

THE DAILY MAIL, LONDON.

*Telegrams, Daily Mail, London.
Telephone, Central 6000.*

*Editorial Department,
Northcliffe House, E.C.4.*

17th February, 1928.

My dear Amon Carter,

Since my return to London I have been sorting out my impressions of the visit to the United States and Canada - 15,000 miles in seventy days.

Thanks largely to your infectious hospitality and the kindness of your friends and fellow citizens, I find myself thinking mainly of Fort Worth. That Sunday was a day of days for myself and my colleagues. You made us realise something of the lively Texas of our imaginings.

I am sending you a piece of silver for your sideboard at "Shady Oak Farm", hoping that the names inscribed thereon will recall to you a little group of people who

THE DAILY MAIL, LONDON.

Telegrams, Daily Mail, London.
Telephone, Central 6000.

Editorial Department,
Northcliffe House, E.C.4.

most heartily wish you well.

Believe me,

Yours very faithfully,

W. Churchill

RECEIVED

MAR 3 1928