

Dear Señor:

Now that this got through, we're all set for passenger business, and the first revenue passengers are to go through on June 28.

On this one, the schedule missed four days somewhere between Marseilles and Hong Kong, so it took the cover from May 20 (the Lindbergh anniversary) to June 13 to go around the world. But you should be able to fly around the world, on scheduled lines all the way, in 19 days!

H. D. Dusen

