GLORIOUS REVENGE TAKEN ON AUSTIN

With All the Players in the Game It Was Not a Hard Matter to Win.

"FUZZY'S" MEN VICTORIOUS

The Austin Collegians Put Up a Good Contest for a Defeat—They Did Well.

FRIDAY'S GAME.

Cooper's Three-Base Drive and Bettison's Single Score Lone Run.

With Roy Morton pitching in old-time form, with perfect support by his teammates, the Sherman collegians were helpless Friday. Hudson was hit by a pitched ball in the second inning, but died on first. Wilson got on in like manner in the third but Bettison's throw to Graves killed him by yards on an attempt to steal. Richards hit over center field for two bases—the only hit Austin secured—in the fifth—but could advance no further. After that no man saw first.

Lowry, who had pitched the Presbyterians to victory at Sherman, was also chary with hits. He allowed two in succession in the seventh, however which lost him the game. Cooper hit to right center for three bases and scored on Bettison's single before a man was out. "Eetty" stole second and went to third on Dodd's sacrifice, but died at the plate when Graves hit the pitcher; a fast double play from Lowry to Richards to Hudson getting both men.

T. C. U. had other promising chances to score in the first, third and eighth innings, but Lowry pulled out, without danger, using strike-outs to good effect. Lamonica drew a life in the first inning on Wilson's error—the only one in the game. Query walked and both advanced on Cooper's infield out. Bettison fanned, however.

In the third Lamonica hit over center for three bases after Morton had fouled out, but Sorey's hot one to short was too fast for him to score on it, and Gillespie snagged Query's line drive. "Shorty" by the way played unlucky in both games. Then in the eighth Lamonica snapped a hard grounder down the left foul line, and stole second and third. Sorey hit a slow one to Gillespie, who nailed him by a fraction of an inch. Thus it was that only one run was scored, but one was enough to win, so nobody mourned.

RECEPTION GIVEN TO CLASS OF 1912

GAMES GIVE FUN FOR ALL

Prizes Were Awarded for Each Event of the Evening During Reception.

The Junior class was royally entertained at the home of their class professor last Friday evening. The announcement of the entertainment was received with an anticipation of a rare treat, but it was not expected that the occasion would exceed anything in the annals of T. C. U.'s history. The fun began when the programs showed that the nature of the games was an indoor track meet. Every phase of the regular meet was used except that there was more enthusiasm than at a field contest.

The one-yard dash, won by Harriette Shirley, caused so much excitement that most of the others forgot their parts. A marshmallow was tied to the end of a string one yard long and the contest was to get the marshmallow and string into the mouth without using the hands. The winner very cleverly wrapped the string around her tongue, and after a few quick motions all was over.

The crowning event of the evening came when a football game was started. The noise and cheering aroused all the neighbors, and before long quite a crowd had gathered to witness the show. At the complete exhaustion of all participants the entertainment was stopped, refreshments served and Prof. and Mrs. Cockrell were complimented as being the most successful entertainers of the year.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

To Be Addressed by Prof. Ellsworth Paris, Friday Afternoon.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Ministerial Association Friday afternoon in Prof. Hamner's recitation room at 4 o'clock, Prof. Ellsworth E. Paris will address the ministerial students. This address will be very beneficial to all young preachers, and a full attendance of the membership is desired.

Austin College came, was "shown" and conquered. They went down in defeat in two of the prettiest, fastest cleanest games that have been played in Fort Worth this season. These games, the outcome of which tinged the T. C. U. atmosphere with joyousness and pride, were played Friday and Saturday.

The clouds which had hung over the baseball for days had been dissipated and the resultant relief showed in the playing of the team. They played with the spirit, the zest and confidence that reminded one of days of old; brought up memories of '09 and '10 and all the teams of other years which fought all odds undaunted and in the end, stood pre-eminent. And Austin College fought hard, too they play nice, clean ball and are a fine set of boys—the kind of team it is a pleasure to play against.

The Yale Dramatic Association has a fund of $10,629 for the purpose of building a theatre.

Y. M. C. A. HAVING MUCH INFLUENCE

Young Men's Christian Association Is Getting Results in Their Work.

IS A GREAT ORGANIZATION

Words from a Prominent Y. M. C. A. Man That Knows from Experience What Is True.

The Y. M. C. A. in its last meeting brought out some of the best thoughts that have been given lately. The boys rose and expressed themselves at random, with a message on their lips. They spoke directly from their hearts with the feeling that they were interested in the students and the world as a whole. The subject was "Jesus and Character." In addition to the fine points that the students brought out it is well to insert the words of a noted Y. M. C. A. worker, and tell some of his ideas of character, for it is conceded that character is only a symbol for the things that we do. The habit of doing right is gained the character will take care of itself.

The following is an article from J. Wilbur Meeser:

"Horace Mann once said: 'After the age of twenty-one few men commence a course of virtue or abandon one of vice.' Scientific research has shown that nine-tenths of the habits that last a man through life are formed before he is out of his teens. 'What is really needed,' says Gladstone, 'is to light up the spirit that is within a young man. There is in every young man the material for good work in the world. In every one not only in those who are quick, but in those who are stolid, and even those who are dull, or seem to be dull.

In view of such statements it is not surprising to find the Young Men's Christian Association alive to its opportunity of enlisting the active interest and service of boys in their teens. Boys of this age are likely to go somewhere, if they have any go in them. If they do not go right, they must go wrong. The Association makes it as easy as possible to do right, and as hard as possible to do wrong. The destructive forces of society reap their largest fruitage among the young. On the other hand the adolescent period is the time when the boy is most responsive to the divine impulse which he finds within him for the higher and truer life. The Association believes that in every boy there is a latent potential Christ. For this reason the Association seeks to supplement the home, the church and the school in the supreme and strategic work of preoccupying the life of the boy with such activities and forces to insure his religious inheritance. The young should be regarded as the preferred class. The best resources of the Association should therefore be available for this fundamental and fruitful service.

Mrs. Cockrell, Texas Christian University, will give an Easter sale and exhibit of hand-painted china in parlor "A" of Westbrook Hotel, Friday, April 14, 1911, 4 to 6 and 8 to 10. Everybody is invited to attend.

Dabbs will take your order for a Royal suit. Samples have come.

The importance of continuing the work begun until the last day of the commencement exercises is worthy of mention. Many students, especially of the first year in school, will likely be making preparations for leaving school as soon as the examinations are completed. This is a serious mistake. I hope that all that contemplate such will rearrange the plans to allow them to enjoy the most pleasant portion of the school year, the commencement week. No studies, no restrictions, nothing difficult to do, but an enjoyment and sociability and delightful entertainments and exercises of different sorts. Above all, the class exercises for all of the classes will be of special interest to all. Instead of thinking of leaving, you should prepare to have your friends and parents to be here with you. Then the three long summer months of vacation will be all too long before school begins again.

It was reported in the Fort Worth Record that the T. C. U. baseball team would dissolve, and that most of the players would go to different leagues of the State and elsewhere, but nothing of the case is true. We are glad to assure the old students, friends of the University and the public as a whole who read the Record and the Skiff, and are interested in the team, that the team is not what it is reported to be, but is as loyal to the school as any team that we ever had. And furthermore, that we have as good a number of players as we ever had before. We are proud of them, not only because of their playing qualities, but they are fine fellows personally. Those looking forward to the results of the future games of the team in the State may rest assured that T. C. U. will have her share of the victories.

Now is the time for all the literary societies to get busy for the furnishing of their halls in the new building, for next year. The work has but one time in which to be done, and during the summer is the best time, so that the regular work can be started at the beginning of the fall term. Otherwise the meeting will be delayed necessarily, for lack of preparations for a meeting place. Too much preparation in advance cannot be done for such important a work. Begin planning now for the future society of next year.

The Skiff receives a number of good exchanges from colleges of different ranks. Many State Universities of good ranking are exchanging with the Skiff; and such papers as Talane and Drake are worthy papers. Anyone who desires to see these numbers at any time may call at room 6, the headquarters of the Skiff. You will find the daily Columbia Spectator, from the University of Columbia, in the library. If it is interesting to you, others will be placed therein also.

The Russian Symphony Orchestra that is to be here Thursday evening and night, April 20, is worthy of your hearing. This is the second tour of this orchestra in America. If you have any appreciation of music at all you should see and hear these players and singers. This side of the musical education is worthy of your efforts. Especially if you expect to be a good musician, you must know what good music is.

Begin preparing for the Missionary Convention that is going to be held in Fort Worth in May. It will be the time for the formal laying of the cornerstone of T. C. U. Have your parents to come to witness the thing that is interesting to all of us. Great addresses by good speakers and interesting reports from missionaries will be given at the same time.

Mrs. Cockrell of Texas Christian University gives an Easter sale and china exhibit next Friday, one week from tomorrow, April 14, in Parlor "A" of the Westbrook Hotel. The hours will be 4 to 6, and the reception proper will be from 8 to 10. This exhibit will be a treat to all. Everybody is invited.

GLORIOUS REVENGE ON AUSTIN

ton 9; time of game 1:18; left on bases, Austin College 2, T. C. U. 4; umpire, Simpson.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

Pinch Hitting Wins for T. C. U.
Sorey Gets Homer.

The golden haired lad named Wetzel pitched for the visitors Saturday and "Slimothy" Haislip served T. C. U. in like capacity. The game, which was played at Butz Park, was just as good in its way as that of the preceding day. Both teams hit somewhat better, and more errors were made, these being wild throws due to the slippery ball. The difference was that T. C. U. hit in the pinches three times and Austin College but once. Beautiful team work by the Purple and White when men were on bases was a feature.

Lamonica was hit by a pitched ball in the second. Sorey's attempted sacrifice went into the air and Hudson smothered it. Quiry hit a slow one to Gillespie and Lamonica, who tried to take third on the play, was tagged between the bases, Shorty going to second. Wilson threw bad on Cooper's tap and Bettison walked, filling the bases, with two down. Then Dodd delivered a long drive in Fuller's territory and two men counted.

Austin College came back in the second. With one down Williams walked and Richards connected with a high one over the short right field fence for two bases. Then Fuller hit over third base and both base runners scored.

Lamonica's single and Sorey's drive over the fence broke the tie in the fifth. A walk to Daniel, Haislip's infield out and Lamonica's two-bagger to center added another in the seventh.

The prettiest feature of the game was the way T. C. U. held runners on second while throwing men out at first. Quiry and Haislip figured in this way in the seventh, after Wetzel had hit one that struck the top of the fence in home-run territory, but bounced back inside. Bettison's throw to second in the fourth when Wetzel was on third and Wilson, who had bunted safe, tried to go down, relieved a critical situation. Cooper featured again with two splendid catches.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The irreparable loss of the great collections and priceless treasures of the New York State Library is a world wide misfortune—and example. When the fire started at a bookcase in the Assembly library a ready fire extinguisher, a nearby alarm or a better organized watch service might have stopped the blaze with a few dollars loss. Books do not burn easily, but wooden shelves do, and soon the books become tumbled heaps of kindling.

The library is indebted to Mr. Bonner Frizzell, '09, a student of Journalism in the Columbia University, New York City, for the "Columbia Spectator," an eight page daily paper. We are glad to add this to our reading list.

Thurman Allen, '10, was at the University for a few days this week; he has been touring the State with the Dixie Quartette.

Prof. Sutton has returned from his trip in South Texas.

Roy Tomlinson will leave for the Prohibition Oratorical Contest in Waxahatchie, today.

It is desirable that the Skiff be more a representative paper than it is. It has been tried for nine years, in the same plan that it is now working, but it is too much the paper of a few. The editor and the few that act on the staff, are the supporters, with but few exceptions. There should be some plan by which the paper could be made more interesting by the students as a whole.

It has been suggested that if the students elect the editors that a better paper can be made. That may be true, but the danger of politics entering into the student affairs is exceedingly dangerous. And unless a positive method be reached by which politics be absolutely excluded, the matter had better stay in the hands of the faculty as it now stands.

The Texas State University paper, the "Texan," was referred to as an example of a paper whose editors were elected by the students, and it is true that the "Texan" is run under almost the most miserable political scheme possible. The school is working now to rid itself of the present condition. The plan simply to allow the students to run the paper without any other definite plans, by which the paper could be carried on, better than it is done now in the State University would be a failure.

But there is a plan in existence that is carried out by the students, and without the politics, and that is the competitive system. The plan is simply to give the editorship to a competent man and let him select the reporters from the freshman class by competition, in their tryout in reporting. Then from the next class select the associate editors by the same plan. And from the junior class he should select the assistant editor. And then as his term expires he should go into the office of President, which would give him the power to select the editor by competition in editing the paper. In the hands of the president of the paper should be given the note book of the calendar of university dates. In fact he should have all the information possible, in every department of the university and keep before the student body the coming events. He should be able to warn them of anything of interest that in the present condition is impracticable. Then the president once in office with the experience should decide the different contests for reporter, associates, assistants, etc. After the system is once established the best reporters contest for associates, and the best associates contest for assistants, and the best assistants contest for the best editor.

This plan is above politics if it is carried on properly. The interest of the president is for the best paper possible and he will not allow anything that would interfere with his plans come in the way.

The following articles from heads of other papers give the conditions in their school concerning the same manner of competition:

"The Crimson is run under the following system: In the last half of the freshman year, and the first and second halves of the sophomore year, there are competitors for places on the editorial board, about four men being taken out at each competition. From these ordinary editors a short competition is held to elect three assistant managing editors, who have the work of getting out the paper two nights a week. Their duties include corrections of stories brought in by the candidates, and the general set-up and heading of the paper.

At the end of each half year, the best one of these men is elected as managing editor for the succeeding half year. This choice is based principally upon the quality of the trial editorials which have been handed in to the President, as well as on his faithfulness and exactness in the technical work of getting out the pa-

RECITAL SOON BY GLEE CLUB

PROF. CUPRIEN IS DIRECTOR

Prof. Cuprien is Putting Forth Special Efforts to Get the Club in Shape.

The University Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Cuprien, the professor of voice in the Music department, will be ready for a recital soon. The club is progressing nicely. The practices are proving exceedingly profitable. Several new numbers are being worked up for the oncoming program. No time is lost in the preparation, both on the part of the club and the director.

It is not often that the students have the pleasure of hearing a good college glee club, but we are assured that we will have a treat when the club renders its recital soon. The music is the snappiest, classiest and latest selection. Although some of the old songs that are dear to all lovers of the glee club will be rendered.
