Fort Worth, Texas,
April 7, 1942.

Honorable Stewart McDonald,
Carlton Hotel,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Stewart: Your letter of April First as to why the Maryland Casualty Company could not do any newspaper advertising was so pathetic that it almost made me weep PERIOD Naturally, no one appreciates you or your many acts of kindness more than I do or the fact that the Maryland is not what we term a general advertiser; however, this same condition, I presume, existed at the time they gave Brother Evans a full page in Nashville in connection with the opening of a plant about one-sixth the size of the amount involved in Fort Worth, not to mention the fact that the office as well as the writer, individually in my oil activities, have given the Maryland a good many thousand dollars in business, plus the further fact that the Maryland does a substantial business with the Girdler, Victor Emanuel and all the allied interests of the Consolidated owners (who incidentally are using eight pages) PERIOD So, taking everything into consideration I thought maybe the old, stately, dignified and conservative Maryland might thaw out enough to permit us to run the same page they carried with Evans PERIOD If your conscience would permit this it would make "us" country folks awfully happy PERIOD If the Maryland's finances will not permit it, come down and see us as soon as this edition is off and we will hold a tag day for the company PERIOD I don't want you to gather the idea that this is another solicitation, on the other hand it is merely an amplified suggestion. Whether you send a page or half page or not ol' top we are still "fur" you but it sho' would be nice to have the Maryland join us. Sincerely

Amon Carter
