETER HODGSON, who performed on the harpsichord.
