

Radio Station To Choose Miss St. Pat

An Irish colleen by birth, choice or desire will become winner of KTCU's "St. Patrick's Day Contest." She will represent the University radio station on campus and in classes March 16.

"Miss St. Patrick's Day" will receive gifts including a Cadillac for the day, lunch at El Chico, cologne, candy and a record album, "Subways Are For Sleeping."

Finalists Chosen

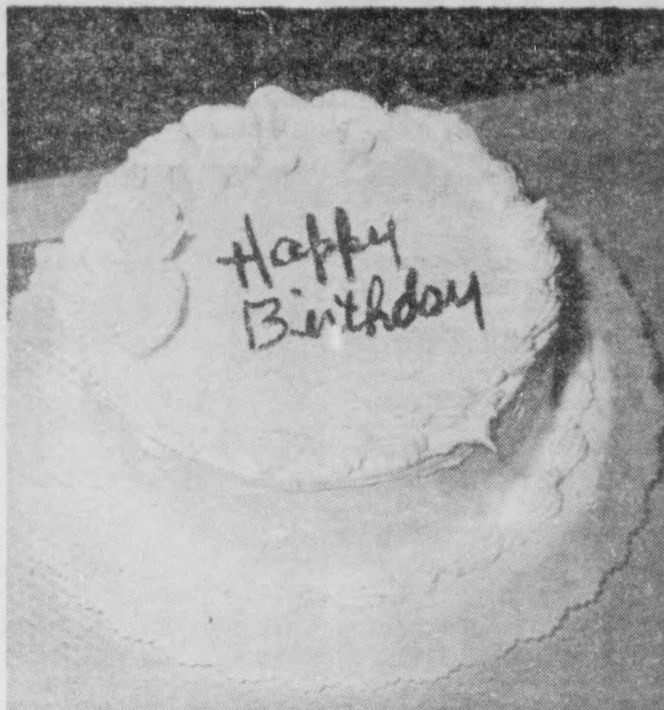

The five finalists will be chosen at preliminary judging March 12, by the KTCU staff under the supervision of Dr. William Hawes, director of the radio-TV-film department.

Final judging will be held at the Patricia Stevens Finishing School, March 13. Contestants will be judged on personality, poise and appearance.

Candidates Unmarried

To qualify for the contest, a candidate should be an unmarried TCU student. Each submitted a black and white 5x7 photo and a background sheet to Sally Foeller, publicity director, KTCU. The sheet contained the contestant's name, age, hometown, classification, major, height, weight and color of eyes.

All photos and information become the property of KTCU.

This cake, compliments of Bluebonnet Bakery, is designed to celebrate the Student Center's seventh birthday.

"Flapper Fun Days" is the theme of the week-long occasion planned by the special events committee.

Everything from free coffee (9-10 a.m. Monday) to a dance at 9 Friday night will be featured.

The first annual pool tournament will be played at 3:30 p.m. Monday followed at 7 p.m. by a bingo party.

A variety show with dixieland band will appear at 7 p.m. Thursday and Barton Hunter will speak on money and Christianity Wednesday.

Congress Finalizes Agenda for Human Relations Seminar

BY BUCK STEWART

Student Congress began Tuesday making final plans for a Human Relations Seminar set for March 31.

The seminar will feature lectures and discussions on race prejudices and discrimination.

Ken Nunnally, Brite College representative and chairman of Congress' human relations committee, reported at last week's meeting that the seminar is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom.

Registration Set

He said attendance is open to presidents of campus organizations plus three additional representatives from each group. Organizations must register their representatives before March 27.

During the Congress meeting, Nunnally distributed mimeographed data sheets stating some procedures of the seminar and hailing it as a "major breakthrough" in expressing student concern over vital issues.

Students Discuss

Nunnally explained that the seminar will revolve around student discussions led by adult leaders. The leaders will be local Jewish rabbis, Negro leaders and Catholic priests. Their function, according to Nunnally, will be to serve as "discussion starters and resource persons."

"We haven't arranged for our main speaker yet," said Nunnally. But he added, "It's not our prime concern to get one big speaker, since the real importance of the seminar lies in the small group discussions."

Nunnally urged students attending the seminar to feel free to raise "any and all" questions and suggestions they have concerning discrimination or prejudice.

Connally Group Elects President

John Hornburg, Fort Worth junior, was elected president at the first meeting of the John Connally for Governor Club, Thursday.

Carroll Abbott, Connally campaign manager from Kerrville, spoke on campaign activities.

Other officers are Mike Slack, Fort Worth freshman, first vice president; Bryan Poff, Fort Worth junior, second vice president; Kenneth Barr, Fort Worth sophomore, treasurer and Caroline DeWolfe, Fort Worth freshman, secretary.

A reporter and regular meeting date will be chosen later.

Next meeting will include the showing of a film of the statewide rally at Foresville.

Board Promotes 24; Grants Staff Tenure

Among the items approved recently by the Board of Trustees at their spring meeting was a large number of promotions and changes in the tenure status of staff and faculty members.

Upon the recommendation of Chancellor M. E. Sadler, Business Manager L. C. White was promoted to vice chancellor for fiscal affairs.

Dr. Sadler said that White's new duties will be to continue to guide the whole fiscal program, including investments, budget making, and planning.

Dr. Landon Colquitt, member of the mathematics faculty since 1948, was promoted to chairman of the department. Charles A. Sherer, who has headed the department since 1928, will remain on the staff as a full professor.

Administrative workers approved for permanent tenure by Dr. Sadler are Logan Ware, director of student financial aid; JoAnn James, dean of women; James Lehman, assistant director of public relations; Harold Atkins, business office manager; Elmer Brown, athletic trainer; Elizabeth Youngblood, student social director; James Jacobsen, director of bands; and Jewell Wallace, dean of men.

Upon the recommendation of President D. Ray Lindley, permanent tenure was awarded to Daniel Jarvis, Drs. W. H. Watson, Ann Gossman, Ben Proctor, George Reeves, Wayne Rowland, Malcolm Arnoult, Winton Manning, Paul Wassenich, Floyd Leggett, Cecil Jarman, James Whitsett, Maybelle Tinkle, Jeff Horn, Clotilda Winter, and Wayne Braden.

Promoted to full professorships were Drs. Lyle H. Kendall, Allan H. MacLaine, Ben T. Goldbeck, Malcolm Arnoult, Jeff Horn and Karl Richards.

Named associate professors were Drs. Jim W. Corder, Earl Gardner, Neil Hulings, Daniel Jarvis, Arthur Ehlmann, John W. Smith, Leo Baggerly, Ben Proctor, George Reeves, Robert Martin, Gene Lynch and Glenn Routt.

Promoted to assistant professor were Keith Odom, Elvira Harris, Gustavs Jurevics and Harold Andrews.

Are TCU coeds smarter than men students?

Of the 70 full-time undergraduate students who achieved a 4.0 scholastic average for the past semester, 42 were women and 28 were men.

Seniors tend to be above their fellow students in grade average as well as in classification. They made 33 of the 4.0 averages, while freshmen made 14, sophomores, 8 and juniors, 15.

Men Awaken Coeds

Workmen Install Private Phone Lines in Dormitories

Coeds were awakened last week by the sound of men. They were installing telephone lines in the dormitories.

The lines are part of the new private phone system designed to ease the overworked system now in operation.

Under the new set-up, students may have private phones installed in their rooms at the standard single rate for the city.

Pay Company

Phone bills, $5.50 a month plus tax and labor charges, will be paid to the phone company, not as part of room rent. Most roommates will split the cost of a telephone, but no party lines will be installed.

Vice Chancellor L. C. White estimates that 70-80 per cent of the University's 2,200 dormitory students will want a phone in their room. However, all rooms are being wired for telephone installation.

Work Progresses

"Work is progressing well," according to White. He "presumes that private lines will be ready by summer school."

"I assure the students that Dean Smith (Laurence Smith, dean of students) and I will work out details immediately so students may get phones as soon as they are available."

"A great deal of work must be done off campus with the Walnut exchange," he explained.

Permission Granted

The administration granted permission last week for the telephone company to set up a temporary aluminum building behind the practice gym, White said.

Private lines in dormitory rooms are restricted under University rules. The order will be repealed, however, when the new system is installed.

8 University Students Gain 'Miss Fort Worth' Finals

Three to one . . . that's how chances now stand for a TCU girl being named Miss Fort Worth.

Eight of the twelve finalists selected in the contest are University coeds. They were chosen by Junior Chamber of Commerce members in auditions last weekend. Miss Fort Worth will be chosen March 31.

The TCU finalists and their talents include:

Maxine Hutka, Corpus Christi senior, fashion design; Barbara Harrell, Fort Worth freshman, singing; Gunilla Hutton-Miller, Fort Worth freshman, singing; Helen Joyce Wheeler, Odessa freshman, dancing.

Also Patricia Bray, junior from Huston, singing; Clara Jo Masengale, Fort Worth sophomore, singing; Janet Curby, Dallas sophomore, pianist; and Bettie Anne Farmer, junior from West Columbia, dancing.

The four other finalists were from Arlington Heights and Poly High School.

Deeter To Speak To Parabola Club

Charles Deeter, instructor in the math department will speak at the monthly meeting of Parabola Club tonight at 8:30 in Reed Hall, room 104.

"Geometry, not Plane, but Fancy" is the topic. The program concerns a finite geometry which is non-Euclidian, according to Deeter.

Anyone interested is welcome.

Four Remain in Glamour's Best-Dressed Contest Finals

The Skiff has elected the TCU finalists in the Best Dressed College Girls contest sponsored by Glamour magazine.

They are Peggy Thornton, Fort Worth freshman; Kay Campbell, Troy, Mo. sophomore; Shelia Steele, Houston sophomore; and Pam Smith, Austin sophomore.

The women were selected by a board of Skiff personnel and Ruth Ann Kindiger, director of Information Services here.

The coeds were chosen on the basis of posture, grooming, taste in clothes and general appearance.

The winner will be announced Friday.

The Skiff will send to Glamour magazine photographs of "TCU's Best Dressed Coed" along with personal information concerning her interests and collegiate record.

From the more than 100 college and university winners, Glamour will select the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America."

They will be photographed in the spring for the annual August College Issue and will be flown to New York in June as guests of the magazine.

During their visit, the coeds will see a fashion show at Carnegie Hall and will meet more than 1,000 members of the fashion industry.

Glamour treats the coeds to dinner, dancing, gifts of perfume and clothing and Broadway shows.

Coeds nominated for TCU's Best Dressed were Sally Foeller, KTCU; Joan Hopkins, Lambda Chi Alpha; Vicki Adams, Pi Beta Phi; and Sara Jo Price, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Other nominees were Rene Monday, Delta Delta Delta; Lucy Goodpasture, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carolyn Farrington, Young Democrats; Ruth Guy, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Carolyn Sweatt, Kappa Delta.

Also nominated were Annabell Orr, Sherley Hall; and Ann Mackey, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Finalist Peggy Thornton was a runner-up for Miss Fort Worth of 1961.

A secondary education major, she plans to teach English.

The dark-haired Chi Omega nominee says, "I just like to wear pretty clothes. I'm not very athletic, but I love sports."

She plays the piano, dances and sings.

Miss Thornton has two brothers — one who is 6, the other, 20. The younger one says something funny at least once a day," she says.

Corps-Dettes nominated Kay Campbell for Best Dressed.

From Troy, Mo., she came to TCU because, "You just always hear about how big and great Texas is, so I had to come."

She enjoys traveling by any mode, but especially by horse. Her favorites are Tennessee walkers.

The marketing major plans to become a buyer in a department store.

Pam Smith, nominated by Alpha Delta Pi, is a transfer

You have not fulfilled every duty, unless you have fulfilled that of being pleasant. — Charles Buxton from Texas. And she doesn't want to go back. "I love TCU," she beams.

The hazel-eyed blonde enjoys traveling. Her favorite jaunt was last summer when she and her father, governor's traffic safety co-ordinator for Texas, took a two-week trip to Maine. They visited 25 states in 96 hours.

Goin' fishing. Shelia Steele takes pole in hand to try out her favorite pastime — fishing. The Houston coed often puts on her most comfortable clothes and leaves home early in the morning to spend the day by a familiar creek reeling in the trout.

Miss Smith plans to visit Hawaii this summer.

Shelia Steele enjoys fishing. During the summer, she puts on "just any ole thing," grabs a fishing pole and spends the day reeling 'em in.

"I can't bear to keep the little things," she admits. "So I usually throw them back."

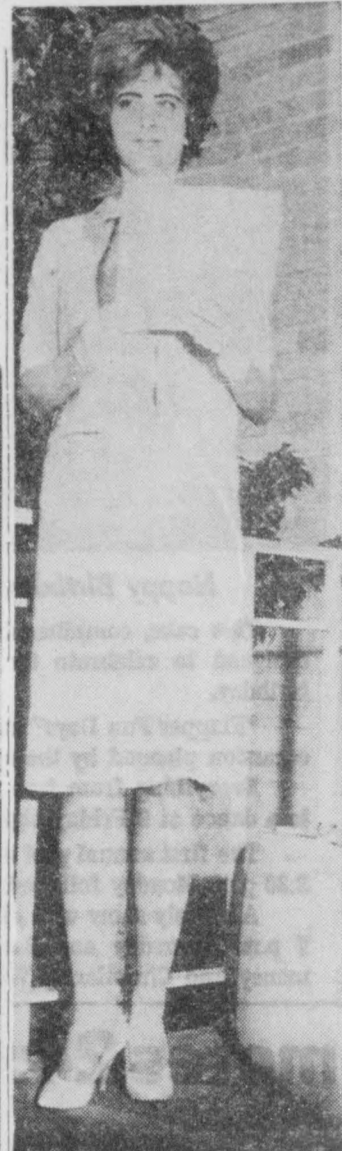

Born in Newfoundland, she plans to visit Ireland this summer.

Miss Steele has a 15-year-old brother. "We appreciate each other more now than ever before. He's growing up — but then I am too."

Bryon, Shelley and Keats. Peggy Thornton, who plans to teach English in high school, practices her teaching methods. The dark haired freshman hails from Fort Worth.

The former art major, now undeclared, was nominated by Delta Gamma.

Kay Campbell stands at the door to church. The Corps-Dette nominee for Best Dressed Coed likes horses, but also enjoys feminine things like dressing up. (Photos by Jerald Floyd.)

BSU To Install Executive Council

The new executive council of the Baptist Student Union will be installed March 25, during the evening service at Travis Avenue Baptist Church.

The council members will assume their duties April 1, and will serve for one year.

Program Failed Four Attempts

Honor Life in Men's Dorms Given Epitaph for This Year

BY BUCK STEWART

Ill-fated efforts to initiate Honor Life in the men's dormitories, which in four years have failed to move the program past the launching stages, received an unofficial epitaph for the year at Student Congress meeting Tuesday.

The final word came from Dwight Lindsley, Congress' new Honor Life committee chairman. Lindsley rose early in the meeting to make a routine committee report but instead launched a carefully-worded wrap-up of the programs' current plight.

Planned to Resign

"I was pressed for time when I took over the committee and felt I couldn't devote enough effort to Honor Life, so I decided to resign," Lindsley told Congress. "But one of the other members of the committee urged me not to. He said there just isn't that much to do."

"Then I began to investigate, and realized how little information we had to work with," he said. Then he told the group, "Don't expect any organization from the committee for the rest of the year. The best we can hope for is to do some constructive planning for next year."

Lindsley, who is head monitor in Tom Brown Dormitory, cited the attitudes of men students toward Honor Life as an indication of its progress in the dorms. "When you mention it to most of them, they simply refuse to discuss it," he said bluntly.

"There has been a serious misconception of duties in the Honor Life program ever since it was revived in 1957," Lindsley continued. "Now, just as then, the lack of research and failure to bring the ideals to a practical level has kept the program from advancing."

Need Funds

Lack of money, he added, is another handicap for the program. "I even resorted to a little mild extortion to raise funds for Tom Brown's dorm council," Lindsley admitted. "I told the boys if they wanted an A plus on room inspection one week that they could donate a quarter to buy jerseys for our basketball team."

"Of course they weren't actually forced to donate," he grinned. "But most of them knew what the money was for and were willing to give."

"It was the feeling of having a common goal that made them want to give," Lindsley said. "No one mentioned Honor Life—all they cared about was that it was their dorm's team."

Women Speak Up

Several of the women members of Congress bristled at Lindsley's remarks, pointing out that Honor Life had achieved considerable success in the women's dorms. (A Presidents Council in the women's dorms has established rules for minor disciplinary cases. Under certain conditions, the council acts as an appeal board.)

Lindsley said he would grant that more progress had been made in the women's dorms but claimed that the men's dorms have "a different structure."

Asked what specific plans he had for Honor Life, Lindsley replied that he would gather information about successful honor systems in other schools and collect suggestions for the TCU program.

Ken Fulkerson, assistant dean of men, and originator of the dorm councils, spoke up to offer his views on the program. "Lack of organization has hurt the program all right," he agreed. "The ideas have all been good but they weren't put forth well enough."

"The dorm councils were originally intended for discussion of problems," Fulkerson commented later. "Honor life would fit in well, but hasn't so far."

Professor Comments

The lively discussion that followed Lindsley's report was joined in by many Congress members, but it was Dr. John Everett, the group's faculty sponsor, who was given the last word.

Dr. Everett, who rarely speaks during the meetings, defined Honor Life as "moral integrity."

He said such a system was the "basis of a free society" and insisted that Honor Life wouldn't involve a "policing" of students as feared by some.

Dr. Everett went on to cite group identification as the key factor in the program's success or failure. "A student's ultimate identification must be with his school, not a smaller club or organization," he urged.

The associate professor of government said the purpose of any such "tightening of standards" involved in an honor program was solely for the students' benefit, then added a sober warning: "If Honor Life doesn't go over we will have failed in our educational job."

Clinic To Show Teaching Methods

The University Speech Clinic will demonstrate teaching methods to the Paschal High School Future Teachers of America Tuesday.

Speech majors will show auditory training, speech reading and speech and language development with children from the pre-school nursery deaf and language development groups.

Toys and noisemakers will be used as aids.

Dr. Dorothy Bell, clinic director, will address the Paschal group.

The clinic performed hearing tests last week for the State Department of Health, using new soundproof testing rooms and testing equipment.

Dr. Bell conducted tests on speech department students as well as the deaf.

Until the new equipment and rooms were acquired, it was necessary to send all those being tested to Dallas.

There's No Cause To Bicker

BY LYNN SWANN

What's all this Greek versus independent nonsense? In the beginning, all were independent. When a jeweled pin is placed on a student's shirt, it doesn't change his family background, his father's income, his genes — any of the things that mold a person's basic personality.

Joe Doe Greek once was John Doe Independent.

The article entitled "Greeks Hold High Ideals" which appeared in the March 2 Skiff was not written to condemn independent students. Nowhere in it was any implication that one faction is better than the other.

Greeks Lambasted

Don Buckman's comment which followed, in the Cynic, March 6, however, seemed to lambast the Greek system and its adversaries.

There has been little friction between Greeks and independents on campus.

This is due to the fact that sorority and fraternity members live in dormitories with independents. The Activities Council, religious organizations and interest groups provide a common ground for both groups.

Many Greek organizations plan social activities with independents in an effort to seal any gap which might exist between the groups.

Buckman Proud

Mr. Buckman, as an independent, is proud of his position. I, as a Greek, am proud of mine.

Advocates of the Greek system can point to many reasons for joining a sorority or fraternity.

And those who criticize the Greek system can find valid grounds for their complaints.

No doubt about it, there are good and bad points about each position.

A former sorority president who spent several months of her college career as an independent, put it this way: "I enjoyed being out of a sorority; I enjoy being in one. I chose to become a Greek because that's what I wanted. It's as simple as that."

There are no grounds for petty bickering. Students should respect their classmates—Greek or independent — for what they are as individuals.

Letters

Speaks for System

Dear Mr. Buckman:

With all due respect for your writing ability and position with The Skiff, I would like to say that in my opinion and the opinion of the Greeks I have talked to, your article in a recent Skiff was not only unfair but also unjustified. I think if you will investigate the situations involved that you will discover that the Greeks on this campus are doing a much better job of accepting their scholarship and citizenship responsibilities than are the independents.

Since almost all of the class officers, cheerleaders, and organization heads on this campus are Greeks and since the Greek grade average is higher than the independent average, I don't see what you are using for a basis for your article.

The basis for the Greek system is one of creating a feeling of brotherhood and sisterhood among the students and if anyone doesn't want to take advantage of this opportunity they certainly are not going to be criticized by the Greeks; but we do not expect to be criticized unjustly for the decision we made either.

Since you, Mr. Buckman, are not a member of a fraternity and therefore have had no experience coping with fraternity business, I feel that you have severely criticized something you know absolutely nothing about. It is my sincere wish that you decline from doing this in the future.

Applauds Faithful Four

Dear Editor,

I have one comment against the letter for more cheers: it was unfair to the cheerleaders as a group. Granted, the attack was not fierce enough for the three boys who never trouble themselves to appear at the games — let alone to yell — but the direction toward the faithful four who always come and the one who has a night class and cannot come is cynical and thoughtless. What is more, were I one of the four faithful ones, I doubt that I would stand in front of a dumb, mute crowd of 25 or so and yell and gesticulate for their scorn.

I agree that some of the cheerleaders have not done all that could be done, but say "Hats off!" to those who go to every game and get up at 6:30 a.m. to hang congratulation signs in the Froggie dining hall. All in all, I say the performance of the cheerleaders has been far superior to the spirit with which they have been asked to work.

If the three ever-absent ones have legitimate excuses for missing, my apologies.

Calls Editorial Biased

Dear Editor:

I cannot believe that you can be so misleading in your recent editorial of March 2. I think that it is a gross misfortune for you to expose your profound erudition to the student body concerning Greek organizations.

I suppose that we should all pause and thank the Creator for the gracious benevolence of the Greek organizations. You say that they are interested in scholarships? You went so far as to cite factual grade-point averages. Why didn't you and your prodigies of wisdom cite how many pledges failed to make their grades last semester? Perhaps that would be of too much embarrassment to both your comprehension and to the sanctimonious Greek organizations.

Please try to improve upon the facts before you advance any more biased editorials.

Vincent John Moses

Greek Chides Columnist

Dear Editor:

After reading the Cynic's article "About the Greeks," I re-read "Greeks Hold High Ideals" hoping to find a basis for his biased column. I must commend him for one thing—his ability to interpret statements to suit his objective is wonderful.

However, may I add that whatever his objective was—unless his column was strictly a space filler—he defeated his point by saying, "It is not our purpose here to knock the Greeks."

I have no right or desire to knock independents. I know nothing about their extra-curricular activities so I hesitate to criticize them. However, Mr. Buckman, who confesses not to know the Greek alphabet, sees nothing wrong with finding fault with fraternal groups.

I shall not waste my time arguing each point he made, though I will gladly do so in private. However, I do suggest that if Mr. Buckman has a gripe against fraternities that he may be as much at fault as Greeks. His grudge is obviously based on some past experience, for which I, as a Greek am sorry. But if his opinion of us all is based on a few people, I feel he is no more justified in thinking his complaints apply to all Greeks than I would be in judging all independents by my opinion of Mr. Buckman.

I also contend that the Cynic is not only being unfair to Greeks, but to the University as well, since the standards for fraternal membership are acceptable to the administration.

Therefore I have one suggestion for the Cynic—follow the first rule of reporting and get the facts before you write.

Ellen Herring

Opposes Integration

Dear Editor:

I have always been, and always will be, firmly opposed to the principle of integration, in spite of the fact that people keep trying to tell me I am wrong. But it becomes frustrating when I hear of Christians meeting together to line up unanimously on the side of integration. I, too, am a Christian. I am horrified beyond all limits as I contemplate what would be the end result of integration. I can only ask God to have His way in the matter.

David Frass

Hooray for Cynic

Dear Editor:

In regard to The Cynic's column on "About the Greeks" by Don Buckman in the March 6 Skiff, may I say Amen!, Amen! and Amen! I am extremely proud of being an independent and resent being looked down upon by so many Greeks, and not being considered "good enough."

I'm not saying they are all that way because they are not. Too many are in my opinion, however.

With Mr. Buckman, I think they should respect the rights of the independent as much as they expect us to respect theirs. I don't know how they can even expect it to be one sided.

Choir Plans Tour of Six Texas Cities

The University a cappella choir will go on a concert tour of six Texas cities, March 14-18.

The chorus will sing six concerts and will perform in Amarillo, Claude, Borger, Pampa, Vernon and Wichita Falls.

The choir will leave Wednesday and return Sunday night.

A concert by the choir is scheduled at 8:15 p.m., March 23, in Ed Landreth auditorium.

Among the musical arrangements to be sung on tour are "I Wrestle and Pray," "Selig sind die Toten," "De Profundis," "The Peaceable Kingdom" and "Jesus and the Traders."

Women in the choir will wear new black formal concert gowns. The men will appear in tie and tails.

"We are very proud of what Mr. Henson (B. R.) has done. For the first time in many years TCU really has developed an a cappella choir," declared Dr. Michael Winesanker, chairman of the department of music.

Henson, assistant professor of music education, is director of the choir.

Missionary Spokesman Will Appear on Forum

"Compromise, Accommodation and the Christian Faith—or How to Be a Christian Without Half Trying or $$$ in Place of Crosses, Crosses, Crosses," will be the title of the forum topic tomorrow night.

Barton Hunter, executive secretary of the Department of Christian Action and Community Service of the United Christian Missionary Society, will speak on this subject at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Ballroom.

As Hunter explains it, "The title is a bit long, but the problem is a big one!"

Hunter has appeared as a speaker and counselor for Religious Emphasis Weeks in colleges throughout the country.

He has written two books: "The Big Difference," a young adult study book for the Disciples of Christ, and "The Least of These" a home mission study dealing with the church's work with persons of special needs.

He frequently contributes to youth publications, study guides, devotional magazines and religious periodicals. He also is a contributing editor of "World Call."

In the past Hunter has served as associate professor of religion at Bradley University and director of Purdue Christian Foundation, Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind. He also has served as associate professor of religion and dean of students at Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Va.

The dance committee has selected these two groups to play for the annual spring semi-formal 8 to 12 p.m. March 29 in the Student Center Ballroom.

Playing his greatest hits, "Skokiaan," "Compulsion," "Caravan" and "Pretend." Marterie's orchestra will alternate with Sharpe and his combo.

In a poll of the nation's colleges conducted by Downbeat magazine in 1956, Marterie's orchestra was chosen as the number one college favorite dance band.

Later that year in a poll taken by Cash Box magazine, Marterie was selected as "man with more hit band records than any other band leader and juke box operators' favorite."

When only 14, Marterie was blowing his trumpet with the "Chicago Kilocycles." It was during World War II while in the Navy that Marterie became a bandleader.

He organized and led a service band to play at Navy installations and civilian bond rallies.

Theme of the dance will be "Spring Fantasy."

50 Hear Reeves On Prof Series

About 50 students attended Dr. George Reeves' forums speech on communism Friday.

Topic of the discussion was "Teaching About Communism in Colleges and High Schools."

Dr. Reeves, assistant professor of history, spoke for 35 minutes following his talk with a question and answer period.

"Communistic subversion is too often mixed up with liberalism," Reeves said, "and this is one of the great problems we face today."

"High school teachers," he added, "should not stick to the material in text books alone. They should feel free to explore all available references without adhering strictly to the books."

One student followed his question by complimenting Dr. Reeves' coat.

"Thank-you," said the Ivy League professor, "It is a perfect example of decadent capitalism." The audience laughed.

The next program in the TCU professor series is "Robert Burns and his poetry." It will be delivered April 6 in the student center, room 215.

Speech Film Showing Reset for March 19

Showing of the film "Dissection of the Human Ear" has been postponed until 2 p.m. March 19.

The film, loaned by the Southwest Medical School in Dallas, will be shown in the clinic house on the corner of University Drive and Princeton St.

Negro Minister Speaks to 'Y'

Eighteen members of the campus "Y" of the YMCA went to Austin last weekend to hear an address at the University of Texas, by Martin Luther King. The Negro minister has demonstrated for integration in the South.

On Saturday, the group joined the SMU "Y" and the Bishop College "Y" for a day of help in Princeton, a migratory workers' community. Dr. Paul Wassenich sponsored the group in the trip to Princeton; Dr. Alvin Nelson to Austin.

The "Y" meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

On March 27, the speaker will be Rev. Ralph Stone, the Student Minister of the University Christian Church, and sponsor of the DSF.

On April 9 the "Y" will hear a special speaker on the topic of racial prejudice and discrimination.

Not Rain, Nor Censor Stays The Postman

A letter came to the University recently addressed to "Free Legal Aid Clinic, TCU."

The writer asked several questions about the law in legalistic language. The letter was signed with a return address of "200 W. Bell Knop Street."

A bit of checking disclosed that the familiar-sounding address should have read, "Belknap."

Inside the envelope flap was stamped notation: "Censored—Tarrant County Jail."

Magazine Holds Writing Contest

Story Magazine is conducting a short story contest designed to discover talented young American writers.

Winners' stories will be published in Best College Writing, an annual hard-cover volume.

Members of the Armed Forces accredited to a world educational institution and all college and university students are eligible.

The Readers' Digest Foundation will provide the prize money. First prize, awarded for the best short story, is $500; second prize, $350; and third, $250. The next 18 winners will receive honorable mention awards of $50 each.

Manuscripts should be 1,500 to 9,000 words in length and certified by a faculty member.

Further details about the contest are available in the current issue of Story or by writing to Story Contest, c/o The Readers' Digest, Pleasantville, N.Y.

Miss Emert To Show Movie on Soviet Union

"The best picture" Martine Emert, professor of geography, "has ever seen on the Soviet Union" will be shown Tuesday at 3 p.m. in room 114, Rogers Hall.

Miss Emert explained that several of her students had liked the film so well that they requested she show it to others.

Admission is free.

Congressman Tells Students God Holds Hope for Future

BY FRANCIE GILLESPIE

"Religion is sometimes defined as something to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comforted."

With this statement Congressman Jim Wright began his final Religious Emphasis Week Convocation last week.

Theme for Thursday's Convocation was "God of Tomorrow." Wright pointed out that God is the hope and promise for the future.

"People," he continued, "either cringe before the future in fear or look it in the eye with faith."

Wednesday Wright presented "God and Caesar," a meditation on church and state.

Uses a Coin

Using a coin to illustrate his talk, Wright said, "It represents the benefits we receive from the government, and we in turn owe an obligation to the state."

He continued, "But we also owe an obligation to the God who created us."

Wright pointed out that people often go too far in separation of church and state. He told of a cohort who claimed he practiced separation of church and state — not having gone to church in the years he had been in Congress.

"Thomas Jefferson fought for freedom of, not absence of, religion," he stressed.

Presents History

"God of our fathers" was the first Convocation's theme. Presenting some thoughts on what it means to be a covenant nation,

Campus Station Selects Officers

KTCU, campus radio station, has selected its new officers for the spring semester.

They are program director, Jim Wright, and sales director, Ron Jones, both Dallas seniors.

Traffic director is Ray John, Fort Worth junior; news director, Jimmy Dye, Greensboro, N.C. freshman; sports director, Jay Langhammer, and record librarian, Merlin Littlefield, both Fort Worth freshmen.

Continuity director is Freddie Morris, Fort Worth junior; special events director, Bill Clair, and publicity director, Sally Foeller, both Fort Worth sophomores.

Elected engineer is Wally Eakins, Springfield, Ohio freshman, and director of SOCAM (sound of the campus) productions, Bill Rohde, San Antonio junior.

Dean Names 204 To Honor List

According to Registrar Calvin Cumbie, 204 University students made the Dean's Honor List for the fall semester, 1961.

Of these 78 are men and 126 are women.

To be eligible for the list, a student must be carrying at least 12 semester hours in courses that count toward a degree; be in the upper five per cent of the eligible students in the school or college; and must not have received a grade of "I," "F" or "WF" in any subject.

Grade points necessary in the schools include 3.4-4.0 in the School of Business; 3.8-4.0 in Harris College of Nursing; 3.6-4.0 in the School of Education; 3.6-4.0 in the School of Fine Arts; and 3.8-4.0 for the College of Arts and Sciences.

Wright traced the history of the nation from the Mayflower Compact to the latest happenings.

"We do not claim to be God's chosen people, but we were founded on a covenant with God," he stated.

Pointing out ways and times in which God had kept his part of the covenant, Wright added that you and I as people and citizens have a duty to fulfill toward God.

Special music for the convocations was presented by three soloists: Monday, Linda Elam, Fort Worth junior; Tuesday, Mike Connally, San Antonio senior; and Thursday, Mary Scriven, Rock Island, Ill. junior.

Following the convocations each day, Professor Emmet G. Smith presented a carillon concert.

Monday afternoon about 100 people attended the reception for the Congressman and his wife.

Later at the dinner for Wright, the RE Week committee, United Religious Council, guest speakers and others who helped with the week were introduced. More than 50 people attended the dinner where Wright gave a brief talk summarizing points he planned to bring out in the three Convocations.

Barry James, Abilene junior, will be Religious Emphasis Week chairman next year.

Test Applications Are Now Ready

Applications for the College Qualifications Test are now available at Selective Service System boards throughout the country.

The test is used in considering the student's deferment from the draft.

Students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest board for an application blank.

After filling out the form, it should be mailed to Selective Service Examining section, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 586, Princeton, N.J. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight March 27.

According to the testing service, it will be to the student's advantage to file his application at once.

Girl Watcher's Guide

Presented by Pall Mall Famous Cigarettes

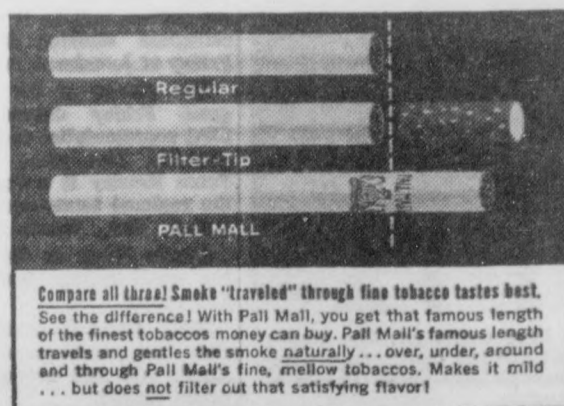

Girl watching is not strenuous

LESSON 9 - Advantages over bird watching

Although girl watching will inevitably be compared with bird watching, it enjoys many obvious advantages. For one thing, it is less strenuous.

The bird watcher usually has to hike out into the woods where there is often a great deal of climbing over rocks and fallen trees and, occasionally, some swimming across rushing streams. Girl watching sites, however, are generally accessible to the watcher's home, school or place of business and can usually be reached without great effort. Perhaps no other hobby is so easy to enjoy. (Pall Mall is easy to enjoy, too. That's because Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!)

Compare all three! Smoke "traveled" through fine tobacco tastes best. See the difference! With Pall Mall, you get that famous length of the finest tobaccos money can buy. Pall Mall's famous length travels and gentles the smoke naturally . . . over, under, around and through Pall Mall's fine, mellow tobaccos. Makes it mild . . . but does not filter out that satisfying flavor!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

Frog Cage Squad 'Hooked' by Horns

Johnny Fowler, one of the Frogs top rebounders, found the basket consistently here Thursday night, but the Frogs lost the season's final basketball game to Texas, 61-73.

Fowler and David Warnell played steady ball, with Fowler hitting a season high of 21 points and pulling 16 off the boards to match his previous best against Tulane. Warnell, Galena Park senior, at his best during his last few games, dunked four and made three free shots for 11 points.

Start Fast

The Frogs began the game as if they were going to be serious opponents for the Longhorns. The Steers eked out a three-point victory over TCU in Austin Tuesday night, and for the first few minutes Thursday it looked as though the Frogs might come out on top.

With a 20-15 lead built up, the Frogs cooled-off and ran into trouble. Texas scored 20 points to TCU's 7 in the final 10 minutes of the first half to put the orange team ahead, 35-27.

The Longhorns were leading by 24 points in the second period when Warnell sparked a rally which brought the home team to the finish line 12 points behind the Steers.

Reynolds Sets Record

Frog guard, Phil Reynolds, was held to 12 points in his final game for TCU. He wound up with 432 points for the season and a three-year total of 861. Reynolds broke the school's individual record for guards earlier in the year. The old record was 288 points set by Bobby Tyler in 1960.

Texas' Shorthorns clipped the Wogs, 63-61, in the final minutes of a close game. The score was tied eight times as the two teams traded shots.

Halftime score was 33-33, and at the last of the second period, with seconds to go, the Wogs took possession and called time-out.

Johnny, Swaim, freshman coach, told the Wogs to hold the ball for one last shot just before time ran out. The freshmen failed to heed those instructions and tried two shots, the last with 15 seconds left on the clock.

Texas took the rebound and raced to the opposite goal. With five seconds left, Clark flipped the ball in from 15 feet.

The Wogs lost only three this season.

Scrimmage Ends Practice

Purples Top Whites, 21-14; Abe Says 'A Little Better'

Warm weather and a prospect of fast football action brought a sizable crowd to Amon Carter Stadium Saturday afternoon for the annual Purple-White intersquad game.

The Purples, led by Sonny Gibbs, squeaked by the Whites, 21-14, after trailing 14-7 at halftime.

Gibbs drove across the first Purple TD, but the All-American contender was overshadowed by the outstanding play of a couple of freshman quarterbacks, Randy Howard and John Hulse.

Howard took charge of the Purple unit during the fourth quarter, reorganized it and began his run-pass playing which made him a stand-out on the freshman squad last fall.

He carried twice on the keeper for 25 yards, pitched an incomplete pass over center, then made five more over center. Another five-yard run and 15 as a gift from the officials after one of the Whites grabbed Howard's face mask put the Purples on the 25 yard line.

A hand-off from Howard to Garry Thomas moved the ball 16 yards to the White's nine, and Larry Thomas carried it over for the tally. The score was 14-13, and a try for two points by Howard failed.

With the Whites in possession of the ball, the high end of the score and the game nearing its close, Carroll Dubose flipped a short pass to Jan Mohel, who ran 35 yards to the Purple 35 before he was downed and lost the ball.

Hulse recovered. In nine plays, Hulse moved the Purples over the goal, with fullback Ron Varley making the final nine yards. Hulse passed to Darrell Mott for the extra two points, and the Purples won, 21-14.

Lloyd Mynatt scored the first TD of the game, putting the Whites in front, 7-0.

Tom Crutcher plunged a yard and evened the score in the second quarter, but before the half Gray Mills passed to Kirby Richter for the second White TD.

Clifford Taft booted both White extra points.

Says Coach Abe Martin about the 1962 Horned Frog squad, "Looks like they'll be a little better next fall."

Golfers Finish Ninth In Border Olympics

TCU golfers finished ninth last weekend at the Border Olympics in Laredo, 94 strokes behind first-place Houston.

The Cougars burned up the Casa Blanca course with a 1,129 in the 72-hole tourney.

Jack Montgomery paced the Frogs with a one-under 287. Mike Walling shot a 300; Gabe Cunningham, 304; and Leland Phillips 320.

Thursday the freshmen took a 5½ to ½ beating from Cleburne High School at Z. Boaz.

The varsity will play Hardin-Simmons at Abilene Country Club Wednesday.

Here's Hoping . . .

Despite the feelings during a basketball game when the alma mater is behind, and an official calls a foul, it is hoped the Department of Public Safety (Highway Patrol) will get a negative reading on the lie-detector tests being administered in Austin. While not all SWC referees were involved in the point-shaving, an accusation leveled at one hurts the others. But let the truth out.

University Women Place in Tourneys

Basketball and bowling shared the spotlight for the women's varsity Saturday.

The team participated in the annual "Double B" tournament sponsored by North Texas State University in Denton.

University bowlers took third place in doubles and fourth in team competition while the University of Texas walked away with the title for the second year in a row.

TCU's team was composed of Diana Ball, Patsy Mueller, Patty Rapp and Margie Robinson.

Also for the second successive year, Baylor copped the basketball crown. TCU failed to place.

First Round Loss

The team lost to Texas Women's University in the first round but beat Southern Methodist in the consolation bracket.

Sam Houston State Teachers College then scored a 72-53 victory to eliminate TCU.

In the free throw contest, Martha Chilton, Comanche senior, connected on 18 of 20 attempts for second place.

Forwards on the squad included Carol Sue Burdine, Miss Chilton, Dow McGregor, Pat Schuler, Bev Smith and Charlotte White.

Guards were Becky Clements, Glenda Craddock, Pat Dalton, Celeste McLean and Nancy Vick.

Intramural Action

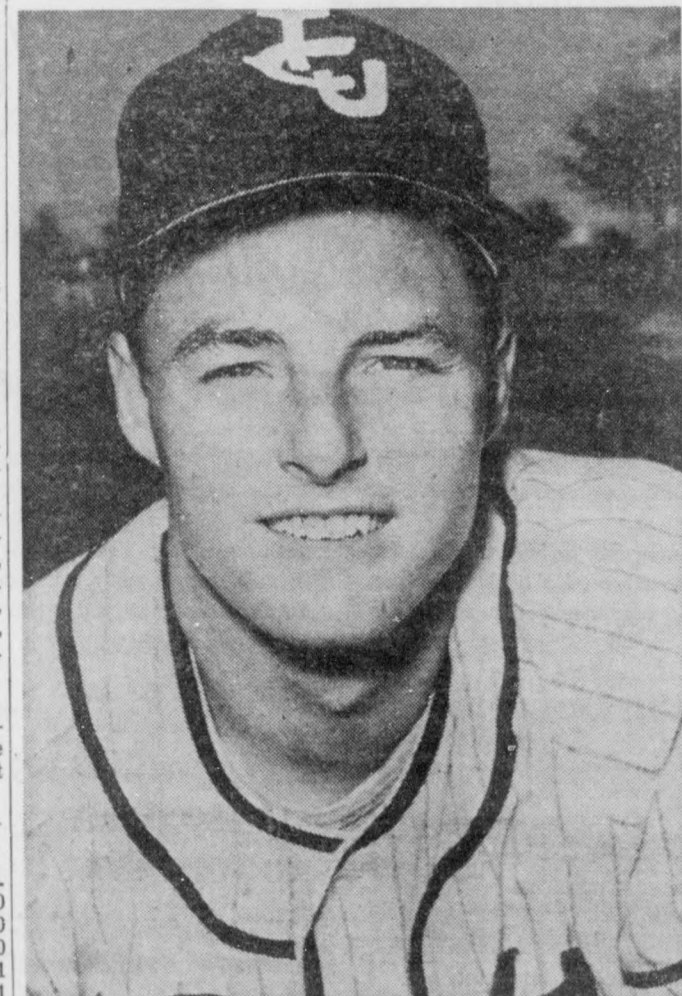

Intramural basketball competition is underway for five sorority and four independent teams.
