

September 30, 1942.

Senor Ignacio F. Herrerias,
Gerente General,
Publicaciones Herrerias,
Calle Bucareli 23,
Mexico, D. F.

Dear Mr. Herrerias:

Upon departing from Mexico City, I went on through Fort Worth to New York and have just returned home, which explains the delay in not sooner writing to express my thanks and appreciation for the delightful hospitality extended to all of the American Airlines party who recently visited in Mexico City in connection with the initial flight of the extension of the airline system from Fort Worth, Texas, to Mexico City. The guests on this trip were overwhelmed by your gracious hospitality. Every effort possible was made to take care of our welfare and happiness during our stay in your city, all of which was sincerely appreciated.

The opening of the American Airlines service from Fort Worth to Mexico City, as well as from El Paso to Mexico City, in my estimation, is a tremendous step forward in the progressive, friendly relations now existing between your great Country and the United States. The direct connection as now operated brings the two countries, relatively speaking, very close together. When the War is over it should be a tremendous impetus to the tourists as well as our business men to visit your City which, because of the great distance and time necessary, heretofore, has limited the travel to a certain extent.

Mexico City, in my estimation, is one of the most beautiful and interesting cities to be found anywhere in the world and, now, to think, we can leave Fort Worth at 8:00 in the morning and be in your city at 1:40 that same afternoon - it makes one feel that they are only commuting. It will take time to educate the public to all these facts and war conditions naturally limit the possibilities of travel at this time; however, as a director, I am very enthusiastic over the future possibility of the American Airlines and its activities in Mexico and it will be our purpose to do everything possible to promote the welfare of your great country and lend a helping hand in every consistent way possible.

-2-

If you should come to Fort Worth at any time, it will be a pleasure to see you.

With best wishes, I remain

Sincerely,

AGC.KD

P.S: At the luncheon that you gave for us at your delightful home, a number of photographs were made of the various members of our party. If you have an extra copy of the photograph in which I appeared I would appreciate having it.

The day following your luncheon, I tried to buy some extra newspapers carrying the pictures, but found they were all gone.

Again permit me to thank you for the lovely luncheon.

A. G. C.