Calendar Adjustment Probable Change Necessary in Order To Accommodate Students Assigned Here by Navy

Some adjustment in the University calendar will probably be necessitated in order to take care of the several hundred students who will be assigned to T. C. U. by the Navy "on or about July 1," President M. E. Sadler reports. "The University, in its calendar for the school year 1943-44, will work in harmony with the other three institutions of higher learning—Texas, Rice and S. M. U.—which have been selected under the Navy V-12 program," President Sadler says.

"It seems now that these four institutions will synchronize the bulk of their class work with the time schedule which the Navy sets up for the College Training Program, and will begin a semester's work on or about July 1."

President Sadler stressed, however, that matters now are still in the discussion stage and that no definite plan has been worked out.

"In any event, it seems probable now that the regular summer session, as cataloged, will be held," Dean Colby D. Hall adds. "We want to provide for our regular summer clientele and for those regular students who need the credit to graduate in August and for admission to professional schools."

Gough Contest Has 4 Entries

Four entries for the Gough Oratorical Contest, April 16, had been accepted by Prof. Lew D. Fallis at noon yesterday.

Those who have already entered, with the subjects of their orations, are as follows: Earl C. Kirkpatrick, "Politics in the U. S.;" Lloyd Allen, "The Student's Part in the War;" Virgel Frasier, "Youth in Wartime;" and James M. Moudy, "On Being a Good Citizen."

Several others, who have turned in their names as entries but have not indicated the subjects of their addresses, must turn in their subjects today, says Prof. Fallis.

First prize in the contest will be a $25 gold medal and $25 in cash, presented by Dr. Roy H. Gough, sponsor of the contest. A second and a third prize are offered by the University.

Dr. W. C. Morro's Family Gives Library 400 Books

The family of Dr. W. C. Morro has presented to the Mary Couts Burnett Library approximately 400 volumes dealing with religious material.

The books were formerly Dr. Morro's personal library. Among them are "The Greek-English Lexicon" compiled by Liddell and Scott; a complete set of the "Encyclopedia of Religion and Ethics"; Hastings' "Dictionary of Christ and the Gospels" and his "Dictionary of the Bible"; and "The International Standard Bible Encyclopedia."

Another gift was recently made to the Library by Bruce L. Melvin of Dallas. Mr. Melvin is a friend of Dr. C. Allen True, now on leave of absence. The gift was about thirty books and numerous periodicals, some of them completing library files. The books and periodicals deal chiefly with the field of sociology.

Election Change Is Announced

Constitution to Get Vote
Wednesday--Petitions Due
April 14, Balloting April 29

Because of the possible changes in the semester system here, the election for ratification of the proposed new student body constitution will be held from 9 a. m. until 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The election was scheduled for last Wednesday but was postponed until some war-time clause could be added. Voting will take place in front of the Auditorium.

Deadline for petitions has been extended until Wednesday, April 14, to meet the emergency situation. Annual spring elections for student body and class officers will be held Thursday, April 29.

Added to the list of petitions submitted are those of Sam Weatherford for senior class president and Miss Gerlyne Schmidt for secretary of the student body.

Those previously turned in are: Miss Billie Jean Boney for editor of The Skiff; Miss Virginia Churchill for editor of the Horned Frog; Miss Lorna Culp for Council Place 1; Miss Elizabeth Epperson for secretary-treasurer of the senior class.

T. C. U.'s representative at the University of Texas Round-up today and tomorrow is Miss Olga Atkinson, pictured below. Miss Atkinson is also one of the freshman favorites. She is being escorted at the Round-up by Mike Harter.

Dinner April 30 Planned to Honor Dean Colby Hall

Dean Colby D. Hall will be honored April 30 at an "appreciation dinner" to be given at the Colonial Hills Country Club by the "T. C. U. family."

Members of the Board of Trustees, faculty members, alumni and ex-students, and students are eligible to attend the dinner.

Prof. Will M. Winton will serve as toastmaster. Other program details are being arranged and will be announced later.

Prof. J. Willard Ridings is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Other committee members include President Emeritus E. M. Waits, S. W. Hutton, Winton, Gayle Scott, S. P. Ziegler, Miss Eula Lee Carter, William P. Baker, Mrs. Sadie Beckham, Warren Day and Miss Hazel Nelson.

Pictures of Clarks Moved From Jarvis to Library

Pictures of Addison and Randolph Clark which formerly hung in Jarvis Hall have been reframed and are now hanging on the north wall of the Library.

Poetry, Short Story, Drama Open to All Students—Entry Deadline Is Set at May 5

Awards for the Annual Creative Writing Contests will be made at the "Creative Arts Day Assembly" May 21.

Deadline for the contests has been set as May 5. There are three contests open to all students in the University. These are the Walter E. Bryson poetry contest, short story contest and the drama contest. First place winners in each will be awarded $10.

The prize for the poetry contest is given by Mrs. Artemisia Bryson. Not more than two entries should be submitted by each contestant. The poems entered by one student must not total more than 200 lines.

Soph Dance To Be April 10

Hawaiian Dancer, Stage-Door Follies, Cuspidor
Fours to Entertain Class

The Sophomore Prom will be held April 10 in the Basketball Gymnasium with Kenneth Vaughn's orchestra furnishing the music. Price of admission is $1.25 a couple or stag.

Tickets can be bought now from Misses Barbara Bundoock, Beverly Boswell and June Dameron; Derrell Tipps, Bennie Post, John Watkins, Bill Michero and Scott Hall.

Those in charge of decorations are Misses Georgia Barnes, Beverly Boswell, Bonnie Hall and Barbara Bundoock; Doug Kenny, Dick Gieb and John Watkins.

The entertainment will include an Hawaiian dancer, the "Stage Door Follies" and the Cuspidor Fours.

Dean Hall to Address Brite Assembly Wednesday

"The Price of Resurrection" will be the subject of Dean Colby D. Hall in the first of a series of talks for Brite assembly at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

April 14 Dean Hall will speak on "The Passion for the Resurrection." "The Power of the Resurrection" will be his subject April 21.

The student committee is Eulis Hill, Weems Dykes and Hal Siros.

Morro Tribute Paid in Brite

A memorial chapel service was held for Dr. W. C. Morro at Brite College of the Bible Wednesday morning. President Emeritus E. M. Waits presided and Miss Gwendolyn James was the organist.

A "Statement of Belief," written by Dr. Morro a few years ago, was read. "Goin' Home" was played on the organ which Dr. Morro assisted in raising the funds to buy.

Two appreciation messages were presented. Dean Colby D. Hall spoke on "Our Comrade in Service" and Eulis H. Hill on "A Student's Appreciation." Dr. Clinton Lockhart gave a prayer of appreciation and dedication and Dr. William V. Roosa gave the benediction.

Rev. Morgan of Houston Will Preach Sunday

The Rev. Thurman Morgan, pastor of the Heights Christian Church, Houston, will preach at the Sunday morning service of the University Christian Church. The Rev. Mr. Morgan is a member of the board of trustees of Brite College of the Bible.

The choir will sing the anthem, "Come Unto Me," by Chadwick.

Dr. A. L. Porterfield will speak on "I Was There When They Crucified My Lord" at Evensong at 7:15 p. m. Sunday.

A negro spiritual, "Were You There?" will be sung by Arthur Arney. Miss Elizabeth Biser will give the interpretative reading.

Profs, Students Pit Brain vs. Brain As Campus Goes 'Information Please'

By BILLIE JEAN BONEY

March is wonderful and the breezes are fine, but what they blow in are akin to Lil Abner's "Unmentionables." Exams are the reference, although no explanation is necessary.

They represent the pitting of one brain against another in an elusive sort of way. The teacher's quick, college-trained mind is tested by each student to see how much said student can convince said teacher what he knows when he really doesn't know anything. Especially does he not know anything about whatever the test covers!

For example, a student may know his physics but not his economics, so the smart thing to do (and this is what actually takes place) is to make examples for all your answers using very deep, intelligent-looking scientific phrases.

Then offer a quiet prayer that the eco prof knows less about physics than the student.

In this case the prof is likely to give his student credit for having a mind quick enough to make a comparison between two such unlike subjects—he might even think maybe the student is barely short of being a genius. This last is doubtful but it's worth a try—what now-a-days isn't?

The prof's point of view is that exams are not a trick to trip the student into nervous hysteria nor are they always a check to see how much the students know. It is a scheme to teach the student to think, to reason "under fire" so to speak.

That phrase "under fire" just about hits the nail on the head. It's an established fact that all but the best-trained will hit his thumb with the hammer when he tries to drive a nail—so the student socks his grade down a couple of letters when he tries to hammer his 10 cents' worth of knowledge (not 10 cents' worth literally!) into the prof's million dollar (here is question for rather heated dispute) head.

But why keep beefing about something that is a tradition yet isn't—it's too well established to be mere tradition! T. C. U.ites are thru with them for a while and this is little more than a plea to the respective profs to "Be a sport. Consider the nervous strain we are all under, remember that you were taking exams once and recall what it did when that flunk showed up on your card."

T. C. U. profs are the best in the world! (Note to students only: How do you like them apples?)

Black Robes of '43

Commencements have come and gone for a number of years.

The word in itself represents time and happenings. It means the end of four years' work. It stands for accomplishment in scholarship, leadership and character. It means the parting of the way for friends—both students and professors.

Commencement stands for the unveiling of new horizons for eager young persons. Some girls choose marriage, others careers. The graduating boys go into their chosen field.

That is Commencement under ordinary circumstances—Commencement prior to Dec. 7, 1941.

As the final curtain closes on this year's graduating class, a different scene presents itself. Commencement still means the fine things it always has. But the horizons are different.

When the seniors of 1943 assemble at Honeysuckle Arbor May 31, several black robes will be missing. The persons who should be wearing them are dressed in uniforms instead. They are away fighting for those horizons of yesterday.

The seniors of 1943 are proud of their absent members. As they walk across the platform to receive their diplomas, the picture of T. C. U. in all its glory will be in their minds. Perhaps uppermost in the thoughts of all will be the rich blue stars and the shining gold ones on the service flag representing those who would have been here had not times changed since their freshman days.

Classroom Thinkers

Perhaps you are one of these persons who believes they can read peoples thoughts. The next time you are in a classroom, look around you and see if you actually can tell what your fellow students are thinking about.

First, you will notice the real thinker. He's the person sitting on the first row and he absorbs every word the professor utters. By listening so closely, he actually gets something from his courses.

Then there is the fellow who pretends he is listening, but who has his thoughts miles away. The teacher calls out his name and he can immediately enter the discussion as if he had heard every word that had been said.

Third, there's the person who never thinks. He comes to class and settles down for a nap. The roll has been checked and he has been marked present, so why should he listen to what is being said.

There's also a person sitting close by who says things without thinking. He impresses the professor by just talking.

You will notice also the student who racks his brain for a thought. He scratches and scratches his head, and then says with a bewildered look, "I did know the answer, but I can't think of it now."

Train Them Right!

"All work and no play makes Jill a dull girl."

The type of "play" dished out in gym classes keeps the Jills from being dull, but does, definitely, keep them sore.

No girl objects to the exercises or to the rounds of marching that come three times a week. In fact, the exercising has made them realize the value of such ability and has given rise to "night" classes on the Foster sun porch and in their rooms.

They do, however, object to different instructors three times a week with their different methods of training.

Marching orders can be given by anyone trained to give them, but no two instructors give exercises alike. If one instructor would take one class and gradually increase the amount of exercises and introduce more difficult ones as the class is ready, she would gain progress and not pains.

The Jills will not object—it is unpatriotic to do so. But if it is patriotic to train them, then it is more patriotic to train them right!

Spring Is Wonderful

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy lightly turns to love.

Spring is the time when folks put away their winter clothes and then freeze to death for another month.

Spring is the time when the athlete feels baseball in the air and then has to go to bed with sore and aching muscles.

Spring is the time when flowers begin to bud and hay-fever victims sneeze and asthma patients wheeze.

Spring is the time when the student gets that famous fever and has an excuse for not studying.

Spring is the time when boys go without their shirts to get sunburned and do—usually to the blister stage.

Spring is the time when girls come out in their new clothes and boys in their old ones.

Spring is wonderful!

Dr. James Clark Streett, assistant professor of biology, who was drafted into the army early in November, has been promoted to first lieutenant. Lieut. Streett tried to enlist in various branches of the service immediately after Pearl Harbor, but was rejected because of poor eyesight. When drafted, he was sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he served in the sanitary corps and later in the disinfectant school and laboratories. He is now serving as a physiologist in the Army Medical Corps Aviation Division at Randolph Field.

Play Program to Get Under Way Monday With Four Divisions

A "Play Program" will get under way Monday, under the supervision of Dutch Meyer, for all male students in the school who wish to take part.

One hour each day, except Saturday and Sunday, will be spent in some sort of sport. Softball, relay races, tug o'war and obstacle course races are the main divisions of the program. These sports will be rotated in the week's work.

First meeting will be at 4 p. m. Monday on the Navy Obstacle Course, Coach Meyer reports.

"It is the hope that every able bodied boy in school will enter into the program. An hour of good exercise each day will help keep the boys in good physical shape," says Meyer.

The boys will be divided into two groups—Purple and White—and competition will be between these two. If enough boys turn out, four softball games may be played at one time, with a composite score kept to determine the day's winner.

"Relays and 50-yard sprints will be the main events stressed in track, but if any boys wish to try out in jumping, weight or other track events they may do so. If a boy shows up well enough that he might place in the conference meet, the school will send him," Coach Meyer adds.

The program will last until the middle of May.

S. C. A. Groups to Meet Monday, Tuesday Night

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Mundhenke's S. C. A. group will meet at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the Administration Building before going to the Mundhenke home, 3184 Westcliff Road West, for a meeting.

Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Sherer's group and the social service group will meet Tuesday night. The group will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the Administration Building and go to the Sherer home for its meeting.

The social service group has set its meeting for 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the home of Chester Gleason, 3007 Greene Street.

Ensign Killian to Spend Week's Leave With Parents

Ensign Harden Killian, Jr., B. S. in Commerce '42, will arrive by plane tomorrow from Boston to spend a week's leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harden J. Killian. Killian, who is in the Naval Supply Corps, will finish a special training course at Harvard University today. He was president of the T. C. U. student body last year.

Rodney Glasscock to Speak At Homiletic Wednesday

Rodney Glasscock will speak on "The Problem of Attendance in the Small Church School" at a meeting of Homiletic Guild at noon Wednesday in the Alcove of the Cafeteria. Discussion will follow the talk.

Clyde Nichols will be chairman for the day.

IRC to Hear Burch Talk On 'Situation in Far East'

Prof. C. A. Burch will speak to the International Relations Club when it meets at 7 o'clock Wednesday night.

Theme of the discussion will be "The Present Situation in the Far East." The meeting will be held in Room 203, Administration Building.

Purples Win Grid "Game"

Stout, Bond, McCollum Look Good—Woodfin and Porter Have Busy Day

A final scrimmage under game conditions Saturday afternoon concluded spring training, with the "Purple" eleven downing the "Whites" 13 to 0.

Players were shuffled first on one team and then another by Coach Dutch Meyer, so in reality nobody actually won anything.

James Woodfin was the only center, so he had to play offense all day. Ralph Porter backed up the line in the center position the entire afternoon on defense.

Pete Stout was the shining light on offense. He scored one touchdown for the Purple with the second string in front of him. Big John Bond also was in his top practice form. Capt. Bob McCollum's blocking was another high point on the final drill.

The other Purple tally came against what Dutch might have thought was his best team. James Lucas passed to Hicks Daniels for the score.

Dr. Hewatt Revives Class With Picnic After Quiz

Dr. Willis G. Hewatt has the right idea as to ways and means of rejuvenating his students after the ordeal of midsemester examinations.

Seeing the condition of his comparative anatomy class after their quiz, he concluded that something should be done.

"We all came out with our heads hanging and our brows fevered," says Miss Mary Ann Massey.

The class was treated to a picnic at Forest Park Wednesday, courtesy of Dr. Hewatt.

Palmer Pitches Seniors To Intramural Ball Lead

By RICHARD MOORE

Behind the shutout pitching of Derrell Palmer, the Senior ten Wednesday vaulted into undisputed possession of first place in the intramural softball race, defeating the Sophs 3-0.

In the other contest, the Juniors moved into a tie for second place, staging a two-run seventh inning rally to win, 2-1, over a fighting Frosh team.

The Seniors' tallies were all unearned. Nevertheless, the Sophs showed little offensive power, getting but three hits off Palmer, and no man reaching third.

A walk and a four-base error gave the Senior team two runs in the third. They added the final tally on another error, a stolen base and a two-base miscue.

The Frosh ten kept the big guns of the Juniors quiet for six innings, but two walks and a two-base error in the seventh gave the Juniors two runs and the game.

The two games were a "Pitcher's Paradise" as far as hits and runs were concerned. Savage gave up two hits, both in the seventh frame, fanned eleven and allowed six walks. Pat Wright was the losing hurler for the Frosh.

Palmer struck out eight, gave up four free passes and allowed only three singles. Billy Hearne was the Sophs losing pitcher.

Next Wednesday, the undefeated Seniors meet the Frosh ten, and the Juniors play the victorless Sophs.

Harry's Face Red As Beet! His Keys In Girls' Lounge

That masculine face that looks as if it were a juicy beet fresh out of a victory garden belongs to Harry Ward.

It seems that Harry lost his set of keys Tuesday to his car, house and the School of Business. Unable to locate them, he secured the help of Miss Rosemary Erwin.

Miss Erwin finally found the keys—in the Girls' Lounge!

Ward firmly declares he is innocent. He doesn't know how in the world the keys could have possibly got in the Girls' Lounge.

Nevertheless, his face has been a shade red.

Funniest sight of the final day spring training was that of old man of football, James Woodfin.

"Three Hair" had to play every down and was on offense every play, since he was the only center available. The height of his griping came when two straight 75-yard quick kicks were called on two successive downs by the opposing quarterbacks. There went James "racing" up the field following the first boot. He then changed jerseys, centered the ball to the other team and "raced" 75 yards back down the field after quick kick No. 2. James' opinion of the two plays is not acceptable for print.

Several of the more rabid baseball enthusiasts may try to join with one of the city baseball teams which will play twice a week. Those boys plan to stay and work in Fort Worth this summer and will be available for play during the entire summer campaign of the city league.

Another group hopes to get up a softball team of Frog players. Coach Dutch Meyers' "Play Program" ought to get the boys' batting eyes and fielding pegs down. Dutch plans to start the program with softball for an hour each afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock Monday.

Spring Activities to Bring Relief After Exam Siege

By EDLEEN ARMSTRONG and MARY ALLENE JONES

Lads and lassies will be coming from beneath their books tomorrow as another siege of midsemester exams come to an end. For about eight weeks, they will be foot-loose and fancy-free from studying; then cramming will start all over again for finals.

Until then, however, worried looks and frowns will disappear. Plans for spring activities are getting under way. Parties and picnics will fill everyone's social calendar until it is cram-time again.

The social whirl will start again tomorrow night when the Campus Club will entertain service men with a formal dance at the Elks Club. The theme will be "April showers bring May flowers." A short program, which will include pantomime and a song, will be given at intermission.

Tuesday night, the annual B. C. B. banquet will be held at the University Christian Church. Dr. Graham Frank of Dallas will be the principal speaker.

With spring in the air, no one wants to be a "stay-at-home." All parties, picnics and dances are sure to be a big success as long as finals are eight weeks away.

Miss Betty Pecor, contralto, will be guest soloist on the "Sunday Serenade" program over station KGKO at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

'Rain' to Be Theme Of 8th Art Exhibit

"Rain" will be the theme of the eighth in a series of exhibitions of paintings by Prof. S. P. Ziegler which will be given in the "Little Gallery," beginning Monday and lasting through May 1.

The show will include 20 canvasses, most of them recent ones.

"The subjects reflect many variations of the theme, from ordinary rain scenes to the more spectacular nature demonstrations associated with rain and weather," says Prof. Ziegler. "The color keys are as varied as the subjects," he adds.

Included among the paintings are such subjects as Noah's ark in the flood, a waterspout, a bomber grounded in rain, storms, etc.

The titles include "Rainy Weather Accessories," a still life of a slicker, galoshes and umbrella; "Rain in the Ozarks," "Rain in Rivercrest," "Trailer Camp in the Rain," "Sailing in the Mist," painted at Lake Worth, "Bus Stop on a Rainy Night," "Rain at the Circus" and others.

Bible Teacher Writes Poetry, Plays Music—

Dr. Lockhart, Here Since '06, Still Rates High On Campus

By VIRGINIA CHURCHILL

Dr. Clinton Lockhart, recently retired faculty member, has long been known to the T. C. U. students. He's that special kind of teacher who is the "grand old pal" to every student as the years come and go.

Dr. Lockhart came to T. C. U. in Waco in 1906 as president and teacher. He held this position until 1910, when the school in Waco burned and was moved to Fort Worth. At this time he resigned as president of the University, but continued as a teacher in Bible.

For the past 50 years Dr. Lockhart has been teaching some phase of Bible work in the different colleges. He taught in Drake University in Des Moines, Ia., and at Culver-Stockton in Canton, Mo., before coming to T. C. U.

He received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from Kentucky University, which is now Transylvania University and his Ph. D. from Yale in 1893. Mrs. Lockhart studied art in Yale while Dr. Lockhart was studying. She sold several of her paintings done there and taught painting in the school where Dr. Lockhart was teaching until coming to T. C. U.

"I remember that when I was a very small boy, my father told me, 'This is my little preacher; teaching and preaching make up a successful life.' I have tried to carry out these the best that I can, and I feel that I have done more by teaching and preaching than I could have done otherwise."

During his early years of teaching Dr. Lockhart carried on his preaching even after becoming a school teacher, but he has done only occasional preaching for the last 25 years.

He was born in Centerville, Ill., but has lived in the South ever since he was 20 years old.

His special interests are music and poetry. He plays the piano quite well and likes it better than any other type of music. In his 70th year he took up the violin, but "I only play it for my own amusement," he says.

The meeting will be held at the Adolphus Hotel, Dallas, Wednesday and Thursday.

He has devoted himself to the study of the Bible and subjects related to the Bible, and so has had no time to develop his interest in science.

About 37 years ago he wrote a book entitled "Messianic Prophecy" and two years later he wrote the book "Principles of Interpretation." The latter has been recognized by Chicago University as the best book in print in interpretation. He is now doing some rewriting on prophecy.

"I will be remembered longer for my poetry than for my music," he says, "I can write my poetry down on paper." His book of poems entitled "Apples of Gold" was published in Dallas. He received the first copy on his 80th birthday.

"I have enough poetry to publish another edition, but I am undecided about it," he says.

Dr. Lockhart is now 85 years old, and has been retired from the faculty, but the students of T. C. U. will always remember him as a wonderful personality and as a friend.

lately. How about that, "GOOSE CREEK?"

"BLACKIE," the new brunette causing so much comment on the campus, is none other than FRANCES HOLLEY. Incidentally HOLLEY is still being seen around with ENSIGN BATES.

Seen around here and there are EX-BOB MOSS in his navy uniform, the HORNED FROG STAFF having its picture made, JIM WILEY and DAN BIGGINS arguing over whether to drink grapefruit or a root beer, OTIS BRITEWELL with feet propped up laughing into the main hall phone, JOAN MOORE and WHITEY COX enjoying an evidently very good joke between them, JOHN CHIMENTO and JAC HIGHT playing a rousing game of tennis versus the wind, BETTY NAIL eating lunch with a table full of CAA fellows, HICKS DANIELS snoozing in the breakfast line so soundly that BOB "BALDY" BALABAN wolfed without Hick knowing the difference.

Other Side-lights of interest MARSHALL JOHNSON trying to keep his hair from curling (see more) when it rains, "EDDIE ARMSTRONG and VELM POOLE getting all excited when some Corpus Christi friends flew over the dorm and buzzed them and PAT WRIGHT, PETE STOUT and ROSS STAVELY fighting over "the extra dish of ice cream in the Cafeteria.

On The Go

Featured at the MAJESTIC today is the hit feature, "CASA BLANCA," starring Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman. Frog whose birthday fall this week may attend free, courtesy of the management.

At the PARKWAY is "WHY JOHNNY COMES MARCHING HOME." Its stars are Alan Jones and Jane Frazee.
