Vice-Versa Promises Female Fling Tonight

All you gals who have been nagging about the lack of dates will take the initiative tonight. There will be a capacity of manpower at the "V" Vice Versa. At eight o'clock will find the start-up of the evening. The Basketball Gymnasium floor is all polished and ready for the beat of dancing. Dick Geib, the lad with all the interior decorating ideas, promises that the trimmings will be merry and attractive. Harry Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw and all the other names will lend their music. Link Spots and Dinah Shore will be featured soloists. Uniform clothes will be the vogue, and white will be the predominant color. Black shoes and a black tie will be the favorite accessories. No corsages will be worn, since some of the fellows suffer from hay fever. Due to the fact that gas rationing is still in effect (despite those rumors) the girls will walk the boys from the U. S. S. Clark Hall. All dates are requested to have their priming all done and to be ready on time.

Girl stags only will be allowed to attend. But the more sailors, the merrier. Girls' tag will be observed throughout the dance, but any quarrels over a sailor must be settled in a peaceful manner. Bobby Crutchfield, who will be in charge of refreshments, promises to be the referee.

Eleven o'clock will find the Gym doors closed, and all Navy men must be signed in by that time.

Brite College to Hold Retreat at Lake Worth

Brite College "Spring Retreat" will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Camp Leroy Schuman at Lake Worth. The theme of the program will be "Basic Issues in the Reconstruction World." Don Payne has charge of the program.

Coeds Take Over Man's World as They Fill Club Offices, Ration Dates With Gobs to Find Time for War Activities

By HELEN WILLIAMS

Coeds are meeting the manpower shortage on the T. C. U. campus, just as women everywhere have taken over the places occupied by men before Pearl Harbor.

Of the campus clubs which are still active, practically three-fourths—25 out of 34—have a coed president. Girls used to get elected president once in a while, but the boys held the No. 1 office before the war in about a 3-to-1 ratio, just the reverse of today's condition.

A girl was president of the February graduating class—Miss Mary Louise Waldron. The oldest old-timer cannot recall when a girl was senior class president.

The Bryson Club, which normally has a membership about equally divided between boys and girls, is now an all-girl organization.

Before the war, the Horned Frog Band was a man's world. But the

Council Plans 2 Changes 8 to Compete Tonight

Fund Benefit Will Feature Supper in Box

A box supper, for the benefit of the Frog War Fund, will be held on the campus Monday, June 12.

Each girl attending is asked to bring a box. The boxes will be sold from the bandstand, beginning at 6:30 p. m. Auctioneers will be Ed Cornelius and Stanley Hovatter.

After the supper is over, there will be dancing on the tennis courts until about 8:45 p. m. Then everyone is invited to a free picture show in the Auditorium, which all Navy men must attend. The show begins at 9 p. m.

Arrangements for the box supper are being made by the Frog War Fund committee, which includes Miss Bonnie Hall, chairman, Miss Betty Jo Gamble, Jack Vaughan and Jimmy Farrar.

June 7 Date For 'Iolanthe'

Choral Club, Orchestra Plan Operetta—Marsh Will Direct Production

A streamlined version of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "Iolanthe," will be presented June 7 by the Choral Club and Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. William J. Marsh.

This will be the annual spring production of the Choral Club. It is the second of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas to be presented. The first was "Patience" in 1943. The presentation of "Iolanthe" will be streamlined in the same way "Patience" was, in that a narrator will tell the story, and singers will give the principal solos and choruses.

The cast has been chosen and re-

The 30th and last Gough Oratorical Contest will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Auditorium. Dr. Roy Gough, sponsor, has explained that the contest will not be continued after tonight because of the decrease in interest in the event.

Judges picked for tonight's contest are Charles W. Hilburn, of the F. L. Motheral Co.; Miss Sybil Bender, head of the T. W. C. speech department; and Carroll McConnell, attorney.

The eight students who will compete and their subjects are: Rex Beasley, "Jesus—A Man?"; Harold Gentzler, "Peace"; Johnnie Pickering, "Total Peace"; Roy Tomlinson, "Who Are the Educated?"; Ralph Wetherall, "Hands"; Ed Cornelius, "Missions of the Americas"; Neill McFarland, "Christianity Transcendent"; Jimmy Fairbrook, "What Price Religious Freedom?"

The first prize is a $50 War Bond; the second, a $25 War Bond; and the third, $10 in War Stamps. The first prize is given by Dr. Gough, the second and third by the University.

Immediately after the contest, there will be a reception in the Foster Hall parlor honoring Dr. Gough for the interest he has taken in T. C. U. and the speech department during the past 30 years.

'What Price Freedom?' Walker Sermon Topic

"What Price Freedom?" will be the topic of the Rev. Granville Walker's sermon at the University Christian Church Sunday morning. Mrs. Q'Zella Oliver Jeffus will play "Pastorale" by Guilmond, and "Chorale Prelude," by Darst. The choir will sing "O Saviour of the World," by Goff.

Earl Bissex will speak at Evensong. Roy Tomlinson will give the interpretative reading. Bob Matheny will sing "Trust in Him," by Hamblen.

A mock wedding will be held at Meliorist immediately following Evensong. Gloria Sheinberg will play the piano. Miss Betty Lou Beak will be the bride in the wedding, and Bissex will be the groom. Jimmy Farrar will be the preacher.

The student body will vote Wednesday on two amendments to the provisional constitution which were passed by a two-thirds vote of the Student Council this week.

The amendments were recommended by the judiciary committee and brought before the Council by the committee chairman, Clyde Foltz. Voting will take place from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Wednesday in the Main Hall of the Administration Building.

The first amendment would do away with the three V-12 representatives (one from each deck of the U. S. S. Clark Hall) in the Council and instead provide for one representative from each of the following groups: Foster Hall, U. S. S. Clark Hall, Goode Hall and town students. Foltz, in presenting the proposed amendment, pointed out that the provisions of Article II, Section B, were set forth at a time when V-12 men could not hold campus offices. He expressed the committee's opinion that if the V-12 unit has special representatives on the Council, other groups have the right to their own also.

Matinee Dances Still Being Held

Matinee dances still are being held from 4 to 5:30 o'clock on Monday afternoons, says Dance Manager Kenneth Womack.

"Crowds haven't been as large as usual during the last few weeks," says Womack, "and we don't want the students to forget that we're still having the dances. They are held in the Basketball Gymnasium, with the jukebox furnishing music. Admission is free, and both boys and girls are invited to come stag."

One-ESMWT Course Results in 12.75 Per Cent Increase in Salary for Class—1335 Take Work in 3-Year Period

Men and women who completed one of the ESMWT courses offered at T. C. U. averaged a 12.75 per cent increase in salary, according to a survey made of the class. One enrollee got a 31 per cent raise.

Fifty per cent of the students who replied to the questionnaire had been promoted to new jobs after completing the course.

Enrollment in ESMWT courses since the program was inaugurated at T. C. U. in 1941 has totaled 1335. Of this number, approximately 80 per cent have finished their training, according to Dean Cortell Holsapple of the Evening College. Women have constituted some 30 to 40 per cent of the enrollment.

Various courses are offered as a need for them develops. Classes may be organized at the request of a war industry, to meet its particular need, or upon the request of a sufficient number who desire a specific course.

"Fundamentals of Radio" has been a popular course for men about to enter service. Many take it so that they may get into radar or other communications work. Seven from one class now are serving in radio and communications with the Army or Navy. A woman from the same class is an engineer with a Fort Worth radio station.

June 23, 24 Finals Dates

Seniors to Have Exams June 19-21—Students Will Register July 3, 4

Final examinations will be given June 23 and 24 at regular class hours while graduating seniors will have examinations at the discretion of their teachers, preferably June 19, 20 and 21, reports Dean Moore.

Special hour for certain courses in several sections, such as English 11 and 24, will be arranged through the registrar's office. Seniors must be turned in to the registrar by June 22, other students by June 27.

It is imperative that there be no exceptions to the above schedule and that all may speak the same language and that special privileges be eliminated," says Dean Moore.

The Baccalaureate service for graduating seniors will be held Friday, June 25, at the University Christian Church, with the Rev. Neville Walker delivering the address. (Continued on Page 3)

The Navy V-12 variety show has been postponed from June 9 to June 16. The V-12 social committee still looking for talent, says Cornelius.

PICKED UP PASSING BY

Wartime Jewelry
Campus Gremlins
Woodland Retreat

Something new in wartime jewelry is being worn by Miss Margaret Culp. She has a bracelet and a ring which both were made by V-12er Robert Aven. The bracelet is fashioned of aluminum from a Jap plane, which Robert shaped and engraved with his name when he was with the Seabees in the New Hebrides. The ring is made from an English shilling.

And Nel Epperson has some jewelry from the other side of the world—a cameo ring from Italy, sent by her brother, who is serving in the Army over there. The stone has three dancing figures on it, and it was sent to New York City to be mounted before it came to Nel.

Prof. C. R. Sherer always tries to oblige when a student asks a favor. Just recently he returned to the campus after a trip to a V-12 conference in New York City, where he talked to some of the former T. C. U. Navy men, now in Midshipmen's School at Columbia University. Stuart Allen asked the good prof to say hello to his girl friend for him. "Greet her just as I would if I met her," Stuart said. The prof confesses that this is a pretty tough assignment!

A brawl scene, an oil painting by James Clarke Hooke, was presented to Goode Hall last week by Dr. Newton Gaines. Since the picture was hung, there has been a noticeable lack of horse play in the Goode Hall parlor. The boys just don't want to take a chance on damaging the valuable painting. "Hooke was very much interested in men in action," Dr. Gaines says, "which makes the picture apropos in its present location!"

Gremlins get around. There are even some on the T. C. U. campus, or so Skiff investigator No. 3276 reports. The report sounds as if he knows what he is talking about. Here are some of the Frog Gremlins: BIJIT (feminine), always busy with someone else's business. BLOOGIE, never smiles. BUCHESS (feminine), has a duchess complex and two-bit grammar. GLOBB, just naturally untidy. TWARP, full of punk wise-cracks. GLAMMIE-PIE, a girl who looks beautiful, and that's all she does. TELLAGOON, can be relied upon to say the right thing at the wrong time. GABBIT, volunteers lots of jolly information, mostly wrong. JERP, spends most of his time relating personal experiences of interest only to himself.

There has been some discussion and argument, on the part of both students and faculty, as to the merits of planned study hours as exemplified by the V-12 schedule. Dean Elizabeth Shelburne's office has done a little investigating and comes up with statistics to show that coeds, at least, make just as good grades as the V-12 men, without the maintenance of study hall. Of the coeds who are regular day students, approximately 40 per cent are making Honor Roll grades.

Dorothy Nies painted a picture called "My Old Kentucky Home," in the surrealist manner for "My Sister Eileen." In case you saw it and wondered what it was all about, here's a road map: A broken column (the home); a huge eye ("The sun shines bright"); a sunflower ("The meadow's in the bloom"); and a leg, complete with frilly garter (you see, the Kentucky Home was in Lexington). Don't shoot, we're not responsible; we're only telling you about it!

Forest Park seems to have a sort of magnetic attraction for the collegiate clan. Clubs have their picnics there and individuals and small groups (particularly twosomes) find the park entertaining. Carolyn McGown and Mary Kate McCuiston spend a lot of their spare time galloping madly along the bridle paths, exhausting both themselves and their horses. Shirley Meason gives her vote to the merry-go-round. Barbara Holloway prefers the zoo, spends hour on end watching the alligators.

Alice Gallant gives her mother one evening off each week. Alice takes over in the kitchen and serves the evening meal. All her mother has to do is sit down and enjoy a dinner that is strictly Alice Gallant de luxe. It's a nice gesture, don't you think?

11 Journalists To Edit Press

Miss Dixie Belle Williams Will Be Editor on Annual Field Laboratory Project

Miss Dixie Belle Williams, editor of The Skiff, will try her hand at editing the Fort Worth Press Tuesday. That day's Press will be produced by a group of students from the department of journalism, under the direction of Prof. J. Willard Ridings.

Miss Winifred Nabours will be society editor for the day, assisted by Miss Helen Williams. Pop Boone's column and sports page will be taken over by Joe Shosid. Miss Mary Lou Slay will double for Jack Gordon in writing the amusement column.

Editorials and editorial page columns will be in the hands of Misses Williams, Nabours, Janice Conley and Cassie Auecin.

All of these students, together with Miss Hattie Stanley, Miss Kitty Bean, George Conner and S. T. Burrus will serve on the reportorial staff for the day.

This is the 14th consecutive year that journalism students have edited the Press for a day, as a field laboratory project.

What Do You Think?

On the theory that "if they're old enough to fight, they're old enough to vote," a nationwide movement for lowering the voting age to 18 has been started.

Bills to effect this change have been brought up in the legislatures of some 31 states; in Georgia an amendment to the state constitution remedies "responsibility without representation." In Texas, a similar resolution passed the Travis County Democratic Convention. Colleges have been called upon to rally behind the movement. At the University of Texas, the students' assembly voted May 11 to "go on record as supporting the 18-year-old vote movement."

From the University of Texas, the movement has come to T. C. U. Its supporters are asking for the careful consideration of the measure by all students on the campus. To merit this consideration, the supporters present the following arguments:

That the young people who are fighting the war today and will fight for the peace tomorrow should have a voice in their government.

That such a step would widen the suffrage, strike a better balance between idealistic youth and conservative old age.

That 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are better informed on the principles of government and citizenship than many of their elders. Fresh from high school and college courses in government, civics, political science and history, they are well equipped to vote and will soon lose interest in their government if they are not permitted to do so.

That, while this age group lacks experience, its members are broadminded, free from prejudice, energetic.

But the movement has opposition. At the University of Texas, the students' assembly voted to support the movement by a margin of only 6 to 5. The opposition points out:

That "if they're old enough to fight,

College for Veterans

etc." is merely sentimentalism. The qualities that make a good fighter are not the same as those that make a good voter.

That the younger age group is not always so well informed as some are inclined to think—that its trend toward "idealism" is not desirable, because this is a tendency to look at leaders rather than principles, a tendency toward radicalism.

They ask if laws permitting 18, 19 and 20-year-olds to serve on juries and hold public office would necessarily follow a lowering of the voting age.

Then there are the "middle grounders," who ask, Would it really make any difference in the voting public? Wouldn't the same weaknesses and the same strong points show up in this group of voters as in their elders? And is this group any more enthusiastic about voting than the rest of the American public?

The Skiff and the Student Council want to know what you think.

"T. C. U. has been designated as one of the training centers for rehabilitation education."

Mortimer Woodson, vocational rehabilitation officer of the Veterans' Administration, visited the campus recently, and he and President M. E. Sadler discussed the program.

Benefits of the program will be made available at once to discharged veterans.

"The program will not be limited to high-school graduates. Admission will be granted to qualified veterans, if, on the basis of their military record and their aptitude tests, it is clear that they are ready for college work," says one published statement.

The details of T. C. U.'s part in this program are not yet determined, but the important fact is that this school will have a hand in educating men for peace—with the same diligence it has employed in educating them for war.

Dear Editor: A great deal of hard work goes on behind the scenes in any successful venture. The junior class picnic was no exception. The work was done by no single individual, but was shared by a number: Tom Burrus, who handled our excellent publicity and ticket sales; Miss Elizabeth Glasscock, who ably took care of our food; Miss Lois Auecin, who provided our fine recreation; and many others who did what needed to be done.

The picnic proves to me that our classes can help to create school spirit. The junior class encourages the freshman, sophomore and senior classes to have activities. The war is no excuse. It can be done!

The proposed 1945 Southwest conference basketball schedule for T. C. U. playing seven games home and five away from the bus, thus giving the Frogs the fit of the schedule.

Coach Hub McQuillan, Frog roundballer, believes the proposed schedule will be approved, as this is the general opinion he received from the other conference members at the recent spring meeting in Austin earlier this month.

The schedule calls for the Frogs to open at home Jan. 5 against the University of Texas.

Next week-end, the Frogs travel to College Station for a game with the Aggies Jan. 12, the following evening with Baylor in Houston.

Returning here Jan. 17, the cagers entertain S. M. U. at home Jan. 24 to Baylor's Bears, who will come to compete in basketball although dropping football the duration.

Two games on the road, with S. M. U. Jan. 27 and Rice, respectively, precede a two-game series with Arkansas here Feb. 2 and 3.

Two more home games and on the road wind up the proposed schedule. Rice journeys to Feb. 9, and the following day the Aggies invade the campus.

Going to Waco Feb. 21, the Frogs wind up their conference season against Baylor.

T. C. U. no doubt will face its toughest competition in Rice, who have tall Bill Henry returning from Arkansas, long a leader in the conference basketball battle.

Frogs will have two games on their belt besides several other games before they tackle Rice and his mates in Houston. The Frogs are still in the running late in the season, the advantage of facing the Owls at home will help the Frogs.

The Razorbacks have to play two of their games here instead of Fayetteville, where they play better than firecrackers in a two-game series with the Owls last season.

In the matter of pre-season and post-season games, the Frogs' chances of playing in Madison Square Garden and other eastern courts depends largely on their previous record with the league, junior college and other teams around this sector at the beginning of the season.

Irish, acting president of the Garden, recently wrote McQuillan that he would be glad for the Frogs to plan an eastern tour in 1945, if their record warranted.

With proposed playing in Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 22 and coming into the Garden the following evening, the Frogs could probably get in several other practice games with better-known eastern colleges during the holiday season.

The eastern trip, however, would necessitate dropping from competition in the Oklahoma City Tourney, which also is held during the holidays annually. McQuillan, in his first year at T. C. U. captured the meet.

Out James E. Ross, ex '42, recently was graduated from bomber school at Fort Worth Army Air Base. He is a B-24 pilot.

Spring Cage Drills Open Monday

Coach Hub Has Green Boys, But Lays Plans for Big Year For Frog Basketeers in '45

Basketball Coach Hub McQuillan formally opens spring drills for his 1945 cage candidates Monday in the Basketball Gymnasium. Work-outs will start at 4:30 p.m. and last for one hour daily for two weeks.

With no lettermen returning from the 1944 squad, which finished in a third-place tie with Texas and S. M. U., McQuillan plans to stress fundamentals to his inexperienced hopefuls.

Several boys have indicated that they will be out, but none of these has any previous experience. In fact, this year's candidates might even be as inexperienced as the '44 team, which had three boys on the first team without any high school experience.

However, McQuillan will have the advantage of playing seven of his conference games here. If plans carry through, he hopes to have many practice games before the season starts. There is also a chance that the Frogs may journey eastward during the Christmas holidays, to play in Madison Square Garden, Buffalo, and maybe other eastern courts.

Capt. Zeke Chronister is returning for another year of football, but will be ineligible to compete on the hardwood again as he has already completed three years of varsity play.

Gone, too, will be Joe Wick, Neill McFarland, Jack Vaughan, Jack Helm, Enoch Biggers, Stuart Allen, Kendall Bond, Joe Smith and all the other '44 cagers.

W. S. A. Camp Set for June 3

W. S. A.'s annual camp will be held June 3 at Lake Worth. Plans for the encampment will be discussed at a meeting at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Gymnasium. The committees to make the arrangements will be appointed at that time.

"Those girls who plan to go must sign up either in Foster Hall or the Gymnasium before Monday afternoon. There will be notices on the bulletin boards for the girls to sign," says Miss Alice Lou Linton, president.

Surprise! Lunch Was Really Party For Gwen James

Miss Gwen James, secretary to President M. E. Sadler, celebrated a birthday Tuesday and got a real surprise party—complete with ice cream, cake, flowers—and music.

Gwen, Mrs. C. B. Orahoad, secretary to Dean Jerome Moore, and Miss Doris Blessing, who also works for President Sadler, have a habit of bringing their lunches and eating them in the office. Tuesday they sent Gwen after milk while they got the surprise ready.

When she returned, the place was deserted. Then the door to Dean Moore's office opened, and out jumped a whole crowd of friends, singing "Happy Birthday." Mrs. Orahoad had baked a cake, and there was a corsage of red rosebuds for Gwen.

Mrs. Stirling P'Pool, Miss Louise Rumley from the business office and Prof. Charles R. Sherer came in to join the fun. Dr. Newton Gaines came, too, and sang cowboy songs for the occasion—much to Gwen's delight, for she had never heard him sing.

After the party was over, President Sadler, Dean Moore and L. C. Wright came in to offer their congratulations—and finish up the cake.

Meyer Likes Pass "As Is"

No Gain in Adopting Pro Rule, He Says—Change in Kick-Off Is Favored

Coach Dutch Meyer believes that little would be added to the game if collegiate football adopts the professional grid practice of permitting forward passes to be thrown from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

Present rules require the college passer to be five yards behind the line of scrimmage when he tosses; the pro player can pass from anywhere behind the line.

"Even with this rule, the pros do most of their passing from at least five yards back," Coach Meyer points out. "The passer has to be back to see what he's doing, and the receiver has to have time to get down field."

"If the passer is going to fake a line back, then about the only type of pass he can throw is a basket pass to an end who comes around fast, for only a few yards gain."

"If the free passing rule of the pros should be adopted by the colleges, I believe it would be of more help to the running attack than to the passing. The threat of that quick, short pass from close up would loosen up the defense, particularly the line backers, and would thus tend to make the running game more effective."

Coach Meyer left Wednesday for New York City to attend a coaches' meeting, where the matter of changing the passing rule will be one item for discussion.

The out-of-bounds kick-off rule will also come up, and Coach Meyer indicates he would like to see a change made here.

"The intentional out-of-bounds kick-off that every team uses now has taken one of the big thrills out of the game," he comments.

"I'm not certain just what change should be made, but something should be done to bring action back to the kick-off."

Date at Annapolis Is Matter of Diet For Kay Hannifin

Prospects of a date with an Annapolis senior can make a girl do funny things. Kay Hannifin is the girl doing funny things in this case. Kay is going to Annapolis next week to see her brother graduate, and Pat, that's the brother, writes her that he has a date for her with a friend who is 6 feet 4.

Kay decides that this calls for a diet, so she will have that willowy, alluring look. There's nothing so unusual about all this except that Kay has a little different diet—she started out to eat nothing except vitamin and calcium pills for two weeks. That's all very fine, if you can do it, her friends pointed out.

The first day of this "fast" was May 18. "I was weak and hungry that day," says Kay, "but the next day wasn't quite so bad." Saturday she broke over and ate "just a few bites of Spam and carrots." Sunday, she fought her starvation with fruit juice. From then on, it was practically nothing to eat—just a few bites a day to keep going.

"The disgusting part," says Kay, "is that while I lost five pounds the first two days, and none since then, my sister, Betty," was worrying about me so, she lost eight pounds—and all that time she was eating!"

Coeds Take Over

In spite of the manpower shortage, there have been some 14 dances since school opened last fall, including such stand-out hops as the Freshman Prom, Presentation Ball, Leap Year Hop, Ranch Week dance and the Spring Formal.

Social activities, though, are much less prominent than in pre-war days. Coeds are taking a vital part in the war effort. You really have to search to find one who is not lending a hand in some manner. Part-time jobs down town, Guardette service, donating blood, helping with the care of children, teaching, vital office work—all are very much a part of the 1944 coed's daily routine.

Cougars Stop Hellcats, 9 to 0

Bluejackets, Crows, Cats Victors in Three Other Softball League Contests

The Halsey Cougars routed the King Hellcats, 9 to 0 Wednesday, to stop the Cat winning streak at six straight games. Hurler Al Barker of the Cougars, allowed only four hits, as he chalked up his fifth victory against one loss in the intramural softball race.

The Cougars had their big inning in the fourth frame, when they exploded with seven runs. Pitcher J. W. Pitt of the Cats was debited with his first defeat of the season.

Jackets Win 17 to 2

The Dewey Bluejackets continued their winning streak, paced by the pitching and hitting of F. S. Horton, with a 17-to-2 victory over the last place Nimitz Seadogs. The "Jackets" jumped on Seadog pitcher A. G. Slaydon in almost every inning, getting a total of 14 hits.

Not only hits but words flew thick and fast as the Farragut Crows pounded out a 11-to-7 victory over the fifth-place Goode Hall Frogs. The Crows got six runs in the sixth frame, to break a 5-to-5 deadlock. The Frogs made two tallies in the seventh inning but their last minute rally was short lived.

Cats Take Postponed Tilt

In a postponed league game played last Friday, the Hellcats defeated the Goode Hall Frogs 12 to 3. J. W. Pitt hurled for the victors, and Dick Geib was on the mound for the Goode Hall club.

Despite Wednesday's loss, the Hellcats still cling to first place, with the Cougars close behind in the No. 2 spot. The Bluejackets are in third place, the Crows occupy fourth, the Frogs are fifth and the Seadogs, who have yet to break into the victory column, are last.

Next Wednesday will see the Goode Hall Frogs vs. Seadogs, Cougars vs. Crows, and Hellcats vs. Bluejackets.

Sailors Rate "Tops" With Campus Pretties

Sailors, bless 'em, are everywhere you look on the campus these days—the busiest, most enthusiastic, best-lookin' bunch of fellas you ever saw.

Now there's JOE SMITH, a Casanova from Dallas, whom they tell us gets the name "Beau Brummel in Navy Blue" from his buddies. And there's BURL WHITAKER, J. B. CLARK, HERMAN BECKMAN and SONNY SORENSON, who are supposed to be woman-haters.

WIMPY ROBERTSON makes daily trips to the Post Office to get letters from "the" girl in Baylor. And ED CORNELIUS and NEILL McFARLAND spend their spare time arguing the respective merits of their future wives.

J. B. CLARK, who never had a date before coming to T. C. U., finally broke down and went to a picture show with a girl. The charmer was LAURA POWELL. Meanwhile, BILL BRADSHAW left one campus beauty stewing after he called her for a date on 45-minute notice. (He didn't get it, either.)

RUTH TAULBEE and MILT PERSSON are among those who are taking advantage of the perfect picnic weather. They were joined on their Saturday jaunt by S. P. REYNOLDS and ROSEMARY ERWIN and J. A. CAVANAUGH and DOROTHY RHEA. Incidentally, STUART ERLANGER and PEGGY WHITEHEAD are making it a twosome these days.

They say it's the uniform that gets 'em. Witness GEORGE GARTNER'S winning over PAT McKEE for the attention of BETTY JUNE THOMPSON. But some V-12ers have trouble with other uniforms—like Marines. Take, for example, RAYMOND SCALES and BILL BROWN, who are thinking about joining a lonely hearts club after a couple of little Foster Hall cuties left them flat for the Halls of Montezuma.

BOB LANDRY is the constant companion of HELEN WILLIAMS since she returned from the hospital. And we overheard a Foster Hall girl saying she certainly would like to know VANNIE COOK better. ESTELLE SOUTHWICK was more excited than DAVE HIBBARD last week about that medal.

VERNON MAYFIELD is at the naval hospital at Eagle Mountain Lake, recovering from an appendectomy. RAY WOOD is still anxiously awaiting the news on whether or not he passed his Coast Guard Academy entrance exam.

Parentetical remark: It's interesting to note how one V-12er takes up where another one leaves off. Example—the case of PAUL COLEMAN and ex STUART ALLEN with MARY GENE CARTER.

Goode Hall has sailors, too—only they're not exactly. BILL HALL and CHARLES MALOTTE are the Navy men who bunk there. They take turns being officer of the day.

Week-End Reports: KENNETH WOMACK and BILL SHUFORD were seen wandering around downtown, all alone except for a wolfish look in their eyes. . . . HARRY APETZ and FRANCES CLAPP were among the bus-riding crowds. . . . "LONG JOHN" STANDRIDGE (He'll be mad at us, too, for putting his name in the paper!) took his new pal—age, 4 years—along on his Saturday night date. Somebody explain that one.

Friendship is a wonderful thing, and BETTYMAE MCGONAGILL and MALCOLM WILSON have a mutual friend which gives them something to talk about. Oh, yeah?

Somebody was calling N. B. THOMAS the "mystery sailor" the other day. Seems he is playing the field so successfully that no one can ever figure out whom he'll pick on next.

Strictly civilian: FRANK CROW is worrying about when exams are going to be over. He's going to get married between trimesters to a T. S. C. W. coed. . . . HATTIE STANLEY is wearing Hicks Field cadet BILL JOHNSON'S air corps ring on the usual chain-around-the-neck that is so popular now. . . . MARCIA ARRINGTON of Texarkana is BETTY LOU COBB's guest this week. . . . KAY HANNIFIN will spend two weeks at Annapolis in June when her brother graduates from there.

Home Ecs Think Rationing Gives Practical Experience

By MARY LOU SLAY

Food rationing has its effects in T. C. U. classrooms too. "Girls in food courses in the home economics department must watch their ration points, or they will find themselves unable to serve the required demonstration meals," says Miss Bonnie Enlow.

The department is allowed a certain percentage of its prewar food consumption. This year the class in "Preparation and Serving of Foods" is larger than usual, and the ration points are fewer.

"But the situation gives the girls good practical experience," Miss Enlow comments. "They're up against the same problem the housewife is. Occasionally they discover that the points and their ideas as to menu do not come out even, and they learn to make adjustments."

The girls do their own shopping. Each member of the class plans, shops for and supervises the cooking of one formal dinner.

Unrationed foods, especially such unrationed meats as fish and chicken, have been served at most of the practice dinners this year. Cheese, or some other protein also is used as a meat substitute. Honey or molasses is used for sweetening in the place of sugar as often as possible.

"And the girls are not so generous with butter as they used to be in peace days," Miss Enlow adds. "Food rationing presents the same problems in home economics classes that it does in the home, which means that the students get an entirely practical training."

Council Plans

(Continued from Page 1) civilian—Bob Matheny. The Council agreed that in taking measures to protect both V-12 and civic interests on the campus, other campus groups—Foster Hall and town students—should have equal chance at representation.

If the amendment is ratified representatives from the four groups will be elected "within a week" by each of the four groups.

The second amendment proposed by the judiciary committee affects the qualifications for all student body officers, the president of the senior class and councilmen-at-large, places 1 and 2. According to the amendment, candidates for these offices would be allowed many as 120 hours credit, instead of the maximum of 105 now set forth in the constitution. The minimum hours for each of the offices is 84. The amendment would give graduating seniors a chance to serve in those positions.

The amendment also states that the president of the senior class shall "be a member of the following graduating class."

The regular student body election, at which new student body officers, councilmen-at-large and class officers are elected, will be held June 14. Petitions must be the hands of Miss Betty Jo Gamble, chairman of the election committee by Wednesday, June 7. Provisions also will be made for election of the four new representatives to the Council if the first of the proposed amendments is accepted by the student body.

Chubby Shatters Betty Lou's Faith, Doesn't Show up

Chubby Curtis, 10-year-old Alice Carlson School student is (or perhaps "was" is the better word) a great friend of Miss Betty Lou Cobb.

Several evenings ago, Chubby came by to see Betty Lou and very pointedly made a date for the next evening. He wanted her to visit his home, stopping by the Drug first. Chubby even consented to drop by the Drug again on the way back if his finances held out.

Betty Lou accepted, and the date was set for 8 o'clock. She dressed for the occasion, even tried a new hair-do and wore high heels. Then she began to wait and wait and wait. No Chubby!

It's the first time Betty Lou has been stood up and her faith in men is shattered.
