

Mr. Amon G. Carter

Dear Mr. Carter:

I sincerely appreciated your letter concerning my husband, Captain Day, who is a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippine Islands. My baby and I returned to the states and left him in Manila two years ago. He was on Bataan, and, of course, I did not know whether he had survived it or not until this news came through a few weeks ago. It gives me great hope and encouragement.

I surely know the anxious hours you spend concerning your son who is reported missing. I pray that he shall be restored to you, and yet I think we must all come to the place where we can say, "Lord, just give me the strength to 'take it' whatever it be."

You were thoughtful and kind to write me.

Sincerely yours,

Genevieve Day
