USC Debaters To Be Here

Trojan Team
To Contest Frogs
Next Tuesday.

The F. F. F. will close its home season with a debate with the University of Southern California at the Texas Hotel at 8 p. m. Tuesday, April 11.

The Trojan debate team will be composed of William Barton and Clifford Royston. Barton is a junior and Royston a senior. Both are majors in political science.

The two won first place this year in the Western State Teachers of Speech debate tournament and tied with the University of Redlands in the Pi Kappa Delta invitation tournament at Pasadena. They are ranked as the "A" team of the University. They come to T. C. U. from Washington, D. C., where they represented the West Coast at the National Student Tournament of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity. George Stroud and Joe Day will represent T. C. U., upholding the affirmative.

"This debate promises to be the best which has been sponsored by T. C. U. since 1935," says Dr. Allen True.

Colquitt to Teach Math in Ohio

Landon Colquitt, who was earlier this year a candidate for a Rhodes scholarship, has received an assistantship in mathematics at Ohio State University. He will teach one class a semester and receive or return the assistantship amounting to $600 and no fees.

"This is one of the best mathematics spots in America, and it will probably take care of him until he receives his Ph.D.," says Prof. Charles R. Sherer. Colquitt will enter the university next fall.

Sizzling Steaks "Sure Savory," Students Shout

"Please pass the steak" might well be the dinner motto of the student body. One in every four students named steak as his or her "favorite food" when The Skiff conducted a poll recently.

Chicken and ice cream ranked second and third, respectively, accounting for first place food preference on the part of another 20 per cent of the student body.

The remaining 55 per cent of the votes were so scattered that practically every dish familiar to the Texas palate got at least one vote.

Mexican chili, Italian spaghetti, hamburgers, ham, potatoes, strawberry shortcake, oysters and pie are among the items that are fairly popular as student food preferences.

One freshman lad, with evident nostalgic memories, listed his favorite food as "my mom's biscuits."

Another boy, more philosophic, answered: "Any dish that is well cooked and of which there is a plentiful supply!"

I. R. C. Presents Meliorist Program

The International Relations Club presented the Meliorist program Sunday night at the University Christian Church. The theme of the program was "The Present State of Affairs in Europe." An open forum led by Dr. W. J. Hammond was held afterwards.

John Grimland opened the program with a talk on "Europe, State of Suspended War." Miss Vera Williams spoke on "Germany and the Economic World." "America in Relation to Current Europe" was the topic of Harry Harris, and Miss Beth Lea presented "European Propaganda."

Magazines Donated To Library

The Engineering and Mining Journal, 10 volumes, and the 1938 Moody's "Manual of Investments" have been given to the library by Laurence Long, Fort Worth businessman, who also recently donated several bound volumes of the Architectural Forum. Mrs. J. E. Mothershead has announced.

Professors, Students Go To Abilene Math Meeting

Prof. Charles R. Sherer and Prof. H. J. Jones attended a meeting of the Texas section of the Mathematics Association of America Friday and Saturday in Abilene. Students who went were Miss Frances Porterfield, Miss Miriam Glaze and Landon Colquitt.

Glee Club Day Set at Fair

Singers Will Give Three Concerts June 20.

June 20 has been officially named "T. C. U. Men's Glee Club Day" at the New York World's Fair. On that day the club will be featured in two short matinee performances and a full concert that night on the fair grounds.

Pietro Yon, nationally famous organist, has invited the Glee Club to appear with him at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City June 18. To fulfill all concert engagements at the fair and in New York, the Glee Club plans to spend three or four days in the city.

Invitations for concert appearances have been accepted by the Glee Club for Oklahoma City, Springfield, Mo., and Philadelphia. Other invitations are expected throughout the month from cities enroute to New York.

The Glee Club sang Monday at the Texas State College for Women in Denton. This was the last scheduled concert before the spring tour, April 17 to April 26.

Frank Lozo To Join Faculty

Frank Lozo, M. A. '37, who is at the present studying on his Ph. D. at Princeton, will return to the campus next fall as instructor in geology.

Lozo is also working under Dr. Joseph Chushman of Harvard. He will receive his doctor's degree in June and will spend the summer with a field expedition in the northern Rocky Mountains before coming here in September.

Banquet Tickets To Be $1.50

The final price for tickets to the banquet of the School of Business has been set at $1.50. Tickets will be sold by business students.

The banquet will be held at the Woman's Club April 14, with the Ambassadors playing for the dance afterwards.

I. R. C. Presents Meliorist Program

Four student speakers from the International Relations Club presented a program on "Race Minorities and War" at a Meliorist meeting Sunday night.

The speakers were John Grimland, I. R. C. president, Miss Vera Williams, Harry Harris and Miss Beth Lea. Dr. W. J. Hammond concluded the program by conducting an open forum on the same topic.

Sammis Will Attend San Antonio Conference

Prof. Claude Sammis will leave next Wednesday for San Antonio to attend the Southwestern Music Educators' Conference, where he will conduct try-outs for an All-Southwestern Orchestra.

He will remain in San Antonio through Saturday.

Dr. Boeck Named C. of C. Advisor

Dr. A. L. Boeck has been appointed as an adviser for the National Association of College and University Chambers of Commerce, it was learned this week. Dr. Boeck is the first person not connected with the Baylor University C. of C. to be asked to act in this capacity.

Dr. Boeck and a delegation of students from the newly formed T. C. U. Chamber will attend the national meeting of the organization at Baylor April 26. Erle Powell, president and founder, reports that the organization is now studying the constitution of the national body and is considering joining that group.

The campus chamber, at a meeting Monday, decided to sponsor the sale of student directories of the same type sold this year by Roger McLeland, Powell announced.

"The price for the directories will be reduced from 25 cents to 10 cents," Powell says. "The money will go to the C. of C. treasury to help us in our work."

The group was scheduled to meet again Wednesday to discuss joining the national organization, Powell announced.

IRC to Have Steak Fry After Talks Wednesday

The I. R. C. will have a steak fry at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at Dr. J. W. Hammond's home, 3140 Westcliff Road. After eating, the members will hold a "round-fire" discussion on the international situation.

Sunday night the I. R. C. members had charge of the Meliorist Club program. International affairs were discussed.

Dinkins and Mixson Plan Holidays Together

Prof. Paul Dinkins will be the guest during the Easter holidays of Prof. Keith Mixson at the latter's home in Buna. They will visit in Houston first.

Easter Hop Tops Week

New Decorations, Hit Tunes Ready For Dance.

New decorations to fit the occasion, new tunes for the campus jitterbugs, and a swell chance to relax after the exams . . .

That's the way Dance Manager Leroy Gideon described the pre-Easter holiday dance to be held Wednesday night.

The Ambassadors, popular Fort Worth orchestra, will furnish the rhythms for the dancers, and Gideon says that all the decorations for the hop will be new.

As usual the dance will begin at 9 o'clock, lasting until 12 o'clock, with an admission price of 65 cents for couples and stags.

Two Services For Easter

A special Thursday night service and two Sunday morning services will be held at the University Christian Church in commemoration of Easter.

At 8 o'clock Thursday night, in celebration of the Last Supper, the Rev. Perry Gresham will deliver a sermon on "How Deep Is Your Life?" Music will be Gounod's "Sanctus," and communion will be observed.

"Thursday is the night during Holy Week on which the Lord partook of bread and wine, and the Last Supper was instituted," the Rev. Mr. Gresham explains.

"Identical services will be held at 10 o'clock and 11 o'clock Sunday morning in order to accommodate the vast attendance on Easter Sunday," the Rev. Mr. Gresham says.

The morning anthem will be "Lovely Appear," by Gounod. "I, Too, Shall Live" is the sermon topic. Communion, however, will be celebrated only at the 11 o'clock service.

The Sunday night sermon will be "The Secret of a Victorious Life." Mrs. J. E. McKinney will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." The evening services are broadcast over KFJZ each Sunday.

Siddie Jo Johnson, '31, Is Visitor on Campus

Miss Siddie Jo Johnson, A. B. '31, was a visitor on the campus last Friday. Miss Johnson was interested in poetry when in school, and is now gaining recognition as a Texas poet. She is the children's librarian at the Dallas Public Library.

Easter's the Time For—

"Easter time is the time for eggs and the time for eggs is Easter time."

It is quite the thing to wear new clothes, take a few pictures, eat a couple of eggs (or even a have a Easter egg hunt if you feel so inclined). Our religious holidays have been so intermixed with worldly pastimes, customs and costumes that we forget the real meaning of them. To some that's all they are—just holidays.

We've become almost completely sidetracked on Easter. We won't even go to church Sunday morning unless we have new duds to wear. What a priceless note! New clothes to commemorate the salvation of mankind.

A New Record?

Is T. C. U. in line for a new record — another champion ship?

The latest "honor" for the University is one that the students have been working towards a long time. We refer, of course, to the title of "The Most Inertia-Beset Campus in America."

And we are sure that no one will dispute T. C. U.'s claim to the title. After all, on what campus will you find such fine, outstanding examples of lack of spirit, and inertia? What other campus in America can proudly boast that the students fought tooth and nail for campus dances, then promptly proceeded to fail to support them?

What other campus can brag of holding elections, with possibly 20 per cent of eligible voters casting ballots? What university in the country can say, "Yep, we have one of the best bands in the land and we give it all we can in non-support."

Is there another institution in America that can boast of a championship Glee Club to which the student body refuses to pay any attention or to help? Where else can you find a few students and their ideals of improving their school completely smothered by student body inertia?

Time to Think

The Easter vacation will be a good time to think about things to come.

For instance, the election of student body officers.

Students will be presenting petitions for the required number of signatures and will hand them in by April 19. One chapel program will be devoted to the introduction of the candidates.

While the yoke of school work is officially lifted this next week-end, think about prospects for the election. Then urge your candidate to present his petition to the election committee.

To Announce WSA Letters

Managers of the sports clubs of the W. S. A. next week will announce the names of the girls who have lettered this year.

The letters will be awarded at a luncheon at the Den of Hotel Texas as the latter part of April.

Advertising Is a Hint

Without any preliminary warning, we inform you: Students are like advertisers. There are three types, pioneering, competitive and retentive.

The student going through the "pioneering" stage is just beginning, which unfortunately makes him a freshman. He carefully gets every assignment, obeys the professor to the letter, and gets everything in two days before it's due.

In the "competitive" stage, the advertiser is in the thick of the fight. So with the student. Those few persons who survive the pioneering stage and don't skip the competitive, roll up their sleeves, buy spectacles and go competitive.

And then comes the final awakening. In the "retentive" stage, the advertiser rests on his merits. Lucky is the collegian who goes early through this experience, for statistics show that even an advertiser can't stay on the top very long in the tentative period.

In case you're wondering what happens next, the books show that the advertiser starts all over again with the first stage. You might follow the example.

They Say—

Student Graders

Are students justified in asking that essay type examinations be graded by the professor who teaches the course?

Is it impossible to find sufficient work for student employees without giving them the work of a professor to do?

It may be true that the average professor on the campus is overworked, but if such circumstances prevent his taking the time to grade a set of papers, why should he give a quiz? It certainly doesn't give the student a very high regard for the professor nor his technique. The professor doesn't get a fair estimate of the student's ability under this system; he merely gets the grader's opinion of the student. Since student graders, like professors, have their personal likes and dislikes it tends to vary the scholastic standing of a student in direct proportion to the scale of friendship.

It seems that the only way to beat them at their own game is to memorize the book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People," by Dale Carnegie. Even though Irvin Tressler's "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People," is vastly more intriguing, it will be best not to display the suggested tactics on the student graders and above all, children, do not let it be known to the professor that you object to his methods, or it will be necessary to "blue-card" the course.

Frog Athletic Teams To Have Busy Week

Four Frog athletic teams will be busy next week, a check of the sports calendar shows. The Frogs and Texas University meet in a baseball game here Thursday afternoon in the biggest attraction.

The next afternoon Baylor University's track team comes here for a dual meet with Poss Clark's runners, and the tennis team goes to College Station for matches with the A. & M. netmen.

The golf team plays S. M. U. in Dallas Saturday.

Around and About

And then there is the call of the Wild, not at any of the "flickers" but rather in Shirley House . . . last Sunday eve-night, Misses JO MARTIN, CONNIE CLARK, MARY GROOM, MARY LANCASTER, ELWYN ESPY and DOROTHY DENTON . . . PLUS CARL CHILDS, BOB DECKER, OLIN JONES, LACY McCLANAHAN, TOM ROBERTSON and JIMMY MATTHEWS . . . PLUS 80 sandwiches . . . Plus "soda-pop" . . . PLUS gobs and gobs of moonlight and stuff . . . plus the locale—Lake Worth. Oh, my!

Hey, fellas! Have you made that intermission date for the dance yet? Don't forget that some lucky person is going to win a five pound box of candy over at the Totem-burger during intermission. Yup, they are going to flat out give it away in a raffle sort of affair. Sounds good to this corner.

Yep, still harping on those Valentine odds on campus couples that ran in the ole' Skiff not long ago. Now EVELYN WOODLEY seems to have upset all the dope by being seen around with SPENCER SMITH. Maybe it's just the coming Glee Club trip.

And have you all met the Champagne Kid? If you haven't by all means get someone to introduce you. In private life she is known as BETTY CLAIRE PRAY, once of Paschal. She up and got smart down at the ole' Den last Friday night and walked off with the bubble water prize in the question-contest. However, it is sorrowfully reported that there were entirely too many others present for the winner (or this corner either) to get a chance to taste it.

The Champagne Kid was present with JACK PHENIX, and MAY ANNA DUNCAN was to be seen with CARL ANDERSON. And very muchly so present was WILLIAM ARTHUR BLACK and MARY ULAN EDWARDS. Another comparative stranger, evidently drawn by NICK STUART, was FLORINE BEHELER.

Another of those nasty rumors about STAN and CHRISTINE VILSON is floating about. Tis rumored that the last monicker again is NOT Wilson. We wouldn't know.

And doesn't NONA JEWELL DOUGHERTY look awful sweet and cute wandering around town in CAPT. DON LOONEY'S car? Particularly as DON is seldom seen with her.

MOVIE PROGRAMS

Say, fellas, did you know that the three smart girls have grown up? We thought not. Wal, just wander on down to the Worth Theater sometime this week-end to see the film, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up." Of course, you all remember the first pic—"Three Smart Girls." Oh, yes. Deanna Durbin, Nan Gray and Helen Parrish have the lead roles. Tis good, lads, 'tis good.

And, then, if you want to see another side of the railroad versus the rugged individualist contest, go to the Parkway and watch Robert Taylor, Florence Rice and Wallace Beery provide lots of fun and action in "Stand Up and Fight." It's a rugged pic for rugged people.

University of Oklahoma officials turned red around the ears one recent afternoon when they counted 58 couples on "the south oval" pitchin' a little woo. They protested, saying "more public courting is done on the Norman campus than on any in the nation."

A student survey showed the men heartily, even belligerently, in favor of more, not less, love-makin' "in public, in private, by light of day, light of moon and in spite of frowns from university officials."

The girls felt generally that public petting was in poor taste, but said they didn't have any room to talk. One fellow added that "the south oval" was now useful as well as ornamental, which was all to the good.

M-m-m—but those L. S. U. cadets do feel complimented. The French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc stopped at New Orleans on its way to Havana last week, and the officers reviewed the school corps. They expressed amazement at the results only a few hours of drill a week have produced. As an added note of enthusiasm, L. S. U. military instructors were entertained on board with a tea-dance.

Two A. & M. cadets have teamed as song writers and are doing mighty all right, too. A recent composition, "Why Did My Love End This Way?" has been bought by a Los Angeles company and is to be introduced to the public soon. The lyric writer admits his "love" had just ended when he thought up the words, but the other fellow says he just wrote the music without inspiration. The two boys have written and copyrighted a number of other songs.

Wanted: Couple Of Wog Pitchers

Lack of capable pitchers has come the main worry of T. C. Polliwog baseball squad, it depop after last week's session practice. Men that reported hurlers have either failed to rise into shape or lack the ability.

With the exception of a brief tilt with the varsity nine a week, the Frosh have had no actual competition, but Coach Wal Roach has been negotiating with Hillsboro authorities in an attempt to line up a game or two. Games can be scheduled with the high school team's as yet for the season does not officially open until about the middle of this month.

The Wogs seem fairly well at all positions, and have displayed better than average batting power in their workouts. Some of the boys who have shown unusual talent are Ruel Hoffman, Chas Conway and Herman Hoover, infielders.

Frogs, Bears Vie Saturday

Purple Defeats Owls,
11-1—Splits Series
With Farmers

Baylor's Bears and the Frogs will tangle twice Saturday afternoon in Waco. Coach Howard Grubbs' nine will be trying to get over the .500 mark it now has since the loss to Texas A. & M. Monday, 4 to 3.

The Frog pitching staff will be rested and in top shape for the twin bill. Durward Horner and Woodrow Duckworth will probably start the two games in that order. Jack Odle, Ben Abney and Paul Tankersley are ready to take over at any time.

Against the Aggies Monday, the Frog batters couldn't solve the offerings of the Cadet hurlers, Harold Welch and Jim Lindsey, except for a spree in the fourth inning which netted them three runs and a temporary lead. Lindsey came in at this time and had the situation well in hand from there on out.

The Frogs garnered but five safe blows. Horner went the route for the Purple and gave up but seven hits, had six walks issued and three errors by teammates.

The Christians showed championship form in defeating Rice here Friday, 11 to 1, and the Farmers the next day, 5 to 1.

Horner and Duckworth turned in fine mound work in both games and the Frogs were hitting the ball hard and often.

Horner set the Owls down with five hits while Duckworth gave up but three bingles in the first A. & M. game.

Don Looney and Connie Sparks were the hitting stars of the Owl game. "Sluggers Don" connected safely four of his five trips to the plate and "Big Con" poled out a circuit clout with one man aboard.

Hitting in the clutch helped the Purple team Saturday. The lads were really hitting when hits counted.

4-Way Meet Draws Frogs

Baylor, Texas, and S.M.U. to Be Purples' Foes at Waco.

A quadrangular meet in Waco Wednesday, between Texas U., S. M. U., Baylor and the Frogs, will be run off on the new cinder path there.

The Longhorns will be a practical cinch for first place in the four-way meet. The Frogs will be favorites to come in second.

but Baylor and the Mustangs might push the Purple athletes.

Fifth place in the sprint medley relay was the result of the Frogs' effort in the Texas Relays in Austin Saturday.

Competing against the cream of track teams from five states, the Purple runners faced the fastest opposition they will probably have all year.

The Frog quartet of Capt. Johnny Hall, Robert Groseclose, Brad Snodgrass and Gail Smith finished second in the first heat of the event but was nosed out of fourth place in the final result by Louisiana State.

Hall ran a pretty quarter mile in 50.8 and Smith turned in the anchor lap of the relay—the 880-yard run—in 1:57.5. Snodgrass ran a speedy 220 on his leg. Groseclose was switched to the 220-yard leg from the quarter in a late change.

Bob Cook and Ward Wilkinson decided against making the trip Friday morning. Neither was feeling well enough for competition.

The pair will be ready for the quadrangular meet this afternoon, however, although Cook hasn't regained all of his strength. He will make a serious bid for first place honors in the shot-put.

Frog Tracksters In One Race at Relays

Although they ran in only the sprint medley and failed to place in it, the Frog track team saw America's finest early season outdoor meet at the Texas Relays in Austin last Saturday.

The 10,000 spectators composed the biggest audience that the Frog runners will compete before all year. The "Relays" is truly one of the nation's big meets now and officially ushers in America's outdoor track and field season.

From as far West as California and as far North as Michigan more than 1000 track and field men entered the big affair.

Present were Rice's blond blur, Fred Wolcott, who topped the high hurdles to the tune of 14.1 seconds, Michigan State's great sprinter, Ed Greer, who missed the world's 100-yard dash record by one-tenth of a second, Elmer Hackney of Kansas, who is one of America's best shot-putters.

New Season Brings New Fads, New 'Musts'

By FRANCES TAYLOR

On this college campus we have what could be called the After-Easter Parade. The well-dressed "ed" and coed will return with a trunk of sabots (wooden sandals to you), snoods, (a grown-up, ornamental hairnet), and wimples (long, draped material on the hat that hangs under your chin.)

Any college man worthy of the name will have at least one green coat, green trousers or at least green socks. The paint-pot plaid coats and homespun shirts that fly in the wind also seem to be on the "must" list.

We'd like to predict a few things that probably won't happen, but Easter is something like New Year's. It's the beginning of a new season and a new list of resolutions. So—

We predict:

1. Campus headwear will still be led in popularity by the handkerchief under the chin.
2. Shorter hair.
3. No ties and wider collars.
4. More color in the coed's wardrobe.

5. More anklets. (Have you seen the ones with the name embroidered on the side?)

6. Screwier shoes, to keep step with goofier hats.

7. Budding poets (more and worse.)

8. Revival of old tunes.

9. That the annual will be out on time (tempting fate.)

RUMOR: We only heard that a certain popular cigarette manufacturer plans to bring out a red-tipped cigarette to counteract lipstick.

Mrs. Lou B. Miller To Entertain Dames
