Monday Voting to Name Summer Congressmen

The election of summer congress members and voting on two amendments to the constitution will be held Monday in an early and little publicized student election.

Filing closed midnight Wednesday and campaigning will continue through the election. The congress office will be open for voting from 9 a. m. through 3 p. m.

All candidates are to meet at 4:30 p. m. today in the congress office to draw for ballot positions.

The six offices for upper class representatives have the largest number of candidates—12. Next are the senior class representatives with six persons vying for two offices.

Two amendments to be voted upon are:

1) Paying of $150 during long semesters and $61 during short semesters (summer) on the tuition of the Student Congress president.

2) Giving the Student Court the power to try cheerleaders if they fail to comply with the bylaws of Congress pertaining to cheerleaders.

Dr. J. H. Hammond Will Join Faculty

Dr. John H. Hammond, B.A. '33 and professor of languages at the University of Texas, will join the T.C.U. faculty in September in a similar position. President M. E. Sadler announced.

Dr. Hammond and his wife are natives of Fort Worth. His father, Lee M. Hammond, was a Fort Worth public school principal for 35 years and county superintendent for six years.

The younger Hammond took his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Texas in 1935 and 1948, respectively, and has been on that faculty since 1946. He also taught at the Universities of Wisconsin and Nebraska and the United States Naval Academy.

11 TTS Open Hour Will Be Changed To Noon Next Fall

Beginning with the fall semester, the open hour from 11 a. m. to 12 noon TTS will be changed to 12 to 1:30 p. m. TTS, according to Dean Jerome Moore of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The switch was made, Dean Moore explained, to provide more classroom space at that hour and because the original plan to hold assemblies and club meetings during the period was not too successful.

Authorization for the change was given by the scheduling committee, composed of Dean E. M. Sowell of the School of Business, Dean T. S. McCorkle of the School of Fine Arts, and Dean Moore.

Dean Moore said 25 per cent more classroom space will be available under the new arrangement. Classes will be dismissed for special programs.

dent are Jim Whittaker, Rochester, N. Y., senior, and Louis Crittenden, Dallas senior.

Thorp Andrews and Hal Autrey are seeking the vice-presidential office.

The senior class president's position has three candidates in Larry Denton; Austin Denny, Houston; and J. C. Pengelly, Pachuca, Mexico.

James Wilson, Stamford, and Ken Mathis, Fort Worth, are the nominees for junior class president.

Edward Chess, Stoughton, Wis., and Hal Pilgrim, Fort Worth, are unopposed for the sophomore and freshman class presidential slots, respectively.

The 12 upper class representative campaigners are Misses Leta Eubank, Dallas senior, and Margaret Mundhenke, Fort Worth Junior; Jack Archer; George Wilde; Chuck Brock; Clay Warix, Fort Worth graduate student.

Eugene McCluney, Fort Worth senior; John Howell, Fort Worth senior; Wesley Kinser, Fort Worth senior; Calvin Boles, Alamogordo, N. M., junior; Jim Cunningham, Fort Worth senior; and Jim Burton, Fort Worth junior.

There are only five candidates for the six lower class representative positions. They are Rogers ("Bubba") Coleman, Vernon sophomore; Walter Grimes, Dallas sophomore; and Misses Marian Armstrong, Polly Dunn and Letitia Beard, all Fort Worth sophomores.

Harry Tatarian, Long Island City, N. Y.; Miss Nancy Tally, Justin; Nolley Vereen, Greensboro, N. C.; Norma Abramson, Fort Worth; Martin Dekking, Holanda, Mexico; Charles Waller, Fort Worth; and John Messerole, Fort Worth, are the candidates for senior class representatives.

For junior class representatives, Earl Moore, Indianapolis; Bob Tompkins, St. Louis; Bob Singer, Fort Worth; and Miss Dorothy Phillips, Uvalde, have been nominated.

L. J. Berry, Houston; Jerry McElroy, Athens; and Miss Jackie Shepherd, Dallas, are the sophomore representative nominees.

David Trevena, Corpus Christi, is the lone candidate for the freshman representative.

Tables and Chairs Will Be Purchased For Student Lounge

New chairs and tables will be purchased for the Student Lounge this summer, according to Bill Hamilton. The Student Lounge Committee, headed by Hamilton, will select a steel-type furniture, although a heavy-duty hardwood make is under consideration.

If approved by the Administrative Committee, the same type furniture will be used in both the basement and upstairs lounges.

Other members of the committee are Miss Betty Criner, Houston junior; Miss Margaret Pankey, San Angelo senior; and Clay Warix, Fort Worth senior.

Award Goes To Burdick

Jacques Burdick, Fort Worth, B. A. '50, has received a one-year scholarship to the University d'Aix-Marseilles, Marseilles, France.

Burdick is one of a select few chosen under the Fulbright Act.

His passage and all tuition and expenses will be paid, plus an adequate subsistence.

He will sail for France Sept. 27 on the S. S. America.

He will visit the University of Paris for four weeks and then will go to Marseilles for the fall and spring semester.

Holcembach Will Attend Northwestern Classes

M. A. Holcembach, administrative assistant to Dean Ellis M. Sowell, has received a scholarship to attend conferences and seminars at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., Aug. 13-19.

He will study the chamber of commerce management and latest procedures in transportation, merchandising, advertising and other aspects of commerce.

1950 'Frog Horn' Will Show Lighter Side of Campus Life

The "Frog Horn," a 32-page booklet sent to new students at the beginning of the fall semester, is now in the planning stage, reports Jimmy Paschal, co-editor.

The booklet, designed to show new students the lighter side of campus activities not covered by the catalog, will follow the style of Life magazine if the publication grants permission.

"What it will amount to," says Paschal, "is a miniature Life magazine, with plenty of pictures. The cover picture will be a prize-winning photo by Conway Nelson, Fort Worth senior, of Frog rosters in the victory parade after the Texas game at Austin last year."

Included in the booklet will be an article on "Why I Should Go To College," a complete coverage of extra-curricular activities, campus facilities such as the student loan fund and the trust fund bank and school yells.

Jim Hatley, Phillips sophomore, is also co-editor.

The Frog Horn is the summer project of the Horned Frog.

G.I. Enrollment Increases As Deadline Draws Near

Kicking over the "dope" bucket, World War II veterans are returning to school in increasing numbers despite the declining G. I. enrollment of the last year or so.

At least, this is the indication at T. C. U. Registrar S. W. Hutton issued an unofficial estimate this week by the teacher. The higher the degree, the higher the salary. Also, teachers must hold the necessary number of hours to instruct in their own fields.

Registration time was shortened this summer by having students register in the Administration Building Assembly Hall, which is being converted into a study lounge. This kept students from having to walk from the Library to the Administration Building to complete transactions with the Business Office and Book Store.

Unofficial estimates also point to a heavy enrollment in the Graduate School. Many teachers are taking advantage of summer vacations to meet requirements under the Gilmer-Aiken Bill.

Three Given Scholarships

Three $300 radio scholarships have been awarded to Ronald Dieb and Miss Judy Davis, Fort Worth sophomores, and Joe Simpson, Jackboro junior.

The scholarships are awarded annually by the Texas State Network through KFJZ. Dieb, who wrote four of the seven T. C. U. shows presented over KFJZ, was recognized for his writing and acting ability. Miss Davis for her acting, and Simpson for his acting and technical ability.

The shows, of 30-minute duration, are completely managed by student radio majors. A recording is made during the actual presentation which is heard later by committees from the University and KFJZ.

Mason to Manage Varsity Book Store

Zack Mason, Fort Worth graduate student, will manage the new Varsity Book Store, 3057 University Dr., starting June 15.

The store, which opened May 25, sells school books, stationery, fountain pens, cards, T-shirts, pennants and sporting equipment.

Used class books are bought and sold. The store also carries a line of fiction books.

Miss Gladys Vickers, Baylor senior from Dallas, is acting manager until Mason takes over.

The store is the fourth in a chain established by a corporation headed by W. B. Rushing, Lubbock, and Bill J. Klein, Waco.

The other stores are located at Baylor, S. M. U. and Texas Tech.

Cornerstone Laid Sunday For New Baptist Chapel

The new chapel of the University Baptist Church, the cornerstone for which was laid at ceremonies Sunday, is the first of several new buildings planned for the church, says Miss Evelyn Robinson, church secretary.

Educational and office buildings are to be added as soon as possible.

The new chapel, costing $150,000, will be occupied Dec. 1. It will be air conditioned for both summer and winter, and equipped with aids for persons hard of hearing. Most of the windows will be specially-designed stained glass memorials. The Ed Byars Memorial Bells will be moved to the new chapel before occupancy.

Sowell to Attend Banker's Institute

Dr. E. M. Sowell, dean of the School of Business, will attend the 50th anniversary meeting of the American Institute of Banking in Minneapolis next week.

Dean Sowell will be official delegate of the Fort Worth chapter. He will give an address on "A College Dean Looks at the Institute's Educational Program."

Last week Dean Sowell attended a quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of the Disciples Pension Fund in Indianapolis. He is the only member in the Southwest of the board's finance committee.

Fine Arts Workshop Schedule Begins Monday

The School of Fine Arts will begin a clinic and workshop Monday with courses in band, baton-twirling, public speaking and drama-radio-television technique.

Offering an overlapping schedule, the first three weeks training will be on the college and graduate level, for teachers of band, orchestra and speech-drama, and runs through June 23.

From June 12-23 the clinic will work with high school students in speech, drama, radio, television, band and orchestra.

Starting June 19, through 23, the clinical work will specialize in training high school students in baton twirling and drum majoring. This course will be under the supervision of F. R. ("Woody") Woodard, ex '49 and former national high school twirling champion.

Approximately 30 high school band students, from towns throughout the southwest, will start the course in band and orchestra Monday, says Dr. Clarence J. Best, head of music education.

The students will have dormitory and cafeteria accommodations.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Speed, rumor and propaganda — those are the watchwords of modern society and T. C. U. is keeping pace with jet planes, flying saucers and rockets to the moon.

The latest contribution was to have been an election which would have been completed before the student voters knew an election had been called.

Keeping Up With Jet Era

With all the conservatism of Clement Atlee at a labor rally, Bill Hamilton, in charge of the election, conceded to move the date far enough ahead to let the students know they can vote. Any further delay would interfere too much with said Mr. Hamilton's personal schedule.

So now we will be allowed to vote Monday, instead of today. It makes no difference if we wanted to nominate someone to office. Should have read the bulletin board, old top. Nominations closed Wednesday. Didn't know? Tough.

It won't be quite a "Ja—Nein" type of election — some candidates read announcements posted on Congress' bulletin board.

The bulletin board must comply with the constitutional requirements or Congress wouldn't have used it. The constitution states that election rules shall be made "generally available to all members of the Student Association prior to the election."

Of course, classes started Tuesday and everyone took time to run by Congress' bulletin board. Besides, a whole week, (between semesters) was allowed to get in your nominations.

Is it Congress' fault that you didn't stay outside their door breathlessly awaiting election announcements?

This is an age of speed, friend student. You gotta keep up or get off. Maybe next time Congress will give you a chance to post your name for an office.

Truly, flying elections are real, whether flying saucers are or not.

Letter to the Editor

Amendment? No!

To The Editor:

I object!

Upon reading your final spring edition, I was shocked, that's what I was, shocked, at the Student Congress' passage of a proposed amendment suggesting that the chief executive of our Student Association become a paid position.

Upon careful consideration, full of loop-holes allowing another writer to fire back at me, thus boosting your circulation, I wish to make a couple of statements in behalf of we non-believers of said amendment proposal. I say, "Vote no!" because:

The position as it stands now does not require payment of monies for the amount of service rendered. How much actual time does his presidentship put toward his work over and above the congress members? Some of the more interested and active lobbyist's prey spend countless hours in preparation of legislation, covering personal opinion, etc. Does this proposal dare mean that we are setting a precedent that will be followed with amendments to pay the congress members? Think it over—we may be paying a "Student Congress retirement tax" at that rate.

In a past edition one of the Madisons of our present constitutional document suggested that the position of high esteem be purely an honorary one, with perhaps the vice-president serving as speaker of the congress, leaving the president to serve in a social and leadership capacity. We have two departments of government now, the legislative and judicial. Why not create a model set up similar to the Federal Government and let our president sign the bills, or veto, sit in the Congress box at the Football Games and smile at Sportsman Code representatives from rival schools, receive trophies, attend official functions, etc. Why not a choice on the ballot, rather than the Congress planning our little "additional spending granted through amendment" articles on which to vote.

If there were back-breaking hours of conferences with senatorial investigating committees or thousands of letters requiring the signature of his honor, or perhaps countless hands to shake (after election), doubtless pay would be only fair.

Of course having never been a president of the student body, I'd hardly be in a position to know these things. In as much as we have only one present former such being, it is entirely possible that one man's ideas are a little biased.

Well, I got it off my chest, and you know what? I still object!
Jimmy Paschal

Rain in a steady drizzle forced the 900 cadets and midshipmen to march directly from the Armory into the Indoor Sports Arena, where the annual review ceremonies were held.

Army cadets slanted the barrels of their rifles down during the march to the arena to keep the rain out.—University of Minnesota Daily.

Ain't college education useful?

"I wonder why the 'Sigma Phi Nothings' don't learn to use the telephone like other clubs do?"

Level Those Peaks

Prof. Whizbang was a whiz at starting the semester with a bang.

At the first class meeting he would walk briskly in, take his hat off his horns, and begin: "Ladies and gentlemen—if any, I believe the first day of school to be the proper time for us to begin getting acquainted. I shall make my contribution immediately by assigning you four term themes and nine outside book reports. By these you will know me, and I am sure you will have no difficulty in finding a name for me."

He would pause briefly to coil his whip, then continue: "I shall get acquainted with you through your first theme, which will be due at the next class meeting."

Fortunately, no such person as Prof. Whizbang exists. But a modified version of the old boy might be a blessing in disguise.

Here we are at the beginning of a new semester, with those dreaded final exams 34 days away in the hazy future. That means 30 days of delightful procrastination and pure pleasure—days of such carefree ecstasy that only a Shelley or a Keats could describe them.

Of course, (hateful thought!) that last interim week will be such a period that even Dante couldn't do it justice.

Now this is where the good professor would light up the picture. Through his benevolent despotism he would even off these peak periods of ecstasy and gloom so that we would enjoy life throughout the semester—even dead week. We would begin by studying, continue the good work and end with a comfortable feeling of assurance.

Since Prof. Whizbang isn't around to force us to act sensibly, why not just imagine him—and act accordingly?

Approximately 4000 Attend Spring Graduation Exercises

An estimated 4000 persons witnessed T.C.U.'s 77th commencement May 31.

About 500 of the 584 graduating students received their diplomas at the exercises on the quadrangle west of the Administration Building.

Despite extensive planning, accommodations for their families and guests were insufficient.

"We set up 3000 chairs and could easily have used another thousand," said L. L. Dees, superintendent of grounds.

Recognition was made of the honor graduates, Robert F. Herring, Cheyenne, Wyo., and Robert H. Padgett, Fort Worth.

Doctor of Divinity degrees were conferred on Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, president of the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky., who was commencement speaker, and the Rev. Newton J. Robison, pastor of Hillyer Memorial Christian Church, Raleigh, N. C., who preached the baccalaureate sermon.

Doctor of Laws degrees were awarded to Lewis Ackers, Abilene rancher and well-known Disciples of Christ layman, and Miss Charlie Noble, long-time Fort Worth educator and instructor in the Evening College.

Melton Is Horn Tooter For Frogs

The new publicity director and ticket seller is now being installed, although Amos Melton really doesn't need to be installed.

His heart has been with T.C.U. since his graduation in 1928.

Melton played football three years here and was editor of The Skiff his senior year. From there he went to the Star-Telegram as sports writer and only a year ago was made sports editor of the Press.

Now back at T.C.U., he is settling into his new role. Melton is taking over part of the duties of Howard Grubbs, who resigned as athletic director to become Southwest Conference executive secretary.

Coach L. R. ("Dutch") Meyer is now athletic director as well as head coach.

Several problems are facing Melton, including the moving of the athletic office from the Gymnasium to summer quarters in the Stadium. Also, Melton, until June 15, is dividing his time between sports writing at the Press and his new job.

National Broadcasting Company in New York, was band director.

Lewis Gillis received his B. A. degree here last week and plans to do graduate work in addition to his faculty duties next fall.

There are no plans for a summer band.

Lankford, Mayfield and Singer Named Editor, Business Managers

Jimmy Lankford was appointed acting editor of the summer Skiff, Bob Mayfield was named business manager of the 1951 Horned Frog and Bob Singer was reappointed business manager of The Skiff at a Student Publications Committee meeting May 30.

Lankford, Fort Worth senior, was appointed by the committee meeting with Thorp Andrews, a representative of the Interim Congress Committee.

Mayfield, Abilene sophomore, and Singer, Fort Worth junior, will serve through next May.

Lankford is the only candidate for summer editor. Lankford received the 1950 Press Award as outstanding male reporter. Qualifications for this position require that a student complete the reporting course and that he maintain a B average in journalism.

Singer is the son of Dudley G. Singer, commercial attache to the American Embassy in Bogota, Colombia, and Mrs. Singer. He served from September to March as assistant business manager and was business manager the remainder of the year.

Mayfield served as business manager of the Abilene High School annual and as assistant business manager of the 1950 Horned Frog.

Dr. Elvin M. Jellinek, dean of the Institute of Alcoholic Studies, will divide his time this summer between T.C.U., Yale, the University of Wisconsin and a Dallas clinic.

He will lecture at Yale July 8-17 and then return to T.C.U. In August he will go to the University of Wisconsin for another week's lecturing.

While at T.C.U., Dr. Jellinek will spend one day a week in Dallas at a clinic set-up by the institute in conjunction with the National Committee for Education on Alcoholism.

C. Stanley Clifton, assistant professor of sociology, and Hershel Eyley, an institute staff member, also will spend one day a week each at the clinic.

Prospects Bright For Student Jobs

The prospect for part-time and full-time jobs is fairly bright if you like sales or off-campus work.

Most of the jobs in the student placement files call for sales work on a commission basis, yet this is the least preferred type of work. Yard work, too, has few callers.

The heaviest demand is for on-campus jobs, but such posts are limited.

There are quite a few full-time jobs, mostly sales. The perennial call for Fuller Brush salesmen is open to any enterprising young man with a foot of steel and will power to match.

Twenty-one persons were placed during May.

$450 Scholarship Open To Dallas County Girls; Applications Requested

The Dallas Women's Club is offering a $450 scholarship to an outstanding sophomore or junior girl scholar from Dallas County.

Dean Jerome Moore urges all eligible girls to file application in his office by next Friday.

A roving scholarship is given annually by the Dallas T. C. U. Women's Club.

The painting was one of 105 accepted for exhibition several weeks ago. Approximately 275 were entered.

He was one of the first journalism students to be placed since graduation.

TALLY-HO

BY NANCY TALLY

Ten more T. C. U. students and ex-students have added their names to the wedding list for the summer. June is still the most popular month but many have chosen another time.

Miss Nadena Winslett, ex '49, and James E. Montgomery, B. A. '49, will be married July 22, announced Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Winslett. The wedding will take place at Magnolia Avenue Christian Church, with the reception there also.

James E. Bullard, Fort Worth sophomore, and Miss Anita Gee, Dublin, were married last Friday night at the North Fort Worth Baptist Church.

Miss Anna Crocker, Arlington, and Jim Claunch, Fort Worth junior, took their vows Saturday at the Magnolia Avenue Christian Church. After a short wedding trip the couple will live here.

Announcement was made Saturday of the approaching marriage of Miss Sherry Drennen, Stuttgart, Ark., and Tommie M. Bouchard, Austin senior. The couple will be married Aug. 8 in Stuttgart.

Miss Janet Elizabeth Olson, ex '41, and Pat H. Boone, Jr., will be married tomorrow in Austin. Boone received his L. L. D. degree from the University of Texas where

Math Fund Is Approved By Parabola

Plans to establish a permanent Parabola Scholarship fund have been approved, Dean Jerome A. Moore announced this week.

Members and friends of the Parabola Club have pledged $100 to make two awards of $50 each in the 1950-51 session. The money is to be deposited with the Business Office and is to be turned over to worthy students selected by the organization in conjunction with professors in the mathematics department.

Until the permanent fund is large enough to provide a perpetual income for a scholarship, the group hopes that future members of the Parabola Club will continue to provide the two $50 awards annually while adding to the permanent fund.

Anniversary Celebrated

The Thurman Morgans are starting their second quarter century of married life this week after celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary with a dinner party Saturday night.

The Rev. Mr. Morgan is director of ministerial students and assistant to the dean of Brite College. Mrs. Morgan serves as secretary to President M. E. Sadler.

Several members of the couple's wedding party attended the dinner.

Library Adds Stack Space

Students hardly recognized the Library's main floor this week. The entire north side—table shelves and floor space—has been turned into storage space for books from the stack room. A strong floor base is being added to the large north stack room in preparation for the addition of two more floors of books.

"This extra space will aid book storage and is the first major step in our Library remodeling plan," said Mrs. J. E. Mothershead, librarian.

Six Library Aides Named

Six library assistants for the summer have been announced by Mrs. J. E. Mothershead, librarian. They are John Howell, senior, and Misses Polly Dunn, sophomore; Arlene Lisman, junior; Wanda Tinkle, sophomore; and Paul Villines, freshman, all of Fort Worth.

Library hours will be from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Housing List Available For Faculty, Students

New faculty members and students looking for an apartment or house to rent or buy may contact Miss Lillian McDonald, secretary to L. C. ("Pete") Wright, business manager.

The University has no regular housing setup, but Miss McDonald maintains a list of voluntary callers who have space available.
