French Works Scheduled In 1957 Fine Arts Festival

Moliere's three-act French farce, "The Imaginary Invalid," will open the 1957 annual Fine Arts Festival next Friday in the Little Theater.

Dr. Walther Volbach will direct the production scheduled Feb. 22-23 and 24-27, and March 1-2.

Representative art, drama and music from all important French artistic achievements will compose this year's festival.

At 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 24

Dr. Ralph Guenther will conduct the University Symphony Orchestra in a concert of French works. Kenneth Schenewerk, violinist, will be featured.

Organ music by Ernest Smith is planned for 3:30 p.m. Sunday, March 3, in Ed Landreth Auditorium. A student keyboard recital will be staged Tuesday, March 5, at 4 p.m. in Ed Landreth.

More French musical works will be presented in a large concert by Miss Kathryn Ragg at 1 p.m. Thursday, March 7.

The University Symphony Band directed by Jim Jacobsen will present a concert at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, March 10, in Ed Landreth.

A program of art songs by Faure, Ravel and Chausson is planned Monday, March 11. Joe Bratcher, pianist, will present the piano works of Faure Wednesday, March 13.

Both of these programs will be presented in the Little Theater at 8:15 p.m.

A chamber music program of the works of Beethoven, Willard and Paderewski will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, March 14, in the Little Theater.

All music programs will be free.

Climax of the festival will be the presentation of the Berlin Requiem Mass by the festival chorus and orchestra under the direction of Fine Arts Dean Robert Hall. This program will be presented May 7 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

This part of the festival is separated from the main programs because of the extensive rehearsals needed.

Musicians and singers from outside The University will be included in the chorus and orchestra.

Throughout the festival, an exhibition of French prints and French impressionist and post-impressionist art works will be shown in the Fine Arts Gallery.

5,678 Students Enroll To Mark 25% Increase

Latest figures disclose 5,678 students have registered for spring classes at TCU.

The total represents an increase of 1,148, or 25 per cent, over the previous high of 4,530, set last spring.

The undergraduate day school enrollment increased 583 over its previous high, but lost 127 from the fall semester. Of this number, 73 completed degree requirements in January.

Although the Evening College gained two fewer students than the day school, its increase was higher by 25 percentage points because of low enrollment a year ago. The college showed a 34 per cent increase over last year.

The final count shows 28 more students than last spring are attending Bible College of the Bible. This is a 34 per cent jump over the 126 who were registered at that time. The seminary also showed the smallest decrease, seven students, from last semester.

St. Louis Minister Will Speak During Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. G. Curtis Jones, author of books and minister of the 10th Avenue Christian Church in St. Louis, will be special speaker on the Religious Emphasis Week program, Feb. 24-27.

Dr. Jones served as a pastor and a field secretary for Albright College in Virginia. The college honored him with a D. degree in 1948.

He assumed his ministry at the Union Avenue church after serving at the Vine Street Church in Nashville, Tenn.

One of his books, "On Being Your Best," brought him membership in the Mark Twain International Society.

Another book, "In Their Light We Walk," is based on his world travels in 1952, when he flew around the world.

He also is the author of a universal prayer pamphlet, published by the department of evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches.

"What Are You Worth," written in co-operation with the stewardship committee of Unified Promotion and published by the Christian Board, has gone into its second printing.

Dr. Jones is the Disciples of Christ representative in the Triennial Assembly of the National Council of Churches and has recently been appointed chairman of the stewardship committee of the Home and State Missions Planning Council.

Ink Spots to Appear Twice on Campus Today

The Ink Spots, billing themselves as "America's Favorite Quartet," will make two appearances on the campus today.

Select Series attraction, vocal group will present concert at 7 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium. At 9:30 p.m. they will move to the Student Center ballroom for a dance.

Gabe Garland and his Orchestra will back the group both functions. The 14-piece orchestra features a floor show within the band and Pat Gregory, girl-drummer.

The Ink Spots last appeared at Fort Worth with the Horace Heidt Show in 1954.

Since 1939 they have made more than 300 records, many of which found their way to "Hit Parade."

Their biggest hit for the Ink Spots was their version of "If I Were a Carpenter," which has taken place among the "standards."

They have made tours of Honolulu, Korea, Hawaii, Japan and Australia. They are scheduled for a tour of Europe in the near future.

Prices for persons not holding Select Series tickets are $1 for the concert, $1.50 for the dance or $2 for both.

Select Series tickets may be used for both affairs.

Picture Deadline Set for Faculty

Wednesday will be the final day for faculty photographs to be made for the 1957 Horsed Frog.

Chuck Dowell, annual editor, requests that all faculty members have new pictures made.

"Most of the old photos are scratched and will not reproduce efficiently," he said.

Organ's Studio, 185% Main, will take the pictures without charge.

Proposal for Revision of Court Submitted to Student Congress

A proposal to revise the organization of Student Court was presented to Student Congress Tuesday by Henry Coleman, junior class president.

Coleman's plan would provide for five justices, the same number as the court has now.

One court member would be elected from each of five campus areas: United Religious Council, Panhellenic, Inter-Fraternity Council, departmental clubs and Student Congress.

The representative from Congress would be chief justice.

Coleman recommended that each of the five groups nominate two persons for the court. Final decision would be left to Congress.

Congress now chooses five justices from a list of 20 submitted by the Student Association president.

Other proposals offered by Coleman would reduce the required grade point average from 2.5 to 2.0. The semester-hour requirement would be raised from 45 to 75.

Congress will vote the motion until next Tuesday's meeting.

Cradle-Kicking Cartwright Kid Confuses Court

The U. S. Department of Commerce has anticipated the 170 million population mark would be reached around March 1.

But something has happened: the population is a full 25,000 and two weeks ahead of schedule.

Where 24,000 have come from is not known, but a journalism department member can account for the other 25,000.

Mr. Barbara Cartwright, wife of Gary Cartwright, Skiff reporter, gave birth Monday to a seven-pound boy, Mark Scott.

Skiff, Banner Program Will Be Given Tuesday

Approximately 100 Fort Worth High School Press Association members are expected to hear Skiff and TWC Banner editors discuss college publications in the Student Center at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The program will be sponsored by the TCU colony participating Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

Local Band's Swinging Minus Dinah's Singing

By BRUCE NEAL

Second wave of the assault... After many moons of neglect the TCU Stage Band has finally taken its rightful position on the campus entertainment ladder. 'Way up 'yonner.

It not only looks like a big band (19 pieces) . . . it sounds like one.

Last Friday morning (a day which shall live in infamy) the group hung like a bottle of plasma over convocation proceedings.

The convocation show was its first appearance since Jim Jacobsen took the baton some six weeks ago. At that time the band was at "death's door," and it was doubtful that it would continue as an active organization.

Despite the short recuperation period we'd say that the "surgery" performed by Mr. Jacobsen was quite successful.

Our congratulations to the director and his enthusiastic bandmen.

Oh yes, Dinah Shore was present, but unaccounted for.

The Greek Revue was entertaining, but oooh sooo slow. The sponsoring groups are to be congratulated on their idea. BUT PLEASE, more rehearsal time next year.

Last week, through a typographical error, (the printer left out a line) a new character was brought into the "cold cruel" buy this column . . . Eli Hall (of Fame). We've put Eli on the payroll as a review writer. So, don't complain to us. Go to Hall (of Fame to be sure).

TELE-PROMPTERS The "Emmy" nominations ceremony is a must for cathode addicts — tomorrow, 8 p.m., Channel 5 . . . Prude shocker Ingrid Bergman co-stars with Cary Grant in "Notorious" on Channel 11's Command Performance Wednesday.

Sometime about the first, last or middle of next week Dinah Shore presents her weekly TV show. Wonder if she'll sing?

Writing Award Given to Jones

Millard Jones has been awarded the creative writing scholarship for this semester.

The Fort Worth junior will complete the unexpired award of Mrs. Mary Dell McCrory, who held it for two semesters.

The scholarship is provided by the Dallas TCU Women's Club.

Jones is a graduate of Fort Worth's Polytechnic High School and he attended Arlington State College.

He specializes in short stories and poetry.

Jones is married and has one child.

Brite College was the second seminary of the Disciples to be accredited.

Coed Interviews Planned by Firms

It will be "Ladies' Day" twice next week as two companies interview women exclusively as prospective employees.

R. F. Floyd, of Dow Chemical Company, will speak Tuesday to women interested in working as stenographers or in other secretarial positions.

Humble Oil and Refining Company's representative, Miss Lois Deshotels, will interview women who are geology, secretarial science or art majors in the School of Business Friday.

Accounting majors, male or female, will be received Monday by Charles J. Anthony for the Arthur Anderson Company.

The following day, liberal arts majors will be interviewed in an effort to recruit management trainees for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Clay McElroy of Standard Oil Company of Texas will speak to geology majors on the same day in Room 316 of the Science Building.

'Outstanding Citizen' Sadler Reviews Aims, Achievements

By JIM HENDRICKS
 Dr. M. E. Sadler put aside weightier duties for a moment to talk about his pet subject—TCU.

"If a school has two things—good students and good teachers—it will be a fine institution," he said. "The physical plant becomes secondary."

This was the man who had been selected by the Exchange Club as Fort Worth's Outstanding Citizen of 1956 for his efforts in developing TCU's physical and academic prosperity.

He leaned back from a desk covered with correspondence, reports and a full-to-brimming appointment ledger and gazed across an office with walls which held citations, honorary degrees and other awards for the man who had built one of the Southwest's finest universities.

In 16 years as president of TCU, Dr. Sadler has seen more than a dozen new buildings sprout on the campus, has watched and supervised the expansion of its academic program.

When Dr. Sadler came to the Hill in 1941 to succeed the late President E. M. Waits, TCU consisted of a small cluster of buildings west of University Drive, with Mary Couts Burnett Library standing alone on the east campus.

Now, the Science Building, Religion Center and half-completed Dan D. Rogers Hall have joined the soon-to-be tripled Library east of University Drive.

The Brown-Lupton Student Center, Waits, Foster, Tom Brown and Pete Wright halls, the Fine Arts Building and three expansions of TCU Amon Carter Stadium have come into being on the west campus during Dr. Sadler's tenure at the University helm.

Two more dormitories are rising under the hands of workmen on the west campus.

But Dr. Sadler still looks to something deeper than physical "bigness" when he speaks of TCU.

"There is a constant danger in a big school that an intangible barrier may fall between the Administration and the faculty and students," he remarked.

"That is what we must avoid—forgetting that students and teachers are more important than physical size."

To escape this danger during the past 15 years, Dr. Sadler has pushed through increases in salary, bonuses and a retirement program for the faculty and brought better classrooms, an enriched academic program in nursing, fine arts, business and liberal arts to the student body.

His office is open to teachers and students alike.

"We are facing another problem," he added. "Some of the units of the University now have all the students they can handle, while others have too few."

Under present conditions, he added, the present spring enrollment is about suited to TCU's facilities.

"Our main problem will come in seeking better students," he noted. "The new admission requirements should go a long way toward satisfying the need for potentially better students."

He listed as the greatest change during his years as president the division of the University into eight separate schools with deans at the head of each.

When Dr. Sadler assumed the presidency, TCU had three such administrative offices—deans of the university, education and the Graduate School.

What lies ahead for TCU?

"We must continue to develop our educational program in all fields both by providing the finest possible facilities and by bringing in more first-rate teachers to supplement those now on the faculty," he commented.

"Also, we must make sure that the relaxed closeness that prevails now between students, faculty and Administration is never lost.

"Above all else, we need to improve our program for advanced study. I am looking forward to the day when TCU may award the Ph. D."

Editorial Comment

Student Congress members, like a herd of rotund grizzlies after the first snow, have gone into hibernation. For more than a month, Congress virtually hasn't done a thing.

The student legislators have met twice during the past six weeks, both times accomplishing little more than secondary business.

Quo Vadis, Congress?

On both occasions, they narrowly missed a cancellation of the meeting for lack of a quorum. Only the late arrival of a few members saved both sessions.

Joe Latham, Student Association president, says the group has practically no important business to discuss for the remainder of the semester. If so, this Congress is the first in a number of years to face such a "clean" agenda.

The representatives seem content to allow the school year to slip away without entertaining much more than motions for adjournment. They have yet to lay plans of any nature for the annual Campus Chest drive. Nothing has been done to prepare for the meeting at Beaumont next month of the Texas Intercollegiate Students Association.

Congress last roused itself from its semi-stupor back in December when the proposed "meeting time amendments" were rejected after considerable discussion. Could it be that Congress spent its vigor completely on that single bit of business?

If the men and women chosen to represent the student body this year don't snap out of their lethargy soon, they may lose the opportunity to contribute anything worthy of the faith their fellow students have placed in them.

Even a snoozing grizzly wakes up when spring rolls around. But of course he has a reason—he's hungry.

Sam's Song

The athlete plays with his toys,
The pretty girl possesses her poise,
And the playboy gets his kicks,
But what about old Sam Hicks?

Sam's the guy who helps set up the stage for a pep rally, or decorates the ballroom for a dance, or plays the lead in a Little Theater production, or serves as an officer of a campus club or two, and at the same time maintains a good scholastic record.

About the only recognition Sam gets for his efforts is the personal satisfaction of doing a good job.

But, through the 1957 Horned Frog's proposed "Who's Who" section, Sam and others like him will receive a measure of credit for their achievements.

Some 30 campus leaders, selected by the Horned Frog staff, met last week and nominated 53 students, outstanding in extra curricular affairs, as well as academically, for the "Who's Who" positions. These nominations will be voted upon by members of the faculty.

The faculty's hand in the selection is hoped to safeguard against the section becoming just another "popularity" contest.

Early indications are that this year's "Who's Who" will be a worthy pictorial tribute to a group of deserving students.

We hope Sam Hicks is in there.

A Tip of the Hat

Golden deeds, in this day and age, are about as rare as a Dinah Shore devotee after last Friday.

But TCU has a doer of such deeds right in its midst. President M. E. Sadler was named last week by the Fort Worth Exchange Club as recipient of its "Golden Deeds" award for 1956.

He was chosen for the award for his record of leadership in civic affairs as well as for his outstanding service as an educator and University president.

Since assuming the president's chair in 1941, Dr. Sadler has guided TCU to its greatest expansion in history and has increased the annual income of the University by more than $800,000.

Beside his work at the University, Dr. Sadler has worked for several community projects, such as a Red Cross Drive, United Fund, Children's Museum and YMCA, and has served on the board of directors of a Fort Worth bank and two insurance companies.

It is unfortunate that to many students Dr. Sadler is little more than a name. He is seen infrequently on campus, and to some students the location of his office is a mystery—although he is quick to point out that his doors are always open.

This lack of close familiarity with the student body is a penalty which must be paid by a president who is sincerely devoted to his many-faceted job—and it is a situation which Dr. Sadler regrets deeply.

The Skiff would like to add its congratulations and praise to those of the Exchange Club's and recognize its president as a true contributor to his city's welfare.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Stop This Nonsense!

By JIM HENDRICKS

"Planning fever" sneaked onto the campus this week with the snap of a cold spell.

Chamber of Commerce members are stocking up on aspirin in anticipation of the usual Ranch Week headaches. Potential BMOC's are on the prowl for campaign slogans.

Student Congress soon will nail someone with the Howdy Week chairmanship and wish the pitiable soul enduring patience.

The average student probably hasn't lost that "new semester" fervor yet. It will take another couple of weeks before he begins budgeting his Dead Week time for those term papers assigned last week.

The Horned Frog editor, with that gruesome final deadline drawing ever closer, contemplates, with no semblance of pleasure, the prospect of yawning over layout sheets at 3 a.m.

The Skiff editor, on the other hand, is plotting means of coercing the University into awarding him a degree.

Now just a dang minute. Who says we're too anxious to get out of this place? Have you know we filed an application for Graduate School the other day. Got laughed out of the office, but that's beside the point.

Enough of this, though. Back to the "planning" business. Don't people realize that it's nearly spring and the only demanding thing anyone does this time of year is bumming money from his capitalistic roommate?

Will this madness of classes, extracurricular chaos and academic turmoil never cease? Will people never see the light?

Still, perhaps the normal student feels the same as we. It's just those conscientious devils who ball up the works.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Three letters from the Dean of Men's Office inform me that I have a hi-fi set in my room in Pete Wright. This is nice to know. The latest letter quotes from dorm regulations that it is illegal to bring hi-fi sets to the campus. It says nothing about ordinary record players.

I would appreciate Dean Firkins supplying a definition of a hi-fi set. If my set complies with this definition, I'll be happy to remove it. If he is worried about voltage, he can check and see that it uses no more power than a 60-watt bulb.

I also have been informed that the hot plate and TV set "hidden" in my closet are illegal, too. It may relieve Dean Firkins to know that the hot plate hasn't worked since the start of school, and the TV set has NEVER worked. I left it in my closet because there's not enough space in the room for it and the bed both.

Getting back to the hi-fi set, why pay $5 for a record and then ruin it on a regular phonograph? If hi-fi sets are banned because of power usage, I'll get rid of my study lamp. If it's because of noise, then radios and electric razors should be banned, too. Some guy down the hall has an 8 o'clock, and his razor gives me hell.

TWO CAN LIVE AS CHEESILY AS ONE

Now in the final months of the school year, one thing is certain: you and your roommate are not speaking.

But it is not too late to patch things up. Examine the rift calmly. Search your soul with patience. Perhaps the fault is yours. Perhaps you are guilty of violating some of the basic rules of roommate etiquette.

For instance, in decorating your room, have you forced your preferences on your roommate without regard to his or her tastes? This is a common cause of friction. Indeed, it once happened to me back in my freshman year when I was sharing a room with a boy named Rimsky Sigafos who covered every inch of our wall with 850 pictures of James Dean.

"Rimsky," I said to him in gentle reproof, "please don't think me unduly, but I had hoped to put a picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor on the wall."

Rimsky examined the picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor. "You're kidding, of course," he said and dropped the picture in the wastebasket.

Well, that got my dander up, and I was mad as a wet hen till Rimsky gave me a Philip Morris Cigarette.

As we all know, there is nothing like a mild, natural, Philip Morris. Treats a man right. No filter, no foolin'! Anger melts and frowns become smiles with Philip Morris, all seems right in the world, and no man's hand is turned against you, nor yours against any man.

So, puffing a pacifying Philip Morris, I forgot all about Rimsky's slight to Mary Beth Thermidor. In fact, with her picture out of sight, I soon forgot all about Mary Beth Thermidor, too, and one night at the Freshman Frolic, spying a round young coed over in a corner, I came up to her and said with a fetching leer, "Excuse me, miss. We don't know each other, but I would like to rectify that sad omission." And she said, "Oh, you horrid, horrid youth! I am your fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor." With that she stomped furiously away, and though I tried to win her back with Philip Morris, she was beyond recall. I, utterly shattered, signed on as a cabin boy with the Cunard Line and am today, aged 53, the oldest cabin boy on the North Atlantic run.

But I digress. We were talking about roommate etiquette. Let us turn now to the matter of share and share alike. Have you shared everything equally? Drawer space? Closet space? Study space? And here's one that often causes trouble - hobby space.

It took two or three Philip Morris to restore my native sweetness

When, for example, I roomed with Rimsky Sigafos, my hobby was stamp collecting. I did not take up much room. All I needed was a small corner for my stamps, my album, my magnifying glass, and my tongue. Rimsky, on the other hand, was by hobby a cat burglar. Hardly a night went by when he didn't burgle twenty or thirty cats. You can imagine how crowded our little room used to get! Many's the time I got so exasperated that it took two or three rich, natural Philip Morris to restore my native sweetness.

© Max Shulman, 1957

We, the makers of Philip Morris and sponsors of this column, know that you and your roommate are getting along just fine. But if you ever do have a little tiff, don't try a peace pipe. Try a good, natural smoke - Philip Morris!

'Just Keep Trying'

Jack of All Trades, Dulle, Boyle Publicize, Decorate for Activities

JOE DULLE (TOP) AND BILL BOYLE . . . campus hucksters

You don't have to be a carpenter - electrician - artist - plumber - stagehand - sign painter - janitor, but it will help if you happen to be the chairman of an Activities Council committee.

The work of two such committees - arts and decoration, and publicity - has been strongly in evidence during the past week.

As publicity chairman Bill Doyle, Wichita, Kan., sophomore, put it:

"We've got to find a way to reach the students. And if one of these Ink Spots gimmicks doesn't work, we'll just keep on trying."

Joe Dulle, Fort Worth sophomore, chairman of the art and decorations committee, interjected a meek, "Forever?"

The two chairmen and their committees have worked "as one" on numerous projects. So closely, in fact, that the Activities Council has considered merging the two groups.

The "Dulle-Boyle" team and their combined force of approximately 40 volunteer student workers have two aims:

- 1) Provide the "push" to insure attendance at Activities Council-sponsored events;
- 2) Furnish the "plush" atmosphere to increase the pleasure of those attending.

Despite the heavy demand for their talents, neither the chairmen nor their committee members seem to object.

With a slight blush Bill recalls the one time their efforts "backfired."

"We made a sign announcing an appearance by Candy Barr as a replacement for Norman Cousins, the Select Series speaker," he related. "It was just a joke, but someone put it on the bulletin board in the lobby."

Again Joe broke in:

"Coulda been bad. I mean . . . how do you decorate for that kind of show?"

Beards, Plans Sprouting As Ranch Week Nears

Both club activities and beards are starting to sprout in preparation for TCU's Ranch Week, March 21-23.

The TCU Chamber of Commerce has moved to the doing stages of the 1957 event.

A letter from Chamber President Richard Haggard prodded other clubs and organizations last week to prepare for Ranch Week early.

Each club is asked to nominate a candidate for Ranch Week Queen and Foreman. Club members also will enter a "most beards per square chin" contest.

The Chamber urged males to start the non-razor routine immediately. Beard awards will be made in the following classes: Reddest, blackest, blondest, most unique and best all-around.

The organization with the most beard-growers will take the special award.

Beard entrants received a free electric razor from a national company in 1955. Plans for this year's contest are still in the fuzzi, but the give-away plan will be repeated if an obliging company can be found.

Best bush-growers will be selected by a judging team composed of coeds from other schools.

All awards will be made during the Ranch Week dance March 23.

Selections Begun For Who's Who

Fifty-three students were nominated Tuesday for the Who's Who section of this year's Horned Frog.

The candidates were selected in the Student Center by a committee of leaders of various campus organizations.

The list of nominees is being processed through the registrar's office to see if all have a two-point grade average.

The faculty will vote on the qualified candidates later this month.

Oil Tax Studied In Evening Class

A course in oil company taxation is being offered in the Evening College this spring.

Samuel P. Grigg, Texas Tech graduate and accountant with Sproles, Woodward, Laverty & Mcgee, is teaching the class which meets at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The study is a continuation of the oil and gas law course offered last fall.

Moore Will Study College Standards

Dean Jerome A. Moore will study standards of colleges and universities of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the year 1956-7.

Dean Moore was assigned to the association committee Feb. 4.

Evans Insists He's Off Shore: Earlier Washout

Dr. Leslie P. Evans didn't see Dinah Shore last week although she's his ideal.

"I don't like to be disillusioned," the professor of education remarked.

A few years ago Dorothy Lamour was Dr. Evans dream girl. He even bought a $500 war bond for a chance to kiss the attractive Hollywood star.

But when she arrived at the bond rally, she was wearing a cotton dress instead of her famous sarong. And so many people bought bonds, no one got the kiss.

Romanenghi to Discuss World-wide Brotherhood

Prof. Egidio Romanenghi will be the principal speaker at an International Friendship club meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Noel Keith, 3217 Wabash. He will talk on "International Brotherhood."

Enrollee Joins Grid Training

New enrollee at TCU is competing in two sports at the same time and plans to enter a third next fall.

Crosby Newman, from Garrison, is currently engaging in spring training for football, running track and admits that he may be participating in basketball when round ball time rolls around again.

Newman entered TCU on scholarship after four spectacular seasons in three sports. He was a four-year letter winner in football, basketball and track.

The tall, lanky athlete plays either end or fullback on the gridiron, guard or forward on the court and runs the 100 yard dash, high and low hurdles and participates in the field events in track.

Bowling, Volleyball Open Women's Intramural Play

Sports activities for women will begin Feb. 27 and continue through March 26. Miss Mary Ruth Taylor, intramural director, announced the WSA calendar for spring this week.

Bowling begins Feb. 27 at the B&R Bowling Alley on University Dr. Volleyball starts Feb. 28 in the Gymnasium.

Tennis doubles will be held March 8 at the tennis court. Table tennis will be in the Gymnasium March 14, and badminton begins March 26 at the same place.

BASKETBALL

(Continued from Page 8) two other Frogs were guilty of four. Rice took advantage of the Christians' mistakes by sinking 32 charity shots to the Frogs' 19.

Individual glory was divided between TCU's Stevenson and Gerry Thomas of the flock; they each contributed 22 points.

Rice's Temple Tucker was responsible for 18 marks. Kirchner and O'Neal both hit 12 for the Brannonmen.

Attitude 'Good' in Spring Training; Martin Optimistic About Next Fall

Looking over the work of the 76 eager men who reported for spring training last week, Coach Abe Martin has enough confidence to predict a "good, if not great year," next fall.

"The boys show plenty of enthusiasm and a good attitude," Martin said. "That's the big thing in the spring."

The reserve tackle positions are Martin's biggest worry. The coach was particularly impressed with the defensive fullback work of Max Pierce and Sherrill Headrick.

John Groom will miss the remainder of spring training in order to have a knee operation. He will be out of workouts till fall practice begins in September. Groom's operation will remove a cartilage.

Jerry Salley, Ince and Jim Faulk are on the temporarily injured list.

Five men have been constantly alternating at quarterback. "Their passing looks better and the position will be a great deal stronger than anyone realizes next fall," Abe says.

Candidates for the quarterback slot are Richard Finney, Hunter Enis, Jack Sledge, John Bonnett and Frank Hyde.

Abe lists the top candidates for positions on next fall's eleven as:

Centers: James Ozee, Dale Walker, Arvie Walker.

Right guards: John Groom, John Mitchell, Raymond Armstrong.

Right tackles: Joe Robb, Walter Ince, Norman Ashley.

Right ends: John Nikkel, Delzon Elenburg, Bobby Murray.

Fullback: Buddy Dike, Gene Cook, Lonnie Flory, Max Pierce, Sherrill Hedrick.

Spring training will be climaxed by an intra-squad scrimmage at 2 p.m. Feb. 23.

Purple Coaches 'Stick Around'

Since entering the Southwest Conference in 1923, TCU has seen four head football coaches. That is an average longevity of 8.5 years per coach.

The average for the conference for a head man is slightly more than three years.

Rice Institute has the recognized record, according to the Daily Texan, of 4.6 years per coach. The conflict seems to be that the Texan is averaging in pre-conference days with the standings.

Since 1923 Coaches Matty Bell, Francis Schmidt, Leo R. "Dutch" Meyer and Othel "Abe" Martin have held the Frog reins. Meyer holds the all time record of 20 years with Jess Neely, still active Rice guide, second with 18 years.

The average does lie in the case of TCU because before entering the conference, the TCU teams were usually coached by part-time coaches who taught school on the Hill during their regular hours.

The averages, according to the Texas University paper, read: Rice, 4.6 years average per coach; SMU, 4.3 per coach; Texas, 2.63 per coach; TCU, 2.90 and Arkansas, 2.86.

Golf Team Leaves Off March

Outs will be held in early March for anyone interested in varsity golf. Coach Tom will tally the 72-hole for competitors in the nature-pool event.

BACK FOR DUTY—Letterman outfielder Willie Maxwell will join four other starters from TCU's defending SWC champions at baseball workouts today.

Frog Champs Begin Diamond Workouts

By PAT BECKHAM

Baseball practice begins today at TCU with the defending Southwest Conference champions due on the diamond at 3 p.m., rain or shine, Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer announced.

Coach Meyer is everything but optimistic about the Frogs' chances for a title repeat. Several regulars are returning, but five of the top '56 performers are gone by the eligibility-graduation route.

One consolation for Coach Meyer might be that two of his lost stars will be around for one more season in the capacity of coaches. Frank Windegger, the pitcher with the best average in the conference last year, and Larry Roseborough, hard-hitting catcher, will assist.

Coach Johnny Swaim, Wog basketball coach, will handle the freshman baseballers, with assistance from Windegger.

Al Paschal, the conference's leading hitter, fielder and basethief last year, has finished, as have Bob White, the home run hitter, and Bob McDaniel, who tied the all-time SWC record of eight conference victories for a pitcher.

Among the lettermen reporting today are Charlie Jordan, Charlie Quick, Harold Pollard, Ken Wineburg, Willie Maxwell, Carl Warwick, Travis Groom and Harold Key. Jimmy Shofner and Frank Hyde are participating in spring training and will report next week.

Richard O'Neal, TCU's Mr. Basketball for the past three seasons, has not decided whether to play baseball this year or continue basketball.

He has been named as a top prospect for the pro draft and may make a tour with the College All-Stars-Globetrotters barnstorming group.

Joe Selman, I. B. Childs and Hunter Enis, from Fort Worth Poly's 1955 State finalists, will offer strong competition. Enis won't join the group until next week when the rest of the footballers who change their cleats for spikes move in.

Other varsity candidates are Bobby Spear, Roger Schutt, Dayle Casey, Harde Barbola, Paul Holdren, Gene Lane, Joe Reade, Joel Hurley, Darrel Keetch, Doug Balkum and Joel Adams.

With regulars Jordan, Warwick and Maxwell back again, it might be quite a job to move into the line-up.

The infield is practically intact with Groom at first, Quick at second, Shofner at third or short and Hyde filling in the vacated slot.

Wineburg is being tabbed as a first-line starter with Balkum and Campbell as added strength for the pitching staff. Keetch and Schutt are sophomore hurlers making their bid.

Freshman candidates will report with the varsity performers.

Jerry Menz, Bob Shelton, Charles Rutherford, Willard Reynolds and Darrel Reed are Wog pitchers who have reported to Coach Swaim.

Swaim knows that Rutherford and shortstop George

Banda show promise. He red-ed them at LaVega High School last year.

Vieing for outfield positions are Jack Geyer, Sandy Samsen, Jim Smith, David Liams, Pat Kays, John Glad, Doug Carrel and Jim Walker.

Coach Meyer expressed pleasure with Walker. He Walker was a fine high school player.

Lowell Adams, according to Meyer, heads up the list of infielders. Adams is a catcher but is capable of playing in the outfield.

Billy Stites, Marshall E. Jack Kell, Robert Lane, B. Newton, Charles Ewick, E. Smith, Bennie Shotwell, E. ris Robinson and John B. are the infield candidates have registered with coaches.

"Other boys who have signed up may be out making a good showing themselves Friday," Coach Meyer declared. "If they do to play ball, all they have to show us. We need 'em

Wogs to Seek Sixth Victory

The Kilgore Junior College Rangers will try to make it two in a row over the TCU Wogs at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the Public Schools Gymnasium.

The Wogs will seek revenge for a defeat handed them by Kilgore Saturday. It was their third loss of the season against five victories.

Kilgore is led by Ed Erickson and Lonnie Willoughby, who have been pumping in 20 points or more per game.

The Wogs likely will depend on the shooting of Tommy Meacham, who rarely shares scoring honors with anyone.

Tommy Turner and Bobby Tyler can be counted on, according to Coach Johnny Swaim. In an earlier victory this year against Texas A&M they put on a scintillating floor show.

Meacham meshed 28 points Tuesday night as the Wogs took the Texas A&M Fish at College Station. The 71-64 victory was the second of the year over the young Aggies.

Aside from being high point man, Meacham also shagged 21 rebounds against the Fish. Tyler hit for 16 markers and Turner turned in 14.

In their loss to the Rangers at Kilgore Saturday, the Wogs blew a lead in the final minutes. It was Kilgore's 16th victory of the season against six losses.

In that game Meacham was high for TCU with 18. Tyler poured in 14 and Turner got 12. Harold Curtis made 9.

Erickson was high for the game with 26 and Willoughby hit for 22.

Training Starts for Tennis Race; Team Practices on City Courts

Tennis workouts have been moved to Capps Park and Forest Park to allow the TCU team to practice on clay courts in preparation for Southwest Conference games.

In previous years teams worked on courts now covered by the new Milton Daniel Hall. Plans have not been completed for new courts on the campus, according to L. W. Ramsey, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Three lettermen have returned to the netters ranks. Paul Pendergrass, Harlan Baker and Jim H. White were team members last year.

Ronnie Coleman and John Moore, 1956 squadmen, also are training for team berths. Gene Cook, a sophomore, is expected to round out the tennis listings. He was a Wog letterman last year.

Positions still are open on interested in trying out should contact Coach C. A. Burch at 2 p.m. any day on the University tennis courts.

Frogs Pose Threat To Hogs Title Hopes

The Arkansas Razorbacks must beat Texas Christian tomorrow night to hold even the slightest chance at Southwest Conference glory.

The affair will take place at 8 p.m. in Public Schools Gymnasium.

The Porkers have a 4-3 conference record and already have stopped the Frogs once this year. TCU suffered a 62-58 setback on their trip to the hills.

Freddy Grim, the 6-0 Hog guard, was the sparkplug in that game and he is expected to be one of Arkansas' cogs in this clash. Grim, who hit 19 points in his last encounter with the Christians, is especially adept at the two-hand set shot.

Other Hog standouts are Terry Day, 6-4, All-SWC nominee, and Jay Carpenter, 6-6 center, Joe Dackson and Larry Grisham, both 6-3, round out the Arkansas starting five.

The Horned Frogs, who have an 11-9 season record despite their poor 3-5 conference mark, will be trying to protect their excellent home court record. They have won eight contests at home while losing only one: that to powerful SMU.

O'Neal still holds third place ranking among conference scorers. To date he has 381 points. Ronnie Stevenson, with 267 rebounds, still is second only to Baylor's remarkable Jerry Mallett in that department.

Stevenson continued his torrid rebounding pace on the road last week. He grabbed 18 against Rice and 16 from Texas A&M.

The Frogs drew a close decision over the Aggies at College Station Tuesday night. TCU won the overtime thriller 62-59. A one-point margin was held by A&M at the half, but Purples pulled to a 55-55 in the closing seconds of regular contest and outscored the Ags by three points in five-minute overtime period.

O'Neal displayed some of former brilliance with a point spree, while Stevenson hit 15 to aid the Frog cause.

The Aggies were led by Swisher, who bucketted points, and Ken Hutto, tallied 14.

The clash met with the approval of the partisan who expressed their dismay throwing paper and other objects on to the court. The Cadets fouled out of rugged contest.

Unruly play was responsible for the TCU cap-

79-90 lashing at the hands of the Rice Owls Feb. 9.

Stevenson, H. E. Kirchner and Derrill Nippert all committed five personals.

Brock, Brock, Brock Over and Over Again

What's the most popular sports name in Texas?

Jim Swink? Jim Krell? Eddie Southern? Bobby Morrow? Bill Glass?

Nope!

The winner is Jim Brock.

At least numerically, that is.

There is a lad by that name who plays basketball at Hington Heights High School.

Another plays football. He is one of the top linebacks in the state at Lamar University of Houston.

Still another, from Memphis, Tenn., is a freshman pitcher at Rice Institute.

And then there is a Brock, athletic publicity director at TCU.

The job doesn't qualify as a sport—but the name is the same.

Horned Frogs Top Rice Five As Tallest in Conference

Which basketball team in this year's Southwest Conference race has the most height? Rice? Nope, the TCU Horned Frogs hold the edge.

Rice does have the tallest starting team in the conference, but considering that seven men on a squad play 90 per cent of the time, the Frogs manage a per-man height advantage of .3 of one inch.

The Owls have 6-10 Temple Tucker and 6-9 Tom Robitaille, as well as several other giraffe cagers.

Then consider TCU's 6-10 H. E. Kirchner, 6-7 Dick O'Neal and 6-5 Ronnie Stevenson. Add the next four operatives, all of whom give very little height to anyone, and you have the tallest team in the conference.

In case you're wondering how the height of all the conference averages, here it is: TCU, 6' 4.7" per man; Rice, 6' 4.4"; Baylor, 6' 3.7"; Arkansas, 6' 3.6"; SMU, 6' 3.1"; Texas A&M 6' 3.0", and Texas, 6' 2.7".
