

FORT WORTH, Texas, January 1, 1926.

To Mr. Amon G. Carter and Associates,

Publishers of The Star-Telegram and Record-Telegram:

This day, which besides marking the advent of a new year also begins the nineteenth year of The Star-Telegram, seems to the hereto signed employes of the composing room an appropriate occasion for extending congratulations and thanks to the publishers who have made this business a success and made here a pleasant and profitable situation for us all. We are grateful for the pleasant relations of the past and desire to record in this wholly inadequate fashion our admiration for the men and methods which have accomplished our mutual good fortune.

For the New Year, and the years to follow, we wish for The Star-Telegram, The Record-Telegram and the publishers an abundance of prosperity which we feel they deserve, because they have led the way which we have followed toward success.

With the season's best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

MEMBERS OF THE STAR-TELEGRAM AND RECORD-TELEGRAM COMPOSING ROOM CHAPEL.

Handwritten signatures and notes on the left side of the page, including names like Robert B. Spence, Carl Sheppard, C.O. McKeight, and others.

Handwritten signatures and notes on the bottom right side of the page, including names like Roy Hunter, Carl Lee Roark, and others.

Handwritten signatures and notes on the right side of the page, including names like John Young, J. A. Call, and others.