Dear Mr. Monig:

We stopped by Ruth Washington's house and took a look at her "treasure". I can see why her little boys got excited because it did have a resemblance to a meteorite.

But rather than have you always in suspense, we will ship you a little piece of it up there so you can see for yourself. After, all, we are not authorities on this subject! Just guessing, I would say that this is a waste product from Lone Star Steel plant. Of course, how it got on Ruth Washington's farm is another question.

Sorry! Maybe you will have another bite.

Yours truly,

Wanda Satterwhite
